

OFFERTORY • 21st Sunday after Pentecost, EF (Job 1) There was a man in the land of Hus, whose name was Job, innocent and upright and God-fearing. Satan sought to test him and was given power over his possessions and his body and he destroyed all his goods and his sons, and he afflicted his body with terrible sores. FSSP in Los Angeles • <http://fssp.la>

MODE I

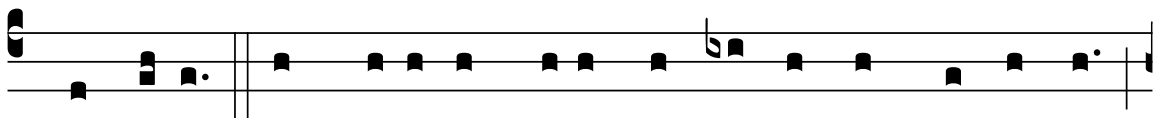

Ir erat in terra nómi-ne Job, simplex et re-

A-man was in the-land whose-name was-Job, simple & ctus, ac ti-mens De-um: quem Satan péti-it, ut upright & fearing God: whom Satan besought that tentáret: et data est e-i pot-é-stas a Dómi-no

he-might-tempt: & power was him given from the-Lord in facultáte et in carne ejus: perdi-dítque omnem over his-possessiones & over the-flesh of-him; and-he-destroyed all substánti-am i-psi-us, et fí-li-os: carnem quoque of-the-substance of-him & his-children; the-flesh also

Show your congregation ancient liturgical manuscripts:

ejus gravi úlcere vulnerávit. CCWATERSHED.ORG/CAMPION of-him [with a grievous ulcer] he-wounded.

Antiphon Text: Vir erat in terra Hus, nómine Job: simplex et rectus ac timens Deum: quem Satan pétiit ut tentáret: et data est ei poté-stas a Dómino in facultátes et in carnem ejus: perdidítque omnem substántiam ipsíus et filios: carnem quoque ejus gravi úlcere vulnerávit.