DAILY
MASS
COMPANION

LARGE PRINT EDITION

ABOUT THIS BOOK

THIS DAILY MASS COMPANION provides every possible Entrance, Responsorial, and Communion antiphon that could occur during any liturgical year—more than 2,400 possibilities in all—printed in a large typeface with a clear numbering system.

Parishes can now stop spending money on disposable Missalettes. We recommend purchasing the Jogues Illuminated Missal for Sundays (as it contains the Vatican II “Sung” Propers and Lectionary readings) and this Daily Companion for weekdays. Because daily Mass crowds are usually much smaller than Sundays, an excessive amount need not be purchased. Indeed, 30-40 copies may suffice.

The Reformed Rite often allows a plethora of possible antiphons, especially on weekdays. However, many of these options are seldom used, because the Missalette publishing companies have unilaterally decided which antiphons will be used by the parishes.¹ Our book—a permanent book which need not be thrown away every few months—does not limit the priest’s options.

Many priests assume that Missalettes include the weekday Lectionary readings. In spite of this mistaken belief, no Missalette provides the daily readings, although some contain the Sunday readings. Our Daily Companion follows this tradition.²

1 This does not result from malice on their part, but instead is due to the nature of Missalettes, which must be thrown in the garbage every few months.

2 Printing daily readings would be impossible. Several publishers have attempted this, but even those books—which are more than 2,500 pages long—do not contain all possible readings, in spite of efforts to save space by means of minuscule fonts, ultra-thin pages, and confusing “doublings” which often require an exasperating number of page turns.

The liturgical calendar for the Ordinary Form can easily be obtained from many places, and is even available on the USCCB website. However, Corpus Christi Watershed also provides a service that may be useful to those who purchase this book. The numbers for each daily Mass will be provided at the following address:

CCWATERSHED.ORG/JOGUES

When using our book, it is recommended for the priest to announce the feast before the beginning of Mass, and not to assume the faithful will locate it correctly. The same thing is required with the disposable Missalettes, since weekday Masses often have more than one option, and only the priest knows which Mass he will choose. Of course, this could also be accomplished by means of a parish bulletin or board positioned in the front of church.
