And there was in Jerusalem a man named Simeon. This man, just and pious, was awaiting the consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him. And it was revealed to him by the Holy spirit that he would not experience death before he had seen the Messiah of the Lord. He now came to the temple, inspired by the Spirit, and when the parents brought in the child Jesus to perform for him the customary ritual of the Law, he took him in his arms and blessed God, saying:

“Now you dismiss your servant, O Lord,
according to your word, in peace;
Because my eyes have seen your salvation, which you have provided in the sight of all the peoples,
A light of revelation for the Gentiles, and the glory of your people Israel.”

blessed Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians
1 Cor. 1, 26–31

Brethren: Look at yourselves who have been called. Not many of you are wise as men account wisdom, not many powerful, not many well-born. No, God has chosen those who in the world are fools in order to shame the wise; he has chosen those who in the world are weak in order to shame the strong; he has chosen those who in the world are lowly born and count for nothing—and who really were nothing!—in order to make nothing those who are something so that no flesh can boast before God. It is God who has given you life in Christ Jesus, whom he has made our wisdom and also our justice, sanctification and redemption; so just as it is written, “Let him who would boast, boast in the Lord.”

Gradual Ps. 45, 6 God will help her with his countenance; God is in her midst, she shall not be disturbed. ℣. Ibid., 5 There is a stream whose runlets gladden the city of God; the Most High has sanctified his dwelling.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 19, 3–12

At that time some Pharisees came up to Jesus and as a test said to him, “Is it permissible for a man to divorce his wife for any reason whatever?” In reply he said, “Have you not read that the Creator at the beginning made them male and female, and declared, ‘For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother, and shall cling to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh’? So they are no longer two but one flesh. Therefore man must not separate what God has joined together.” They said to him, “Then why did Moses command divorce and the serving of a decree of divorce?” “On account of your stubbornness,” he replied, “Moses permitted you to divorce your wives. At the beginning, however, it was not that way. But now I warn you that whoever divorces his wife (except in an invalid marriage) and marries another, is committing adultery.” His disciples said to him, “If that’s the way it is between man and wife, it’s better not to marry.” But he told them, “Not everyone can accept this teaching, but only those who receive the grace. There are men incapable of marriage from birth; others who have been made incapable of marriage by men; and there are those who have made themselves thus for the sake of the kingdom of heaven. Let those who can, accept this.”

Here is a great priest who pleased God in his lifetime and was found a just man, a peacemaker, in time of wrath. He had no equal in keeping the Law of the Most High. For this reason God promised under oath to have him grow into a people of God. He set him as a blessing for all nations, and God's covenant rested upon him. He acknowledged him through blessings and showed him constant kindness. He found favor in the eyes of the Lord who made him great in the sight of kings and gave him a glorious crown. God made with him a lasting covenant, appointed him high priest, and blessed and glorified him, that he might serve God by his priesthood, bless his people in God's name, and offer him the sweet odor of a worthy incense.

At that time the Lord appointed a further seventy-two and sent them in twos before him to every town and place which he intended to visit. He said to them: "The harvest is plentiful but the laborers are scarce. So pray to the owner of the harvest to send out laborers to reap it. Go then, and remember, I am sending you like lambs in the midst of wolves. Do not carry a walking stick or traveling bag; wear no sandals. And greet no one along the way. On entering any house first say: 'Peace to this house'; if there is a peaceable man there your peace will repose upon him; if not, it will return to you. Stay in that same house eating and drinking what they have, for the laborer is worth his pay. Do not move from house to house. Whenever you enter a city and they welcome you, eat what they set before you, cure the sick inhabitants, and say to them: 'The kingdom of God has approached you.' "

Now God's temple in heaven was thrown open, so that the ark of his covenant could be seen in his temple. Lightning flashes followed, peals of thunder, earthquake, and a mighty hailstorm. A great sign was seen in the sky: a Woman clothed in the sun, the moon under her feet, a crown of twelve stars on her head. Then I heard a mighty voice from heaven: "From now on," it said, "the victory and the reign of our God are in force, and the domination of his Christ."

Apértum est templum Dei in cælo: et visa est arca testaménti eius in templo eius, et facta sunt fúlgura, et voces, et terrámótus, et grando magna. Et signum magnum apparuit in cælo. Múlier amícta sole, et luna sub pédibus eius, et in cápite eius coróna stellárum duódecim. Luke 1, 26-31

At that time the angel Gabriel was sent from God to a town of Galilee named Nazareth, to a virgin engaged to a man named Joseph, of the house of David, and the virgin's name was Mary.

The angel arrived and said to her: "Hail, full of grace; the Lord is with you. Blessed are you among women." But she was troubled by this message, and wondered what this salutation meant.

But the angel said to her: "Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God. And, now, you shall conceive and bear a son, and you shall name him Jesus."

A Reading from the Book of Sirach Eccli. 44, 1-15

Now I will praise these godly men,
our ancestors, each in his own time:
Rulers of the earth by their authority,
men of renown for their might,
Or counselors in their wisdom,
or seers of all things in prophecy;
Resolute governors of peoples,
or judges with discretion;
Authors skilled in composition,
or poets with collected proverbs;
Composers of melodious psalms,
or discourses on lyric themes;
Stalwart men, solidly established
and at peace in their own estates—
All these were glorious in their time,
each illustrious in his day.
Some of them have left behind a name
that is remembered to their praise;
But of others there is no memory,
for it perished when they perished,
And they are as though they had never lived,
they and their children after them.
Yet these also were godly men whose virtues have not been forgotten;
Their wealth remains in their families;
their heritage with their descendants,
Through God's covenant with them their
family endures,
and their hopes are never shattered.
All these are buried in peace,
but their name lives on and on.
At gatherings their wisdom is retold,
and the assembly sings their praises.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Peter the Apostle
1 Peter 1, 1-7

It is Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ, who writes to those who live as strangers scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia; to men chosen according to the plan of God the Father, by a consecration of the Spirit, for obedience to Jesus Christ, for a sprinkling with his blood. May favor and peace be yours in abundance. Praised be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. He, in his great mercy, gave us a new birth: a birth into a hope that draws its life from the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead; a birth into an imperishable estate— inviolate and unfading—that has been kept in heaven for us who are guarded with God's power through faith; a birth into a salvation that stands ready to be revealed in the last time. Here is cause for rejoicing. You may for the moment have to suffer distress in many a trial; but this is so that the genuineness of your faith, more precious than perishable and fire-tried gold, may prove a cause for praise, glory, and honor when Jesus Christ appears.

Gradual Ps. 106, 32 and 31 Let them extol him in the assembly of the people and praise him in the council of the elders. ℟. Let them give thanks to the Lord for his kindness and his wondrous deeds to the children of men.

Tract Matth. 16, 18-19 You are Peter, and upon this rock I will build my Church. ℟. And the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. Matth. 16, 13-19

At that time, when Jesus came into the neighborhood of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples this question: "Who do people say the Son of Man is?" They replied,
"Some, John the Baptist; others, Elia; still others, Jeremia, or one of the prophets."
"And you," he said to them, "who do you say I am?" "You are the Messiah," Simon Peter answered, "the Son of the living God!"
Jesus replied, "Happy are you, Simon son of John! No mere man has disclosed this to you, but my heavenly Father. And I, for my part, declare to you: you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my Church, and the forces of Death's realm shall not subdue
it. I will entrust to you the keys of the

Feb. 24 or 25. St. Matthias, Apostle

A Reading from the Acts of the Apostles
Acts 1, 15–26

During those days Peter stood up in the midst of the brotherhood—there must have been about one hundred and twenty gathered together. “Brothers,” he said, “a saying in Scripture uttered long ago by the Holy Spirit through the mouth of David was destined to be fulfilled in Judas, the leader of those who arrested Jesus. He had been one of our number and was given a share in this ministry of ours. (Now the wretch had bought a piece of ground with his ill-gotten money. But he fell down on it head first; and his body burst open and all his insides poured out. This became known to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and they named the piece of ground in their own language Haceldama, that is “Field of Blood.”) For in the Book of Psalms it is written, ‘Let his estate be made desolate, let there be no one to dwell on it.’ And again, ‘Let another take his office.’ Therefore one of those who shared our company all the while the Lord Jesus moved among us, from the baptism of John until the day he was taken up from us, must become a witness with us to his resurrection.” So they nominated two men, Joseph (called Barsabbas, who also had the name Justus) and Matthias. Then they prayed, “O Lord, searcher of all men’s hearts, make known to us which of these two you choose for this apostolic ministry, to take the place which Judas deserted to go to the place of his own choice.” So they drew lots for them and the choice fell to Matthias; and he was added to the eleven apostles.

Gradual Ps. 138, 17–18 Your friends O God, are made exceedingly honorable; their principality is exceedingly strengthened. ℟. Were I to recount them, they would outnumber the sands.

Lectio Actuum Apostolorum
Act. 1, 15–26

In diébus illis exsurgens Petrus in médio fratrum, dixit (erat autem turba hóminum simul, fere centum viginti): Viri fratres, opórtet impléri Scriptúram, quam prædixit Spíritus Sanctus per os David de Iuda, qui fuit dux eórum, qui comprehendérunt Iesum: qui connumerátus erat in nobis, et sortítus est sortem ministérii huius. Et hic quidem possédit agrum de mercéde iniquitátis, et suspénsus crépuit médius: et diffúsa sunt ómnia víscera eius. Et notum factum est ómnibus habitántibus Ierúsalem, ita ut appellarétur ager ille, lingua eórum, Hacéldama, hoc est, ager sánguinis. Scriptum est enim in libro Psalmórum: Fiat commorátio eórum desérta, et non sit qui inhábitet in ea: et episcopátum eius accípiat alter. Opórtet ergo ex his viris, qui nobíscum sunt congregáti in omni témpore, quo intrávit et exívit inter nos Dóminus Iesus, incípiens a baptísmate Ioánnis usque in diem, qua assúptus est a nobis, testem resurrectiónis eius nobíscum fieri unum ex istis. Et statuerunt duos, Ioseph qui vocabátur Bársabas, qui cognominátus est Iustus, et Matthíam. Et orántes dixerunt: Tu, Dómine, qui corda nosti ómnium, osténde, quem elégeris ex his duóbus unum, accipere locum ministérii huius, et apostolátus, de quo prævaricátus est Iudas, ut abíret in locum suum. Et dedérunt sortes eis, et cécidit sors super Matthíam, et annumerátus est cum úndecim Apóstolis.

Graduale Ps. 138, 17–18 Nimis honoráti sunt amíci tui, Deus: nimis confortátus est principátus eórum. ℟. Dinumerábo eos, et super arenam multiplicabúntur.

✠ Sequentia sancti Evangelii
secundum Matthæum
Matth. 11, 25-30

In illo tempore: Respondens Iesus, dixit: Confiteor tibi, Pater, Domine cæli et terræ, quia abscondisti hæc a sapientibus et prudentibus, et revelasti ea parvulis. Ita Pater: quoniam sic fuit placitum ante te. Omnia mihi tradita sunt a Patre meo. Et nemo novit Filium, nisi Pater: neque Patrem quis novit, nisi Filius, et cui voluerit Filius revelare. Venite ad me omnes, qui laboratis, et onerati estis, et ego reficiam vos. Tollite iugum meum super vos, et discite a me, quia mitis sum, et humilis corde: et invenietis requiem animabus vestris. ✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 11, 25-30

At that time Jesus declared, "Thank you, Father, Master of heaven and earth, because what you have hidden from the learned and the clever, you have revealed to infants. Yes, Father—for you have graciously willed it this way. Everything has been handed over to me by my Father. No one knows the Son except the Father. No one knows the Father except the Son—or anyone to whom the Son wishes to reveal him. Come to me, all of you who are wearied from toil and heavily burdened, and I will refresh you. Take my yoke upon your shoulders and receive my instruction, because I am gentle and humble of heart. Thus will you find refreshment for your souls. For this yoke of mine lies easy; this burden of mine is light."

Creed.

You shall make them princes through all the land; they shall remember your name, O Lord, through all generations.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
John the Apostle
1 John 2, 14–17

Beloved young men, I addressed you because you are strong, and the word of God abides in you, and you have conquered the Evil One. Have no love for the world, nor for the things the world affords. If anyone loves the world, he has no room left for the Father's love. For not a thing that the world affords comes from the Father: carnal allurements, eye-catching enticements, the glamorous life—all this comes from the world itself. And the world is passing away with all its charms, but the man who does God's will endures forever.

Gradual Ps. 30, 20 How great is the goodness O Lord, which you have in store for those who fear you. ℣. And which, toward those who take refuge in you, you show in the sight of men.

Tract Ps. 83, 6–7, 11 and 13 Happy the man whose strength you are! his heart is set upon the pilgrimage in the vale of tears, in the place he has set. ℣. I had rather lie at the threshold of the house of my God than dwell in the tents of the wicked. ℣. He withholds no good thing from those who walk in sincerity. O Lord of hosts, happy the man who trusts in you.

In votive Masses before Septuagesima or after Pentecost the gradual is as above, but the tract is omitted and there is said:

Caríssimi: Scribo vobis, iúvenes, quóniam fortes estis, et verbum Dei manet in vobis, et vicístis malignum. Nolíte dilígere mundum neque ea, quæ in mundo sunt. ✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Mark

At that time people began to bring their little children to Jesus to have him touch them, but the disciples began to scold them. When Jesus noticed it, he became indignant and said to them, "Allow the children to come to me. Do not hinder them. It is to such as these the kingdom of God belongs. I assure you, whoever does not accept the kingdom of God like a little child, will not enter it." Then he put his arms around them, and blessed them, placing his hands upon them. As he was setting out on a journey, a man came running up, knelt down before him and asked, "Good Master, what must I do to inherit eternal life?" Jesus answered, "Why do you call me good? No one is good except the one God. You know the commandments: 'You shall not kill'; 'You shall not commit adultery'; 'You shall not steal'; 'You shall not bear false witness'; 'You shall not defraud'; 'Honor your father and your mother.'" He replied, "Master, I have observed all these since my childhood." Then Jesus looked at him with love, and told him, "There is one thing more you need to do. Go, sell what you have and give the money to the poor. Then you will possess heavenly treasure. And come back and follow me."

Ecce, sto ad óstium et pulso: si quis audíerit vocem meam, et aperúerit mihi iánuam, intrábo ad illum, et cenábo cum illo, et ipse mecum.

Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If any man listens to my voice and opens the door to me, I will come in to him and will sup with him, and he with me.

Prayer after Communion

Quas tibi, Dómine, in festivitáte sancti Gabriélis Confessóris tui, pro collátis donis grátias ágimus: súscipe propítius per manus gloriósæ semper Vírginis Mariæ, ex qua carnem illam assumpsísti, cuius in hoc salutári convívio merúimus gustáre dulcédinem: Qui vivis.

O Lord, on this feast of your holy confessor Gabriel, we give thanks for the gifts we have received from you.* Graciously accept our gratitude through the hands of the glorious ever-virgin Mary, from whom you took flesh. We have tasted the goodness of this flesh in this banquet of salvation: You who live.

A Reading from the Book of Wisdom
Wis. 7, 7-14

Lectio libri Sapientiae
Sap. 7, 7-14

I prayed, and prudence was given me;
I pleaded and the spirit of Wisdom came to me.
I preferred her to scepter and throne and deemed riches nothing in comparison with her.
Nor did I liken any priceless gem to her;
because all gold, in view of her, is a little sand, and before her, silver is to be accounted mire.
Beyond health and comeliness I loved her,
and I chose to have her rather than the light, because the splendor of her never yields to sleep.
Yet all good things together came to me in her company,
and countless riches at her hands;
And I rejoiced in them all, because Wisdom is their leader, though I had not known that she is the mother of these.
Simply I learned about her, and ungrudgingly do I share—
her riches I do not hide away;
For to men she is an unfailing treasure;
those who gain this treasure win the friendship of God, to whom the gifts they have from discipline commend them.

Optavi, et datus est mihi sensus:
et invocavi, et venit in me spiritus sapientiae: et proposui illam regnis et sedibus, et divitias nihil esse duxi in comparatione illius: nec comparavi illi lapidem pretiosum quoniam omne aurum in comparatione illius, arena est exigua, et tamquam lutum aestimabitur argentum in conspectu illius. Super salutem et speciem dilexi illam, et proposui pro luce habere illam: quoniam inexstinguibile est lumen illius. Venerunt autem mihi omnia bona pariter cum illa, et innumerabilis honestas per manus illius, et laetatus sum in omnibus:
quoniam antecederat me ista sapi-entia, et ignorabam quoniam horum omnium mater est. Quam sine

✠ *A Reading

Matth. 5, 13-19*

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "You are the salt of the earth. Suppose salt becomes insipid; how can you restore its tang?
Then it is good for nothing but to be thrown out, and trampled underfoot. You are the light of the world? A city on a mountain top cannot be concealed. Men do not light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket.
They set it on a stand where it gives light to all in the house. In the same way, your light must shine before men so that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father. Don't think that I have come to abolish the Law and the Prophets. I have come, not to abolish them, but to bring them to perfection. I assure you of this:
until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter, not even the smallest part of a letter, of the Law will be done away with, until it all comes true. Consequently, the man who breaks the least important of these commandments and teaches others to follow his example will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. It is the man who observes them and teaches them who will be called great in the kingdom of heaven."

So he said to him, "'You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind.' This is the greatest and the first commandment. And the second is similar to it, 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.' On these two commandments, the whole Law is based, and the Prophets as well." In turn, Jesus put a question to the assembled Pharisees, "What is your opinion about the Messiah? Whose son is he?" "David's," they answered.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews
Hebr. 11, 33–39

Brethren: By faith the saints conquered kingdoms, did what was just, obtained what was promised; they broke the jaws of lions, put out raging fires, escaped the piercing sword; though weak they were made powerful, they became strong in time of war, they turned back foreign invaders. Women received back their dead through resurrection. Others were tortured and did not accept deliverance in order to obtain a better resurrection. Others endured mockery, scourging, even chains and imprisonment. They were stoned, they were tested, they were sawed in two, they were put to death at sword's point, they went about garbed in the skins of sheep or goats, needy, afflicted, tormented. The world was not worthy of them. They used to wander about in deserts and on mountains, and dwell in caves and in holes of the earth. To all these approval was given because of their faith, and they were found in Christ Jesus our Lord.

crowd of people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the coast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear him and to be cured of their diseases. Those who were troubled with unclean spirits were cured, and all in the crowd were trying to touch him, because power went out from him and cured all.

Then raising his eyes to his disciples he said:

“Happy are you poor, for yours is the kingdom of God.

Happy are you who are now hungry, for you shall be full.

Happy are you who now weep, for you shall laugh.

Happy will you be when men hate you, when they

A Reading from the Book of Sirach
Eccli. 39, 6–14

The just man's care is to seek the Lord, his Maker,
to petition the Most High,
To open his lips in prayer,
to ask pardon for his sins.
Then, if it pleases the Lord Almighty,
he will be filled with the spirit of understanding;
He will pour forth his words of wisdom
and in prayer give thanks to the Lord,
Who will direct his knowledge and his counsel,
as he meditates upon his mysteries.
He will show the wisdom of what he has learned and glory in the Law of the Lord's covenant.
Many will praise his understanding;
his fame can never be effaced; Unfading will be his memory, through all generations his name will live;
Peoples will speak of his wisdom,
and in assembly sing his praises.

Gradual Ps. 36, 30–31 The mouth of the just man tells of wisdom, and his tongue utters what is right. ℣. The law of his God is in his heart, and his steps do not falter.

Tract Ps. 111, 1–3 Happy the man who fears the Lord, who greatly delights in his commands. ℣. His posterity shall be mighty upon the earth; the upright generation shall be blessed. ℣. Wealth and riches shall be in his house; his generosity shall endure forever.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples:
“Whenever they persecute you in one town, flee to the next. I assure you, you will not have exhausted the towns of Israel before the Son of Man comes. No pupil outranks his teacher, no slave his master. The pupil should be satisfied to be like his teacher, the slave like his master. If they have called the head of the house Beelzebul, how much more the members of his household! So, don’t be afraid of them. There is nothing concealed that will not be revealed, nothing hidden that will not be made known. What I tell you under cover of darkness you must speak in broad daylight; what is whispered in your ear you must proclaim from the house-tops. Don’t be afraid of those who deprive the body of life, but cannot do away with life itself. Rather, be afraid of him who can destroy both life and body in Gehenna.”

her: "Hail, full of grace; the Lord is with you. Blessed are you among women."

But she was troubled by this message, and wondered what this salutation meant. Then the angel said to her: "Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God. And, now, you shall conceive and bear a son, and you shall name him Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called Son of the Most High; the Lord God will give him the throne of David, his father, and he will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and his reign will have no end."

But Mary said to the angel: "How can this be, because I do not know man?"

The angel answered her: "The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you; as a result the Holy One to be born will be called Son of God. And Elizabeth your kinswoman has also conceived a son in her old age and she who was regarded as barren is now in her sixth month, for nothing is impossible with God." Mary said: "Behold the handmaid of the Lord; be it done to me according to your word."

Wis. 10, 10-17

The Lord guided the just man in direct ways, Showed him the kingdom of God
and gave him knowledge of holy things;
He prospered him in his labors
and made abundant the fruit of his works, Stood by him against the greed of his de-frauders,
and enriched him;
He preserved him from foes,
and secured him against ambush,
And he gave him the prize for his stern
struggle
that he might recognize that devotion to
God is mightier than all else.
He did not abandon the just man when he
was sold,
but delivered him from sin.
He went down with him into the dungeon,
and did not desert him in his bonds,
Until he brought him the scepter of royalty
and authority over his oppressors, Showed those who had defamed him false,
and gave him eternal glory.
The holy people and blameless race—it was he who delivered them from the nation that oppressed them.
He entered the soul of the Lord's servant,
and withstood fearsome kings with signs and portents.
He gave the holy ones the recompense of their labors.

At that time, on another Sabbath, Jesus entered the synagogue and taught. There was a man there whose right hand was withered up. The scribes and the Pharisees were on the watch to see if he would cure on the Sabbath, so that they could find a charge against him. But he knew their thoughts. He said to the man whose hand was withered up: "Arise and stand out front." He rose and stood. Jesus said to them: "I ask you, is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to preserve life or to destroy it?" He looked round at them all and said to him: "Stretch out your hand." He did so and his hand was restored. They were filled with frenzy, and began discussing with one another what they could do to Jesus.

Ego autem in Dómino gaudébo: et exsultábo in Deo Iesu meo: Deus Dóminus fortitúdo mea. (T. P. Allelúia, allelúia.) Ps. 80, 2 Exsultáte Deo adiutóri nostro, iubiláte Deo Iacob. Ψ. Glória Patri. Ego autem.

Yet will I rejoice in the Lord and exult in my saving God; the Lord God is my strength. (P. T. Alleluia, alleluia.) Ps. 80, 2 Sing joyfully to God our strength; acclaim the God of Jacob. Ψ. Glory be to the Father. Yet will I rejoice.

Prayer

Deus, qui per beátum Ioánnem fídeles tuos in virtúte sanctíssimi nóminis Iesu de crucis inimícis triumpháre fecísti: præsta, quæsumus; ut, spirituálium hóstium, eius intercessióne, superátis insidiis, corónam iustítiae a te accíperere mereámur. Per eúndem Dóminum.

O God, blessed John manifested the power of the most holy name of Jesus when he led the faithful in triumph over the enemies of the cross.* May we overcome the deceits of our spiritual enemies and receive the crown of justice from you through the intercession of this saint. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Book of Wisdom
Wis. 10, 10–14

The Lord guided the just man
in direct ways,
Showed him the kingdom of God
and gave him knowledge of holy things;
He prospered him in his labors
and made abundant the fruit of his works, Stood by him against the greed of his de-
frauders,
and enriched him;
He preserved him from foes,
and secured him against ambush,
And he gave him the prize for his stern
struggle
that he might recognize that devotion to
God is mightier than all else.
He did not abandon the just man when he
was sold,
but delivered him from sin.
He went down with him into the dungeon,
and did not desert him in his bonds.

Gradual Ps. 21, 24–25 You who fear the Lord, praise him; all you descendants of Jacob, give glory to him! ℣. Revere him, all you descendants of Israel! For he has not spurned nor disdained the wretched man in his misery.

Tract Exodus 15, 2 and 3 My strength and my courage is the Lord, and he has been my savior. He is my God, I praise him. ℣. The Lord is a warrior, almighty is his name. ℣.
Judith 16, 3 The Lord who breaks battles;
the Lord is his name.

In paschal time the gradual and tract are omitted and there is said:

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ps. 58, 17 But I will sing of your strength and revel at dawn in your kindness. Alleluia. ℣. You have been my stronghold, my refuge in the days of distress. Alleluia.

In votive Masses before Septuagesima or after Pentecost the gradual is as above, but the tract is omitted and there is said:

Lectio libri Sapiéntiæ
Sap. 10, 10–14

Iustum deduxit Dóminus per vias rectas, et osténdit illi regnum Dei, et dedit illi sciéntiam sanctorum:
honestávit illum in labóribus, et complévit labóres illius. In fraude

Graduale Ps. 21, 24–25 Qui timétis Dóminum, laudáte eum: univérsum semen Iacob, glori ficáte eum. ℣.
Timeat eum omne semen Israél: quóniam non spre vit, neque de-spéxit deprecationem páuperis.

Tractus Exodi 15, 2 et 3 Fortitúdo mea, et laus mea Dóminus, et factus est mihi in salútem: iste Deus meus, et glori ficábo eum. ℣. Dóminus quasi vir pugnátor, omnípotens nomen eius. ℣. Judith 16, 3 Dóminus cónterens bella: Dóminus nomen est illi.

*Tempore paschali, omissis graduáli et

✠ Sequéntia sancti Evangélii
secúndum Lucam
Luc. 9, 1-6

In illo témpore: Convocáti Iesus duódecim Apóstolis, dedit illis virtútem et potestátem super ómnia dæmónia, et ut languóres curárent. Et misit illos prædicáre regnum Dei, et sanáre infirmos. Et ait ad illos: Nihil tuléritis in via, neque virgam, neque peram, neque panem, neque pecúniám, neque duas túnicas habéatis. Et in quacúmque domum intravéritis, ibi manéte, et inde ne exeáti. Et quicúmque non recéperint vos: exeúntes de civitaté illa, étiam púlverem pedum vestrórum excúтите in testimónium supra illos. Egréssi autem circuibant per castélla, evangelizántes, et curántes ubique.

Invocávit Altíssimum poténtem in oppugnádo inimicos úndique, et audívit illum magnus et sanctus Deus. (T. P. Allelúia.)

Sacrificium, Dómine, quod immolámus, placátus inténde: ut, intercedénte beáto Ioánné Confessóre tuo, ad conteréndas inimicórum insídias nos in tuæ protectiónis securitaté constituat. Per Dóminum.

Decantavérunt, Dómine, nomen sanctum tuum, et victrícem manum tuam laudavérunt. (T. P. Allelúia.)

Alleluia, alleluia. Ps. 58, 17 But I will sing of your strength and revel at dawn in your kindness. Alleluia.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 9, 1-6

At that time Jesus called the Twelve together and gave them power and authority over all the demons, and to cure diseases. He sent them forth to proclaim the kingdom of God and to heal the infirm. He said to them: "Take nothing for the journey, neither walking stick nor traveling bag, neither bread nor money; neither is anyone to have a second tunic. Stay at whatever house you enter, and proceed from there. And when people will not receive you, leave that town and shake its dust from your feet as a testimony against them." And, setting out, they went around from village to village, proclaiming the good news everywhere and curing diseases.

Offertory Antiphon
Eccli. 46, 6

He called upon the Most High God when his enemies beset him on all sides, and the great and holy God heard him. (P. T. Alleluia.)

Prayer over the Gifts

May the sacrifice we offer please you, O Lord, and protect us.* Help us to tread under foot the snares of our enemies through the intercession of your blessed confessor John. Through Jesus Christ.

Communion Antiphon
Wis. 10, 20

They sang, O Lord, your holy name and praised your conquering hand. (P. T. Alleluia.)

Seven Sorrows of the B. V. M.

Prayer after Communion

We have been nourished by the food of heaven and refreshed by spiritual drink.* Shield us from our evil enemies and keep your Church in enduring peace. Through Jesus Christ.

SEVEN SORROWS OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN MARY

FRIDAY AFTER THE FIRST SUNDAY OF PASSION TIME

On this day, in places where particular exercises of piety are celebrated in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary under the title of Sorrowful Mother, two festive Masses of the Seven Sorrows of the Blessed Virgin Mary are permitted.

Entrance Antiphon

John 19, 25

There were standing by the cross of Jesus his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary of Cleophas, and Salome, and Mary Magdalene. Ibid., 26–27 “Woman, behold your son,” said Jesus; and to the disciple, “Behold your mother.” Ÿ. Glory be to the Father. There were standing.

Prayer

O God, in your passion, the prophecy of Simeon was fulfilled that a sword of sorrow should pierce the sweet soul of your glorious virgin-mother Mary.* We reverently recall her sufferings and sorrow; mercifully grant us the fruits of your own sufferings, through the merits and prayers of all the saints watching beside the cross: You who live.

Commemoration of the weekday:

Prayer

O Lord, fill our hearts with your grace so that we may avoid sin through our voluntary penance.* May we suffer here in this life rather than be condemned to punishment in eternity. Through Jesus Christ.

Replēti alimōnia cælesti et spiritali pōculo recreāti, quæsumus, omnipotens Deus: ut, intercedēte beāto Ioāne Confessōre tuo, nos ab hoste maligno defendas, et Ecclēsiā tuā perpētua pace custōdias. Per Dōminum.

Commemoratio

Stabant iuxta Crucem Iesu mater eius, et soror matris eius Mariā Clēophæ, et Salōme, et Mariā Magdalēne. Ibid., 26–27 Mūlier, ecce fīlius tuus: dixit Iesus; ad discipulum autem: Ecce mater tua. Ÿ. Glōria Patri. Stabant.

Deus, in cuius passiōne, secūndum Simeōnis prophetiā, dulcissimā animā gloriōsæ Virginis et Matris Mariæ dolōris glādus pertransivit: concēde propitius; ut, qui transfixiōnem eius et passiōnem venerādo recōlimus, gloriōsis mēritis et prēcibus ōnium Sanctōrum Cruci fidēlīter astāntium intercedētibus, passiōnis tuæ effēctum felicem consequāmur: Qui vivis.

Cōrdibus nostris, quæsumus, Dōmine, grātiā tuā benignū infūde: ut peccāta nostra castigatiōne voluntāria cohibētes, temporālīter pōtius macerēmur, quam supplīciis deputēmur ætērnis. Per Dōminum.

Seven Sorrows of the B. V. M.

Lectio libri Iudith
Iudith 13, 22 et 23-25

Benedixit te Dominus in virtute sua, quia per te ad nihilum redégit inimicos nostros. Benedicta es tu filia a Domino Deo excéso, præ omnibus mulieribus super terram. Benedictus Dominus, qui creávit cælum et terram: quia hódie nomen tuum ita magnificávit, ut non recédât laus tua de ore hóminum, qui mémoires fúerint virtútis Domini in ætérnum, pro quibus non pepercisti ánimæ tuæ propter angústias et tribulatióem géneris tui, sed subvenisti ruínæ ante conspéctum Dei nostri.

Graduale Dolorosa et lacrimabilis es, Virgo María, stans iuxta Crucem Domini Iesu Filii tui Redemptoris. Ps. Virgo Dei Génatrix, quem totus non capit orbis, hoc crucis fert supplicium, auctor vitæ factus homo.

Tractus Stabat sancta María, cæli Regina, et mundi Dómina, iuxta Crucem Domini nostri Iesu Christi dolorosa. Ps. Thren. 1, 12 O vos omnes, qui transitis per viam, attendite, et videte, si est dolor sicut dolor meus.

Sequentia

Stabat Mater dolorosa
Iuxta crucem lacrimosa, Dum pendebat Filius.

Cuius animam gementem, Contristatam et dolentem, Pertransiit gladius.

O quam tristis et afflicta
Fuit illa benedicta Mater Unigeniti!

Quæ mærebat, et dolébat,
Pia Mater, dum vidébat
Nati pœnas ínclyti.

A Reading from the Book of Judith
Judith 13, 22 and 23-25

The Lord has blessed you with his power because through you he has today brought to nought the enemies of your people. Blessed are you, daughter, by the Most High God, of all the women on the earth; and blessed be the Lord God, the creator of heaven and earth, who guided your blow at the head of the chief of our enemies. Your deed of hope will never be forgotten by those who tell of the might of God. May God make this redound to your everlasting honor, rewarding you with blessings, because you risked your life when your people were being oppressed, and you averted our disaster in the sight of our God.

Gradual You are sorrowful and tearful, O Virgin Mary, standing by the cross of the Lord Jesus, your Son and Redeemer. Ps. O Virgin Mother of God, he whom the whole earth does not contain, the author of life made man, bears this torture of the cross.

Tract Holy Mary, the Queen of heaven and Mistress of the world, filled with sorrow, stood by the cross of Our Lord Jesus Christ. Ps. Lam. 1, 12 O all you that pass by the way, look and see if there be any suffering like my suffering.

Sequence

At the cross her station keeping,
Stood the mournful Mother weeping,
Close to Jesus to the last.

Through her heart, his sorrow sharing,
All his bitter anguish bearing,
Now at length the sword had passed.

Oh, how sad and sore distressed
Was that Mother highly blessed
Of the sole begotten One!

Christ above in torment hangs,
She beneath beholds the pangs
Of her dying, glorious Son.

Seven Sorrows of the B. V. M.

Is there one who would not weep
'Whelmed in miseries so deep
Christ's dear Mother to behold?

Quis est homo, qui non fleret,
Matrem Christi si vidéret
In tanto supplicio?

Can the human heart refrain
From partaking in her pain,
In that Mother's pain untold?

Quis non posset contristári,
Christi Matrem contemplári Doléntem cum Fílio?

Bruised, derided, cursed, defiled,
She beheld her tender Child,
All with bloody scourges rent.

Pro peccátis suæ gentis Vidit Iesum in torméntis, Et flagéllis súbdítum.

For the sins of his own nation
Saw him hang in desolation
Till his spirit forth he sent.

Vidit suum dulcem natum Moriéndo desolátum, Dum emísit spíritum.

O sweet Mother! fount of love,
Touch my spirit from above,
Make my heart with yours accord.

Eia Mater, fons amóris,
Me sentíre vim dolóris
Fac, ut tecum lúgeam.

Make me feel as you have felt;
Make my soul to glow and melt
With the love of Christ, my Lord.

Fac, ut árdeat cor meum
In amándo Christum Deum,
Ut sibi compláceam.

Holy Mother, pierce me through
In my heart each wound renew
Of my Savior crucified.

Sancta Mater, istud agas,
Crucifíci fige plagas Cordí meo válíde.

Let me share with you his pain,
Who for all our sins was slain,
Who for me in torments died.

Tui nati vulneráti,
Tam dignáti pro me pati,
Pœnas mecum dívide.

Let me mingle tears with you,
Mourning him who mourned for me,
All the days that I may live.

Fac me tecum pie flere, Crucifíxo condolére,
Donec ego víxero.

By the cross with you to stay,
There with you to weep and pray,
Is all I ask of you to give.

Iuxta crucem tecum stare,
Et me tibi sociáre
In planctu desídero.

Virgin of all virgins blest!
Listen to my fond request:
Let me share your grief divine.

Virgo vírginum præclára,
Mihi iam non sis amára:
Fac me tecum plángere.

Let me, to my latest breath
In my body bear the death
Of that dying Son of yours.

Fac, ut portem Christi mortem, Passiónis fac consórtem,
Et plagas recólere.

Wounded with his every wound,
Steep my soul till it has swooned
In his very blood away.

Fac me plagis vulnerári,
Fac me cruce inebriári, Et cruóre Fílii.

Seven Sorrows of the B. V. M.

Flammis ne urar succensus,
Per te, Virgo, sim defensus
In die iudicii.

Christe, cum sit hinc exire,
Da per Matrem me venire
Ad palmam victoriae.

Quando corpus morietur,
Fac, ut animae donetur Paradisi gloria. Amen.

Be to me, O Virgin, nigh,
Lest in flames I burn and die,
In his awful judgment day.

Christ, when you shall call me hence,
Be your Mother my defense,
Be your cross my victory.

While my body here decays,
May my soul your goodness praise,
Safe in heaven eternally.
Amen.

✠ Sequéntia sancti Evangélii
secúndum Ioánnem
Ioann. 19, 25–27

In illo témpore: Stabant iuxta Crucem Iesu mater eius, et soror matris eius María Cléophæ, et María Magdaléne. Cum vidisset ergo Iesus matrem, et discipulum stantem, quem diligébat, dicit matri suæ: Múlier, ecce fílius tuus. Deínde dicit discipulo: Ecce mater tua. Et ex illa hora accépit eam discipulus in sua.

Recordáre, Virgo Mater Dei, dum stéteris in conspéctu Dómini, ut loquáris pro nobis bona, et ut avértat indignatióem suam a nobis.

Offérimus tibi preces et hóstias, Dómine Iesu Christe, humíliter supplicántes: ut, qui Transfixiónem dulcíssimi spíritus beátæ Mariæ Matris tuæ précibus recensémus; suo, suorumque sub Cruce Sanctórum consórtium multiplicáto píssimo intervéntu, méritis mortis tuæ, méritum cum beátis habeámus: Qui vivis.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 19, 25–27

At that time, near the cross of Jesus there also stood his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene. Then seeing his mother there with the disciple whom he loved, Jesus said to his mother, "Woman, there is your son." In turn he said to the disciple, "There is your mother." And from that hour the disciple took her into his care.

Offertory Antiphon
Jerem. 18, 20

Be mindful, O Virgin Mother of God, when you stand in the sight of the Lord, to speak good things for us, and to turn away his wrath from us.

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord Jesus Christ, we offer you our prayers and sacrificial gifts.* May we, who commemorate the piercing of the soul of blessed Mary, your Mother, share the reward of the saints through her loving and constant intercession and the prayers of those who stood with her beside the cross, as well as through your own meritorious death: You who live and reign.

April 2. St. Francis of Paula

Commemoration of the weekday:

Communion Antiphon

Happy the heart of the Blessed Virgin Mary, which without dying earned the palm of martyrdom beneath the cross of our Lord.

Felices sensus beátæ Mariæ Vírginis, qui sine morte meruerunt martýrii palmam sub Cruce Dómini.

Prayer after Communion

O Lord Jesus Christ, may this sacrifice which we have received in memory of the sorrows of your Virgin-Mother obtain for us from your mercy every grace and help: You who live and reign.

Sacrificia, quæ súmpsimus, Dómine Iesu Christe, Transfixiónem Matris tuæ et Vírginis devóte celebrántes: nobis ímpetrent apud cleméntiam tuam omnis boni salutáris efféctum: Qui vivis.

A Reading from the Epistle
of blessed Paul the Apostle to the Philippians
Philipp. 3, 7-12

Brethren: Now, whatever I used to consider as profitable I have revalued, in the light of Christ, as loss. In fact, I rate all else as loss because of the supreme good of knowing my Lord Jesus Christ. For his sake I underwent total loss of all things and I value them as mere dung so that Christ alone may be my wealth and I may be found in him, possessing not my own justice based on observance of the Law, but that justice which comes through faith in Christ, the justice which comes from God and is based on faith. All this is that I may know Christ and the power flowing from his resurrection: that I may know how to share in his sufferings by being formed into the pattern of his death, in the hope that thus I may also arrive at the resurrection from the dead. I do not mean that I have already achieved this or that I have already become perfect. But I am hastening on to try to grasp it, having been myself already grasped by Christ Jesus.

In paschal time:

Brethren: The message of the cross it is true, is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to those who are being saved, to us, it is the power of God. For it is written, "I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and I will thwart the cleverness of the clever." Where is the wise man? Where is the scribe? Where is the reasoner of this age? Has not God made foolishness of the wisdom of the world? Since in God's wisdom the world failed to recognize God by wisdom, it pleased God to use the foolishness of our preaching to save those who believe. At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "There is nothing concealed that will not be revealed, nothing hidden that will not be made known. Therefore, everything you have said under cover of darkness will be heard in broad daylight and what you have whispered in locked rooms will be proclaimed from the housetops. I tell you, my friends, do not be afraid of those who kill the body, and can then do nothing further. I will show you whom you ought to fear: Fear him who has power to cast into hell after he has killed. Yes, I warn you, he is the one for you to fear. Are not five sparrows sold for two pennies? And yet not one of them is overlooked by God. Furthermore even the hairs of your head are all counted. Have no fear. You are worth more than a multitude of sparrows. I tell you: everyone who acknowledges me before men, the Son of Man will acknowledge him before the angels of God."

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to Timothy

Beloved, remember what I preached: Jesus Christ, David's descendant, has been raised from the dead! Because of that preaching I suffer as a criminal, even to the point of being put into chains—but there is no chaining the word of God! So I put up with all this for the sake of those whom God has chosen, that they may obtain the salvation and eternal glory which are to be found in Christ Jesus. You have observed my teaching and my manner of life, my determination fidelity, patience, love, endurance, as well as what persecutions I endured and what sufferings befell me at Antioch, Iconium and Lystra—yet the Lord rescued me from all of them. Now remember: all who want to live a life of piety in Christ Jesus will have to suffer persecution.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 15, 1-7

In illo témpore: Dixit Iesus discípulis suis: Ego sum vitis vera: et Pater meus agrícola est. Omnem pálmitem in me non feréntem fructum, tollet eum: et omnem, qui fert fructum, purgábit eum, ut fructum plus áfferat. Iam vos mundi estis propter sermónem, quem locútus sum vobis. Manéte in me: et ego in vobis. Sicut palmes non potest ferre fructum a semetípso, nisi mánserit in vite: sic nec vos, nisi in me másérítis. Ego sum vitis, vos pálmities:
qui manet in me, et ego in eo, hic fert fructum multum: quia sine me nihil potéstis fácere. Si quis in me non mánserit: mittétur foras sicut palmes, et aréscet, et cólligent eum, et in ignem mittent, et ardet. Si mansérítis in me, et verba mea in vobis mánserint: quodcúmque voluéritis, petétis, et fiet vobis.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples:
“I am the real vine and my Father is the gardener. He cuts away any of my branches that does not bear fruit, but any that bears fruit he trims clean that it may bear more fruit. You are clean already, thanks to the word I have spoken to you. Remain in me as I remain in you. Just as a branch cannot bear fruit by itself without remaining on the vine, so neither can you without remaining united to me. I am the vine; you are the branches. He who remains in me as I in him is the one who bears much fruit, for you can do nothing apart from me. If a man does not remain united to me, he is like a branch, cast off and withered, which they gather up and throw into the fire to be burned. If you remain united to me and my words remain a part of you, ask for whatever you want and you shall have it.”

A Reading from the Epistle
of blessed Paul the Apostle
to the Corinthians

Brethren: Christ did not send me to baptize, but to preach the gospel—but not with wordy “wisdom,” so that the cross of Christ might not be made meaningless. The message of the cross, it is true, is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to those who are being saved, to us, it is the power of God. For it is written, “I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and I will thwart the cleverness of the clever.” Where is the wise man? Where is the scribe? Where is the reasoner of this age? Has not God made foolishness of the wisdom of the world? Since in God’s wisdom the world failed to recognize God by wisdom, it pleased God to use the foolishness of our preaching to save those who believe. Yes, Jews demand “signs” and Greeks seek “wisdom,” but we preach Christ crucified, to Jews indeed a stumblingblock and to Gentiles foolishness, but to those who are called, Jews and Greeks alike, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God. For a foolish thing of God is wiser than men, and a weak thing of God is more powerful than men.

Verbum enim crucis pereúntibus quidem stultítia est: iis autem, qui salvi fiunt, id est nobis, Dei virtus est. Scriptum est enim: Perdam sapiéntiam sapiéntium, et prudéntiam prudéntium reprobábo. Ubi sápiens? ubi scriba? ubi conquisítor huius sáeculi? Nonne stultam fecit Deus sapiéntiam huius mundi? Nam quia in Dei sapiéntia non cognóvit mundus per sapiéntiam Deum: plácuit Deo per stultítiam prædicatiónis salvos fácere credéntes. 2 Tim. 2, 8–10; 3, 10–12

Caríssime: Memor esto, Dóminum Iesum Christum resurrexísse a mórtuis ex sémine David, secúndum Evangélium meum, in quo labóro usque ad víncula, quasi male óperans: sed verbum Dei non est alligátum. Ideo ómnia sustíneo propter eléctos, ut et ipsi salútem consequántur, quæ est in Christo Iesu, cum glória cælésti. Tu autem assecutus es meam doctrínam, institutióne, propósitum, fidem, longanimitátem, dilectiόne, paciéntiam, persecutiόnes, passiόnes: quália mihi facta sunt Antiochiæ, Iconii, et Lystris: quales persecutiόnes sustinui, et ex ómnibus erípuit me Dóminus. Et omnes, qui pie volunt vívere in Christo Iesu, persecutiόne patiéntur.

Beloved, remember what I preached: Jesus Christ, David's descendant, has been raised from the dead! Because of that preaching I suffer as a criminal, even to the point of being put into chains—but there is no chaining the word of God! So I put up with all this for the sake of those whom God has chosen, that they may obtain the salvation and eternal glory which are to be found in Christ Jesus. You have observed my teaching and my manner of life, my determination, fidelity, patience, love, endurance, as well as what persecutions I endured and what sufferings befell me at Antioch, Iconium and Lystra—yet the Lord rescued me from all of them. Now remember: all who want to live a life of piety in Christ Jesus will have to suffer persecution.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "I am the real vine and my Father is the gardener. He cuts away any of my branches that does not bear fruit, but any that bears fruit he trims clean that it may bear more fruit. You are clean already, thanks to the word I have spoken to you. Remain in me as I remain in you. Just as a branch cannot bear fruit by itself without remaining on the vine, so neither can you without remaining united to me. I am the vine; you are the branches. He who remains in me as I in him is the one who bears much fruit, for you can do nothing apart from me. If a man does not remain united to me, he is like a branch, cast off and withered, which they gather up and throw into the fire to be burned. If you remain united to me and my words remain a part of you, ask for whatever you want and you shall have it."

Léctio Epístolæ beáti Pauli
Apóstoli ad Timótheum
1 Tim. 5, 3–10

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Paul the Apostle to Timothy
1 Tim. 5, 3–10

Caríssime: Víduas honóra, quæ vere víduæ sunt. Si qua autem vídua filios, aut nepótes habet, discat primum domum suam régere, et mútuam vicem réddere paréntibus: hoc enim accéptum est coram Deo. Quæ autem vere vídua est, et desoláta, speret in Deum, et instet obsecratióibus, et oratióibus nocte ac die. Nam quæ in delíciis est, vivens mórtua est. Et hoc prácipe ut irreprensíbiles sint. Si quis autem suórum, et máxime domesticórum curam non habet, fidem negávit, et est infidéli detérior. Vídua eligátur non minus sexagínta annórum, quæ fúerit unius viri uxor, in opéribus bonis testimónium habens, si filios educávit, si hospítio recépit, si sanctorum pedes lavit, si tribulatióem patiéntibus ministrávit, si omne opus bonum subsecúta est.

Beloved: Honor widows who are really such. Of course, if they have children or grandchildren these must learn, in the first place, to show piety to their own families and make a due repayment to those who brought them up. That is acceptable before God. The woman who is a real widow and has been left quite alone has set her hopes on God and is continually at prayer, night and day. But a widow who is sexually indulgent has died, even while living. Command widows to be irreproachable. If anyone does not provide for his own relatives, especially those who are of his household, he has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever. No one should be put on the list of widows unless she is at least sixty years old and has been married only once. She must also be a woman to whom noble deeds bear testimony—the testimony, namely, that she has cared for her children, shown hospitality, washed the feet of the saints, helped those in distress, and been intent on every kind of good work.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 7, 11–16

At that time Jesus went to a town called Naim; his disciples and a large crowd accompanied him. As he approached the gate of the town a man who had died was being carried out, an only son of a widowed mother; and a good sized crowd of town-folk were with her. And the Lord, seeing her, was moved with pity for her and said to her: "Do not lament." Then he stepped forward and touched the stretcher and the bearers halted. And he said: "Young man, I bid you rise up." The dead man sat up and began to speak. Then Jesus gave him back to his mother. Fear seized them all and they began to praise God. "A great prophet," they said, "has risen among us," and "God has visited his people."

The just man's care is to seek the Lord, his Maker,
to petition the Most High,
To open his lips in prayer,

Then, if it pleases the Lord Almighty,
he will be filled with the spirit of understanding;

He will show the wisdom of what he has learned

according to Matthew
Matth. 5, 13–19

✠ Sequéntia sancti Evangélii
secúndum Matthæum

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “You are the salt of the earth. Suppose salt becomes insipid; how can you restore its tang? Then it is good for nothing but to be thrown out, and trampled underfoot. You are the light of the world. A city on a mountain top cannot be concealed. Men do not light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket. They set it on a stand where it gives light to all in the house. In the same way, your light must shine before men so that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father. Don’t think that I have come to abolish the Law and the Prophets. I have come, not to abolish them, but to bring them to perfection. I assure you of this: until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter, not even the smallest part of a letter, of the Law will be done away with, until it all comes true. Consequently, the man who breaks the least important of these commandments and teaches others to follow his example will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. It is the man who observes them and teaches them who will be called great in the kingdom of heaven.”

In illo témpore: Dixit Iesus discí-pulis suis: Vos estis sal terræ. Quod si sal evanúerit, in quo saliétur? Ad níhilum valet ultra, nisi ut mittátur foras, et conculcétur ab homínibus. Vos estis lux mundi. Non potest civitas abscondí supra montem pó-sita. Neque accéndunt lucérnam, et ponunt eam sub módio, sed super candelábrum, ut líceat ómnibus qui in domo sunt. Sic líceat lux vestra coram homínibus, ut vídeant ópera vestra bona, et gloríficent Patrem vestrum, qui in cælis est. Nolíte putáre, quóniam veni sólvère legem, aut prophétas: non veni sólvère, sed adimplére. Amen quippe dico vobis, donec tránseat cælum et terra, ióta unum, aut unus apex non præteríbit a lege, donec ómnia fiant. Qui ergo sólverit unum de mandátis istis mínimis, et docúerit sic hómines, mínimus vocábitur in regno cælórum: qui autem fécerit, et docúerit, hic magnus vocábitur in regno cælórum.

Et iterum dixérunt: Allelúia. Et fumus eius ascéndit in sæcula sæculórum. Et cecidérunt senióres vigintiquátuor, et quátuor animália, et adoravérunt Deum sedéntem super thronum, dicéntes: Amen: Allelúia. Et vox de throno exívit, dicens: Laudem dícite Deo nostro omnes servi eius; et qui tímétis eum, pusílli et magni. Et audívi quasi vocem turbæ magnæ, et sicut vocem tonitruórum magnórum, dicéntium: Allelúia: quóniam regnávit Dóminus Deus noster omnipotens. Gaudeámus, et exultémus, et demus glóriam ei: quia venérunt nuptiæ Agni, et uxor eius præparávit se. Et datum est illi ut coopériat se býssino splendénti, et cándido. Býssinum enim iustificatiónes sunt Sanctórum. Et dixit mihi: Scribe, Beáti, qui ad cenam nuptiárum Agni vocáti sunt.

In those days I, John, heard what sounded like the mighty shout of a huge throng in heaven: "Alleluja," they cried, "Salvation and glory and power belong to our God, for his judgments are trustworthy and right. He has passed judgment upon the great harlot who corrupted the earth with her harlotry; upon her he has avenged the blood of his servants." Once more they cried: "Alleluja! the smoke shall go up from her forever." And the twenty-four elders and the four living creatures fell down and worshiped God seated upon the throne, as they cried "Amen. Alleluja." In reply a voice was heard from the throne, "Praise our God, all you his servants, you who revere him, great and small." Again I heard what sounded like the shout of a huge throng, loud as the roaring of the sea or the noise of powerful thunderblasts: "Alleluja!" they said, "the Lord our God, the Almighty One, has begun his reign. Let us be glad and rejoice, let us give him glory, for the marriage of the Lamb is to take place. His bride has beautified herself; she is privileged to wear shining white linen." (This linen symbolizes the righteous deeds of the saints.) "Write this," the angel said to me, "Happy are those who have been invited to the wedding banquet of the Lamb."

Allelúia, allelúia. ✠. Sancti tui, Dómine, florébunt sicut lílium: et sicut odor bálsami erunt ante te.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "I am the vine; you are the branches. He who remains in me as I in him is the one who bears much fruit, for you can do nothing apart from me. If a man does not remain united to me, he is like a branch, cast off and withered, which they gather up and throw into the fire to be burned. If you remain united to me and my words remain a part of you ask for whatever you want and you shall have it. In this my Father has been glorified; in your bearing much fruit and becoming my disciples. As the Father has loved me, so have I loved you. Remain on in my love. And you will remain in my love if you keep my commandments, just as I have kept my Father's commandments and remain in his love. I have said all this to you that my joy may be with you and your joy may be complete."

Paul the Apostle to the Ephesians
Ephes. 4, 7–13

Lectio Epistolæ beati Pauli
Apóstoli ad Ephésios

Brethren: Favor has been given to each one of us in the measure in which Christ bestows it. So the Scripture says, “When he ascended on high, he took a host of captives, and gave gifts to men.” “He ascended”—what does this mean, but that he had first descended into the low regions of the earth? He who descended is also the very one who ascended high above all the heavens, that he might fill all. And “he gave” some men as apostles, and some as prophets, and others again as evangelists, and others as pastors and teachers, thus fitting the saints for the work of the ministry, for building up the body of Christ until we all become one in faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God, and form that perfect man who is Christ come to full stature.

Fratres: Unicuique nostrum data est grátia secúndum mensúram donatiónis Christi. Propter quod dicit: Ascéndens in altum captivam duxit captivitátem: dedit dona homínibus. Quod autem ascéndit, quid est, nisi quia et descéndit primum in inferiôres partes terræ? Qui descéndit, ipse est et qui ascéndit super omnes cælos, ut impléret ómnia. Et ipse dedit quosdam quidem apóstolos, quosdam autem prophétas, álios vero evangelístas, álios autem pastôres, et doctôres, ad consummatiónem sanctórum in opus ministérii, in ædificatióem córporis Christi: donec occurrámus omnes in unitátem fidei, et agnitiónis Fílii Dei, in virum perféctum, in mensúram ætátis plenitúdinis Christi.

At that time there was at Capharnaum a royal official whose son was ill. When he heard that Jesus had come from Judea to Galilee, he went to him and begged him to come down and restore the health of his son who was near death. Jesus replied, "Unless you people can see signs and wonders, you will not believe." "Sir," the royal official pleaded with him, "come down before my little boy dies." Jesus told him, "Return home; your son is going to live." The man put his trust in the word Jesus had spoken to him and started for home. And when he was already on his way back, his servant met him with the message that his boy was going to live. When he asked them at what time he had shown improvement, they told him, "The fever left him yesterday afternoon about one." Now it was at that very hour, the father realized, that Jesus had told him, "Your son is going to live." And he believed and his whole household along with him.

happy are you, because the Spirit of glory and the Spirit of God rests upon you. Let none of you, then, suffer as a murderer or thief or evildoer, or as a meddler in other men's affairs. But if it be as a Christian, you are not to be ashamed; rather, you are to glorify God in this name. It is in fact the time for the judgment to begin, starting from the household of God; and if from you first, what will be the end of those who reject the gospel of God? And if "the just man is hardly safe, where will he be seen who is impious and a sinner?" So then, even those who suffer according to the will of God are to commend their souls to the faithful Creator, in the doing of good.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 5, 13–19

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “You are the salt of the earth. Suppose salt becomes insipid; how can you restore its tang? it is good for nothing but to be thrown out, and trampled underfoot. You are the light of the world. A city on a mountain top cannot be concealed. Men do not light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket. They set it on a stand where it gives light to all in the house. In the same way, your light must shine before men so that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father. Don’t think that I have come to abolish the Law and the Prophets. I have come, not to abolish them, but to bring them to perfection. I assure you of this: until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter, not even the smallest part of a letter, of the Law will be done away with until it all comes true. Consequently, the man who breaks the least important of these commandments and teaches others to follow his example will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. It is the man who observes and teaches them who will be called great in the kingdom of heaven.”

At that time the disciples came up to Jesus with the question, "Who, then, is the most important in the kingdom of heaven?" So he called a little child over, stood him in the middle of them, and said: "I assure you, unless you change and become like little children, you will not enter the kingdom of heaven. For whoever considers himself of little account, like this child, is the most important in the kingdom of heaven. Moreover, whoever welcomes one such child for my sake is welcoming me."

A Reading from the Book of Wisdom Wis. 7, 7-14

Lectio libri Sapientiae Sap. 7, 7-14

I prayed, and prudence was given me;
I pleaded, and the spirit of Wisdom came to me.
I preferred her to scepter and throne,
and deemed riches nothing in comparison with her.
Nor did I liken any priceless gem to her;
because all gold, in view of her, is a little sand,
and before her, silver is to be accounted mire.
Beyond health and comeliness I loved her,
and I chose to have her rather than the light,
because the splendor of her never yields to sleep.
Yet all good things together came to me in her company,
and countless riches at her hands;
And I rejoiced in them all, because Wisdom is their leader, though I had not known that she is the mother of these.
Simply I learned about her, and ungrudgingly do I share—
her riches I do not hide away;
For to men she is an unfailing treasure;
those who gain this treasure win the friendship of God,
to whom the gifts they have from discipline commend them.

Optavi, et datus est mihi sensus: et invocavi, et venit in me spiritus sapientiae: et praeposui illam regnis et sedibus, et divitias nihil esse duxi in comparatione illius: nec comparavi illi lapidem pretiosum: quoniam omne aurum in comparatione illius, arena est exigua, et tamquam lutum aestimabitur argentum in conspectu illius. Super salutem et speciem dilexi illam, et proposui pro luce habere illam: quoniam inextinguibile est lumen illius. Venerunt autem mihi omnia bona pariter cum illa, et innumerabilis honestas per manus illius, et laetatus sum in omnibus: quoniam antecedebat me ista sapientia, et ignorabam quoniam horum omnium mater est. Quam sine fictione didici, et sine invidia comunico, et honestatem illius non abscondo. Infinitus enim thesaurus est hominibus: quo qui usi sunt, participes facti sunt amicitiae Dei, propter disciplinae dona commendati.

Paul the Apostle to the Thessalonians
1 Thess. 2, 2-9

Brethren: We drew courage from our God to preach to you the gospel of God under great opposition. For our exhortation springs neither from delusion nor from impure motives nor from deceit; rather, having met the test imposed on us by God as those entrusted with the gospel, so we preach, trying to please not men but God, "who tests our hearts." Never were we guilty of flattering words—you know this—nor of greediness under any pretext—God is the witness!—never trying for honor from men, neither from you nor from others, even though it was in our power to impose ourselves as apostles of Christ. On the contrary, while we were among you we were as gentle as a nursing mother when she embraces her young. So solicitous were we for you, in fact, that we wanted to share with you not only the gospel of God but even our very lives, so beloved had you become to us. You do indeed remember, brethren, our labor and toil: all the while we were preaching to you the gospel of God we worked both night and day so as not to impose on you in any way.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 10, 1-9

At that time the Lord appointed a further seventy-two and sent them in twos before him to every town and place which he intended to visit. He said to them: "The harvest is plentiful but the laborers are scarce. So pray to the owner of the harvest to send out laborers to reap it. Go then, and remember, I am sending you like lambs in the midst of wolves. Do not carry a walking stick or traveling bag; wear no sandals. And greet no one along the way. On entering any house first say: 'Peace to this house'; if there is a peaceable man there your peace will repose upon him; if not, it will return to you. Stay in that same house eating and drinking what they have, for the laborer is worth his pay. Do not move from house to house. Whenever you enter a city and they welcome you, eat what they set before you, cure the sick inhabitants, and say to them: 'The kingdom of God has approached you.' "

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Romans
Rom. 8, 18–23

Fratres: Exístimo quod non sunt condígnæ passiónes huius témporis ad futúram glóriam, quæ revelábitur in nobis. Nam exspectátió creatúræ revelatiónem filiórum Dei exspectat. Vanitati enim creatúra subiecta est non volens, sed propter eum, qui subiecit eam in spe: quia et ipsa creatúra liberábitur a servitúte corruptiúnis, in libertátem glóriæ filiórum Dei. Scimus enim quod omnis creatúra ingemiscit, et párturit usque adhuc. Non solum autem illa, sed et nos ipsi primítias spíritus habéntes: et ipsi intra nos gæmimus adoptiúnem filiórum Dei exspectántes, redemptiúnem córporis nostri: in Christo Iesu Dómino nostro.

Brethren: I consider the sufferings of the present time unworthy to be compared with the glory that one day will be revealed in us. Even creation itself is waiting with eager longing for that revelation of the sons of God. For creation was condemned to a futile existence, not willingly, but by the will of him who doomed it. Yet hope still remained that even creation itself would be delivered from its slavery to corruption and would come to share in the glorious liberty of the children of God. Up to the present, as we know, the whole of creation has been groaning together as it undergoes the pains of childbirth. And not only creation, but we ourselves also groan in our hearts, for, even though we have the Spirit as first fruits of our harvest, we are still waiting for the full adoption that will come to us through the redemption of our bodies, in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

Gradual Ps. 33, 18–19 When the just cry out, the Lord hears them, and from all their distress he rescues them. ℟. The Lord is close to the brokenhearted and those who are crushed in spirit he saves.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℟. John 15, 16 I have chosen you out of the world, that you should go, and bear fruit, and that your fruit should remain. Alleluia.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 21, 9–19

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “When you hear of wars and insurrections do not become frightened. These things are bound to happen first, but the end will not follow immediately.”

Then he said to them: “Nation will rise against nation and kingdom against kingdom. There will be earthquakes, and plagues in various places, and famines, and in the sky fearful omens and great signs. But before all this they will manhandle you and persecute you, handing you over to synagogues and prisons, and bringing you to trial before kings and governors because of my name. It will lead to your testifying to your faith. Resolve, then, not to worry beforehand about your defense. For I will give you words and wisdom, which none of your adversaries will be able to take exception to or contradict. You will be handed over even by your parents, brothers, relatives, and friends; some of you will be put to death, and you will be hated by all because of my name. But not a hair of your head will perish. By your perseverance you will save your souls.”

The just man, though he die early, shall be at rest.
For the age that is honorable comes not with the passing of time,
nor can it be measured in terms of years.
Rather, understanding is the hoary crown for men, and an unsullied life, the attainment of old age.
He who pleased God was loved;
he who lived among sinners was transported—
Snatched away, lest wickedness pervert his mind
or deceit beguile his soul;
For the witchery of paltry things obscures what is right and the whirl of desire transforms the innocent mind.
Having become perfect in a short while,
he reached the fullness of a long career;
for his soul was pleasing to the Lord, therefore he sped him out of the midst of wickedness.

Happy for those servants whom the master finds vigilant on his arrival! I tell you: he will fasten his belt, seat them at table, and come and wait on them. Even if he comes at midnight or before sunrise and finds them prepared, it will be happy for them. A Reading from the Book of Sirach
Eccli. 44, 1–15

Let us praise those godly men,
our ancestors, each in his own time:
Rulers of the earth by their authority,
men of renown for their might,
Or counselors in their wisdom,
or seers of all things in prophecy;
Resolute governors of peoples,
or judges with discretion;
Authors skilled in composition,
or poets with collected proverbs;
Composers of melodious psalms,
or discoursers on lyric themes;
Stalwart men, solidly established
and at peace in their own estates—
All these were glorious in their time,
each illustrious in his day.
Some of them have left behind a name
that is remembered to their praise;
But of others there is no memory,
for it perished when they perished,
And they are as though they had never
lived,
they and their children after them.
Yet these also were godly men
whose virtues have not been forgotten;
Their wealth remains in their families,
their heritage with their descendants;
Through God's covenant with them their
family endures,
and their hopes are never shattered.

At that time, when Jesus saw the crowds, he went up on the mountain, and after he had sat down, his disciples gathered around. Then he began to teach them, "Happy the poor in spirit: theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Happy those who mourn: they shall be consoled. Happy the humble: they shall inherit the land. Happy those who hunger and thirst for holiness: they shall be satisfied. Happy the merciful: they shall find mercy. Happy the sincere of heart: they shall behold God. Happy the peacemakers: they shall be called God's children. Happy those who suffer persecution for religion: theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Happy are you when they insult you and persecute you and utter every kind of slander against you, on my account. Be glad! Yes, be overjoyed: your reward in heaven is great."

In those days at Antioch a great number believed and were converted to the Lord. News of them eventually reached the ears of the church in Jerusalem, and Barnabas was sent to Antioch. On his arrival, he rejoiced when he saw the evidence of God's favor. He urged them all to remain firm in their commitment to the Lord, for he himself was a good man, filled with the Holy Spirit and faith. And a considerable number was added to the Lord. Then he went off to Tarsus to look for Saul; and when he found him, he brought him back to Antioch. Then for a whole year they met together with the church and instructed a considerable number. There in Antioch for the first time the disciples were called Christians. In the church at Antioch there were prophets and teachers: Barnabas, Simeon who was called Niger, Lucius of Cyrene, Manahen (who had been brought up with Herod the tetrarch) and Saul. Once while they were engaged in the liturgy of the Lord and were fasting, the Holy Spirit spoke to them: "Set apart Barnabas and Saul for me, to do the work for which I have called them." Then, after they had fasted and prayed, they laid hands on them and sent them off.

You will be brought to trial before governors and kings on account of me, to testify to your faith before them and the pagans. Now when they hand you over, do not worry about what you are to say, or how to say it. In that hour, you will be inspired as to what to say. A Reading from the Acts of the Apostles

In those days at Antioch a great number believed and were converted to the Lord. News of them eventually reached the ears of the church in Jerusalem, and Barnabas was sent to Antioch. On his arrival, he rejoiced when he saw the evidence of God's favor. He urged them all to remain firm in their commitment to the Lord, for he himself was a good man, filled with the Holy Spirit and faith. And a considerable number was added to the Lord. Then he went off to Tarsus to look for Saul; and when he found him, he brought him back to Antioch. Then for a whole year they met together with the church and instructed a considerable number. There in Antioch for the first time the disciples were called Christians. In the church at Antioch there were prophets and teachers: Barnabas. Simeon who was called Niger, Lucius of Cyrene, Manahen (who had been brought up with Herod the tetrarch) and Saul. Once while they were engaged in the liturgy of the Lord and were fasting, the Holy Spirit spoke to them: "Set apart Barnabas and Saul for me, to do the work for which I have called them." Then, after they had fasted and prayed, they laid hands on them and sent them off.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel

Matth. 10, 16–22

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “Remember, I am sending you out like sheep surrounded by wolves. So be shrewd as serpents, but innocent as doves. Be constantly on your guard in dealing with people. They will hand you over to courts; they will flog you in their synagogues. You will be brought to trial before governors and kings on account of me, to testify to your faith before them and the pagans. Now when they hand you over, do not worry about what you are to say, or how to say it. In that hour, you will be inspired as to what to say. It will not be yourselves speaking, but your Father’s Spirit speaking in you. Brother will hand over brother for execution, likewise the father his child, while children will turn against their parents and have them put to death. Indeed, because of my name, you will be hated by everyone. Still, it is the man who bears up patiently to the end who will be saved.”

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews
Hebr. 10, 32–38

Brethren: Recall the days gone by when after you had been enlightened you endured a great contest of suffering. At times you were publicly exposed to insult and trial; at times you associated yourselves with those who were treated in that way. And you even joined in the sufferings of those who were in prison, and joyfully accepted the confiscation of your goods, knowing that you had better and permanent possessions. Therefore, don't cast away your courage; it will have a great reward. You need patience so that you may do God's will and receive what he has promised. For, just "a brief moment, and he who is to come will come and will not delay. My just man will live because of his fidelity."

You are going to hear about wars and war-scaries; see to it that you do not become frightened. It is bound to happen. Still, this is not yet the end. Nation will rise against nation, one kingdom against another. There will be famines and pestilence and earthquakes in different places. Now all this is the start of the birthpangs. Then they will hand you over to torture and will kill you. Indeed, because of my name you will be hated by all nations. They seemed, in the view of the foolish, to be dead;
and their passing away was judged as an affliction and their going forth from us, utter destruction.
But they are in peace.
For if before men, indeed, they be punished,
yet is their hope full of immortality;
Chastised a little, they shall be greatly blessed,
because God tried them
and found them worthy of himself.
As gold in the furnace, he proved them,
and as sacrificial offerings he took them to himself.
In the time of their visitation they shall shine,
and shall dart about as sparks through stubble;
They shall judge nations and rule over peoples,
and the Lord shall be their King forever.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "He who hears you hears me; he who rejects you rejects me. And he who rejects me, rejects him who sent me." The seventy-two returned in jubilation, saying: "Lord, even the demons are subject to us in your name." He said to them: "I watched Satan fall like lightning from the sky. And, see, I have given you the power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and all the forces of the enemy, and nothing will ever injure you. Nevertheless do not rejoice so much in the fact that the spirits are subject to you as that your names are inscribed in heaven."

Brethren: Now that we have been justified by faith, we are at peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. Through him we have gained access by faith to the favor in which we now stand, and we boast of our hopes for the glory of God. But not only that—we even boast of our afflictions! For we know that affliction makes for endurance, and endurance for tested virtue, and tested virtue for hope. And hope does not disap-point, because the love of God has been poured out in our hearts through the Holy Spirit who was given to us.

Profécto testificámini quod consentítis opéribus patrum vestrorum: quóniam ipsi quidem eos occidérunt, vos autem ædificátis eórum sepúlcrá. Proptérea et sapiéntia Dei dixit: Mittam ad illos prophétas et apóstolos, et ex illis occident, et persecúentur: ut inquirátur sanguis ómnium prophetárum, qui effúsus est a constitutióne mundi a generatióne ista, a sáanguine Abel usque ad sáanguinem Zachariæ, qui périit inter altáre et ædem. Ita dico vobis, requirétur ab hac generatióne.

At that time, Jesus said to the scribes and Pharisees: "Woe to you, you build the tombs of the prophets, but your fathers murdered them. You vouch for and approve the deeds of your fathers, in that they did the murders and you erect the tombs. For this reason the wisdom of God said: 'I will send them prophets and apostles and they will kill and persecute some of them—so that this generation will have to account for the blood of all the prophets shed since the foundation of the world, from the blood of Abel to the blood of Zacharia who met his death between the altar and the sanctuary. 1 Peter 4, 13–19

As you are participating in the sufferings of Christ, rejoice: so that in the revelation of his glory also you may rejoice and be glad. If you suffer reproach in the name of Christ, happy are you, because the Spirit of glory and the Spirit of God rests upon you. Let none of you, then, suffer as a murderer or thief or evildoer, as a meddler in other men's affairs. But if it be as a Christian, you are not to be ashamed; rather, you are to glorify God in this name. It is in fact the time for the judgment to begin, starting from the household of God; and if from you first, what will be the end of those who reject the gospel of God? And if "the just man is hardly safe, where will he be seen who is impious and a sinner?" So then, even those who suffer according to the will of God are to commend their souls to the faithful Creator, in the doing of good.

Happy the man found without fault, who turns not aside after gain!
Who is he, that we may praise him?
he, of all his kindred, has done wonders,
For he has been tested by gold and come off safe,
and this remains his glory;
He could have sinned but did not,
could have done evil but would not,
So that his possessions are secure in the Lord,
and the assembly recounts his praises.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 22, 29, 40

At that time Jesus replied to the Sadducees: "You are wrong, because you fail to understand either the Scriptures or the power of God. At the resurrection, men neither marry nor are married, but live like angels in heaven. With regard to the resurrection of the dead, have you not read what God said to you, 'I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, the God of Jacob'? He is the God of the living, not of the dead." Upon hearing this, the crowds were spellbound by his teaching. When the Pharisees heard that he had silenced the Sadducees, they assembled in a body. One of them, a lawyer, in an attempt to trip him up, asked him, "Master, which commandment in the Law is the greatest?" So he said to him, "'You shall love the Lord God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind.' This is the greatest and the first commandment. And the second is similar to it, 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.' On these two commandments, the whole Law is based, and the Prophets as well."

Now I am going to give you some advice on this matter (of the collection). It will help you who already began last year not only to do this good work, but also to want to do it. Carry it through now to a successful completion, so that your giving according to your ability may correspond to your willingness. For if there is a willingness to give, it will be acceptable if it is according to one's ability, not if it is beyond one's means. The relief of others ought not to impoverish you, but there should be an equality. In the present time your plenty should supply their need, in order that their surplus may also come to the aid of your wants, so that there may be an equality; as it is written: "he who gathered much did not have too much; and he who gathered little did not have too little."

Léctio Ieremiæ Prophætæ
Jerem. 1, 4–10

In those days:
The word of the Lord came to me thus:
Before I formed you in the womb I knew you,
before you were born I dedicated you,
a prophet to the nations I appointed you.
“Ah, Lord God!” I said,
“I know not how to speak; I am too young.”
But the Lord answered me, Say not, “I am too young.”
To whomever I send you,
you shall go;
whatever I command you,
you shall speak.
Have no fear before them, because I am with you to deliver you, says the Lord.
Then the Lord extended his hand and touched my mouth, saying,
See, I place my words in your mouth!
This day I set you over nations and over kingdoms,
To root up and to tear down,
to destroy and to demolish,
to build and to plant,
says the Lord Almighty.

In diébus illis: Factum est verbum Dómini ad me dicens: Priúsquam te formárem in útero, novi te: et ántequam exíres de vulva, sanctificávi te, et prophétam in géntibus dedi te.
Et dixi: A a a, Dómine Deus: ecce nescio loqui, quia puer ego sum. Et

Fuit in diébus Heródis, regis Iudææ, sacerdos quidam nómine Zacharías, de vice Abía, et uxor illius de filiábus Aaron, et nomen eius Elisabéth. Erant autem iusti ambo ante Deum, incedéntes in ómnibus mandátis, et iustificatióibus Dómini sine queréla, et non erat illis fílius, eo quod esset Elisabéth stérilis, et ambo processissent in diébus suis. Factum est autem, cum sacerdotio fungerétur in ór-dine vicis suæ ante Deum, secúndum consuetúdinem sacerdotii, sorte éxiit, ut incénsium póneret, ingressus in templum Dómini: et omnis multitúdo pópuli erat orans foris hora incénsi. Appáruit autem illi Angelus Dómini, stans a dextris altáris incénsi. Et Zacharías turbátus est videns, et timor írruit super eum. Ait autem ad illum Angelus: Ne tímeas, Zacharía, quóniam exaudíta est deprecátió tua: et uxor tua Elisabéth páriet tibi fílium, et vocábis nomen eius Ioá-nem: et erit gáudium tibi, et exultátió, et multi in nativítate eius gaudébunt: erit enim magnus coram Dómino: et vinum, et síceram non bibet, et Spírítu Sancto replébitur adhuc ex útero matris suæ: et multos filiórurum Israél convértet ad Dóminum Deum ipsórum: et ipse præcédet ante illum in spírítu, et virtúte Eliæ: ut convértat corda patrum in fílios, et incrédulos ad prudéntiam iustórum, paráre Dómino plebem perféctam.

In the days of Herod, King of Judea, there was a priest named Zachary, of the priestly class of Abia; his wife was a descendant of Aaron, named Elizabeth. Both of them were just in the eyes of God, blamelessly following all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord. But they were childless, for Elizabeth was barren and both were advanced in years. Once, when it was the turn of his class and he was fulfilling his priestly functions before God, it fell to his lot, by liturgical usage, to enter the sanctuary of the Lord and offer incense; and the whole assembly of people was praying outside at the hour of incense. An angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing on the right of the altar of incense. Zachary, seeing him, was troubled and overcome by fear. The angel said to him: "Do not be afraid, Zachary; your prayer has been heard; your wife, Elizabeth, will bear a son, and you shall name him John. You will have joy and gladness, and many will rejoice at his birth for he will be great in the eyes of the Lord. He will never drink wine or strong drink and he will be filled by the Holy Spirit from his mother's womb, and he will bring back many of the sons of Israel to the Lord their God. And he will himself go before him with the spirit and power of Elia, to turn the hearts of fathers to their children, and the rebellious to the wisdom of the just, and to prepare a well-disposed people for the Lord."

Hear me, O coastlands,

The Lord called me from birth, from my mother's womb he gave me my name.
He made of me a sharp-edged

He made me a polished arrow, in his quiver he hid me.
You are my servant, he said to me,
Israel, through whom I show my glory.
For now the Lord has spoken who formed me as his servant from the womb,
I will make you a light to the nations, that my salvation may reach to the ends of the earth.
When kings see you, they shall stand up,
and princes shall prostrate themselves
Because of the Lord who is faithful, the Holy One of Israel who has chosen
you.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel according to Luke Luke 1, 57-68

Elizabeth's time for delivery was come and she gave birth to a son. And when her neighbors and relations heard that the Lord had extended his mercy to her, they rejoiced with her. On the eighth day they came to circumcise the child and they were going to name him after his father Zachary. But his mother intervened and said: "No, but he will be called John."

And they said to her, "There is none of your relatives called by that name." They asked the father by signs what he wished him to be called. He called for a writing tablet and wrote the words, 'John is his name.' His mouth was immediately opened and his tongue loosed and he began to talk, praising God.

Fear descended on all the neighbors, and in all the hill-country of Judea all these things began to be recounted. All who heard them stored them in their hearts, saying, "What will this child be? For the hand of the Lord was with him."

And Zachary, his father, was filled with the Holy Spirit and prophesied in these words:

Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, because he has visited and wrought redemption for his people.

Elísabeth implétum est tempus pariéndi, et péperit filium. Et audiérunt vicíni, et cognáti eius, quia magnificávit Dóminus misericórdiam suam cum illa, et congratulábántur ei. Et factum est in die octávo, venérunt circumcídere púerum, et vocábant eum nómine patris sui Zacharíam. Et respóndens mater eius, dixit: Nequáquam, sed vocábitur Ioánnes. Et dixerunt ad illam: Quia nemo est in cognatióne tua, qui vocétur hoc nómine. Innuébant autem patri eius quem vellet vocári eum. Et póstulus pugillárem, scripsit, dicens: Ioánnes est nomen eius. Et miráti sunt univérsi. Apértum est autem íllico os eius, et lingua eius, et loquebátur benedícens Deum. Et factus est timor super omnes vicínos eórum: et super ómnia montána Iudææ divulgábántur ómnia verba hæc: et posuérunt omnes, qui audierant in corde suo, dicétes: Quis, putas, puer iste erit? Etenim manus Dómini erat cum illo. Et Zacharías pater eius replétus est Spíritu Sancto, et prophetávit, dicens: Benedíctus Dóminus Deus Israël, quia visitávit, et fecit redemptiόνem plebis suæ.

In those days Peter and John were going up to the Temple for the three o'clock hour of prayer, and a man crippled from birth was being carried in. They would bring him every day and put him at that Temple gate called the Beautiful, to beg from the people entering the Temple. When he saw Peter and John on their way in, he begged them for something. Peter stared at the man and so did John. "Look at us!" Peter said. He gave them his whole attention, hoping to get something. Then Peter said, "I have neither silver nor gold, but what I have, I'll give you! In the name of Jesus Christ the Nazorean, walk!" And he took his right hand and pulled him up. Immediately the beggar's feet and ankles became strong; he jumped up, stood for a moment and began to walk around. He went into the Temple with them, walking, and jumping and praising God. When the people saw him walking around praising God, they recognized him as that beggar who used to sit at the Beautiful Gate of the Temple. They were struck with astonishment and amazed at what had happened to him.

At that time Jesus said to Simon Peter, "Simon, son of John, do you love me more than these?" "Yes, Lord," he said, "you know that I love you." He told him, "Feed my lambs." A second time he repeated his question, "Simon, son of John, do you love me?" "Yes, Lord," he said, "you know that I love you." He told him, "Tend my little sheep." A third time he asked him, "Simon, son of John, do you love me?" Peter was hurt because he had asked a third time, "Do you love me?" So he said to him, "Lord, you know all things; you know well that I love you." Jesus told him, "Feed my sheep. Truly I assure you, when you were a young man, you used to fasten your own belt and go wherever you wished. But when you grow old, you will stretch out your hands, and another will fasten a belt around you and take you where you do not wish to go."

(What he said indicated, in fact, the sort of death by which Peter was to glorify God.)

Et apprehensa manu eius dextera, allevavit eum, et protinus consolidatae sunt bases eius, et plantae. Et exsiliens stetit, et ambulabat: et intravit cum illis in templum, ambulans, et exsiliens, et laudans Deum. Et vidit omnis populus eum ambulantem et laudantem Deum. ### A Reading from the Acts of the Apostles Acts 12, 1-11

In those days Herod the King started to harass some of the members of the church. He beheaded James, the brother of John, and when he saw that this pleased the Jews, he proceeded to arrest Peter too. It was during the Feast of Unleavened Bread that he had him arrested and thrown into prison with four squads of soldiers to guard him. Herod intended to bring him before the people after the Passover. So it was that Peter was kept in prison, while the church prayed fervently to God on his behalf. During the very night before Herod was going to bring him forward, Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, fastened with two chains, while guards stood watch at the door. Suddenly the angel of the Lord stood nearby and a light shone in the cell. He tapped Peter on the side and woke him up. "Hurry, get up!" he said. And the chains dropped from his wrists. The angel said, "Put on your belt and your sandals!" This he did. Then the angel said, "Now put on your cloak and follow me." Peter followed him out, but did not realize that all this was really happening with the angel's help, for it seemed to be just a vision. But when they passed the first guard, and then the second, and came to the iron gate leading to the city, it opened for them of itself. They went out and walked down a narrow alley, when suddenly the angel left him. Peter, coming to his senses, said, "Now I know for certain that the Lord has sent his angel to rescue me from Herod's clutches, and from all that the Jewish people hoped for."

"You are the Messiah," Simon Peter answered, "the Son of the living God!" Jesus replied, "Happy are you, Simon son of John! No mere man has disclosed this to you, but my heavenly Father. And I, for my part, declare to you: you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my Church, and the forces of Death's realm shall not subdue it. I will entrust to you the keys of the kingdom of heaven: whatever you shall declare unlawful upon earth shall be held unlawful in heaven; whatever you shall declare lawful upon earth shall be held lawful in heaven."

A Reading from the Acts of the Apostles Acts 12, 1-11

In those days Herod the King started to harass some of the members of the church. He beheaded James, the brother of John, and when he saw that this pleased the Jews, he proceeded to arrest Peter too. It was during the Feast of Unleavened Bread that he had him arrested and thrown into prison, with four squads of soldiers to guard him. Herod intended to bring him before the people after the Passover. So it was that Peter was kept in prison, while the church prayed fervently to God on his behalf. During the very night before Herod was going to bring him forward, Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, fastened with two chains, while guards stood watch at the door. Suddenly the angel of the Lord stood nearby and a light shone in the cell. He tapped Peter on the side and woke him up. "Hurry, get up!" he said. And the chains dropped from his wrists. The angel said, "Put on your belt and your sandals!" This he did. Then the angel said, "Now put on your cloak and follow me." Peter followed him out, but did not realize that all this was really happening with the angel's help,

Votive Mass of St. Peter

for it seemed to be just a vision. But when they passed the first guard, and then the second, and came to the iron gate leading to the city, it opened for them of itself. They went out and walked down a narrow alley when suddenly the angel left him. Peter, coming to his senses, said, "Now I know for certain that the Lord has sent his angel to rescue me from Herod's clutches, and from all that the Jewish people hoped for."

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Paul the Apostle to the Galatians
Gal. 1, 11-20

Brethren: I want you to realize that the gospel that I preached to you is no human invention. I did not myself receive it or learn it from any man, but by revelation from Jesus Christ. You have heard, I know the story of my former way of life in Judaism. You know that I persecuted the Church of God beyond all measure and tried to destroy it; that I made progress in the Jewish observances far beyond many of my age and generation, since I was an unrestrained zealot for living out all the traditions of my forefathers. But the time came when he who had set me apart before I was born, and had called me by his favor, chose to reveal his Son to me that I might proclaim him among the Gentiles. Immediately, without seeking to consult human advisers or even going to Jerusalem to see those who were apostles before me, I went off into Arabia, then later returned to Damascus. Then, three years later, I went up to Jerusalem to visit Cephas, staying with him fifteen days. I did not meet any other of the apostles except James, the brother of the Lord. I protest before God that what I have just written to you is the truth.

Gradual Gal. 2, 8-9 He who worked in Peter for the apostleship, worked also in me among the Gentiles, and they recognized

the Apostle to the Hebrews
Hebr. 9, 11–15

Brethren: When Christ came as high priest of the good things which have come to be, he entered once for all into the sanctuary, passing through the greater and more perfect tent not made by hands, that is, not belonging to this creation. He entered not with the blood of goats and calves but with his own blood, and achieved eternal redemption. For if the blood of goats and bulls and the sprinkling of a heifer's ashes can make holy those who are defiled so that their flesh is made clean, how much more will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal spirit offered himself up unblemished to God, cleanse our consciences from dead works to worship the living God? This is why he is mediator of a new covenant: that since his death has taken place for deliverance from transgressions committed under the first covenant, those who have been called may receive the eternal inheritance: in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

Gradual 1 John 5, 6 and 7–8 This is he who came in water and in blood, Jesus Christ; not in the water only, but in the water and in the blood. ℣. There are three that bear witness in heaven: the Father, the Word, and the Holy Spirit; and these three are one. And there are three that bear witness on earth: the Spirit, the water, and the blood; and these three are one.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ibid., 9 If we receive the testimony of men, the testimony of God is greater. Alleluia.

After Septuagesima, in votive Masses the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

July 1. Precious Blood of our Lord Jesus Christ

Tract Ephes. 1, 6–8 God has favored us in his beloved Son. In him we have redemption through his blood. ℟. The remission of sins, according to the riches of his grace. This grace has abounded beyond measure in us. ℟. Rom. 3, 24–25 We are justified freely by his grace through the redemption which is Christ Jesus. ℟. Whom God has set forth as a propitiation by his blood through faith.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

Alleluia, alleluia. ℟. Apoc. 5, 9 Worthy are you, O Lord, to take the scroll and to open its seals; for you were slain, and have redeemed us for God with your blood. Alleluia. ℟. Exodus 12, 13 And the blood shall be to you for a sign; seeing the blood, I will pass over you; thus no destructive blow will come upon you. Alleluia.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel according to John John 19, 30–35

At that time, when Jesus took the wine, he said, “It is finished”; and bowing his head, he handed over the spirit. Since it was Preparation Day, the Jews did not want the bodies left on the cross during the Sabbath, for that Sabbath was a solemn feast day. So they asked Pilate to have the legs broken and the bodies taken down. Accordingly, the soldiers came and broke the legs of the men crucified with Jesus, first of the one, then of the other. But when they came to Jesus and saw that he was already dead, they did not break his legs. However, one of the soldiers jabbed his side with a lance and immediately blood and water flowed out. (This testimony has been given by an eye-witness, and his testimony is true.)

July 2. Visitation of the Bl. Virgin Mary

Offertory Antiphon

1 Cor. 10, 16

Calix benedictiōnis, cui benedicimus, nonne comunicatio sāguinis Christi est? et panis, quem frāngimus, nonne participatio cōrporis Dōmini est?

The cup of blessing that we bless, is it not the sharing of the blood of Christ? And the bread that we break, is it not the partaking of the body of the Lord?

Prayer over the Gifts

Per hęc divīna mystēria, ad novi, quāsumus, testamēti mediātorem Iesum accedāmus: et super altāria tua, Dōmine virtūtum, aspersiōnem sāguinis mēlius loquētem, quam Abel, innovēmus. Per eūdem Dōminum.

May these divine mysteries draw us closer to Jesus, the mediator of the new covenant.* Let us renew upon your altar, O Lord of Hosts, the sprinkling of the blood of Christ which is far more efficacious than the sacrifice offered by Abel. Through Jesus Christ.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 1, 39–47

In those days Mary set out and went with haste into the hill-country, to a town of Juda. She entered Zachary's house and greeted Elizabeth. And, when Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the infant stirred in her womb; and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit, and cried out in a loud voice: "Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb. And who am I, that the mother of my Lord should come to me? For the moment that your salutation sounded in my ears the infant stirred in my womb with joy. Happy is she who has believed that the Lord's words to her would be fulfilled."

And Mary said:

“My soul magnifies the Lord, and my spirit rejoices in God my savior.”

July 2. Visitation of the Bl. Virgin Mary

Offertory Antiphon

Blessed are you, O Virgin Mary, who bore the Creator of all things; you brought forth him who made you, and you remain forever a virgin.

Beáta es, Virgo María, quæ ómnium portásti Creatórem: genuísti qui te fecit, et in ætérnum pérmanes virgo.

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, may the humanity of your only-begotten Son, Jesus Christ, our Lord, be our help.* By his birth he did not impair the virgin purity of his mother, but rather sanctified it. May he free us from our sins and make our offering acceptable to you on this feast of Mary's Visitation: Who lives and reigns.

Unigéniti tui, Dómine, nobis succúr-rat humánitas: ut, qui natus de Vírgine, matris integritátem non mínuit, sed sacrávit; in Visitatiónis eius solémniis, nostris nos piáculis éxuens, oblatiόνem nostram tibi fáciat accéptam Iesus Christus Dóminus noster: Qui tecum vivit.

Brethren: Recall the days gone by when,
after you had been enlightened, you endured a great contest of suffering. At times you were publicly exposed to insult and trial;
at times you associated yourselves with those who were treated in that way. And you even joined in the sufferings of those who were in prison, and joyfully accepted

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “If a man determines to come after me, he must renounce self, take up his cross, and follow me. Whoever determines to save himself will destroy himself; but whoever destroys himself for my sake will find himself. What advantage would it be for a man to gain the whole world at the cost of destroying himself? Or what can a man give in exchange for his own self? The Son of Man is going to come with his Father’s glory accompanied by his angels, and then he will repay each man according to his conduct.”

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “Don’t be afraid of those who deprive the body of life, but cannot do away with life itself. Rather, be afraid of him who can destroy both life and body in Gehenna. A pair of sparrows, you know, sells for only a few cents. Yet not one of them will fall to the ground without your Father’s consent. As for you, every hair on your head has been counted. So don’t be afraid. You are worth far more than many sparrows. Now, every one who acknowledges me before his fellow men I will acknowledge before my heavenly Father. But the man who disowns me before his fellow men I will disown before my heavenly Father.”

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "I assure you, whoever does not accept the kingdom of God like a little child, shall not enter it." Then he put his arms around the children, and blessed them, placing his hands upon them. As he was setting out on a journey, a man came running up, knelt down before him and asked, "Good Master, what must I do to inherit eternal life?" Jesus answered, "Why do you call me good? No one is good except the one God. You know the commandments: 'You shall not kill; you shall not commit adultery; you shall not steal; you shall not bear false witness; you shall not defraud; honor your father and your mother.'" He replied, "Master, I have observed all these since my childhood." Then Jesus looked at him with love and told him, "There is one thing more you need to do. Go, sell what you have, and give the money to the poor. Then you will possess heavenly treasure. And come back and follow me."

vented by death from remaining in office, but Jesus, because he remains forever, has a priesthood which does not pass away. Therefore, he is forever able to save those who approach God through him, since he always lives to make intercession for them. It was fitting that we should have such a high priest: holy, innocent, undefiled, separated from sinners, higher than the heavens themselves. Unlike the high priests, he does not have to offer sacrifice day by day, first for his own sins and then for those of the people — Jesus Christ, our Lord, did that once for all when he offered up himself.

He said to them: "The harvest is plentiful but the laborers are scarce. So pray to the owner of the harvest to send out laborers to reap it. Go then, and remember, I am sending you like lambs in the midst of wolves. Do not carry a walking stick or traveling bag; wear no sandals. And greet no one along the way. On entering any house first say: 'Peace to this house'; if there is a peaceable man there your peace will repose upon him; if not, it will return to you. Stay in that same house eating and drinking what they have, for the laborer is worth his pay. Do not move from house to house. When one finds a worthy wife, her value is far beyond pearls.
Her husband, entrusting his heart to her,
has an unfailing prize.
She brings him good, and not evil,
all the days of her life.
She obtains wool and flax
and makes cloth with skillful hands.
Like merchant ships,
she secures her provisions from afar.
She rises while it is still night,
and distributes food to her household.
She picks out a field to purchase;
out of her earnings she plants a vineyard.
She is girt about with strength,
and sturdy are her arms.
She enjoys the success of her dealings;
at night her lamp is undimmed.

She puts her hands to the distaff,
and her fingers ply the spindle.
She reaches out her hands to the poor,
and extends her arms to the needy.
She fears not the snow for her household;
all her charges are doubly clothed.
She makes her own coverlets;
fine linen and purple are her clothing.
Her husband is prominent at the city gates
as he sits with the elders of the land.
She makes garments and sells them,
and stocks the merchants with belts.
She is clothed with strength and dignity,
and she laughs at the days to come.
She opens her mouth in wisdom,
and on her tongue is kindly counsel.
She watches the conduct of her household,
and eats not her food in idleness.
Her children rise up and praise her
her husband, too, extols her:
“Many are the women of proven worth,
but you have excelled them all.”
Charm is deceptive and beauty fleeting;
the woman who fears the Lord is to be praised.
Give her a reward of her labors,
and let her works praise her at the city gates.

In illo témpore: Loquente Iesu ad turbas, ecce mater eius, et fratres stabant foris, quæréntes loqui ei. Dixit autem ei quidam: Ecce mater tua, et fratres tui foris stant quæréntes te. At ipse respóndens dicénte sibi, ait: Quæ est mater mea, et qui sunt fratres mei? Et exténdens manum in discipulos suos, dixit: Ecce mater mea, et fratres mei. Quicumque enim fécerit voluntátem Patris mei, qui in cælis est: ipse meus frater, et soror, et mater est.

At that time Jesus was speaking to the crowds when suddenly his mother and brothers appeared outside desiring to speak with him. Someone said to him, "Look, your mother and your brothers are waiting outside, asking to speak to you." In reply he said to the one who told him, "Who is my mother? Who are my brothers?" And pointing with his hand to his disciples, he said, "There are my mother and my brothers. Whoever does the will of my heavenly Father, that person is brother and sister and mother to me."

Dear to God and men,
his memory is held in benediction.
God's honor devolved upon him,
and the Lord strengthened him with fearful powers;
God wrought swift miracles at his words
and sustained him in the king's presence.
He gave him the Commandments for his people,
and revealed to him his glory.
For his trustworthiness and meekness
God selected him from all mankind;
He permitted him to hear his voice,
and led him into the cloud,
Where, face to face, he gave him the Com-

the law of life and understanding.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "You have heard the commandment, 'You shall love your neighbor, but you shall hate your enemy.' But now I command you, love your enemies; pray for those who persecute you that you may be true sons of your heavenly Father. For he makes the sun rise on the bad and the good alike; he makes the rain fall on the just and the unjust. If you love those who love you, what merit is yours? Even tax collectors do that! If you greet only your brothers, what is so extraordinary about your conduct? Even pagans do that! In a word, you must be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Paul the Apostle to Timothy 2 Tim. 4, 1-8

Beloved: Before God and before Jesus Christ who will judge the living and the dead, I charge you by his appearance and his kingdom: Preach the word, apply yourself to the task both when convenient and inconvenient, correct, rebuke, exhort with every kind of teaching and never lose patience. The time will come when men will not listen to sound teaching but, with ears itching, will pile up for themselves teachers who suit their pleasure. They will turn their hearing away from the truth to fables. As for yourself, be self-possessed in all circumstances, bear with evil, perform your work as preacher, fulfill your ministry. I am already being poured out like a libation, and my death is imminent. I have fought the good fight, I have run the race, I have kept faith. As for the future, a merited crown is reserved for me, and on that day the Lord, just judge that he is, will bestow it on me—and not only on me but on all who desire his appearance.

Gradual Ps 36, 30-31 The mouth of the just man tells of wisdom, and his tongue utters what is right. Ps. 109, 4 The Lord has sworn, and he will not repent: "You are a priest forever, according to the order of Melchisedec." Alleluia.

Léctio Epístolæ beáti Pauli Apóstoli ad Timótheum 2 Tim. 4, 1-8

Erit enim tempus, cum sanam doctrínam non sustinébunt, sed ad sua desidéria coacervábunt sibi magístros, pruriéntes áuribus, et a veritáte quidem audítum avértent, ad fábulas autem converténter. Tu vero vígila, in ómnibus labóra, opus fac Evangelístæ, ministérium tuum imple. Sóbrius esto. Ego enim iam delíbor, et tempus resolutiónis meæ instat. ✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 5, 13–19

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “You are the salt of the earth. Suppose salt becomes insipid; how can you restore its tang? Then it is good for nothing but to be thrown out, and trampled underfoot. You are the light of the world. A city on a mountain top cannot be concealed. Men do not light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket. They set it on a stand where it gives light to all in the house. In the same way, your light must shine before men so that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father. Don’t think that I have come to abolish the Law and the Prophets. I have come, not to abolish them, but to bring them to perfection. I assure you of this: until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter, not even the smallest part of a letter, of the Law will be done away with, until it all comes true. Consequently, the man who breaks the least important of these commandments and teaches others to follow his example will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. It is the man who observes them and teaches them who will be called great in the kingdom of heaven.”

A Reading from the Book of Sirach
Eccli. 24, 23-31

I bud forth delights like the vine,
my blossoms become fruit fair and rich.
I am the mother of the gift of love,

July 16. Bl. Virgin Mary of Mt. Carmel

of the fear and the knowledge of God,
and of the just man's hope.

In me is every boon of truth and of the way;
in me is all hope of virtue and of life.

Come to me, all you that yearn for me,
and be filled with my fruits;

My spirit is sweeter than honey,
a better heritage than the honeycomb;
the remembrance of me is for age upon
age.

He who eats of me will hunger still,
he who drinks of me will thirst for more;

He who obeys me will not be put to shame,
he who serves me will never fail.

They who reflect my brightness
will have eternal life.

Gradual Blessed and venerable are you, virginity you became the Mother of the Savior. Ps. O Virgin Mother of God, he whom the whole world cannot contain, being made man, shut himself up within your womb.

Alleluia, alleluia. Ps. Mother of God, the life that had been lost was given us through you, who received your offspring from heaven and brought forth a Savior into the world. Alleluia.

After Septuagesima, in votive Masses the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

you have destroyed all heresies. Ps. You believed the words of the Archangel Gabriel.
Ps. As a Virgin, you brought forth God and man; and after childbirth you remained an inviolable virgin. Ps. O Mother of God,

1 Tim. 6, 6–12

Léctio Epístolæ beáti Pauli
Apóstoli ad Timótheum
1 Tim. 6, 6–12

Beloved: Piety is indeed a source of great profit—when one is satisfied with what he possesses. We brought nothing into the world, since we can take nothing out of it. If we have food and shelter let us be satisfied with that. Those who want to be rich fall into temptation and snares and all kinds of foolish and harmful desires, such as plunge men into ruin and destruction. Yes, love of money is the root of all evils. Some who reach out for it have wandered away from the faith and have pierced themselves with many torments. But you, O man of God, must shun these things. Strive for justice, piety, faithfulness, love, patience and gentleness. Fight a good fight for the faith; take hold of eternal life.

Caríssime: Est quæstus magnus pietas cum sufficiéntia. Nihil enim intúlimus in hunc mundum: haud dúbium quod nec auférre quid pòssumus. Habéntes autem aliménta, et quibus tegámur, his conténti simus. Nam qui volunt dívites fieri, incidunt in tentatiónem, et in láqueum diaboli, et desidéria multa inútilia, et nocíva quæ mergunt hómines in intéritum, et perditiónem. Radix enim ómnium malórum est cupiditas: quam quidam appeténtes, erravérunt a fide, et inseruérunt se dolóribus multis. Tu autem, o homo Dei, hæc fuge: sectáre vero iustítiam, pietátem, fidem, caritátem, patiéntiam, mansuetúdinem. Certa bonum certámen fidei, apprehénde vitam ætérrnam.

John the Apostle
1 John 3, 13–18

Beloved: No need to be surprised if the world hates you. That we have passed from death to life we know, because we love the brothers. The man without love is still in the abode of death. Everyone who hates his brother is a murderer; and, as you know, no murderer has eternal life abiding within him. The way we came to understand love was that he laid down his life for us; so must we too lay down our lives for the brothers. Now, how can divine love abide within a man who has enough of this world's livelihood, and yet closes his heart to his brother when he observes him in need? Little children let us show with deeds that our love is genuine, and not merely express it with words.

Gradual Ps. 36, 30–31 The mouth of the just man tells of wisdom, and his tongue utters what is right. ℣. The law of his God is in his heart, and his steps do not falter. Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ps. 111, 1 Happy the man who fears the Lord, who greatly delights in his commands. Alleluia.

After Septuagesima, in votive Masses the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

Tract Ps. 111, 1–3 Happy the man who fears the Lord, who greatly delights in his commands. ℣. His posterity shall be mighty upon the earth; the upright generation shall be blessed. ℣. Wealth and riches shall be in his house; his generosity shall endure forever.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

greater love than this: to lay down his life for those he loves. And you are the ones I love if you do what I command you. No longer do I call you slaves, for a slave does not understand what his master does.
Rather, I have called you my loved ones, because I have revealed to you everything I have heard from the Father. It was not you who chose me. No, I chose you and ap-

1 Cor. 4, 9-14

Brethren: We have become a spectacle to the whole world, to angels as well as men. We are fools for Christ's sake, but you are wise in Christ! We are weak, but you are strong! You are held in honor, but we in contempt! To this very hour we are hungry and thirsty and poorly clad and roughly treated and wandering about homeless. We work hard, toiling with our own hands. We are insulted and we bless; we are persecuted and we bear it patiently; we are slandered and we gently try to conciliate. We have become the world's scapegoats, the scum of all, right up to now. I am writing this not to make you ashamed, but to admonish you as my beloved children in Christ Jesus, Our Lord.

Go then, and remember, I am sending you like lambs in the midst of wolves. Do not carry a walking stick or traveling bag; wear no sandals. And greet no one along the way. On entering any house first say: 'Peace to this house'; if there is a peaceable man there your peace will repose upon him; if not, it will return to you. Stay in that same house eating and drinking what they have, for the laborer is worth his pay. Do not move from house to house. A Reading from the Prophet
Isaia
Isaia 58, 7-11

Hæc dicit Dóminus: Frange esuriénti panem tuum, et egénos, vagósque induc in domum tuam: cum víderis nudum, óperi eum, et carnem tuam ne despéxeris. Tunc erúmpet quasi mane lumen tuum, et sánitas tua cítius oriétur, et anteíbit fáciem tuam iustítia tua, et glória Dómini cólliget te. Tunc invocábis, et Dóminus exáudiet: clamábis, et dicet: Ecce adsum; si abstúleris de médio tui caténam et desieris exténdere dígitum, et loqui quod non prodest. Cum effúderis esuriénti ánimam tuam, et ánimam afflíctam repléveris, oriétur in ténebris lux tua, et ténebræ tuæ erunt sicut merídiés. Et réquiem tibi dabit Dóminus semper, et implébit splendóribus ánimam tuam, et ossa tua liberábit, et eris quasi hortus irriguus, et sicut fons aquárum, cuius non deficient aquæ.

Thus says the Lord:
Share your bread with the hungry,
shelter the oppressed and the homeless;
Clothe the naked when you see them,
and do not turn your back on your own.
Then your light shall break forth like the dawn,
and your wound shall quickly be healed;
Your vindication shall go before you,
and the glory of the Lord shall be your rear guard.
Then you shall call, and the Lord will answer,
you shall cry for help, and he will say:
Here I am!
If you remove from your midst oppression,
false accusation and malicious speech;
If you bestow your bread on the hungry
and satisfy the afflicted;
Then light shall rise for you in the darkness,
and the gloom shall become for you like midday;
Then the Lord will guide you always and give you plenty even on the parched land.
He will renew your strength,
and you shall be like a watered garden,
like a spring whose water never fails.

At that time little children were brought to Jesus that he might place his hands upon them in prayer. But the disciples began to scold them. Then Jesus said, "Allow the children to come to me. Do not hinder them. It is to such as these that the kingdom of heaven belongs." Then after he laid his hands on their heads, he left that place. And suddenly a man came up to him and said, "Master, what good must I do to possess eternal life?" He answered, "Why do you question me about what is good? There is only one who is good. But if you really wish to enter into life, keep the commandments." "Which ones?" he asked. Jesus replied, "These: 'You shall not kill'; 'You shall not commit adultery'; 'You shall not steal'; 'You shall not bear false witness'; 'Honor your father and your mother'; and, 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.'" The young man said to him, "I have observed all these; what more do I need to do?" Jesus told him, "If you really wish to be perfect, go, sell what you own, and give the money to the poor. Then you will possess heavenly treasure. And come back and follow me."

Beloved: Before God and before Jesus Christ who will judge the living and the dead, I charge you by his appearance and his kingdom: Preach the word, apply yourself to the task both when convenient and inconvenient, correct, rebuke, exhort with every kind of teaching and never lose patience. The time will come when men will not listen to sound teaching but, with ears itching, will pile up for themselves teachers who suit their pleasure. They will turn their hearing away from the truth to fables. As for yourself, be self-possessed in all circumstances, bear with evil, perform your work as a preacher, fulfill your ministry. I am already being poured out like a libation, and my death is imminent. I have fought the good fight, I have run the race, I have kept faith. As for the future, a merited crown is reserved for me, and on that day the Lord, just judge that he is, will bestow it on me—and not only on me but on all who desire his appearance.

Brethren: I have not received from the Lord any commandment about virgins, but I give my opinion as one who is trustworthy, thanks to the Lord's mercy. I think, then, that because of the present distress virginity is good; yes, it is good for a person to live in this way. Are you bound to a wife? Don't try to be free. Are you unmarried? Don't go looking for a wife. However, if you do marry, you do not sin. And if a virgin marries, she commits no sin. But such people will have trials in the flesh; and I would like to spare you that. I tell you, brothers, time is running out. From now on those with wives should live as though they had none, and those who weep as though they were not weeping, and those who rejoice as though they were not rejoicing, and those who buy as though they own nothing, and those who use the world as though they

At that time Jesus told his disciples this parable: "The kingdom of heaven is like hidden treasure which a man found in a field. He hid it again, and happy with his find, went and sold all he had and bought that field. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant's search for fine pearls. When he finally found one really valuable pearl, he went back and auctioned off all he had and bought it. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was thrown into the lake and collected all sorts of things. When it was full, they hauled it ashore, and sat down to collect what was worthwhile in tubs. What was useless they threw away. That is how it will be at the end of the world. The angels will go out and separate the evil men from the saints, and hurl them into the fiery furnace where they will wail and gnash their teeth. Have you understood everything I have said?" "Yes," they said to him. Then he told them,

A Reading from the Canticle of Canticles

Cant. 3, 2-5; 8, 6-7

I will rise then and go about the city;
in the streets and crossings I will seek
Him whom my heart loves.

I sought him but I did not find him.
The watchmen came upon me
as they made their rounds of the city:
Have you seen him whom my heart loves?
I had hardly left them
when I found him whom my heart loves.
I took hold of him and would not let him go till I should bring him to the home of my mother,

to the room of my parent.
I adjure you, daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles and hinds of the field,
Do not arouse, do not stir up love
before its own time.

Set me as a seal on your heart,
as a seal on your arm;
For stern as death is love,
relentless as the nether world is devotion;
its flames are a blazing fire.
Deep waters cannot quench love,
nor floods sweep it away.

Were one to offer all he owns to purchase
love,
he would be roundly mocked.

Gradual Ps. 44, 8 You love justice and hate iniquity. ℣. Therefore God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness. Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ibid., 3 Grace is poured out upon your lips; thus God has blessed you forever. Alleluia.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 7, 36–50

At that time a Pharisee invited Jesus to dine with him. He went to the Pharisee's home and took his place at table. A woman, a well-known sinner in town, learned that he was dining in the home of the Pharisee. She brought with her a vial of perfume and placed herself behind him at his feet, weeping. With her tears she wet his feet, and wiped them with her hair, then kissed them and perfumed them with the ointment. His host, the Pharisee, when he saw this, said to himself: 'If this man were a prophet, he would know who and what sort of woman this is that touches him, that she is a sinner.' Jesus in answer said to him: "Simon, I have something to say to you."

"Master," said he, "say it."

"Two men owed money to a certain money-lender; one owed five hundred days' wages, the other, fifty. Since neither was able to repay, he canceled both debts. Now which of them will love him more?"

Simon answered: "He, I presume, for whom he canceled more."

Jesus said to him: "You are correct."

And turning to the woman, he said to Simon: "You see this woman? I came to your home; you gave me no water for my feet, but she has wet my feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair. You gave me no kiss; but she has not ceased kissing my feet since I entered. You did not anoint my head with oil; but she has anointed my feet with perfume. Therefore, I tell you, her many sins are forgiven because of her great love. But he to whom little is forgiven, loves little."

He said to her: "Your sins are forgiven." His fellow-guests began to say among themselves: "Who is this who even forgives sins?" But he said to the woman: "Your faith has saved you: go in peace."

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Peter the Apostle 1 Peter 5, 1-11

Beloved: I make this appeal to the elders among you, I who am a fellow elder and witness of the sufferings of Christ and sharer also in the glory that is to be revealed: shepherd the flock of God among you, watching over it not perforce, but willingly as God would have it; not in avarice, but generously; not lording it over your charges, but being examples for the flock. Then when the chief shepherd appears you will receive the unfading crown of glory. Young men, for your part, be subject to the elders. All of you, take upon yourselves humility, each toward the others, because "God resists the proud, but to the humble he grants favor."

Therefore humble yourselves beneath the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you when the time comes. Cast upon him all your anxiety, because he it is who takes care of you. Be earnest, be vigilant! Your opponent, the devil, is going about like a roaring lion, seeking someone to devour. Withstand him, strong in the faith, aware that in the world the identical sufferings are being inflicted on your brotherhood. And the God of all grace, who called you into his eternal glory in Christ, when you have

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 22, 24–30

At that time a dispute arose among the disciples about which of them would be regarded as the greatest. Jesus said to them: “Earthly kings lord it over their peoples, and those who exercise authority over them are called their benefactors. For you, it should not be so; let the greater among you be as the junior, and the leader like the servant. Who is in fact the greater—he who sits at table, or he who waits on table? Isn’t it the one who sits? Yet I am in your midst like the one who waits. It is you who have stood loyally by me in my trials. And I, for my part, dispose to you the kingdom which my Father has disposed to me. You will eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and you will sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel.”

We are fools for Christ's sake, but you are wise in Christ! We are weak, but you are strong! You are held in honor, but we in contempt! To this very hour we are hungry and thirsty and poorly clad and roughly treated and wandering about homeless. We work hard, toiling with our own hands. We are insulted and we bless; we are persecuted and we bear it patiently; we are slandered and we gently try to conciliate. We have become the world's scapegoats, the scum of all, right up to now. ✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
Matth. 20, 20–23

At that time the mother of Zebedee's sons came up to Jesus, accompanied by her sons, to do him homage and to ask a favor of him. He said to her, "What do you want?" She said to him, "Promise that these two sons of mine will sit, one at your right, the other at your left, in your kingdom." In reply, Jesus said, "You do not realize what you are asking. Can you drink the cup which I am going to drink?" "We can," they said. He told them, "From my cup you shall indeed drink. But, as for sitting at my right or my left, that favor is not mine to grant; it is for those for whom it has been reserved by my Father."

She reaches out her hands to the poor,
and extends her arms to the needy.
She fears not the snow for her household;
all her charges are doubly clothed.
She makes her own coverlets;
fine linen and purple are her clothing.
Her husband is prominent at the city gates
as he sits with the elders of the land.
She makes garments and sells them,
and stocks the merchants with belts.
She is clothed with strength and dignity,
and she laughs at the days to come.
She opens her mouth in wisdom,
and on her tongue is kindly counsel.
She watches the conduct of her household,
and eats not her food in idleness.
Her children rise up and praise her;
her husband, too, extols her:
“Many are the women of proven worth,
but you have excelled them all.”
Charm is deceptive and beauty fleeting;
the woman who fears the Lord is to be

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 13, 44–52

At that time Jesus told his disciples this parable: “The kingdom of heaven is like hidden treasure which a man found in a field. He hid it again, and happy with his find, went and sold all he had and bought that field. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant’s search for fine pearls. When he finally found one really valuable pearl, he went back and auctioned off all he had and bought it. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was thrown into the lake and collected all sorts of things. When it was full, they hauled it ashore, and sat down to collect what was worthwhile in tubs. What was useless they threw away. That is how it will be at the end of the world. The angels will go out and separate the evil men from the saints, and hurl them into the fiery furnace where they will wail and gnash their teeth. Have you understood everything I have said?" "Yes," they said to him. Then he told them, "So every scribe who has become a disciple of the kingdom of heaven is like the head of the house who can bring out of his storeroom the new as well as the old."

Luke 10, 38-42

At that time on their journey, Jesus entered a village, and a woman named Martha welcomed him to her home. She had a sister named Mary who seated herself at the Lord's feet and was listening to his words.

Martha, who was busy with many chores, came to him and said: "Lord, are you not concerned that my sister has left me to do the chores on my own? Tell her to give me a helping hand."

In reply, the Lord said to her: "Martha, Martha, you are worried and disturbed about many things; but only a few things are necessary, or even only one. Mary has chosen the good part, and it shall not be taken from her."

2 Tim. 2, 8–10; 3, 10–12

Beloved, remember what I preached: Jesus Christ, David's descendant, has been raised from the dead! Because of that preaching I suffer as a criminal, even to the point of being put into chains — but there is no chaining the word of God! So I put up with all this for the sake of those whom God has chosen, that they may obtain the salvation and eternal glory which are to be found in Christ Jesus. You have observed my teaching and my manner of life, my determination, fidelity, patience, love, endurance, as well as what persecutions I endured, and what sufferings befell me at Antioch, Iconium and Lystra — yet the Lord rescued me from all of them. Now remember: all who want to live a life of piety in Christ Jesus will have to suffer persecution.

Go then, and remember, I am sending you like lambs in the midst of wolves. Do not carry a walking stick or traveling bag; wear no sandals. And greet no one along the way. On entering any house first say: 'Peace to this house'; if there is a peaceable man there your peace will repose upon him; if not, it will return to you. Stay in that same house eating and drinking what they have, for the laborer is worth his pay. Do not move from house to house. surrection. Others endured mockery, scourging, even chains and imprisonment. They were stoned, they were tested, they were sawed in two, they were put to death at sword's point, they went about garbed in the skins of sheep or goats, needy, afflicted, tormented. The world was not worthy of them. They used to wander about in deserts and on mountains, and dwell in caves and in holes of the earth. tended to visit. He said to them: "The harvest is plentiful but the laborers are scarce. So pray to the owner of the harvest to send out laborers to reap it. Go then, and remember, I am sending you like lambs in the midst of wolves. Do not carry a walking stick or traveling bag; wear no sandals. And greet no one along the way. On entering any house first say: 'Peace to this house'; if there is a peaceable man there your peace will repose upon him; if not, it will return to you. Stay in that same house eating and drinking what they have, for the laborer is worth his pay. Do not move from house to house. Whenever you enter a city and they welcome you, eat what they set before you, cure the sick inhabitants, and say to them: 'The kingdom of God has approached you.'"

The time will come when men will not listen to sound teaching but, with ears itching, will pile up for themselves teachers who suit their pleasure. They will turn their hearing away from the truth to fables. As for yourself, be self-possessed in all circumstances, bear with evil, perform your work as preacher, fulfill your ministry. I am already being poured out like a libation, and my death is imminent. I have fought the good fight, I have run the race, I have kept faith. As for the future, a merited crown is reserved for me, and on that day the Lord, just judge that he is, will bestow it on me—and not only on me but on all who desire his appearance.

by God, the Father, when that unique declaration came to him from majestic splendor, to say, “My Son, my beloved, in whom I take delight—this is he”; and that was the voice we ourselves heard when it came out of heaven, since we were in his company on the holy mountain. Besides, we still possess as something altogether reliable the prophetic message. Pay as close attention to it as you would to a lamp shining in a dark place, until the first streaks of dawn appear and the morning star rises in your hearts.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel according to Matthew Matth. 17, 1–9

At that time Jesus took Peter, James, and his brother John and led them up a high mountain by themselves. Then he was transfigured before their eyes: his face became as dazzling as the sun; his clothes as radiant as light. And suddenly Moses and Elia appeared to them, conversing with him. Then Peter spoke up and said to Jesus, “Lord, it is good that we are here. With your permission, I will set up three tents here: one for you, one for Moses, and one for Elia.” He was still speaking when suddenly a bright cloud overshadowed them. And now a voice came out of the cloud, “This is my beloved Son, in whom I take delight. Listen to him.” When they heard Et resplénduit fácies eius sicut sol: vestiménta autem eius facta sunt alba sicut nix. Et ecce apparuérunt illis Móyses et Elías cum eo loquéntes. Respóndens autem Petrus, dixit ad Iesum: Dómine, bonum est nos hic esse: si vis, faciámus hic tria tabernácula, tibi unum, Móysi unum, et Eliæ unum. Adhuc eo loquente, ecce nubes lúcida obumbrávit eos. Et ecce vox de nube, dicens: Hic est Filius meus diléctus, in quo mihi bene complácuí: ipsum audíte. Et audiéntes discípuli, cecidérunt in fáciem suam, et timuérunt valde.

this, the disciples fell face to the ground and were filled with fear. But Jesus came to them, and laying his hand upon them said, "Get up and don't be afraid." When they looked up, they saw only Jesus, no one else. As they were coming down the mountain, Jesus gave them this command, "Don't tell anyone of the vision until the Son of Man is raised from the dead."

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 6, 24-33

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "No man can serve two masters. He will either hate one and love the other, or be attentive to one and despise the other. You cannot devote yourself to God and to money. So I warn you, do not worry about your livelihood, about what you are to eat, or what you are to drink, or how you are to clothe yourselves. Is not life more important than food? Is not the body more important than clothes? Take a look at the birds in the sky: they do not sow; they do not reap; they gather nothing into barns. Yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Aren't you more important than they? Still, which of you by worrying can add a single moment to his allotted span of life?"

And as for clothes, what are you worrying about? Learn a lesson from the way the wild lilies grow. They do not toil; they do not spin thread. Yet I assure you, not even Solomon in his royal robes was arrayed like one of them. If God can so deck out the wild flowers which bloom today but tomorrow are thrown into the oven, is he not much more likely to provide for you? What weak faith you have! Stop worrying then over questions like, 'What are we to eat?', 'What are we to drink?', 'What are we to wear?'. That is what pagans are always looking for. Your heavenly Father realizes that you need all this sort of thing. Seek first his kingdom and his will, and everything else will be given to you."

James the Apostle
James 1, 2-12

Beloved: Consider it pure joy when you fall into trials of various kinds, knowing that the testing of your faith brings about endurance. And endurance must be total, so that you may be complete and perfect, lacking nothing. If any of you lacks wisdom let him ask it from God who gives to all generously and without scolding, and God will give it to him. But he must ask with complete confidence and without any doubting! The man who doubts is like the rolling sea, moved here and there by the wind. Such a one, hesitant and inconstant in all that he does, must not think that he will receive anything from the Lord. Let the lowly brother boast of his high station, and the rich man boast when he becomes poor. For the rich man will pass away like a flower that grows in the grass. The burning sun comes up and withers the grass; its flower wilts and its beauty is destroyed. Even so the rich man will fade away in all his pursuits. Happy the man who holds out through the trial. Once his real worth has been proved, he will receive the crown of life that the Lord promised to those who love him.

1 Thess. 2, 13-16

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Thessalonians
1 Thess. 2, 13-16

Fratres: Grátias ágimus Deo sine intermissióne: quóniam cum accepissétis a nobis verbum audítus Dei, accepístis illud, non ut verbum hóminum, sed (sicut est vere) verbum Dei, qui operátur in vobis, qui credidístis. Vos enim imitatóres facti estis, fratres, ecclesiárum Dei, quæ sunt in Iudæa in Christo Iesu: quia éadem passi estis et vos a contribúlibus vestris, sicut et ipsi a Iudæis: qui et Dóminum occidérunt Iesum, et prophétas: et nos persecúti sunt, et Deo non placent, et ómnibus homínibus adversántur, prohibéntes nos géntibus loqui, ut salvæ fiant, ut ímpleant peccáta sua semper: pervénit enim ira Dei super illos usque in finem.

Brethren: We also thank God constantly that in receiving the word of God from our mouths you took it not as the word of men but for what, of course, it really is, the word of God which works within you who believe. Brothers, you have now been made into the likeness of the churches of God belonging to Christ Jesus which are in Judea, since you have also suffered the same treatment from your fellow countrymen as they from the Jews, who killed both Jesus the Lord and the prophets, who drove us out, who make no effort to please God, and who, enemies to all mankind as they are, try to keep us from preaching to the Gentiles for their salvation. All this time they have been "filling up their quota of sins." But at last the wrath has come upon them.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “Go into the whole world, and proclaim the good news to the whole of creation. The man who believes in it and accepts baptism will be saved: the man who refuses to believe in it will be condemned. And signs like these will accompany those who have professed their faith: they will use my name to expel demons; they will speak entirely new languages; they will be able to handle serpents; they will even be able to drink deadly posion without harm; and the sick upon whom they lay their hands will recover.”

A Reading from the Book of Sirach
Eccli. 51, 1-8, 12

I give you thanks, O God of my father;
I praise you, O God my savior!
I will make known your name, refuge of my life;
you have been my helper against my adversaries.
You have saved me from death,
and kept back my body from the pit,
From the clutches of the nether world you
have snatched my feet;
you have delivered me, in your great mercy
From the scourge of a slanderous tongue,
and from lips that went over to falsehood;
From the snare of those who watched for my downfall,
and from the power of those who sought
my life;
From many a danger you have saved me,
from flames that hemmed me in on every side;
From the midst of unremitting fire,
from the deep belly of the nether world;
From deceiving lips and painters of lies,
from the unjust king and the arrows of dishonest tongues.
Till I die my soul will praise you, O Lord;
because you rescue those who trust in you,
And you free them from the grasp of the pagan nations,
O Lord, our God.

Lectio Epistolae beati Pauli
Apostoli ad Hebraeos
Hebr. 11, 33-39

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews
Hebr. 11, 33-39

Fratres: Sancti per fidem vicērunt regna, operāti sunt iustitiam, adēpti sunt repromissiones, obturaverunt ora leonum, exstinxerunt impetum ignis, effugerunt aciem gladii, convalerunt de infirmitate, fortes facti sunt in bello, castra vertērunt exterorum: acceperunt mulieres de resurrectione mortuos suos: alii autem distenti sunt, non suscipientes redemptionem, ut meliorem invenirent resurrectionem: alii vero ludibria, et verbera experti, insuper et vincula, et carceres: lapidati sunt, secti sunt, tentati sunt, in occisione gladii mortui sunt: circueerunt in melotis, in pellibus caprinis, egentes angustiati, afflicti: quibus dignus non erat mundus: in solitudinibus errantes, in montibus, et speluncis, et in cavernis terrae. Et hi omnes testimonio fidei probati, inventi sunt in Christo Iesu Domino nostro.

Brethren: By faith the saints conquered kingdoms, did what was just, obtained what was promised; they broke the jaws of lions, put out raging fires, escaped the piercing sword; though weak they were made powerful, they became strong in time of war, they turned back foreign invaders. Women received back their dead through resurrection. Others were tortured and did not accept deliverance in order to obtain a better resurrection. Others endured mockery, scourging, even chains and imprisonment. They were stoned, they were tested, they were sawed in two, they were put to death at sword's point, they went about garbed in the skins of sheep or goats, needy, afflicted, tormented. The world was not worthy of them. They used to wander about in deserts and on mountains, and dwell in caves and in holes of the earth. To all these approval was given because of their faith, and they were found in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Graduale Ps. 33, 18-19 Clamaverunt iusti, et Dominus exaudivit eos: et ex omnibus tribulationibus eorum liberavit eos. ℣. Iuxta est Dominus his, qui tribulato sunt corde: et humiles spiritu salvabit.

Gradual Ps. 33, 18-19 The just cry out and the Lord hears them; and from all their distress he rescues them. ℣. The Lord is close to those who are brokenhearted; and those who are crushed in spirit he saves.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Te Martyrum candidatus laudat exercitus, Domine. Alleluia.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. The white-robed army of Martyrs praises you, O Lord. Alleluia.

Luke 12, 1-8

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "Be on your guard against the leaven (that is, the hypocrisy) of the Pharisees. There is nothing concealed that will not be revealed, nothing hidden that will not be made known. Therefore, everything you have said under cover of darkness will be heard in broad daylight and what you have whispered in locked rooms will be proclaimed from the housetops.

I tell you, my friends: "Do not be afraid of those who kill the body, and can then do nothing further. I will show you whom you ought to fear: Fear him who has power to cast into hell after he has killed. Yes, I warn you, he is the one for you to fear. Are not five sparrows sold for two pennies? And yet not one of them is overlooked by God. Furthermore even the hairs of your head are all counted. Have no fear. You are worth more than a multitude of sparrows. I tell you: everyone who acknowledges me before men, the Son of Man will acknowledge him before the angels of God."

Prayer

O God, it is a joy for us to celebrate each year the feast of your blessed confessor Eusebius.* Grant that we who celebrate his birthday may draw closer to you by following his example. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Book of Sirach
Eccli. 24, 23–31

I bud forth delights like the vine,
my blossoms become fruit fair and rich.
I am the mother of the gift of love,
of the fear and the knowledge of God,
and of the just man's hope.
In me is every boon of truth and of the way;
in me is all hope of virtue and of life.
Come to me, all you that yearn for me,
and be filled with my fruits;
My spirit is sweeter than honey,
a better heritage than the honeycomb;
the remembrance of me is for age upon age.
He who eats of me will hunger still,
he who drinks of me will thirst for more;
He who obeys me will not be put to shame,
he who serves me will never fail.
They who reflect my brightness
will have eternal life.

Gradual Blessed and venerable are you, O Virgin Mary; for without stain to your virginity you became the Mother of the Savior. Ps. O Virgin Mother of God, he whom the whole world cannot contain, being made man, shut himself up within your womb.

Happy is she who has believed that the Lord's words to her will be fulfilled."

And Mary said:
"My soul magnifies the Lord,

2 Tim. 2, 8-10; 3, 10-12

Beloved, remember what I preached: Jesus Christ, David's descendant, has been raised from the dead! Because of that preaching I suffer as a criminal, even to the point of being put into chains—but there is no chaining the word of God! So I put up with all this for the sake of those whom God has chosen, that they may obtain the salvation and eternal glory which are to be found in Christ Jesus. You have observed my teaching and my manner of life, my determination, fidelity, patience, love, endurance, as well as what persecutions I endured, and what sufferings befell me at Antioch, Iconium and Lystra—yet the Lord rescued me from all of them. Now remember: all who want to live a life of piety in Christ Jesus will have to suffer persecution.

The man who loves himself destroys himself; while the man who hates himself in this world, preserves himself for eternal life. If anyone is to be my servant, he must follow me; and where I am, my servant will also be. The Father will honor anyone who serves me."

Lectio Epistolæ beati Pauli
Apóstoli ad Timótheum
2 Tim. 2, 8-10; 3, 10-12

Carissime: Memor esto, Dóminum Iesum Christum resurexisse a mórtuis ex sémine David, secúndum Evangélium meum, in quo labóro usque ad víncula, quasi male óperans: sed verbum Dei non est alligátum. Ideo ómnia sustíneo propter eléctos, ut et ipsi salútem consequántur, quæ est in Christo Iesu, cum glória cælésti. Tu autem assecútus es meam doctrínam, institutióem, propósitum, fidem, longanimitátem, dilectiÓNem, paciéntiam, persecutiÓnes, passiÓnes: quália mihi facta sunt Antiochiæ, Icónii et Lystris: quales persecutiÓnes sustínui, et ex ómnibus erípuit me Dóminus. Et omnes, qui pie volunt vívere in Christo Iesu, persecutiÓnem paciéntur.

Graduale Ps. 36, 24 Iustus cum ceciderit, non collidétur: quia Dóminus supponit manum suam. ℣. Ibid., 26 Tota die miserétur, et còmodat: et semen eius in benedictiÓne erit.

Allelúia, allelúia. ℣. Ioann. 8, 12 Qui séquitur me, non ámbulat in ténebris: sed habébit lumen vitæ æternæ. Allelúia.

In illo témpore: Dixit Iesus discíplulis suis: Amen, amen dico vobis, nisi granum fruménti cadens in terram, mórtuum fúerit, ipsum solum manet: si autem mórtuum fúerit, multum fructum affert. Qui amat ánimam suam, perdet eam: et qui odit ánimam suam in hoc mundo, in vitam æternam custódit eam. Si quis mihi ministrat, me sequátur: et ubi sum ego, illic et mínister meus erit. Si quis mihi ministráverit, honorificábit eum Pater meus.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "You are the salt of the earth. Suppose salt becomes insipid; how can you restore its tang? Then it is good for nothing but to be thrown out, and trampled underfoot. You are the light of the world. A city on a mountain top cannot be concealed. Men do not light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket. They set it on a stand where it gives light to all in the house. In the same way, your light must shine before men so that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father. Don't think that I have come to abolish the Law and the Prophets. I have come, not to abolish them, but to bring them to perfection. I assure you of this: until heaven and earth

It is the man who observes them and teaches them who will be called great in the kingdom of heaven.”

Brethren: You are the body of Christ, and every one of you is a member of it. And God has put in the Church, first of all apostles, secondly prophets, thirdly teachers, then miracle workers, then those who have the gifts of healing, of helpfulness to others, of administration, of speaking in tongues. Are all apostles? Are all prophets? Are all teachers? Do all work miracles? Do all have the gift of healing? Do all speak in tongues? Do all have the gift of interpretation of tongues? But you should aspire after the higher gifts.

In illo témpore: Exiit Iesus in mon-oratióne Dei. Et cum dies factus esset, vocávit discípulos suos, et elégit duódecim ex ipsis (quos et Apóstolos nominávit): Simónem, quem cognominávit Petrum, et Andréam fratrem eius, Iacobum et Ioánnem, Philíppum, et Bartholomáum, Mattháeum et Thomam, Iacobum Alpháei, et Simónem, qui vocátur Zelótes, et Iudam Iacóbi, et Iudam Iscariótem, qui fuit próditor.

Et descéndens cum illis, stetit in loco campéstri, et turba discipulórum eius, et multitúdo copiósa plebis ab omni Iudáa, et Ierúsalem, et marí-tima, et Tyri, et Sidónis, qui vénerant, ut audírent eum, et sanaréntur a languóribus suis. Et qui vexabántur a spirítibus immúndis, curabántur.
Et omnis turba quærébat eum tán-gere, quia virtus de illo exíbat, et sanábat omnes.

At that time Jesus went out to the mountain to pray, and spent the night in prayer to God. At daybreak he called his disciples and selected twelve of them and named them apostles: Simon, to whom he gave the name Peter, and Andrew his brother, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew, Matthew and Thomas, James son of Alphaeus, and Simon who was called the Zealot, Judas son of James, and Judas Iscariot who turned traitor.

Coming down the mountain with them, he came to a halt on a level stretch with a great number of his disciples, and a large crowd of people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the coast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear him and to be cured of their diseases. Those who were troubled with unclean spirits were cured, and all in the crowd were trying to touch him, because power went out from him and cured all.

Luke 19, 12-26

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "A man of noble birth went to a faraway country to receive a kingdom and then return. He called on ten of his slaves and gave them a hundred dollars each and said to them, 'Invest this until I return.' His fellow citizens hated him and they immediately sent a deputation after him with instructions to say, 'We do not want to have this man reign over us.' When he returned, however, crowned as king, he sent for the servants to whom he had given the money, to learn what profit each had made. The first presented himself and said, 'Lord, your hundred dollars has earned one thousand.' 'Well done,' he replied, 'good servant. Because you showed yourself capable in a tiny matter, take over the government of ten cities.' The second came saying, 'Your hundred, lord, has made five hundred.' And he said to him also, 'You, take over five cities.' The third came and said to him: 'Here, master, is your hundred which I kept rolled up in a napkin. For I was afraid of you, hard man that you are; you draw out what you have not deposited, and you reap what you have not sown.' The master said to him: 'You worthless fellow! I will judge you from your own evidence. You knew that I am a hard man, drawing out what I did not deposit and reaping what I did not sow. Why then did you not put my money in the bank, so that I, on my return, could recover it with interest?' And he said to the attendants: 'Take the hundred from him and give it to the man who has a thousand.' 'Lord,' they said to him, 'that man already has a thousand.' I say to you, everyone who has will be given more, but the one who has not will be deprived of what he has."

2 Tim. 4, 1-8

Beloved: Before God and before Jesus Christ who will judge the living and the dead, I charge you by his appearance and his kingdom: Preach the word, apply yourself to the task both when convenient and inconvenient, correct, rebuke, exhort with every kind of teaching and never lose patience. The time will come when men will not listen to sound teaching but, with ears itching, will pile up for themselves teachers who suit their pleasure. They will turn their hearing away from the truth to fables. As for yourself, be self-possessed in all circumstances, bear with evil, perform your work as preacher, fulfill your ministry. I am already being poured out like a libation, and my death is imminent. I have fought the good fight, I have run the race, I have kept faith. As for the future, a merited crown is reserved for me, and on that day the Lord, just judge that he is, will bestow it on me—and not only on me but on all who desire his appearance.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “You are the salt of the earth. Suppose salt becomes insipid; how can you restore its tang? Then it is good for nothing but to be thrown out, and trampled underfoot. You are the light of the world. A city on a mountain top cannot be concealed. Men do not light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket. They set it on a stand where it gives light to all in the house. In the same way, your light must shine before men so that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father. Don’t think that I have come to abolish the Law and the Prophets. I have come, not to abolish them, but to bring them to perfection. I assure you of this: until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter, not even the smallest part of a letter, of the Law will be done away with, until it all comes true. Consequently, the man who breaks the least important of these commandments and teaches others to follow his example will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. It is the man who observes them and teaches them who will be called great in the kingdom of heaven.”

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Mark
Mark 6, 17–29

At that time Herod ordered John to be arrested, put in chains, and imprisoned, on account of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife, whom he had married. That was because John had told Herod, "It is not right for you to live with your brother's wife." So Herodias harbored a grudge against him and wanted to kill him, but was unable to do so. (Herod revered John, knowing him to be an upright and holy man; and so he protected him. When he listened to him, he was completely at a loss; yet he liked to listen to him.) Her chance came one day when Herod held a banquet on his birthday for his courtiers, military officers, and the leading men of Galilee. Herodias' own daughter came in and performed a dance which delighted Herod and his guests. So the king told the girl, "Ask me for anything you want and I'll give it to you." In fact, he swore to her, "I will grant you whatever you ask for, up to half my kingdom!" She went out and said to her mother, "What should I ask for?" She answered, "The head of John the baptizer." At that she hurried in to the king's presence and made her request, "I want you to give me, right now, the head of John the Baptist on a platter." The king regretted it bitterly, yet because of his oath and the guests who were present, he did not want to disappoint her. So immediately the king dispatched an executioner and ordered him to bring back the head. He went and beheaded John in the prison. He brought in the head on a platter and gave it to the girl, and the girl gave it to her mother. Later when his disciples heard about it, they came and carried his body away and laid it in a tomb.

put out raging fires, escaped the piercing sword; though weak they were made powerful, they became strong in time of war, they turned back foreign invaders. Women received back their dead through resurrection. Others were tortured and did not accept deliverance in order to obtain a better resurrection. Others endured mockery, scourging, even chains and imprisonment. They were stoned, they were tested, they were sawed in two, they were put to death at sword's point, they went about garbed in the skins of sheep or goats, needy, afflicted, tormented. The world was not worthy of them. They used to wander about in deserts and on mountains, and dwell in caves and in holes of the earth. To all these approval was given because of their faith, and they were found in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “A man of noble birth went to a faraway country to receive a kingdom and then return. He called on ten of his slaves and gave them a hundred dollars each and said to them, ‘Invest this until I return.’ His fellow citizens hated him and they immediately sent a deputation after him with instructions to say, ‘We do not want to have this man reign over us.’ When he returned, however, crowned as king, he sent for the servants to whom he had given the money, to learn what profit each had made. The first presented himself and said, ‘Lord, your hundred dollars has earned one thousand.’ ‘Well done,’ he replied, ‘good servant. Because you showed yourself capable in a tiny matter, take over the government of ten cities.’ The second came saying, ‘Your hundred, lord, has made five hundred.’ And he said to him also, ‘You, take over five cities.’ The third came and said to him: ‘Here, master, is your hundred which I kept rolled up in a napkin. For I was afraid of you, hard man that you are; you draw out what you have not deposited, and you reap what you have not sown.’ The master said to him: ‘You worthless fellow! I will judge you from your own evidence. You knew that I am a hard man, drawing out what I did not deposit and reaping what I did not sow. Why then did you not put my money in the bank, so that I, on my return, could recover it with interest?’ And he said to the attendants: ‘Take the hundred from him and give it to the man who has a thousand.’ ‘Lord,’ they said to him, ‘that man already has a thousand.’ I say to you, everyone who

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Paul the Apostle to the Thessalonians
1 Thess. 2, 2-8

Lectio Epistolae beati Pauli
Apostoli ad Thessalonicenses
1 Thess. 2, 2-8

Brethren: We drew courage from our God to preach to you the gospel of God under great opposition. For our exhortation springs neither from delusion nor from impure motives nor from deceit; rather, having met the test imposed on us by God as those entrusted with the gospel, so we preach, trying to please not men but God, "who tests our hearts." Never were we guilty of flattering words—you know this—nor of greediness under any pretext—God is the witness!—never trying for honor from men, neither from you nor from others, even though it was in our power to impose ourselves as apostles of Christ. On the contrary, while we were among you we were as gentle as a nursing mother when she embraces her young. So solicitous were we for you, in fact, that we wanted to share with you not only the gospel of God but even our very lives, so beloved had you become to us.

Fratres: Fiduciam habuimus in Deo nostro loqui ad vos evangelium Dei in multa sollicitudine. Exhortatio enim nostra non de errore neque de immunditia neque in dolo; sed, sicut probati sumus a Deo ut crederetur nobis evangelium, ita loquimur; non quasi hominibus placentes, sed Deo qui probat corda nostra. Neque enim aliquando fuimus in sermone adulationis, sicut scitis, neque in occasione avaritiae, Deus testis est, nec quaerentes ab hominibus gloriam neque a vobis neque ab aliis. Cum possemus vobis oneri esse ut Christi apostoli, sed facti sumus parvuli in medio vestrum, tamquam si nutrix foveat filios suos. Ita desiderantes vos cupide volebamus tradere vobis non solum evangelium Dei, sed etiam animas nostras, quoniam carissimi nobis facti estis.

Gradual Ps. 39, 10-11 I announced your justice in the vast assembly; I did not restrain my lips as you, O Lord, know. Ps. 39, 10-11 Your justice I kept not hid within my heart; your faithfulness and your salvation I have spoken of.

Graduale Ps. 39, 10-11 Annuntiavi iustitiam in caetu magno; ecce labia mea non cohibui: Domine, tu nosti. Ps. 39, 10-11 Iustitiam tuam non abscondi in corde meo; fidelitatem tuam et auxilium tuum narraui.

at the first, before the earth.
When there were no depths I was brought

Before the mountains were settled into place,

Offertory Antiphon

Blessed are you, O Virgin Mary, you who bore the Creator of all things; you brought forth him who made you, and you remain a Virgin forever.

Beáta es, Virgo María, quæ ómnium portásti Creatórem: genuísti qui te fecit, et in ætérnum pérmanes Virgo.

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, may the humanity of your only-begotten Son, Jesus Christ, our Lord, be our help.* By his birth he did not impair the virgin purity of his mother, but rather sanctified it. May he free us from our sins and make our offering acceptable to you on this feast of Mary's nativity: Who lives and reigns.

Unigéniti tui, Dómine, nobis succúrrat humanitas: ut, qui natus de Virgine, matris integritátem non mínuit, sed sacrávit; in Nativitátis eius solémniis, nostris nos piáculis éxuens, oblatiόνem nostram tibi fáciat accéptam Iesus Christus Dóminus noster: Qui tecum vivit.

I bud forth delights like the vine,
my blossoms become fruit fair and rich.
I am the mother of the gift of love,
of the fear and the knowledge of God,
and of the just man's hope.
In me is every boon of truth and of the way;
in me is all hope of virtue and of life.
Come to me, all you that yearn for me,
and be filled with my fruits;
My spirit is sweeter than honey,
a better heritage than the honeycomb;
the remembrance of me is for age upon age.
He who eats of me will hunger still,
he who drinks of me will thirst for more;
He who obeys me will not be put to shame,
he who serves me will never fail.
They who reflect my brightness
will have eternal life.

Luke 1, 26-38

At that time the angel Gabriel was sent from God to a town of Galilee named Nazareth, to a virgin engaged to a man named Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary. The angel arrived and said to her: "Hail, full of grace;
the Lord is with you. Blessed are you among women."

But she was troubled by this message, and wondered what this salutation meant.
Then the angel said to her: "Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God. And now, you shall conceive and bear a son, and you shall name him Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called Son of the Most High; the Lord God will give him the throne of David, his father, and he will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and his reign will have no end.”

But Mary said to the angel: “How can this be, because I do not know man?”

The angel answered her: “The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you; as a result, the Holy One to be born will be called Son of God. And Elizabeth your kinswoman has also conceived a son in her old age and she who was regarded as barren is now in her sixth month, for nothing is impossible with God.”

Léctio Epístolæ beáti Pauli
Apóstoli ad Philippenses
Philipp. 2, 5-11

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Philippians
Philipp. 2, 5-11

Fratres: Hoc enim sentíte in vobis, quod et in Christo Iesu: qui cum in forma Dei esset, non rapínam arbitrátus est esse se æquálem Deo: sed semetípsum exinanívit formam servi accípiens, in similitúdinem hóminum factus, et hábitu invéntus ut homo. Humiliávit semetípsum, factus obédiens usque ad mortem, mortem autem crucis. Propter quod et Deus exaltávit illum: et donávit illi nomen, quod est super omne nomen: ut in nómine Iesu omne genu flectátur, cæléstium, terréstrium, et infernórum et omnis lingua confiteátur, quia Dóminus Iesus Christus in glória est Dei Patris.

Brethren: Your attitude must be Christ's attitude: he was of divine condition, yet he did not greedily cling to equality of status with God, but emptied himself, taking the condition of a slave through being born in the likeness of men. He was known as a man, human in form, and in that state he humbled himself, obediently accepting even death—yes, death on a cross! Because of this, God in turn exalted him above all else, and bestowed on him that name which is above every other name whose dignity requires that at the mention of Jesus' name every knee must bend throughout the heavens and on earth and under the earth, and every tongue proclaim to the glory of God the Father: "Jesus Christ is Lord!"

Sept. 14. Exaltation of the Holy Cross

Gradual Ibid., 8–9 Christ became obedient for us to death, even to death on a cross. ℣. Therefore God also has exalted him, and has bestowed upon him the name that is above every name.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Sweet the wood, sweet the nails, sweet the load that hangs on you! You alone were worthy to bear up the King and Lord of heaven. Alleluia.

✠ A Reading

At that time Jesus said to the crowds of the Jews: “Now is the judgment of this world. Now will the Prince of this world be cast out. And when I am lifted up from the earth, I shall draw all men to myself.” (This statement of his indicated what sort of death he was going to die.) To this the crowd objected, “We have heard from the Law that the Messiah is to remain forever. How can you claim that the Son of Man must be lifted up? Just who is this ‘Son of Man’?” So Jesus told them, “The light is among you only a little while longer. Walk while you have the light for fear the darkness will come over you; the man who walks in the dark does not know where he is going. While you have the light, keep your faith in the light so that you may become sons of light.”

Omitted in votive Masses*

At the cross her station keeping,
Stood the mournful Mother weeping,
Close to Jesus to the last.
Through her heart, his sorrow sharing,
All his bitter anguish bearing,
Now at length the sword had passed.
Oh, how sad and sore distressed
Was that Mother highly blessed
Of the sole begotten One!
Christ above in torment hangs,
She beneath beholds the pangs
Of her dying, glorious Son.

Sept. 15. Seven Sorrows of B. V. M.

Is there one who would not weep
'Whelmed in miseries so deep
Christ's dear Mother to behold?
Can the human heart refrain
From partaking in her pain,
In that mother's pain untold?
Bruised, derided, cursed, defiled,
She beheld her tender Child,
All with bloody scourges rent.
For the sins of his own nation
Saw him hang in desolation
Till his spirit forth he sent.
O sweet Mother! fount of love,
Touch my spirit from above,
Make my heart with yours accord.
Make me feel as you have felt;
Make my soul to glow and melt
With the love of Christ, my Lord.
Holy Mother, pierce me through,
In my heart each wound renew
Of my Savior crucified.
Let me share with you his pain,
Who for all our sins was slain,
Who for me in torments died.
Let me mingle tears with thee
Mourning him who mourned for me,
All the days that I may live.
By the cross with you to stay
There with you to weep and pray,
Is all I ask of you to give.
Virgin of all virgins blest!
Listen to my fond request:
Let me share your grief divine.
Let me, to my latest breath
In my body bear the death
Of that dying Son of yours.
Wounded with his every wound,
Steep my soul till it has swooned
In his very blood away.
Be to me, O Virgin, nigh,
Lest in flames I burn and die,
In his awful judgment day.
Christ, when you shall call me hence,
Be your Mother my defense,
Be your cross my victory.

of blessed Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians
1 Cor. 13, 1-8

Brethren: If I should speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but not have love, I am a noisy gong and a clanging cymbal. And if I were a prophet and knew all mysteries and had all knowledge, and if I should have faith so great that I could move mountains, but not have love, I am nothing. And if I were to give away everything I have to feed the poor, and if I were to hand over my body to be burned, but not have love, I would gain nothing. Love is patient; love is kind. Love is not jealous; it does not put on airs; it is not snobbish. Love does nothing rude; it is not self-seeking; it is not prone to anger; it does not brood over injuries. Love is not happy over iniquity, but rejoices along with the truth. Love covers over everything, believes everything, hopes for everything, puts up with everything. Love never fails. Prophecies will pass away, tongues will be silent and knowledge will pass away.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 22, 1-14

At that time Jesus began to address the chief priests and the Pharisees, using parables. "The kingdom of heaven may be compared to the situation of a king who gave a wedding banquet for his son. He dispatched his slaves to summon the invited guests to the wedding, but they refused to come. A second time he dispatched other slaves, saying, 'Tell those who were invited, "Look, I have my dinner prepared; my bullocks and cornfed cattle have been butchered, and everything is ready. Come to the wedding."' Some of them ignored the invitation and went their way, one to his farm, another to his business. The rest seized his slaves, insulted them, and killed them. Now the king became angry, and sent his army which destroyed those murderers and burnt their city. Then he said to his slaves, 'The banquet is ready, but those who were invited proved unworthy. Therefore, go out to the country roads, and invite to the wedding anyone you find.' So those slaves went out on the roads and collected all the people they found, bad as well as good, till the wedding hall was filled with guests. But when the king came in to meet the guests, he caught sight of a man there who was not properly dressed for a wedding. 'My friend,' he said to him, 'how is it you came in here not properly dressed?' But he had nothing to say. Then the king told the attendants, 'Tie him up, hand and foot, and throw him into the darkness outside where he will wail and gnash his teeth.'—For while many are called, few are chosen."

✠ Sequentia sancti Evangelii
secundum Matthæum
Matth. 22, 1-14

In illo tempore: Loquebatur Iesus principibus sacerdotum et pharisæis in parabolis, dicens: Simile factum est regnum cælorum homini regi, qui fecit nuptias filio suo. Et misit servos suos vocare invitatos ad nuptias, et nolébant venire. Iterum misit alios servos, dicens: Dicitte invitatis: Ecce prandium meum paravi, tauri mei, et altéria occisa sunt, et omnia parata: venite ad nuptias. Illi autem neglexerunt: et abiérunt, alius in villam suam, alius vero ad negotiationem suam: reliqui vero tenuerunt servos eius, et contuméliis affectos occiderunt. Rex autem cum audisset, iratus est: et missis exercitibus suis, perdidit homicidas illos, et civitatem illorum succendit. Tunc ait servis suis: Nuptiæ quidem paratæ sunt, sed qui invitati erant, non fuerunt digni. Ite ergo ad exitus viarum et, quoscúmque invenieritis, vocate ad nuptias. Et egressi servi eius in vias, congregaverunt omnes, quos invenierunt, malos et bonos: et implète sunt nuptiæ discumbentium. Intravit autem rex, ut vidéret discumbentes, et vidit ibi hominem non vestitum veste nuptiali. Et ait illi: Amice, quomodo huc intrasti non habens vestem nuptialem? At ille obmutuit. Tunc dixit rex ministris: Ligatis manibus et pedibus eius, mittite eum in tenebras exteriores: ibi erit fletus, et stridor dentium. Multi enim sunt vocati, pauci vero electi.

Hebr. 10, 32–38

Lectio Epístolæ beáti Pauli
Apóstoli ad Hebræos
Heb. 10, 32–38

Brethren: Recall the days gone by when, after you had been enlightened, you endured a great contest of suffering. At times you were publicly exposed to insult and trial; at times you associated yourselves with those who were treated in that way. And you even joined in the sufferings of those who were in prison, and joyfully accepted the confiscation of your goods, knowing that you had better and permanent possessions. Therefore, don't cast away your courage; it will have a great reward. You need patience so that you may do God's will and receive what he has promised. For, just "a brief moment, and he who is to come will come and will not delay. My just man will live because of his fidelity."

Fratres: Rememorámini prístinos dies, in quibus illumináti, magnum certámen sustinuístis passiónem: et in áltero quidem oppróbriis, et tribulatióibus spectáculum facti: in áltero autem sócii táliter conversántium effécti. Nam et vinctis compássi estis, et rapínem bonórum vestrórum cum gáudio suscepístis, cognoscéntes vos habére meliorem, et manéntem substántiam. Nolíte itaque amittere confidéntiam vestram, quæ magnam habet remuneratióem. Patiéntia enim vobis necessária est: ut voluntátem Dei faciéntes, reportétis promissiónem. Adhuc enim módicum aliquántulum, qui ventúrus est, véniet, et non tardábit. Iustus autem meus ex fide vivit.

reply, Jesus said to them, “Watch out; let no one mislead you. Many will come, attempting to impersonate me. ‘I am the Messiah,’ they will claim, and will mislead many. You are going to hear about wars and war-scares; see to it that you do not become frightened. It is bound to happen. Still, this is not yet the end. Nation will rise against nation, one kingdom against another. There will be famines and pestilence and earthquakes in different places. Now all this is the start of the birth-pangs. Then they will hand you over to torture and will kill you. Indeed, because of my name you will be hated by all nations. And then many people will falter, betraying one another and hating one another. Many false prophets will appear and will mislead many. Because of the increase of evil, most men’s love will grow cold. Still, it is the man who bears up patiently to the end who will be saved.”

a lion, and on the left side the face of an ox, and finally each had the face of an eagle.

Human hands were under their wings, and the wings of one touched those of another. Each had two wings spread out above so that they touched one another's, while the other two wings of each covered his body. Each went straight forward; wherever the spirit wished to go, there they went;
they did not turn when they moved. In among the living creatures something like burning coals of fire could be seen; they seemed like torches, moving to and fro among the living creatures. The fire gleamed, and from it came forth flashes of lightning.

But the Pharisees saw this and complained to his disciples, "What reason can your master have for eating with tax collectors and sinners?" Overhearing the remark, he said, "People who are healthy do not need a doctor; sick people do. Go off and learn the meaning of the words, 'It is mercy I desire, not sacrifice.' A Reading from the Book of the Apocalypse
Apoc. 7, 13-17

In those days: One of the elders asked me, "Who are these people who are clothed in white robes? Where do they come from?" "Sir," I answered, "you are the one who knows this." "These are they who have come through the great tribulation," he said to me, "it was in the blood of the Lamb that they washed their garments white. That is why they are now before God's throne, in his service day and night within his temple; he who is seated upon the throne has spread his tent over them. Never again shall they hunger or thirst; nor shall sun or scorching heat strike them, because the Lamb in the center of the throne shall shepherd them and guide them to the springs of the waters of life. God himself shall wipe away every tear from their eyes."

A revelation from Jesus Christ, about things that must happen promptly: God gave it to him to show to his servants, and he in turn communicated it to his servant John through the angel whom he sent. John bears witness to the word of God thus attested by Jesus Christ as he saw it all in vision. Happy the lector and those who listen to everything in this prophecy and keep whatever has been here written! The time is near. To the seven churches which are in Asia: John wishes you grace and peace from the One who is and who was and who is to come, from the Seven Spirits before his throne, and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the first-born from the dead, the ruler of the kings of the earth, who loves us and has set us free from our sins with his blood.

Quicumque ergo humiliaverit se sicut parvulus iste, hic est maior in regno caelorum. Et qui susceperit unum parvulum talem in nomine meo, me suscipit. Qui autem scandalizaverit unum de pusillis istis, qui in me credunt, expedit ei, ut suspendatur mola asinaria in collo eius, et demergatur in profundum maris. Vae mundo a scandalis. Necesse est enim ut veniant scandala: verumtamen vae homini illi, per quem scandalum venit. Si autem manus tua, vel pes tuus scandalizat te, abscide eum, et proiice abs te: bonum tibi est ad vitam ingredi debilem, vel claudum, quam duas manus, vel duos pedes habentem mitti in ignem aeternum.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 18, 1–10

At that time the disciples came up to Jesus with the question, "Who, then, is the most important in the kingdom of heaven?" So he called a little child over, stood him in the middle of them, and said: "I assure you, unless you change and become like little children, you will not enter the kingdom of heaven. For whoever considers himself of little account, like this little child, is the most important in the kingdom of heaven. Moreover, whoever welcomes one such child for my sake is welcoming me. But whoever is an occasion of sin to one of these little ones who believe in me—far better for him to be drowned in the depths of the sea with a big millstone hung around his neck. What terrible things shall come upon mankind because of scandal!—True, scandal will inevitably occur. Still, terrible things shall come upon the man who is the source of scandal. So if your hand or foot

Sept. 29. St. Michael the Archangel

becomes an occasion of sin to you, cut it off and throw it away! You would be better off to enter life maimed and crippled than to be thrown into eternal fire with two hands and feet. Or if your eye becomes an occasion of sin to you, gouge it out and throw it away! You would be better off to enter life with only one eye than to be thrown into fiery Gehenna with both eyes. See to it that you never despise one of these little ones. I assure you that their angels in heaven constantly behold my heavenly Father's face."

Creed.

After Septuagesima, in votive Masses, the Alleluia at the end of the following antiphon is omitted, and there is said:

Prayer after Communion

We rely on the prayers of the blessed archangel Michael, O Lord,* that the sacrament which we have received with our lips may always bear fruit in our hearts. Through Jesus Christ.

Et si oculus tuus scandalizat te, erue eum, et proiice abs te: bonum tibi est cum uno oculo in vitam intrare, quam duos oculos habentem mitti in gehennam ignis. Videte ne contemnatis unum ex his pusillis: dico enim vobis, quia Angeli eorum in caelis semper vident faciem Patris mei, qui in caelis est.

Prayer

O God, in the person of your blessed confessor Jerome you provided your Church with her greatest scholar in the interpretation of holy scripture.* By his merits help us to practice his teachings in our words and deeds. Through Jesus Christ.

Prayer over the Gifts

Grant us your heavenly grace, O Lord, that we may serve you in perfect freedom.*
Through the intercession of your blessed confessor Jerome, let the gifts we offer to you heal us and lead us to everlasting glory.
Through Jesus Christ.

Prayer after Communion

We are refreshed with the bread of heaven,
O Lord.* May the prayers of your blessed confessor Jerome make us worthy of your mercy. Through Jesus Christ.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 18, 1–10

At that time the disciples came up to Jesus with the question, “Who, then, is the most important in the kingdom of heaven?” So he called a little child over, stood him in the middle of them, and said: “I assure you, unless you change and become like little children, you will not enter the kingdom of heaven. For whoever considers himself of little account, like this little child, is the most important in the kingdom of heaven. Moreover, whoever welcomes one such child for my sake is welcoming me. But whoever is an occasion of sin to one of these little ones who believe in me—far better for him to be drowned in the depths of the sea with a big millstone hung around his neck. What terrible things shall come upon mankind because of scandal!—True, scandal will inevitably occur. Still, terrible things shall come upon the man who is the source of scandal. So if your hand or foot becomes an occasion of sin to you, cut it off and throw it away! You would be better off to enter life maimed and crippled than to be thrown into eternal fire with two hands and feet. Or if your eye becomes an occasion of sin to you, gouge it out and throw it away! You would be better off to enter life with only one eye than to be thrown into fiery Gehenna with both eyes. See to it that you never despise one of these little ones. I assure you that their angels in heaven constantly behold my heavenly Father's face."

Offertory Antiphon Ps. 102, 20 and 21

Bless the Lord, all you his angels, his ministers, who do his will, obeying his spoken word.

Prayer over the Gifts

Accept, O Lord, the gifts we offer in veneration of your holy angels.* In your mercy free us, under their unceasing guardianship, from our present dangers and lead us to eternal life. Through Jesus Christ.

Communion Antiphon Dan. 3, 58

gin's name was Mary. The angel arrived and said to her: "Hail, full of grace; the Lord is with you. Blessed are you among women."

But she was troubled by this message, and wondered what this salutation meant. But the angel said to her: "Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God. And now, you shall conceive and bear a son, and you shall name him Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called Son of the Most High; the Lord God will give him the throne of David, his father, and he will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and his reign will have no end."

But Mary said to the angel: "How can this be, because I do not know man?"

The angel answered her: "The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you; as a result, the Holy One to be born will be called Son of God. And Elizabeth your kinswoman has also conceived a son in her old age and she who was regarded as barren is now in her sixth month, for nothing is impossible with God."

Mary said: "Behold the handmaid of the Lord; be it done to me according to your word."

Ioseph, de domo David, et nomen Virginitatis Maria. Et ingressus Angelus ad eam, dixit: Ave, gratia plena: Dominus tecum: benedicta tu in mulieribus. Quae cum audisset, turbata est in sermone eius, et cogitabat qualis esset ista salutatio. Et ait Angelus ei: Ne timeas, Maria, invenisti enim gratiam apud Deum: ecce concipies in utero, et paries filium, et vocabis nomen eius Iesum. Hic erit magnus, et Filius Altissimi vocabitur, et dabit illi Dominus Deus sedem David patris eius: et regnabit in domo Iacob in aeternum, et regni eius non erit finis. Dixit autem Maria ad Angelum: Quomodo fiet istud, quoniam virum non cognosco? Et respondens Angelus, dixit ei: Spiritus Sanctus superveniet in te, et virtus Altissimi obumbrabit tibi. Ideoque et quod nascetur ex te Sanctum, vocabitur Filius Dei. Et ecce Elisabeth cognata tua, et ipsa concepit filium in senectute sua: et hic mensis sextus est illi, quae vocatur sterilis: quia non erit impossibile apud Deum omne verbum. Dixit autem Maria: Ecce ancilla Domini, fiat mihi secundum verbum tuum.

Crede.

In me gratia omnis viae et veritatis, in me omnis spes vitae et virtutis: ego quasi rosa plantata super rivos aquarum fructificavi.

Fac nos, quaesumus, Domine, his muneribus offerendis convenienter aptari: et per sacratissimi Rosarii mysteria sic vitam, passionem et gloriam Unigeniti tui recollere; ut eius digni promissionibus efficiamur: Qui tecum.

Brethren: Since we have this ministry through the mercy of God, we do not give in to discouragement. We repudiate shameful, underhanded practices. We do not resort to trickery, nor do we falsify the word of God. But openly proclaiming the truth, we commend ourselves to the judgment of every man's conscience in the presence of God. And if our gospel is also "veiled," it is "veiled" only for those who are on the way to destruction. Their unbelieving minds have been blinded by the god of this age, so that they do not see the shining light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God. We do not preach ourselves, but that Christ Jesus is Lord and we are your servants for Jesus' sake. For God who said: "let light shine from darkness," has shone in our hearts that we might make known the glory of God shining on the face of Christ. Indeed, all this is for your benefit, in order that the favor so abundantly bestowed may abound, through the thanksgiving of many, to the greater glory of God. Therefore, we do not lose heart; because, even if our body is being destroyed, our inner being is renewed daily. For the present light burden of our trial is producing for us an eternal Fratres: Habentes administrationem iuxta quod misericordiam consecuti sumus, non deficimus, sed abdicamus occulta dedecoris, non ambulantes in astutia, neque adulterantes verbum Dei, sed in manifestatione veritatis commendantes nosmetipsos ad omnem conscientiam hominum coram Deo. Quod si etiam operatum est Evangelium nostrum: in iis, qui pereunt, est operatum: in quibus Deus huius saeculi excavit mentes infidelium, ut non fulgeat illis illuminatio Evangelii gloriae Christi, qui est imago Dei. Non enim nosmetipsos praedicamus, sed Iesum Christum Dominum nostrum: nos autem servos vestros per Iesum: quoniam Deus, qui dixit de tenebris lucem splendescere, ipse illuxit in cordibus nostris ad illuminationem scientiae claritatis Dei, in facie Christi Iesu. Omnia enim propter vos: ut gratia abundans, per multos in gratiarum actione, abundet in gloriam Dei. Propter quod non deficimus: sed licet is, qui foris est, noster homo corrumpatur: tamen is, qui intus est, renovatur de die in diem. Id enim, quod in praesenti est momentaneum et leve tribulationis nostrae, supra modum in sublimitate aeternum gloriae pondus operatur in nobis, non contemplantibus nobis quae videntur, sed quae non videntur. Quae enim videntur, temporalia sunt:

Do not carry a walking stick or traveling bag; wear no sandals. And greet no one along the way. On entering any house first say: "Peace to this house"; if there is a peaceable man there your peace will repose upon him; if not, it will return to you. Stay in that same house eating and drinking what they have, for the laborer is worth his pay. Do not move from house to house. A Reading from the Acts of the Apostles

In those days Paul rose and addressed the assembled Court of the Areopagus: "Men of Athens, I note that in every respect you are scrupulously religious. As I walked around looking at your shrines, I even discovered an altar inscribed, 'To a God Unknown.' Now what you are thus worshipping in ignorance—this I would make known to you. For the God who created the world and all that is in it, the Lord of heaven and earth, does not dwell in sanctuaries made by human hands; nor does he receive men's service as if he were in need of it. Rather it is he who gives to all life and breath and everything else. From one stock he made every nation of mankind dwell on the face of the whole earth. He it is who set the limits of their times and the boundaries of their territories. They were to seek for God; yes, perhaps even to grope for him, and eventually to find him—though he is not really far from any of us. 'For in him we live and move and have our being,' as some of your own poets have put it; 'For we too are his offspring.' If we are really God's offspring, we ought not to think that divinity is something like a statue of gold, of silver or of stone, a product of man's art and genius. God may well have overlooked bygone periods when men did not know him, but now he calls on all men everywhere to reform their lives. He has set the day on which he is going to judge the world with justice through a man whom he has appointed and whom he has endorsed before all by raising him from the dead." When they heard about the raising of the dead, some sneered and others said, "We'll listen to you on this topic some other time." At that Paul left the Court. A few of them, however, did join him and became believers. Among these were Denis, a member of the Court of the Areopagus, and a woman named Damaris, and a few others.

Genus ergo cum simus Dei, non debemus aestimare auro, aut argento, aut lapidi, sculpturæ artis, et cogitationis hominis, Divinum esse simile. Et tempora quidem huius ignorantia despiciens Deus, nunc annuntiat hominibus ut omnes ubique penitentiam agant, eo quod statuit diem, in quo iudicaturus est orbem in æquitate, in viro, in quo statuit, fidem præbens omnibus, suscitans eum a mortuis. Cum audissent autem resurrectionem mortuorum, quidam quidem irridebant, quidam vero dixerunt: Audiemus te de hoc iterum. Sic Paulus exiit de medio eorum. Quidam vero viri adherentes ei, crediderunt: in quibus et Dionysius Areopagita, et mulier nomine Damaris, et alii cum eis.

Therefore, everything you have said under cover of darkness will be heard in broad daylight and what you have whispered in locked rooms will be proclaimed from the housetops. I tell you, my friends: "Do not be afraid of those who kill the body, and can then do nothing further. I will show you whom you ought to fear: Fear him who has power to cast into hell after he has killed. Yes, I warn you, he is the one for you to fear. Are not five sparrows sold for two pennies? And yet not one of them is overlooked by God. Furthermore even the hairs of your head are all counted. Have no fear. You are worth more than a multitude of sparrows. Not finding him, they returned to Jerusalem searching for him; and after three days they found him in the Temple sitting in the midst of the teachers, listening to them and asking them questions. And all who heard him were amazed at his intelligence and his answers. When they saw him they were astonished, and his mother said to him, "Son, why have you done this to us? You see that your father and I have been searching for you in sorrow."

He said to them: "What prompted you to search for me? Did you not know that I had to be in my Father's house?"

Brethren: To me, less than least of all the saints, this favor was given, to preach to the Gentiles the unfathomable riches of Christ, and to enlighten all men on the working out of the mystery which for ages was hidden in God, the creator of all things. For this reason I kneel before the Father from whom every family in heaven and on earth takes its name; and I pray that he will bestow on you gifts corresponding to the richness of his glory. May he strengthen your inner selves with power through his Spirit. May Christ dwell in your hearts through faith; and may love be the root and foundation of your life. Thus you will be able to grasp fully with all the saints the breadth and length and height and depth, and to know that the love of Christ surpasses all knowledge, so that you will be filled with all the fullness of God.

We also sent along with him the brother who is renowned throughout all the churches for his preaching of the gospel, and who, besides, was chosen by the churches to be our companion in this gracious work which we are doing for the Lord's glory and to show our good will. We are taking every precaution that no one may find fault with us in our handling of this generous gift. Indeed, we have regard not only for what is good in God's sight, but also for what is proper in men's eyes. And with them we have also sent our brother whose earnestness we proved by many tests, and who now is more zealous than ever because of the great confidence he has in you. If there is any question about Titus, he is my companion and co-worker for you. As for our brothers, they are apostles of the churches, the glory of Christ. Eccli. 18, 12-13

Man may be merciful to his fellow man, but God's mercy reaches all flesh. He has mercy, teaches and guides, as a shepherd does his flock. Ps. 1, 1 Happy the man who follows not the counsel of the wicked nor walks in the way of sinners, nor sits in the company of the insolent. ℣. Glory be to the Father. Man may be merciful.

Miserátio hóminis circa próximum: misericórdia autem Dei super omnem carnem. Qui misericórdiam habet, docet, et érudít quasi pastor gregem suum. Ps. 1, 1 Beátus vir, qui non ábiit in consílio impiórum, et in via peccatórum non stetit, et in cáthedra pestiléntiæ non sedit. ℣. Glória Patri. A Reading from the Epistle of blessed

Beloved: Always speak and always act as men destined for judgment under a law that is characterized by freedom. For merciless is the judgment on the man who has not had mercy. A record of mercy, however, comes through judgment triumphantly. My brothers, what good is there in anyone's professing the faith if he does nothing in practice? Such a faith has no power to save him, has it? Take the case of a brother or sister with nothing to wear and no food for the day. If any of you says to them, "Goodbye, keep warm and well fed," and does not take care of their real needs, what good is that? So it is with the faith that does nothing in practice. It is entirely dead.

Gradual Ps. 106, 8-9 Let them give thanks to the Lord for his kindness and his wondrous deeds to the children of men. ℣. Because he satisfied the longing soul and filled the hungry soul with good things. from a wedding, so that you open up for him as soon as he comes and knocks.

Happy for those servants whom the master finds vigilant on his arrival! I tell you: he will fasten his belt, seat them at table, and come and wait on them. Even if he comes at midnight or before sunrise and finds them prepared, it will be happy for them. Bear in mind, if the head of the house had known at what time the thief was coming he would certainly not have let him break into his house. You too should be vigilant because the Son of Man comes at a time you least expect.”

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Paul the Apostle to the Colossians Coloss. 1, 12–20

Brethren: Give thanks to the Father for making you worthy to share the lot of the saints in light. For he rescued us from the power of darkness and brought us into the kingdom of his beloved Son, through whom we have redemption, and the forgiveness of our sins. He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creatures; for in him everything was created in heaven and on earth, things visible and invisible, whether Thrones, or Dominations, or Principalities, or Powers; they were all created through him and for him. He is before all things, and in him all things hold together. And he is head of the body, the Church; he is the beginning, the firstborn of the dead, that he may hold first place in everything. For God was pleased to have all fullness abide in him and through him to reconcile for himself all things, making peace through his blood shed on the cross—all things, I say, both on earth and in heaven, in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

Offertory Antiphon

Ps. 2, 8

Ask of me and I will give you the nations for an inheritance and the ends of the earth for your possession.

Póstula a me, et dabo tibi gentes hereditátem tuam, et possessiónem tuam términos terræ.

Prayer over the Gifts

We offer you, O Lord, the Victim of man's reconciliation.* May Jesus Christ, your Son and our Lord, whom we offer up again in sacrifice today, grant unity and peace to all nations: Who lives and reigns.

Hóstiam tibi, Dómine, humanæ reconciliatiónis offérimus: præsta, quæsumus, ut quem sacrificiis præsentibus immolámus, ipse cunctis géntibus unitátis et pacis dona concedat, Iesus Christus Fílius tuus Dóminus noster: Qui tecum.

Apóstoli ad Corínthios
2 Cor. 6, 4-10

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians
2 Cor. 6, 4-10

Fratres: Exhibeámus nosmetípsos sicut Dei ministros in multa paciéntia, in tribulatió nibus, in necessitatibus, in angústiiis, in plagis, in carcéribus, in seditió nibus, in labóribus, in vigíliis, in ieiúniis, in castitate, in sciéntia, in longanimitate, in suavitate, in Spíritu Sancto, in caritate non ficta, in verbo veritatis, in virtute Dei, per arma iustitiae a dextris, et a sinistris: per glóriam, et ignobilitatem: per infámiam, et bonam famam: ut seductóres, et veraces: sicut qui ignóti, et cóniti: quasi morientes, et ecce vívimus: ut castigati, et non mortificati: quasi tristes, semper autem gaudentes: sicut egéntes, multos autem locupletantes: tamquam nihil habentes, et ómnia possidentes.

Brethren: In everything we strive to show ourselves as ministers of God, with great fortitude in trials, distress, difficulties, in beatings, imprisonments, riots; with hard work, sleepless nights and fastings; with innocence, knowledge, patience and kindness; with a holy spirit, with sincere love; with the message of truth and the power of God; wielding the weapons of justice with right hand and left; whether honored or dishonored; whether spoken of well or ill. We are called impostors, and yet we are truthful; nobodies, and we are well-known; dead, and here we are alive; punished, and we have not yet been put to death; sorrowful, and we are always rejoicing; poor, and we are enriching many; we are said to have nothing, and yet we possess everything.

At that time, Jesus said to the scribes and Pharisees: "Woe to you, you build the tombs of the prophets, but your fathers murdered them. You vouch for and approve the deeds of your fathers, in that they did the murders and you erect the tombs. For this reason the wisdom of God said: 'I will send them prophets and apostles, and they will kill and persecute some of them'—so that this generation will have to account for the blood of all the prophets shed since the foundation of the world, from the blood of Abel to the blood of Zacharia who met this death between the altar and the sanctuary. If you belonged to the world, the world would love its own; but the reason why the world hates you is because you do not belong to the world. No, it was out of the world that I chose you. Remember what I told you: no slave is more important than his master. If they persecuted me, they will persecute you; if they have kept my word, they will keep yours too. But they will do all these things to you because of my name, since they do not know the One who sent me. If I had not come and spoken to them, they would not be guilty of sin; now, however, they have no excuse for their sin. To hate me is to hate my Father. If I had not performed works among them such as no one has ever per-

In those days: I, John, saw another angel come up from the east; he held the seal of the living God, and with mighty voice he cried out to the four angels who had been given power to ravage land and sea: "Do not ravage land or sea or trees until we have marked with this seal the foreheads of the servants of our God." (I heard that the number of those thus marked with the sea was one hundred forty-four thousand from every tribe of the Israelites: twelve thousand sealed from the tribe of Juda, twelve thousand from the tribe of Ruben, twelve thousand from the tribe of Gad, twelve thousand from the tribe of Aser, twelve thousand from the tribe of Nephthali, twelve thousand from the tribe of Manasse, twelve thousand from the tribe of Simeon, twelve thousand from the tribe of Levi, twelve thousand from the tribe of Issachar, twelve thousand from the tribe of Zabulon, twelve thousand from the tribe of Joseph, twelve thousand sealed from the tribe of Benjamin.)

After this I also saw in vision a great throng which no one could count, from every nation—from all tribes, peoples, and tongues—standing before the throne and before the Lamb; they wore white robes and held palm branches in their hands. With mighty voice they cried: “Salvation is from our God who is seated upon his throne, and from the Lamb.” At this all the angels who stood around the throne, outside the circle of the elders and the four living creatures, fell face down before the throne, worshipping God, as they sang: “Amen! Praise, glory, and wisdom, thanksgiving, honor, power, and might be to our God forever and ever. Amen.!”

Blessed are the pure of heart, for they shall see God. Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called children of God. Blessed are they who suffer persecution for justice' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Prayer after Communion

May your faithful always delight in paying reverence to all the saints, O Lord,* and may the constant intercession of the saints be our protection. Through Jesus Christ your Son, our Lord, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit,* God, forever and ever. R. Amen.

Votive Mass of All Saints

VOTIVE MASS OF ALL SAINTS

OUTSIDE EASTER SEASON

Entrance Antiphon

Wis. 3, 8

They shall judge nations and rule over peoples, and the Lord shall be their King forever. Ps. 32, 1 Exult, you just, in the Lord; praise from the upright is fitting. ℟. Glory be to the Father. They shall judge.

IN EASTER SEASON

Entrance Antiphon

Ps. 144, 10–11

Let your faithful ones bless you, O Lord. Let them discourse of the glory of your kingdom, alleluia, alleluia. Ps. ibid., 1 I will extol you, O my God and King, and I will bless your name forever and ever. ℟. Glory be to the Father. Let your faithful ones.

Prayer

O almighty God, grant that the intercession of Mary, the holy Mother of God, of all the blessed apostles, martyrs, confessors, virgins, and all your elect may always be a source of joy to us.* May we experience the power of their protection as we solemnly recall the deeds of their lives. Through Jesus Christ.

Epistle as on the feast.

Gradual Ps. 33, 10 and 11 Fear the Lord, all you his holy ones, for nought is lacking to those who fear him. ℟. But those who seek the Lord want for no good thing.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℟. Matth. 11, 28 Come to me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest. Alleluia.

After Septuagesima, in votive Masses, the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

EXTRA TEMPUS PASCHALE

Iúdicant sancti gentes, et dominántur pópulis: et regnábít Dóminus Deus illórum in perpétuum. Ps. 32, 1 Exsultáte, iusti, in Dómino: rectos decet collaudátio. ℟. Glória Patri. Iúdicant.

TEMPORE PASCHALI

Sancti tui, Dómine, benedícant te: glóriam regni tui dicent, allelúia, allelúia. Ps. ibid., 1 Exaltábo te, Deus meus Rex: et benedicam nómini tuo in sáeculum, et in sáeculum sáeculi. ℟. Glória Patri. Sancti tui.

Concéde, quáesumus, omnípotens Deus: ut intercéssio sanctæ Dei Genetrícis Mariæ, sanctorúmque ómnium Apostolórum, Mártyrum, Confessórum, atque Virgínum et ómnium electórum tuórum, nos ubique lætíficet; ut, dum eórum mérita recólimus, patrocínia sentiámus. Per eúndum Dóminum.

Epistola ut in festo.

Graduale Ps. 33, 10 et 11 Timéte Dóminum, omnes sancti eius: quóniam nihil deest tíméntibus eum. ℟. Inquiréntes autem Dóminum non deficient omni bono.

Allelúia, allelúia. ℟. Matth. 11, 28 Veníte ad me omnes qui laborátis, et oneráti estis: et ego reficiam vos. Allelúia.

Post Septuagesimam, omissis Allelúia, et versu sequenti, dicitur:

Votive Mass of All Saints

Tractus Ps. 125, 5-6 Qui séminant in lácrimis, in gáudio metent.
V. Eúntes ibant et fiebant, mitténtes sémina sua. V. Veniéntes autem veníent cum exsultatióne, portántes manípulos suos.

Tempore autem paschali omittitur graduale, et eius loco dicitur:

Allelúia, allelúia, V. Sancti tui, Dómine, florébunt sicut lílium: et sicut odor bálsami erunt ante te.
Allelúia. V. Ps. 115, 5 Pretiósá in conspéctu Dómini mors sanctórum eius. Allelúia.

Evangelium ut in festo.

Post Septuagesimam in fine sequentis antiphonæ Allelúia omittitur.

Iustórum ánimæ in manu Dei sunt, et non tanget illos torméntum malitiæ:
visi sunt óculis insipiéntium mori: illi autem sunt in pace, allelúia.

Tempore autem paschali dicitur seq.:

Antiphona ad Offertorium
Ps. 31, 11

Lætámini in Dómino, et exsultáte
iusti: et gloriámini, omnes recti corde, allelúia, allelúia.

Oblátis, Dómine, placáre munéribus:

Vírgine, cum ómnibus Sanctis tuis, a cunctis nos defénde perículis. Per Dóminum.

Beáti mundo corde, quóniam ipsi Deum vidébunt: beáti pacífici, quóniam filii Dei vocabúntur: beáti

Tract Ps. 125, 5-6 Those that sow in tears shall reap rejoicing. V. Going, they went and wept, casting their seeds. V. But coming, they shall come with joyfulness, carrying their sheaves.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

Alleluia, alleluia. V. Your faithful shall flourish like the lily, O Lord, and be as the odor of balsam before you. Alleluia. V. *Ps.
115. 15* Precious in the eyes of the Lord is the death of his faithful ones. Alleluia.

Gospel as on the feast.

In votive Masses after Septuagesima, at the end of the following antiphon the Alleluia is omitted.

Offertory Antiphon Wis. 3, 1-2 and 3

The souls of the just are in the hand of God,
and no torment of death shall touch them.
They seemed, in view of the foolish, to be dead; but they are in peace, Alleluia.

In paschal time:

Offertory Antiphon Ps. 31, 11

Be glad in the Lord and rejoice, you just;
exult, all you upright of heart, alleluia,
alleluia.

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, be moved to compassion by our offerings and protect us from all danger* through the prayers of the blessed ever-virgin Mary and all the saints. Through Jesus Christ.

Communion Antiphon Matth. 5, 8-10

Communion Antiphon

Ps. 32, 1

Exult, you just, in the Lord, alleluia; praise from the upright is fitting, alleluia.

Prayer after Communion

We have received the sacrament of heaven, O Lord, to commemorate the blessed ever-virgin Mary and all the saints.* We now humbly beg that the sacred rite we have celebrated may be our joy for all eternity. Through Jesus Christ.

COMMEMORATION OF ALL THE FAITHFUL DEPARTED

November 2

or, if it falls on a Sunday,

November 3

On this day every priest may celebrate three Masses. For the norms to be followed if a priest celebrates two or three Masses on the same day, see the Rite to be observed in the celebration of Mass, tit. XV.

One who celebrates a single Mass only reads the first Mass formulary. This Mass is also used by one who celebrates a sung Mass, but he may anticipate the second and third Masses.

When one celebrates three Masses without interruption, the sequence must be said only in the principal Mass, or otherwise in the first Mass; it may be omitted in the other two Masses, unless they are sung Masses.

FIRST MASS

Entrance Antiphon

4 Esdras 2, 34 and 35

Eternal rest grant unto them O Lord: and let perpetual light shine upon them Ps. 64, 2-3. To you we owe our hymn of praise, O God, in Sion; to you must vows be fulfilled in Jerusalem. Hear my prayer; to you all flesh must come.

Eternal rest is repeated as far as the psalm.

qui persecutiómem patiúntur propter iustítiam, quóniam ipsórum est regnum cælórum.

Tempore autem paschali dicitur seq.:

Antiphona ad Communionem

Ps. 32, 1

Gaudéte, iusti, in Dómino, allelúia: rectos decet collaudátio, allelúia.

Postcommunio

Súmptimus, Dómine, beátæ Mariæ semper Vírginis et ómnium Sanctórum tuórum memóriam recoléntes, sacraménta cæléstia: præsta, quæsumus; ut, quod temporáliter gérimus, ætérnis gáudiis consequámur. Per Dóminum.

I classis

Hoc die quivis sacerdos tres Missas celebrare potest. De agendis, si sacerdos eodem die duas vel tres missas celebret, vide Ritum servandum in celebratione Missæ. tit. XIV.

Qui unam dumtaxat Missam celebrat, primam legit; eandem adhibet qui Missam cum cantu celebrat, facta ei potestate anticipandæ secundæ ac tertię.

Cum quis tres Missas sine intermissione celebrat, sequentiam dicere debet tantum in Missa principali, secus in prima; in ceteris Missis, nisi sint in cantu, eam omittere potest.

AD PRIMAM MISSAM

Réquiem ætérnam dona eis, Dómine: et lux perpétua luceat eis. Ps. 64, 2-3
Te decet hymnus, Deus, in Sion, et tibi reddétur votum in Ierúsalem: exáudi oratiómem meam, ad te omnis caro véniet.

Nov. 2. All the Faithful Departed

Prayer

Fidélium, Deus, ómnium cónditor et redémpstor: animábus famulórum famularúmque tuárum remissionem cunctórum tríbe peccatórum; ut indulgéntiam, quam semper optavérunt, piis supplicatióibus consequántur: Qui vivis.

O God, creator and redeemer of all the faithful, grant the souls of your departed servants forgiveness of all their sins. May our devout prayers obtain for them the pardon that they have always desired: You who live and reign.

Léctio Epístolæ beáti Pauli
Apóstoli ad Corínthios
1 Cor. 15, 51–57

A Reading from the Epistle
of blessed Paul the Apostle
to the Corinthians
1 Cor. 15, 51–57

Fratres: Ecce mystérium vobis dico: Omnes quidem resurgémus, sed non omnes immutábimur. In mométo, in ictu óculi, in novíssima tuba: canet enim tuba, et mórtui resúrgent incorrupti: et nos immutábimur. Opórtet enim corruptibile hoc indúere incorruptionem: et mortále hoc indúere immortalitátem. Cum autem mortále hoc indúerit immortalitátem, tunc fiet sermo, qui scriptus est: Absórupta est mors in victória. Ubi est, mors, victória tua? Ubi est, mors, stímulus tuus? Stímulus autem mortis peccátum est: virtus vero peccáti lex. Deo autem grátias, qui dedit nobis victóriam per Dóminum nostrum Iesum Christum.

Brethren: I am going to tell you a mystery: we shall not all fall asleep, but we shall all be changed—in an instant, in the twinkling of any eye, at the sound of the last trumpet. The trumpet will blast and the dead will rise incorruptible, and we shall be changed. This corruptible body must be clothed with incorruptibility, and this mortal body must be clothed with immortality. When this corruptible body is clothed with incorruptibility and this mortal body is clothed with immortality, the saying of Scripture will be fulfilled: “Death is swallowed up in victory. Where, O Death, is your victory? Where, O Death, is your sting?” The sting of death is sin, and the power of sin is the Law. But thanks be to God, who has given us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

Graduale 4 Esdr. 2, 34 et 35 Réquiem ætérrnam dona eis, Dómine: et lux perpétua lúceat eis. Ps. III, 7 In memória ætérrna erit iustus: ab auditióne mala non timébit.

Gradual 4 Esdras 2, 34 and 35 Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord; and let perpetual light shine upon them. Ps. III, 7 The just man shall be in everlasting remembrance; an evil report he shall not fear.

Tractus Absólve, Dómine, ánimas ómnium fidélium defunctórum ab omni vínculo delictórum. Ps. Et grátia tua illis succurrénte, mereántur evádere iudicium ultiónis. Ps. Et lucis ætérrnæ beatitúdine pérfrui.

Tract Absolve, O Lord, the souls of all the faithful departed from every bond of sin. Ps. And by the help of your grace may they deserve to escape the judgment of vengeance. Ps. And to enjoy the blessedness of light eternal.

Nov. 2. All the Faithful Departed

Sequente

Day of wrath! O day of mourning!
 See fulfilled the prophets' warning,
 Heav'n and earth in ashes burning!
 O what fear man's bosom rendeth
 When from heav'n the judge descendeth,
 On whose sentence all dependeth!
 Wondrous sound the trumpet flingeth;
 Through earth's sepulchers it ringeth;
 All before the throne it bringeth.
 Death is struck, and nature quaking,
 All creation is awaking,
 To its judge an answer making.
 Lo! the book, exactly worded,
 Wherein all hath been recorded:
 Thence shall judgment be awarded.
 When the judge his seat attaineth
 And each hidden deed arraigneth,
 Nothing unavenged remaineth.
 What shall I, frail man, be pleading?
 Who for me be interceding,
 When the just are mercy needing?
 King of majesty tremendous,
 Who dost free salvation send us,
 Fount of pity, then befriend us!
 Think, good Jesus, my salvation
 Cost thy wondrous incarnation;
 Leave me not to reprobation!
 Faint and weary, thou has sought me,
 On the cross of suff'ring bought me.
 Shall such grace be vainly brought me?
 Righteous judge! for sin's pollution
 Grant thy gift of absolution,
 Ere the day of retribution.
 Guilty, now I pour my moaning,
 All my shame with anguish owning;
 Spare, O God, thy suppliant groaning!
 Thou the sinful woman savedst;
 Thou the dying thief forgavest;
 And to me a hope vouchsafest.
 Worthless are my prayers and sighing,
 Yet, good Lord, in grace complying,
 Rescue me from fires undying!
 With thy favored sheep O place me,

Iudicandus homo reus.
Huic ergo parce, Deus:
Pie Iesu Dómine,
Dona eis réquiem. Amen.

Nor among the goast abase me,
But to thy right hand upraise me.
While the wicked are confounded,
Doomed to flames of woe unbounded,
Call me with thy saints surrounded.
Low I kneel, with heart submission:
See, like ashes, my contrition;
Help me in my last condition.
Ah! that day of tears and mourning!
From the dust of earth returning,
Man for judgment must prepare him;
Spare, O God, in mercy spare him!
Lord, all pitying, Jesus blest,
Grant them thine eternal rest. Amen.

In illo témpore: Dixit Iesus turbis Iudæórum: Amen, amen dico vobis, quia venit hora, et nunc est, quando mórtui áudient vocem Fílii Dei: et qui audierint, vivent. Sicut enim Pater habet vitam in semetípso, sic dedit et Fílio habere vitam in semetípso: et potestátem dedit ei iudícium fácere, quia Fílius hóminis est. Nolíte mirári hoc, quia venit hora, in qua omnes, qui in monuméntis sunt, áudient vocem Fílii Dei: et procedent, qui bona fecerunt, in resurrectionem vitæ: qui vero mala egérunt, in resurrectionem iudícii.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 5, 25–29

At that time Jesus said to the crowds of the Jews: "I solemnly assure you, an hour is coming and is now here when the dead shall hear the voice of God's Son, and those who have listened shall live. Indeed, just as the Father possesses life in himself, so has he granted that the Son also possess life in himself. And he has turned over to him power to pass judgment because he is Son of Man. No need for surprise at this—an hour is coming in which all those in the tombs will hear his voice and will come forth: those who have done right will rise to live; those who have practiced evil will rise to be damned."

Responsory at the Offertory

Lord Jesus Christ, King of glory, deliver the souls of all the faithful departed from the pains of hell and the deep pit, deliver them from the lion's mouth, may hell not swallow them up, nor may they fall into darkness, but may Michael, the holy standardbearer, bring them into the holy light: * Which you once promised to Abraham and to his seed.

Nov. 2. All the Faithful Departed

℣. We offer you, O Lord, sacrifices and prayers of praise; receive them for the souls whom we remember this day. Grant, O Lord, that they may pass from death to life. Which you once promised to Abraham and to his seed.

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, look with favor upon the gifts we offer you in behalf of the souls of your faithful departed. May those to whom you have given the honor of Christian faith also receive its reward. Through Jesus Christ.

Preface of the Dead

Responsory at the Communion

4 Esdras 2, 34 and 35

May light eternal shine upon them, O Lord,* With your saints forever, for you are merciful. ℣. Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon them. With your saints forever, for you are merciful.

Prayer after Communion

May our humble prayers help the souls of your servants, O Lord. Free them of all their sins and grant that they may share in the redemption you won for all men: You who live and reign.

The priest must recite the usual prayers at the foot of the altar at the beginning of the second and third Masses.

Léctio libri Machabæórum
2 Mach. 12, 43–46

A Reading
from the Book of Machabees
2 Mach. 12, 43–46

In diébus illis: Vir fortíssimus Iudas, facta collatióne, duódecim míllia drachmas argénti misit Ierosólymam, offérri pro peccátis mortuórum sacrificium, bene et religiósè de resurrectiósne cógitans (nisi enim eos, qui ceciderant, resurrectúros speráret, supérfluum viderétur, et vanum oráre pro mórtuis): et quia considerábat quod hi, qui cum pietáte dormitió-nem accéperant, óptimam habérent repósitam grátiam. Sancta ergo, et salúbris est cogitatio pro defúntis exoráre, ut a peccátis solvántur.

In those days the valiant Judas took up a collection, to which all contributed, and sent about two thousand drachmas of silver to Jerusalem to offer an expiatory sacrifice, acting properly and appropriately considering the resurrection (for if he had not hoped that those who had fallen would rise again, it was useless and silly to pray for the dead), considering further that a great reward was in store for those who had gone to rest in piety—a holy and pious thought. Hence, on behalf of the dead he offered this expiation, to free them from sin.

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord: and let perpetual light shine upon them. Ps. 64, 2-3. To you we owe our hymn of praise, O God, in Sion; to you must vows be fulfilled in Jerusalem. Hear my prayer; to you all flesh must come. Eternal rest.

Prayer

O God, you generously pardon man's sin and desire his salvation. In your kindness grant that your servants who have departed from this life may be admitted into the fellowship of everlasting happiness through the intercession of the blessed ever-virgin Mary and of all of your saints. Through Jesus Christ.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 6, 51–55

At that time Jesus said to the crowds of the Jews: “I am the living bread which came down from heaven. If anyone eats this bread, he will live forever. And the bread that I shall give is my own flesh for the life of the world.” At this the Jews started to quarrel among themselves, saying, “How can this fellow give us his flesh to eat?” Therefore Jesus said to them, “I solemnly assure you, if you do not eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you. He who feeds on my flesh and drinks my blood has life eternal. And I shall raise him up on the last day.”

Responsory at the Offertory

Lord Jesus Christ, King of glory, deliver the souls of all the faithful departed from the pains of hell and the deep pit, deliver them from the lion’s mouth, may hell not swallow them up, nor may they fall into darkness, but may Michael, the holy standardbearer, bring them into the holy light: * Which you once promised to Abraham and to his seed. ℣. We offer you, O Lord, sacrifices and prayers of praise; receive them for the souls whom we remember this day. Grant, O Lord, that they may pass from death to life. Which you once promised to Abraham and to his seed.

Prayer over the Gifts

O God, your mercy is infinite. Hear our humble prayers and through these sacraments of our salvation pardon the sins of all the faithful departed, who were given the grace to acknowledge you during life. Through Jesus Christ.

Here is a great priest who pleased God in his lifetime and was found a just man, a peacemaker in time of wrath. He had no equal in keeping the Law of the Most High. For this reason God promised under oath to have him grow into a people of God. He set him as a blessing for all nations, and God's covenant rested upon him. He acknowledged him through blessings and showed him constant kindness. He found favor in the eyes of the Lord who made him great in the sight of kings and gave him a glorious crown. God made with him a lasting covenant, appointed him high priest, and blessed and glorified him, that he might serve God by his priesthood, bless his people in God's name, and offer him the sweet odor of a worthy incense.

man's abilities, giving one five thousand dollars, a second, two thousand, a third, a thousand. Then he went away. Immediately, the man who received the five thousand went and invested it, and made another five thousand. Similarly, the man who received the two thousand also made another two thousand. But the man who received the thousand went off, dug a hole in the ground and buried his master's money. A long time afterwards, the master of those slaves came home and settled accounts with them. Now the man who had received the five thousand stepped forward bringing the additional five thousand. 'My lord,' he said, 'you handed me five thousand dollars. See, I have made five thousand more.' His master said to him, 'Well done! You are an industrious and reliable slave. Since you were reliable in a small matter, I will put you in charge of greater affairs. Come, share your lord's joy!' The man who had received the two thousand dollars stepped forward and said, 'My lord, you handed me two thousand dollars. See, I have made two thousand more.' His master said to him, 'Well done! Brethren: Recall the days gone by when, after you had been enlightened, you endured a great contest of suffering. At times you were publicly exposed to insult and trial; at times you associated yourselves with those who were treated in that way. And you even joined in the sufferings of those who were in prison, and joyfully accepted the confiscation of your goods, knowing that you had better and permanent possessions. Therefore, don't cast away your courage; it will have a great reward. You need patience so that you may do God's will and receive what he has promised. Brethen: By faith the saints conquered kingdoms, did what was just, obtained what was promised; they broke the jaws of lions, put out raging fires, escaped the piercing sword; though weak, they were made powerful, they became strong in time of war, they turned back foreign invaders. Women received back their dead through resurrection. Others were tortured and did not accept deliverance in order to obtain a better resurrection. Others endured mockery, scourging, even chains and imprisonment. They were stoned, they were tested, they were sawed in two, they were put to death at sword's-point, they went about garbed in the skins of sheep or goats, needy, afflicted, tormented. The world was not worthy of them. They used to wander about in deserts and on mountains, and dwell in caves and in holes

At that time, when Jesus saw the crowds, he went up on the mountain, and after he had sat down, his disciples gathered around. Then he began to teach them, "Happy the poor in spirit: theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Happy those who mourn: they shall be consoled. Happy the humble: they shall inherit the land. Happy those who hunger and thirst for holiness: they shall be satisfied. Happy the merciful: they shall find mercy. Happy the sincere of heart: they shall behold God. Happy the peacemakers: they shall be called God's children. Happy those who suffer persecution for religion: theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Happy are you when they insult you and persecute you and utter every kind of slander against you on my account. Be glad! Yes, be overjoyed: your reward in heaven is great."

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Paul the Apostle to the Romans
Rom. 8, 18–23

Léctio Epístolæ beáti Pauli
Apóstoli ad Romános
Rom. 8, 18–23

Brethren: I consider the sufferings of the present time unworthy to be compared with the glory that one day will be revealed in us. Even creation itself is waiting with eager longing for that revelation of the sons of God. For creation was condemned to a futile existence, not willingly, but by the will of him who doomed it. Yet hope still remained that even creation itself would be delivered from its slavery to corruption and would come to share in the glorious liberty of the children of God. Up to the present, as we know, the whole of creation has been groaning together as it undergoes the pains of childbirth. And not only creation, but we ourselves also groan in our hearts, for, even though we have the Spirit as first fruits of our harvest, we are still waiting for the full adoption that will come to us through the redemption of our bodies, in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Fratres: Existimo quod non sunt condígnæ passiones huius témporis ad futúram glóriam, quæ revelábitur in nobis. Nam exspectatio creatúræ revelatióem filiõrum Dei exspectat. Vanitati enim creatúra subiecta est non volens, sed propter eum, qui subiecit eam in spe: quia et ipsa creatúra liberábitur a servitute corruptiõnis, in libertátem glóriæ filiõrum Dei. Scimus enim quod omnis creatúra ingemiscit, et párturit usque adhuc. Non solum autem illa, sed et nos ipsi primitias spíritus habentes: et ipsi intra nos gémmus adoptiõnem filiõrum Dei exspectantes, redemptiõnem córporis nostri: in Christo Iesu Dómino nostro.

Gradual Ps. 78, 10 and 2 Avenge, O Lord, the shedding of your servants' blood. Ps. 78, 10 and 2 They have given the corpses of your servants as food to the birds of heaven, the flesh of your faithful ones to the beasts of the earth.

Graduale Ps. 78, 10 et 2 Vindica, Dómine, sánguinem sanctorum tuorum, qui effúsus est. Ps. 78, 10 et 2 Posuerunt mortália servõrum tuorum escas volatilibus cæli: carnes sanctorum tuorum béstiis terræ.

according to Luke
Luke 12, 1-8

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "Be on your guard against the leaven (that is, the hypocrisy) of the Pharisees. There is nothing concealed that will not be revealed, nothing hidden that will not be made known. Therefore, everything you have said under cover of darkness will be heard in broad daylight, and what you have whispered in locked rooms will be proclaimed from the housetops. I tell you, my friends: "Do not be afraid of those who kill the body, and can do nothing further. I will show you whom you ought to fear: Fear him who has power to cast into hell after he has killed. Yes, I warn you, he is the one for you to fear. Are not five sparrows sold for two pennies? And yet not one of them is overlooked by God. Furthermore even the hairs of your head are all counted. Have no fear. You are worth more than a multitude of sparrows. I tell you: everyone who acknowledges me before men, the Son of Man will acknowledge him before the angels of God."

A Reading from the Epistle of
blessed Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews

Brethren: Every high priest is taken from among men and appointed to act on behalf of men in their relations with God, to offer gifts and sacrifices for sin. He is able to deal gently with misguided sinners because he himself is subject to weakness, and so he must offer sacrifice not only for the peoples' sins but also for his own. No one takes this dignity on his own initiative but only when called by God, as Aaron was. So even Christ did not glorify himself with the high priestly office; he received it from him who said to him, "You are my son; this day I have begotten you"; just as it says in another place, "You are a priest forever, according to the order of Melchisedec."

Gradual Ps. 88, 21-23 I have found David, my servant, with my holy oil I have anointed him, that my hand may be always with him, and that my arm may make him strong. ℣. No enemy shall have an advantage over him, nor shall the son of iniquity have power to hurt him.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. This is the priest whom the Lord has crowned. Alleluia.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel

John 10, 11-16

At that time Jesus said to the Pharisees, "I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep. The hired hand, who is not the shepherd and does not own the sheep, catches sight of the wolf coming and runs away, leaving the sheep to be snatched and scattered by the wolf. And this is because he works for pay and has no concern for the sheep. I am the good shepherd: I know my sheep and mine

The five wise virgins took oil in their vessels with the lamps; and at midnight a cry arose, “Behold the bridegroom is coming, go forth to meet Christ the Lord.” Alleluia.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 25, 1-13

At that time Jesus told his disciples this parable: “The kindgom of heaven will be comparable to ten virgins who took their torches and went out to welcome the bridegroom. Now five of them were foolish, and five, sensible. The foolish ones, in taking their torches, carried no oil along; but the sensible ones took flasks of oil, as well as their torches. As the bridegroom took his time, they all began to doze, and fell fast asleep. At midnight, someone shouted, ‘Here is the bridegroom! Come out and welcome him.’ Then all those virgins woke up, and got their torches ready. The foolish ones said to the sensible ones, ‘Give us some of your oil; our torches are going out.’
But the sensible ones replied, ‘No, there may not be enough for both you and us. You had better go to the dealers and buy yourselves some.’ While they went off to buy it, the bridegroom arrived, and the ones who were ready went into the wedding with him.
Then the door was barred. Later on, the other virgins came back. ‘Lord, lord!’ they cried, ‘Open the door for us.’ But he answered, ‘I assure you, I do not know you.’
Therefore, keep you eyes open, because you do not know the exact day or hour.”

Offertory Antiphon
Ps. 44, 15 and 16

Behind her the virgins of her train are brought to the king. Her neighbors are brought to you with gladness and joy; they enter the palace of the Lord, the King.

Fratres: Imitátóres mei, estóte, et observáte eos qui ita ámbulant, sicut habétis formam nostram. Multi enim ámbulant, quos sæpe dicébam vobis (nunc autem et flens dico) inimícos crucis Christi: quorum finis intéritus: quorum Deus venter est: et glória in confusióne ipsórum, qui terréna sápiunt. Nostra autem conversátio in cælis est: unde étiam Salvatórem exspectámus Dóminum nostrum Iesum Christum, qui reformábit corpus humilitætis nostræ, configurátum córpori claritætis suæ, secúndum operatiónem, qua étiam possit subiícere sibi ómnia. Itaque, fratres mei caríssimi, et desideratíssimi, gáudium meum et coróna mea: sic state in Dómino, caríssimi. Evódiam rogo, et Syntychen déprecór idípsum sápere in Dómino. Etiam rogo et te, germáne compar, ádiuva illas, quæ mecum laboravérunt in Evangélio cum Cleménte, et céteris adiutóribus meis, quorum nómina sunt in libro vitæ.

Brethren: Join the others who follow my example, and observe the behavior of those who conduct themselves according to the pattern you have in us. For alas, many go about in a manner which shows them to be enemies of the cross of Christ, as I have often said to you and now say again tearfully. These people will end up in disaster! Their only god is their stomach; their "glory" is their very shamefulness. I mean those people whose sole concern is things of this world. For, as you know, we are citizens of heaven. And it is from there that we await hopefully the coming of our Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ. He will give a new form to this lowly body of ours, making it into an image of his own glorified body. This he will do by the power he has to bring all things into submission to his will. For these reasons, my brothers whom I so love and long for, you who are my joy and my crown, stand firm in the Lord, worthy of love. I plead with Evodia and Synteche: come to a mutual understanding in the Lord. Yes, and I ask you also, my true fellowworker, go to their aid, for they have struggled at my side in promoting the gospel, along with Clement and my other co-workers, all of whose names are in the Book of Life.

✠ Sequéntia sancti Evangélii
secúndum Matthæum

At that time, when Jesus came into the neighborhood of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples this question: "Who do people say the Son of Man is?" They replied, "Some, John the Baptist; others, Elia; still others, Jeremia, or one of the prophets." "And you," he said to them, "who do you say I am?" "You are the Messiah," Simon Peter answered, "the Son of the living God?" Jesus replied, "Happy are you, Simon, son of John! No mere man has disclosed this to you, but my heavenly Father. And I, for my part, declare to you: you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my Church, and the forces of Death's realm shall not subdue it. I will entrust to you the keys of the kingdom of heaven: whatever you shall declare unlawful upon earth shall be held unlawful in heaven; whatever you shall declare lawful upon earth shall be held lawful in heaven."

In illo témpore: Venit Iesus in partes Cæsaráe Philíppi, et interrogábat discípulos suos, dicens: Quem dicunt hómines esse Fílium hóminis? At illi dixérunt: Alii Ioánem Baptistam, álii autem Elíam, álii vero Ieremíam, aut unum ex prophétis. Dicit illis Iesus: Vos autem quem me esse dicitis? Respóndens Simon Petrus, dixit: Tu es Christus, Fílius Dei vivi. Respóndens autem Iesus, dixit ei: Beátus es, Simon Bar Iona: quia caro et sanguis non revelávit tibi, sed Pater meus, qui in cælis est. Et ego dico tibi, quia tu es Petrus, et super hanc petram ædificábo Ecclésiám meam, et portæ inferi non prævalébunt advérsus eam. Et tibi dabo claves regni cælórum. Et quodcúmque ligáveris super terram, erit ligátum et in cælis: et quodcúmque sólveris super terram, erit solútum et in cælis.

Beloved: I make this appeal to the elders among you, I who am fellow elder and witness of the sufferings of Christ and sharer also in the glory that is to be revealed: shepherd the flock of God among you, watching over it not perforce, but willingly as God would have it; not in avarice, but generously; not lording it over your charges, but being examples for the flock.

Carissimi: Be<sup>at</sup>us vir, qui suffert tentationem: quoniam cum probatus fuerit, accipiet coronam vit<sup>e</sup>, quam repromisit Deus diligentibus se. Nemo cum tentatur, dicat, quoniam a Deo tentatur. Deus enim intentator malorum est: ipse autem neminem tentat. Unusquisque vero tentatur a concupiscentia sua abstractus, et illuctus. Deinde concupiscentia cum conceperit, parit peccatum: peccatum vero cum consummatum fuerit, generat mortem. Nolite itaque errare, fratres mei dilectissimi. Omne datum optimum, et omne donum perfectum desursum est, descendens a Patre lumine, apud quem non est transmutatio, nec vicissitudinis obumbratio. Voluntarie enim genuit nos verbo veritatis, ut simus initium aliquod creatur<sup>e</sup> eius.

Beloved: Happy is the man who holds out through the trial. Once his real worth has been proved, he will receive the crown of life that the Lord promised to those who love him. No one that is tempted must say, "I am being tempted by God." Surely the God who is quite beyond the grasp of evil tempts no one. Rather the tug and lure of his own passion tempts every man. Passion, once it has conceived, gives birth to sin; and sin, when it has reached maturity, finally generates death. Make no mistake about this, my beloved brothers. "Every good gift and every best favor" comes from above, comes down from the Father of the lights of the sky, who has never known change, who is never shadowed over. He has willed to bring us to birth with a revelation of truth, so that we might be a kind of first-fruits of his creatures.

At that time Jesus said to the crowds: "If anyone comes to me and does not hate his father and mother, and wife and children, and brothers and sisters, and even his own life, he cannot be my disciple. One who does not carry his cross and follow me cannot be my disciple. If one of you is thinking of building a tower, will he not first sit down and calculate the outlay to see if he has enough to complete the project? For fear that, if he lays the foundations and is not able to finish, all who see it will begin to laugh at him, saying: 'That is the man who began to build but could not finish.' Or if a king is about to march on another king to do battle with him, will he not sit down first and consider whether with ten thousand men he can encounter an enemy marching against him twenty thousand strong? If he cannot, he sends a delegation while the enemy is still at a distance, asking for terms of peace. So then, none of you who does not renounce all his possessions can be my disciple."

Wis. 10, 10–14

The Lord guided the just man
in direct ways,
Showed him the kingdom of God
and gave him knowledge of holy things;
He prospered him in his labors
and made abundant the fruit of his works, Stood by him against the greed of his defrauders,
and enriched him;
He preserved him from foes,
and secured him against ambush,
And he gave him the prize for his stern
struggle
that he might recognize that devotion to
God is mightier than all else.
He did not abandon the just man when he
was sold,
but delivered him from sin.
He went down with him into the dungeon,
and did not desert him in his bonds,
Until he brought him the scepter of royalty
and authority over his oppressors.
The Lord, our God showed him those who had defamed him false,
and gave him eternal glory.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 10, 34–42

At that time Jesus said to his disciples:
“Don’t imagine that my mission on earth is to spread peace. My mission is to spread division, not peace. For example, it is my mission to set a man at odds with his father, a daughter with her mother, a daughter-in-law with her mother-in-law. And a man’s own family will be his enemies. The person who loves father or mother more than me is unworthy of me; the person who loves son or daughter more than me is unworthy of me. The man who will not shoulder his cross and follow me is unworthy of me.
Whoever seeks himself, destroys himself;
but whoever destroys himself for my sake will find himself. The person who welcomes you, welcomes me, and if he welcomes me, he welcomes him who sent me.
The person who welcomes a prophet simply because he is a prophet, will receive a prophet’s reward; the person who welcomes a holy man simply because he is a holy man, will receive a holy man’s reward. Whoever gives so much as a drink of cold water to one of these little ones, simply because he is a disciple, will not, I assure you, lose his reward.”

Lectio Epistolæ beati Pauli
2 Tim. 2, 8–10; 3, 10–12

Beloved, remember what I preached: Jesus Christ, David's descendant, has been raised from the dead! Because of that preaching I suffer as a criminal, even to the point of being put into chains—but there is no chaining the word of God! So I put up with all this for the sake of those whom God has chosen, that they may obtain the salvation

Evangelium Nisi granum fruménti, ut in festo S. Laurentii Martyris, die 10 augusti.

And endurance must be total, so that you may be complete and perfect, lacking nothing. If any of you lacks wisdom let him ask it from God who gives to all generously and without scolding, and God will give it to him. But he must ask with complete confidence and without any doubting! The man who doubts is like the rolling sea, moved here and there by the wind. Such a one, hesitant and inconstant in all that he does, must not think that he will receive anything from the Lord. Let the lowly brother boast of his high station, and the rich man boast when he becomes poor. For the rich man will pass away like a flower that grows in the grass. The burning sun comes up and withers the grass; its flower wilts and its beauty is destroyed. Even so the rich man will fade away in all his pursuits. Happy the man who holds out through the trial. Once his real worth has been proved, he will receive the crown of life that the Lord promised to those who love him.

The souls of the just are in the hand of God,

But they are in peace.
For if before men, indeed, they be punished,

blessed
because God tried them
and found them worthy of himself.
As gold in the furnace, he proved them,

Luke 6, 17–23

At that time, coming down the mountain,
Jesus came to a halt on a level stretch with a great number of his disciples, and a large crowd of people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the coast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear him and to be cured of their diseases. Those who were troubled with unclean spirits were cured, and all in the crowd were trying to touch him, because power went out from him and cured all.
Then raising his eyes to his disciples he said:

“Happy are you poor, for yours is the kingdom of God.

Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews
Hebr. 10, 32–38

Brethren: Recall the days gone by, when, after you had been enlightened, you endured a great contest of suffering. At times you were publicly exposed to insult and trial; at times you associated yourselves with those who were treated in that way. And you even joined in the sufferings of those who were in prison, and joyfully accepted the confiscation of your goods, knowing that you had better and permanent possessions. Therefore, don't cast away your courage; it will have a great reward. You need patience so that you may do God's will and receive what he has promised. For, just "a brief moment, and he who is to come will come and will not delay. My just man will live because of his fidelity."

Therefore, everything you have said under cover of darkness will be heard in broad daylight, and what you have whispered in locked rooms will be proclaimed from the housetops. I tell you, my friends: Do not be afraid of those who kill the body, and can then do nothing further. I will show you whom you ought to fear: Fear him who has power to cast into hell after he has killed. Yes, I warn you, he is the one for you to fear. Are not five sparrows sold for two pennies? And yet not one of them is overlooked by God. Furthermore even the hairs of your head are all counted. Have no fear. You are worth more than a multitude of sparrows. Remain in me as I remain in you. Just as a branch cannot bear fruit by itself without remaining on the vine, so neither can you without remaining united to me. I am the vine; you are the branches. He who remains in me as I in him is the one who bears much fruit, for you can do nothing apart from me. If a man does not remain united to me, he is like a branch, cast off and withered, which they gather up and throw into the fire to be burned. If you remain united to me and my words remain a part of you, ask for whatever you want and you shall have it.”

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Peter the Apostle 1 Peter 1, 3-7

Praised be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. He, in his great mercy, gave us a new birth: a birth into a hope that draws its life from the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead; a birth into an imperishable estate—inviolable and unfading—that has been kept in heaven for us who are guarded with God's power through faith; a birth into a salvation that stands ready to be revealed in the last time. Here is cause for rejoicing. You may for the moment have to suffer distress in many a trial; but this is so that the genuineness of your faith, more precious than perishable and fire-tried gold, may prove a cause for praise, glory, and honor when Jesus Christ appears.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "I am the vine; you are the branches. He who remains in me as I in him is the one who bears much fruit, for you can do nothing apart from me. If a man does not remain united to me, he is like a branch, cast off and withered, which they gather up and throw into the fire to be burned. If you remain united to me and my words remain a part of you, ask for whatever you want and you shall have it. In this my Father has been glorified: in your bearing much fruit and becoming my disciples. As the Father has loved me, so have I loved you. Remain on in my love. And you will remain in my love if you keep my commandments, just as I have kept my Father's commandments and remain in his love. I have said all this to you that my joy may be with you and your joy may be complete."

Here is a great priest who pleased God in his lifetime and was found a just man, a peacemaker in time of wrath. He had no equal in keeping the Law of the Most High. For this reason God promised under oath to have him grow into a people of God. He set him as a blessing for all nations, and God's covenant rested upon him. He acknowledged him through blessings and showed him constant kindness. He found favor in the eyes of the Lord who made him great in the sight of kings and gave him a glorious crown. Matth. 25, 14–23

At that time Jesus told his disciples this parable: “A man was going on a journey. He called in his own slaves and handed his property over to them, according to each man’s abilities, giving one five thousand dollars, a second, two thousand, a third, a thousand. Then he went away. Immediately, the man who received the five thousand went and invested it, and made another five thousand. Similarly, the man who received the two thousand also made another two thousand. But the man who received the thousand went off, dug a hole in the ground, and buried his master’s money. A long time afterwards, the master of those slaves came home and settled accounts with them. Now the man who had received the five thousand stepped forward bringing the additional five thousand. ‘My lord,’ he said, you handed me five thousand dollars. See, I have made five thousand more.’ His master said to him, ‘Well done! You are an industrious and reliable slave. Since you were reliable in a small matter, I will put you in charge of greater affairs. Come, share your lord’s joy!’ The man who had received the two thousand dollars stepped forward and said, ‘My lord, you handed me two thousand dollars. See, I have made two thousand more.’ His master said to him, ‘Well done! You are an industrious and reliable slave. Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews

Brethren: There were many priests under the old covenant because they were prevented by death from remaining in office, but Jesus, because he remains forever, has a priesthood which does not pass away. Therefore, he is forever able to save those who approach God through him, since he always lives to make intercession for them. It was fitting that we should have such a high priest: holy, innocent, undefiled, separated from sinners, higher than the heavens themselves. Unlike the high priests, he does not have to offer sacrifice day by day, first for his own sins and then for those of the people—Jesus Christ our Lord did that once for all when he offered up himself.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 24, 42-47

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “Keep your eyes open, because you do not know the day on which your Lord is coming. But be sure of this: if the owner of the house knew what time the thief were coming, he would keep an eye open and would not allow his house to be broken into. So you too must be prepared, since the Son of Man is coming at a time you do not expect. Who, after all, is the faithful, farsighted slave whom his master has put in charge of his household to give them food at the proper time? Happy is that slave whom his master, on his return, discovers so engaged! I assure you, he will put him in charge of all his property.”

Brethren: Every high priest is taken from among men and appointed to act on behalf of men in their relations with God, to offer gifts and sacrifices for sin. He is able to deal gently with misguided sinners because he himself is subject to weakness, and so he must offer sacrifice not only for the peoples' sins but also for his own. No one takes this dignity on his own initiative but only when called by God, as Aaron was.

2 Tim. 4, 1–8

Beloved: Before God and before Jesus Christ who will judge the living and the dead, I charge you by his appearance and his kingdom: Preach the word, apply yourself to the task both when convenient and inconvenient, correct, rebuke, exhort with every kind of teaching and never lose patience. The time will come when men will not listen to sound teaching but, with ears itching, will pile up for themselves teachers who suit their pleasure. They will turn their hearing away from the truth to fables. As for yourself, be self-possessed in all circumstances, bear with evil, perform your work as preacher, fulfill your ministry. I am already being poured out like a libation, and my death is imminent. I have fought the good fight, I have run the race, I have kept faith. As for the future, a merited crown is reserved for me, and on that day the Lord, just judge that he is, will bestow it on me—and not only on me but on all who desire his appearance.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel according to Matthew Matth. 5, 13-19

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "You are the salt of the earth. Suppose salt becomes insipid; how can you restore its tang? Then it is good for nothing but to be thrown out, and trampled underfoot. You are the light of the world. A city on a mountain top cannot be concealed. Men do not light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket. They set it on a stand where it gives light to all in the house. In the same way, your light must shine before men so that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father. Don't think that I have come to abolish the Law and the Prophets. I have come, not to abolish them, but to bring them to perfection. I assure you of this: until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter, not even the smallest part of a letter, of the Law will be done away with, until it all comes true. Consequently, the man who breaks the least important of these commandments and teaches others to follow his example will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. It is the man who observes them and teaches them who will be called great in the kingdom of heaven."

Sic lúceat lux vestra coram homínibus, ut vídeant ópera vestra bona, et gloríficent Patrem vestrum, qui in cælis est. Nolíte putáre, quóniam veni sólvete legem, aut prophétas: non veni sólvete, sed adimplére. to petition the Most High,
To open his lips in prayer,
to ask pardon for his sins.
Then, if it pleases the Lord Almighty,
he will be filled with the spirit of under-

He will pour forth his words of wisdom
and in prayer give thanks to the Lord,
Who will direct his knowledge and his

learned
and glory in the Law of the Lord's cove-

Dear to God and men,
his memory is held in benediction.
God's honor devolved upon him,
and the Lord strengthened him with fearful powers;
God wrought swift miracles at his words
and sustained him in the king's presence.
He gave him the Commandments for his people,
and revealed to him his glory.
For his trustworthiness and meekness
God selected him from all mankind;
He permitted him to hear his voice,
and led him into the cloud,
Where, face to face, he gave him the Commandments,
the law of life and understanding.

Dilèctus Deo et hominibus, cuius memòria in benedictione est. Símilem illum fecit in glòria sanctorum, et magnificávit eum in timóre inimicòrum, et in verbis suis monstra placávit. Glorificávit illum in conspèctu regum, et iussit illi coram pòpulo suo, et osténdit illi glóriam suam. In fide et lenitate ipsius sanctum fecit illum, et elégit eum ex omni carne. At that time Jesus told his disciples this parable: "The kingdom of heaven will be comparable to ten virgins who took their torches and went out to welcome the bridegroom. Now five of them were foolish, and five, sensible. The foolish ones, in taking their torches, carried no oil along; but the sensible ones took flasks of oil, as well as their torches. As the bridegroom took his time, they all began to doze, and fell fast asleep. At midnight, someone shouted, 'Here is the bridegroom! Come out and welcome him.' Then all those virgins woke up, and got their torches ready. The foolish ones said to the sensible ones, 'Give us some of your oil; our torches are going out.' But the sensible ones replied, 'No, there may not be enough for both you and us. You had better go to the dealers and buy yourselves some.' While they went off to buy it, the bridegroom arrived, and the ones who were ready went into the wedding with him. Then the door was barred. Later on, the other virgins came back. 'Lord, lord!' they cried, 'Open the door for us.' But he answered, 'I assure you, I don't know you.' Therefore, keep your eyes open, because you do not know the exact day or hour."

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 13 44–52

At that time Jesus told his disciples this parable: “The kingdom of heaven is like hidden treasure which a man found in a field. He hid it again, and happy with his find, went and sold all he had and bought that field. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant’s search for fine pearls.
When he finally found one really valuable pearl, he went back and auctioned off all he had and bought it. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was thrown into the lake and collected all sorts of things.
When it was full, they hauled it ashore, and sat down to collect what was worthwhile in tubs. What was useless they threw away.
That is how it will be at the end of the world.
The angels will go out and separate the evil men from the saints, and hurl them into the fiery furnace where they will wail and gnash their teeth. Have you understood everything
I have said?” “Yes,” they said to him. Then

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel according to Matthew Matth. 19, 3–12

At that time some Pharisees came up to Jesus and as a test said to him, "Is it permissible for a man to divorce his wife for any reason whatever?" In reply he said, "Have you not read that the Creator at the beginning made them male and female, and declared, 'For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother, and shall cling to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh'? So they are no longer two but one flesh. Therefore man must not separate what God has joined together."

They said to him, "Then why did Moses command divorce and the serving of a decree of divorce?" "On account of your stubbornness," he replied, "Moses permitted you to divorce your wives. At the beginning, however, it was not that way. But now I warn you that whoever divorces his wife (except in an invalid marriage) and marries

Brethren: I have not received from the Lord any commandment about virgins, but I give my opinion as one who is trustworthy, thanks to the Lord’s mercy. I think, then, that because of the present distress virginity is good; yes, it is good for a person to live in this way. Are you bound to a wife? Don’t try to be free. Are you unmarried? Don’t go looking for a wife. However, if you do marry, you do not sin. And if a virgin marries, she commits no sin. But such people will have trials in the flesh; and I would like to spare you that. I tell you brothers, time is running out. From now on those with wives should live as though they had none, and those who weep as though they were not weeping, and those who rejoice as though they were not rejoicing, and those who buy as though they own nothing, and those who use the

Now five of them were foolish, and five, sensible. The foolish ones, in taking their torches, carried no oil along; but the sensible ones took flasks of oil, as well as their torches. As the bridegroom took his time, they all began to doze, and fell fast asleep. At midnight, someone shouted, ‘Here is the bridegroom! The foolish ones said to the sensible ones, ‘Give us some of your oil; our torches are going out.’ But the sensible ones replied, ‘No, there may not be enough for both you and us. You had better go to the dealers and buy yourselves some.’ While they went off to buy it, the bridegroom arrived, and the ones who were ready went into the wedding with him. Then the door was barred. Later on, the other virgins came back. ‘Lord, lord!’ they cried, ‘Open the door for us.’ But he answered, ‘I assure you, I don’t know you.’ Therefore, keep your eyes open, because you do not know the exact day or hour.”

Quinque autem ex eis erant fátuæ, et quinque prudéntes: sed quinque fátuæ, accéptis lampádibus, non sumpsérunt óleum secum: prudéntes vero acceperunt óleum in vasis suis cum lampádibus. Moram autem faciénte sponso, dormitavérunt omnes, et dormiérunt. Média autem nocte clamor factus est: Ecce sponsus venit, exíte óbviám ei. Tunc sur-réxérunt omnes vírgines illæ, et ornavérunt lámpades suas. Fátuæ autem sapiéntibus dixérunt: Date nobis de óleo vestro: quia lámpades nostræ exstinguúntur. Respondérunt prudéntes, dicéntes: Ne forte non suffíciat nobis, et vobis, ite pótius ad vendéntes, et émite vobis. Dum autem irent émere, venit sponsus: et quæ parátæ erant, intravérunt cum eo ad núptias, et clausa est iánua. Novíssime vero véniunt et réliquæ vírgines, dicéntes: Dómine, Dómine, áperi nobis. At ille respóndens, ait: Amen dico vobis, nésccio vos. Vigiláte itaque, quia nescitis diem, neque horam.

Afferéntur Regi vírgines post eam: próximæ eius afferéntur tibi in lætítia, et exsultatióne: adducéntur in templum Regi Dómino. (T. P. Allelúia.)

A Reading from the Book of Sirach
Eccli. 51, 1-8, 12

Léctio libri Sapiéntiæ
Eccli. 51, 1-8 et 12

I give you thanks, O God of my father;
I praise you, O God my savior!
I will make known your name, refuge of my life;
you have been my helper against my adversaries.
You have saved me from death,
and kept back my body from the pit,
From the clutches of the nether world you
have snatched my feet;
you have delivered me, in your great
mercy
From the scourge of a slanderous tongue,
and from lips that went over to falsehood;
From the snare of those who watched for my downfall,
and from the power of those who sought
my life;
From many a danger you have saved me,
from flames that hemmed me in on every
side;
From the midst of unremitting fire,
from the deep belly of the nether world;
From deceiving lips and painters of lies,
from the unjust king and the arrows of
dishonest tongues.
Till I die my soul will praise you, O Lord;
because you rescue those who trust in you,

Confitébor tibi, Dómine Rex, et collaudábo te Deum salvatórem meum. Confitébor nómini tuo: quóniam adiutor, et protéctor factus es mihi, et liberásti corpus meum a perditióné, a láqueo linguæ iníquæ, et a lábiis operántium mendácium, et in conspéctu astántium factus es mihi adiutor. A Reading from the Book of Proverbs
Prov. 31, 10–31

When one finds a worthy wife,
her value is far beyond pearls.
Her husband, entrusting his heart to her,
has an unfailing prize.
She brings him good, and not evil,
all the days of her life.
She obtains wool and flax
and makes cloth with skillful hands.
Like merchant ships,
she secures her provisions from afar.
She rises while it is still night,
and distributes food to her household.
She picks out a field to purchase;
out of her earnings she plants a vineyard.
She is girt about with strength,
and sturdy are her arms.
She enjoys the success of her dealings;
at night her lamp is undimmed.
She puts her hands to the distaff,
and her fingers ply the spindle.
She reaches out her hands to the poor,
and extends her arms to the needy.
She fears not the snow for her household;
all her charges are doubly clothed.
She makes her own coverlets;
fine linen and purple are her clothing.
Her husband is prominent at the city gates
as he sits with the elders of the land.
She makes garments and sells them,
and stocks the merchants with belts.
She is clothed with strength and dignity,
and she laughs at the days to come.
She opens her mouth in wisdom,
and on her tongue is kindly counsel.
She watches the conduct of her household,
and eats not her food in idleness.
Her children rise up and praise her;
her husband, too, extols her:
“Many are the women of proven worth,
but you have excelled them all.”
Charm is deceptive and beauty fleeting;
the woman who fears the Lord is to be praised.

The Dedication of a Church

Item alia Epistola pro Vidua:

Léctio Epístolæ beáti Pauli
Apóstoli ad Timótheum
1 Tim. 5, 3–10

Caríssime: Víduas honóra, quæ vere víduæ sunt. Si qua autem vídua filios aut nepótes habet: díscat primum domum suam régere, et mútuam vicem réddere paréntibus: hoc enim accéptum est coram Deo. Quæ autem vere vídua est, et desoláta, speret in Deum, et instet obsecratióibus, et oratióibus nocte, ac die. Nam quæ in delíciis est, vivens mórtua est. Et hoc prácipe ut irreprensíbiles sint. Si quis autem suórum, et máxime domesticórum curam non habet, fidem negávit, et est infidéli detérior. Vídua eligátur non minus sexagínta annórum, quæ fúerit uníus viri uxor, in opéribus bonis testimónium habens, si filios educávit, si hospítio recépit, si sanctórum pedes lavit, si tribulatióem patiéntibus subministrávit, si omne opus bonum subsecúta est.

Another Epistle for a Widow:

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to Timothy
1 Tim. 5, 3–10

Beloved: Honor widows who are really such. Of course, if they have children or grandchildren these must learn, in the first place, to show piety to their own families and make a due repayment to those who brought them up. That is acceptable before God. The woman who is a real widow and has been left quite alone has set her hopes on God and is continually at prayer, night and day. But a widow who is sexually indulgent has died, even while living. Command widows to be irreproachable. If anyone does not provide for his own relatives, especially those who are of his household, he has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever. No one should be put on the list of widows unless she is at least sixty years old and has been married only once. She must also be a woman to whom noble deeds bear testimony—the testimony, namely, that she has cared for her children, shown hospitality, washed the feet of the saints, helped those in distress, and been intent on every kind of good work.

2 Prayer

O God, you invisibly uphold all creation and for the salvation of mankind you manifest your might with visible signs.* Let this church reflect the power of your presence, and comfort and bless those who gather here to seek your mercy in their tribulations. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Book of the Apocalypse Apoc. 21, 2-5

In those days: I saw the holy city, the new Jerusalem, come down out of heaven from God, made ready like a bride who had beautified herself to meet her husband. And I heard a mighty voice from the throne: "See how God dwells with men," it said, "he shall dwell with them, and they shall be his people; yes, God himself shall be with them. Every tear he shall wipe from their eyes, for death shall be no more, neither shall there be mourning or wailing, or suffering, because the former things have passed away." And the One seated on the throne said: "See, I am making all things new."

Gradual This place was made by God, a priceless mystery; it is without reproof. ℣.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 19, 1–10

At that time Jesus entered Jericho and was proceeding through the city. In it there was a man named Zachaeus; he was chief tax collector and a wealthy person. He was trying to see what Jesus was like, but was unable because of the crowd, for he was small in stature.

So he ran on in front and climbed a sycamore tree that he might see him, for that was along his route.

Jesus, when he came to the place, looked up and said to him, "Zachaeus, hurry and come down. For today I must stay at your house."

He hurried down and welcomed him, delighted. When they saw this thing all murmured saying, "He has entered the house of a sinner as a guest." Zachaeus came to a standstill and said to the Lord,

At that time the angel Gabriel was sent from God to a town of Galilee named Nazareth, to a virgin engaged to a man named Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary. The angel arrived and said to her: "Hail, full of grace; the Lord is with you. Blessed are you among women."

But she was troubled by this message, and wondered what this salutation meant. Then the angel said to her: "Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God. And now, you shall conceive and bear a son, and you shall name him Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called Son of the Most High; the Lord God will give him the throne of David, his father, and he will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and his reign will have no end."

But Mary said to the angel: "How can this be, because I do not know man?"

Mary said: “Behold the handmaid of the Lord; be it done to me according to your word.”

Offertory Antiphon Luke 1, 28 and 42

Ave, María, grátia plena: Dóminus tecum: benedicta tu in muliéribus, et benedictus fructus ventris tui.

Hail, Mary, full of grace, the Lord is with you; blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb.

Prayer over the Gifts

In méntibus nostris, quáesumus, Dómine, veræ fidei sacraménta confírma: ut, qui concéptum de Vírgine Deum verum et hóminem confitémur; per eius salutíferæ resurrectiõnis poténtiam, ad ætérnam mereámur pervenire lætítiam. Per eúndem Dóminum.

O Lord, fix deeply in our minds the mysteries of the true faith. We profess that your Son, who was conceived of the Virgin, is true God and true man.* May his life-giving resurrection bring us the reward of eternal life. Through Jesus Christ.

Præfatio de B. Maria Virg. Et te in Veneratióne.

Preface of the Blessed Virgin Mary (as we venerate)

Communion Antiphon Isai. 7, 14

Ecce virgo concípíet, et páriet fílium:
et vocábitur nomen eius Emmánuel.

Behold, a virgin shall be with child and bear a son, and shall name him Emmanuel.

Prayer after Communion

Grátiam tuam, quáesumus, Dómine, méntibus nostris infúnde: ut qui, Angelo nuntiánte, Christi Fílii tui incarnatiónem cognóvimus; per passiónem eius et crucem, ad resurrectiõnis glóriam perducámur. Per eúndem Dóminum.

O Lord, it was through the message of an angel that we learned of the incarnation of your Son Christ.* Pour your grace into our hearts and by his passion and cross bring us to the glory of his resurrection. Through Jesus Christ.

The Gloria is said on Saturday.

Prayer

O God, it was through the motherhood of the blessed virgin Mary that you bestowed the gift of eternal life upon mankind.* Grant that we may feel the powerful intercession of Mary, through whom we were privileged to receive the giver of life, Jesus Christ, your Son, our Lord: Who lives and reigns.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Paul the Apostle to Titus Tit. 3, 4–7

Beloved: When the kindness of God our Savior and his love for men appeared, he saved us through the bath which gives rebirth and renewal in the Holy Spirit—not because of any just deeds we had done, but out of his mercy. Through Jesus Christ our Savior he poured the Spirit out on us abundantly, so that, once justified by his favor, we might become heirs, in hope, of eternal life: through Christ Jesus, our Lord.

Gradual Ps. 44, 3 Fairer in beauty are you than the sons of men; grace is poured out upon your lips. ℟. Ibid., 2 My heart overflows with a goodly theme, as I sing my ode to the king, my tongue is nimble as the pen of a skillful scribe.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℟. After childbirth, you still remained an inviolate virgin: O Mother of God, intercede for us. Alleluia.

After Septuagesima, the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

gines post eam: próximæ eius adducéntur tibi in lætítia et exsultatióne. Ps. ibid., 2 Eructávit cor meum verbum bonum: dico ego ópera mea Regi. ℟. Glória Patri. Vultum.

Et in sabbato dicitur Glória in excélsis.

In illo témpore: Pastóres loquebántur ad ínvicem: Transeámus usque Bétlehem, et videámus hoc verbum, quod factum est, quod Dóminus osténdit nobis. Et venérunt festinántes: et invenérunt Mariám, et Ioseph, et infántem pósito in præsepío. Vidéntes autem cognóverunt de verbo, quod dictum erat illis de púero hoc. Et omnes, qui audiérunt, miráti sunt: et de his, quæ dicta erant a pastóribus ad ipsos. María autem conservábat ómnia verba hæc, cónferens in corde suo. Et revérsi sunt pastóres glorificántes, et laudántes Deum in ómnibus, quæ audierant, et víderant, sicut dictum est ad illos.

Felix namque es, sacra Virgo María, et omni laude digníssima: quia ex te ortus est sol iustítiae, Christus, Deus noster.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 2, 15–20

At that time the shepherds said one to another, "Let us go across to Bethlehem and see this thing which has taken place, which the Lord has made known to us." And they came in haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the infant lying in the crib. And when they had seen they made known what had been told them concerning this child. And all who heard were amazed at what was told them by the shepherds. But Mary treasured all these things, turning them over in her heart.

And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all that they had heard and seen, just as they had been told.

Offertory Antiphon

Fratres: Gaudete, perfecti estote, exhortamini, idem sapite, pacem habete, et Deus pacis et dilectionis erit vobiscum. Grátia Dómini nostri Iesu Christi, et caritas Dei, et comunicatio Sancti Spíritus sit cum omnibus vobis. Amen.

Brethren: Now I must say goodbye. Mend your ways, encourage one another, live in harmony, be at peace, and the God of love and peace will be with you. The favor of the Lord Jesus Christ and the love of God and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with all of you!

Votive Mass of the Holy Trinity

Gradual Dan. 3, 55–56 Blessed are you, O Lord, who look into the depths from your throne upon the cherubim. ℣. Blessed are you, O Lord, in the firmament of heaven, and praiseworthy forever.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ibid., 52 Blessed are you, O Lord, the God of our fathers, and praiseworthy forever. Alleluia.

After Septuagesima, the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

Tract With all our hearts we confess you, we praise you, we bless you, God the Father unbegotten, the only-begotten Son, the Holy Spirit, the Consoler, holy and undivided Trinity. ℣. For you are great and do wonderful things; you alone are God. ℣. To you be praise, to you glory, to you thanksgiving for eternal ages, O blessed Trinity.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Dan. 3, 52 Blessed are you, O Lord, the God of our fathers, and praiseworthy forever. Alleluia. ℣. Let us bless the Father and the Son with the Holy Spirit. Alleluia.

Lectio libri Apocalýpsis beáti Ioánnis Apóstoli Apoc. 5, 11-14

In those days: I heard the cry of many angels around the throne, as well as of the living creatures and the elders. They numbered countless myriads, thousands upon thousands, and with mighty voice they acclaimed: "Worthy is the Lamb that was immolated to receive power, riches, wisdom, strength, honor, glory, and praise." Then I heard every creature that is in heaven, on earth, or under the earth, or upon the sea, yes, everything in the universe, singing: "To the One who is seated upon the throne and to the Lamb, praise, honor, glory, and dominion forever and ever." Finally the four living creatures answered, "Amen," while the elders fell down and worshiped him who lives forever and ever.

In diébus illis: Audívi vocem Angelórum multórum in circúitu throni, et animálium, et seniórum: et erat númerus eórum míllia míllium, dicéntium voce magna: Dignus est Agnus, qui occísus est, accíperé virtútem, et divinitátem, et sapiéntiam, et fortitúdinem, et honórem, et glóriam, et benedictiónem. Et omnem creatúram, quæ in cælo est, et super terram, et sub terra, et quæ sunt in mari, et quæ in eo: omnes audívi dicétes: Sedénti in throno, et Agno: benedíctio, et honor, et glória, et potéstas in sæcula sæculórum. Et quátuor animália dicébant: Amen. Et vigintiquátuor senióres cecidérunt in fácies suas: et adoráverunt vivéntem in sæcula sæculórum.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 1, 47-51

At that time, when Jesus saw Nathanael coming toward him, he observed, "Here is a genuine Israelite; there is no guile in him." "How do you know me?" Nathanael asked him, "Before Philip called you," Jesus answered, "I saw you under the fig tree." Nathanael replied, "Rabbi, you are the Son of God; you are King of Israel." Jesus answered, "You believe, do you, just because I told you that I saw you under the fig tree? You will see far greater things than that." And he told him, "Truly, I assure all of you, you will see the sky opened and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of Man."

Offertory Antiphon

the blessings of the breasts and womb;
The blessings of your father surpass the blessings of my forebears to the limit of the timeless hills.
May they rest on the head of Joseph, and on the brow of the prince among his brothers.

Gradual Ps. 20, 4-5 O Lord, you welcomed him with goodly blessings, you placed on his head a crown of pure gold. V. He asked life of you: you gave him length of days forever and ever.

Alleluia, alleluia. V. Make us lead, O Joseph, an innocent life; and may it ever be safe under your patronage. Alleluia.

After Septuagesima, the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

Tract Ps. 111, 1-3 Happy the man who fears the Lord, who greatly delights in his commands. V. His posterity shall be mighty upon the earth; the upright generation shall be blessed. V. Wealth and riches shall be in his house; his generosity shall endure forever.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

used to meet in Solomon's Portico. No one else dared to join them, even though the people held them in great esteem. Nevertheless more and more believers, men and women in great numbers, were continually added to the Lord. As a result, the people would even carry the sick out into the streets and lay them on cots and mattresses so that, when Peter passed by, his shadow might at least fall on one or other of them. Then, too, crowds from the towns around Jerusalem would gather, bringing their sick and those who were troubled by unclean spirits. And they were all cured.

Iesum: Ecce nos reliquimus omnia, et secuti sumus te: quid ergo erit nobis? Iesus autem dixit illis: Amen dico vobis, quod vos, qui secuti estis me, in regeneratione, cum sederit Filius hominis in sede maiestatis suae, sedebitis et vos super sedes duodecim, iudicantes duodecim tribus Israel. Et omnis, qui reliquerit domum, vel fratres, aut sorores, aut patrem, aut matrem, aut uxorem, aut filios, aut agros, propter nomen meum, centuplum accipiet, et vitam aeternam possidebit.

In omnem terram exivit sonus eorum: et in fines orbis terrae verba eorum.

Tempore autem paschali dicitur sequens:

Confitebuntur caeli mirabilia tua, Domine: et veritatem tuam in ecclesia sanctorum, alleluia, alleluia.

Offeimus tibi, Domine, preces et munera: quae ut tuo sint digna conspectu, Apostolorum tuorum Petri et Pauli precibus adiuvemur. Per Dominum.

Præfatio de Apostolis.

Vos, qui secuti estis me, sedebitis super sedes, iudicantes duodecim tribus Israel.

Tempore autem paschali dicitur sequens:

Lætabitur iustus in Domino, et sperabit in eo: et laudabuntur omnes recti corde, alleluia, alleluia.

Jesus, "Look, we have given up everything and have followed you. What are we going to possess?" Jesus said to them, "I assure you, in the new age, when the Son of Man takes his seat upon a throne befitting his glory, you who have followed me will also take your places on twelve thrones to judge the twelve tribes of of Israel. Moreover, everyone who has given up home, brothers or sisters, father or mother, wife or children or property for my sake, will receive many times as much, and will inherit eternal life."

For one apostle
Prayer

O Lord, we humbly implore your divine majesty to give us for our perpetual intercessor in heaven the blessed apostle N.,* who was so outstanding a preacher and ruler in your Church. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Ephesians
Ephes. 4, 7-13

Brethren: Favor has been given to each one of us in the measure in which Christ bestows it. So the Scripture says, "When he ascended on high, he took a host of captives, and gave gifts to men."

"He ascended"—what does this mean, but that he had first descended into the low regions of the earth? He who descended is also the very one who ascended high above all the heavens, that he might fill all. And "he gave" some men as apostles, and some as prophets, and others again as evangelists, and others as pastors and teachers, thus fitting the saints for the work of the ministry, for building up the body of Christ until we all become one in faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God, and form that perfect man who is Christ come to full stature.

Gradual Ps. 44, 17 and 18 You shall make them princes through all the land; they shall remember your name, O Lord. Ps. 138, 17 The place of your fathers your sons shall have; therefore shall nations praise you.

Alleluia, alleluia. Ps. 138, 17 Your friends, O God, are made exceedingly honorable; their principality is exceedingly strengthened. Alleluia.

THURSDAY

MASS OF THE HOLY SPIRIT

Entrance Antiphon

Wis. 1, 7

The spirit of the Lord fills the world, is all-embracing, and knows man's utterance. (P. T. Alleluia, alleluia.) Ps. 67, 2 God arises; his enemies are scattered, and those who hate him flee before him. V. Glory be to the Father. The spirit.

Spiritus Dómini replévit orbem terrárum: et hoc, quod cóninet ómnia, sciéntiam habet vocis. (T. P. Allelúia, allelúia.) Ps. 67, 2 Exsúrgat Deus, et dissipéntur inimíci eius: et fúgiant, qui odérunt eum, a fácie eius. V. Glória Patri. Spíritus.

Prayer

O God, you have instructed the hearts of the faithful by the light of the Holy Spirit.* Grant that through the same Holy Spirit we may always be truly wise and rejoice in his consolation. Through Jesus Christ.

Deus, qui corda fidélium Sancti Spíritus illustratióne docuísti: da nobis in eódem Spíritu recta sápere; et de eius semper consolatióne gaudére. Per Dóminum . . . in unitáte eiúsdem.

For seeking the grace of the Holy Spirit

Ad postulandam gratiam Spiritus Sancti

Prayer

O God, all hearts are open to you and every wish and secret is known.* Cleanse our thoughts by the inpouring of the Holy Spirit and grant us the grace to love you perfectly and praise you worthily. Through Jesus Christ.

Deus, cui omne cor patet, et omnis volúntas lóquitur, et quem nullum latet secrétum: purífica per infusió-nem Sancti Spíritus cogitatiónes cordis nostri; ut te perfécte diligere, et digne laudáre mereámur. Per Dó-minum . . . in unitáte eiúsdem.

A Reading from the Acts of the Apostles

Acts 8, 14-17

In those days, when the apostles in Jerusalem heard that Samaria had accepted God's message, they sent Peter and John who went down to the Samaritans and prayed that they might receive the Holy Spirit. For it had not yet fallen on any of them; they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. Then the two laid hands on them and they received the holy Spirit.

*Léctio Actuum Apostolorum
Act. 8, 14-17*

In diébus illis: Cum audíssent Apóstoli, qui erant Ierosólymis, quod recepíssent Samaría verbum Dei, miserunt ad eos Petrum et Ioánnem. Qui cum veníssent, oravérunt pro ipsis ut accíperent Spíritum Sanctum: nondum enim in quemquam illórum vénerat, sed baptizáti tantum erant in nómine Dómini Iesu. Tunc imponébant manus super illos et accipiébant Spíritum Sanctum.

After Septuagesima, the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

Tract Ps. 103, 30 Send forth your spirit, and they shall be created; and you shall renew the face of the earth. ℣. O Lord how, good and sweet is your spirit within us! ℣. Come, O Holy Spirit, fill the hearts of your faithful; and kindle in them the fire of your love.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ps. 103, 30 Send forth your spirit, and they shall be created; and you shall renew the face of the earth. Alleluia. ℣. Come, O Holy Spirit, fill the hearts of your faithful; and kindle in them the fire of your love. Alleluia.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 14, 23–31

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “If anyone loves me, he will keep my word. Then my Father will love him, and we shall come to him and make our dwelling-place with him. Whoever does not love me does not keep my words; yet the word that you hear is not my own but comes from the Father who sent me. All this have I spoken to you during my stay with you. But the Paraclete, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you everything and remind you of all that I told you myself.

“‘Peace’ is my farewell to you. My ‘peace’ is my gift to you, and I do not give it to you as the world gives it. Do not let your hearts be troubled or fearful. You have heard me say to you, 'I am going away,' and 'I am coming back to you.' If you loved me, you would rejoice to have me go to the Father, for the Father is greater than I. But I have told you this now even before it happens so that, when it does happen, you may believe. I shall no longer speak at length with you, for the Prince of the world is coming. Actually, he has no hold on me; but the world must recognize that I love the Father and that I do exactly as the Father has commanded me."

Communion Antiphon

Act. 2, 2 and 4

Suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a violent wind blowing, where they were sitting, and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit, speaking of the wonderful works of God, alleluia.

Audistis quia ego dixi vobis: Vado, et venio ad vos. Si diligeretis me, gauderetis utique, quia vado ad Patrem: quia Pater maior me est. Et nunc dixi vobis priusquam fiat: ut cum factum fuerit, credatis. Iam non multa loquar vobiscum. Venit enim princeps mundi huius, et in me non habet quidquam. Sed ut cognoscat mundus, quia diligo Patrem, et sicut mandatum dedit mihi Pater, sic facio.

Confirma hoc, Deus, quod operatus es in nobis: a templo tuo, quod est in Ierusalem, tibi offerent reges munera, alleluia.

and said: "This is my body which is for you. Do this as a remembrance of me." In the same way, after the supper, he took the cup, saying: "This cup is the new covenant in my blood. Do this, whenever you drink it, as a remembrance of me." Every time, then, that you eat this bread and drink this cup, you proclaim the death of the Lord, until he comes. So, whoever eats the bread or drinks the cup of the Lord unworthily will have to answer for the body and the blood of the Lord. A man should first examine himself. Only then should he eat of the bread and drink of the cup. For he who eats and drinks without recognizing the body, eats and drinks a judgment against himself.

Gradual Ps. 144, 15-16 The eyes of all look hopefully to you, O Lord; and you give them their food in due season. Ps. You open your hand; and satisfy the desire of every living thing.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 6, 56–59

At that time Jesus said to the crowds of the Jews: “My flesh is real food, and my blood, real drink. The man who feeds on my flesh and drinks my blood abides in me and I in him. Just as the Father who has life sent me and I have life because of the Father, so the man who feeds on me will have life because of me. This is the bread which came down from heaven. Unlike your ancestors who ate and yet died, the man who feeds on this bread will live forever.”

Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews
Hebr. 5, 1-11

Lectio Epistolæ beáti Pauli
Apóstoli ad Hebræos
Hebr. 5, 1-11

Brethren: Every high priest is taken from among men and appointed to act on behalf of men in their relations with God, to offer gifts and sacrifices for sin. He is able to deal gently with misguided sinners because he himself is subject to weakness, and so he must offer sacrifice not only for the peoples' sins but also for his own. No one takes this dignity on his own initiative but only when called by God, as Aaron was. So even Christ did not glorify himself with the high priestly office; he received it from him who said to him, “You are my son; this day I have begotten you”; just as it says in another place, “You are a priest forever, according to the order of Melchisedec.” In the days when he was in the flesh, with loud cries and tears

Lectio Zachariæ Prophætæ Zach. 12, 10-11; 13, 6-7

Thus says the Lord: I will pour out on the house of David and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit of grace and petition; and they shall look on him whom they have thrust through, and they shall mourn for him as one mourns for an only son, and they shall grieve over him as one grieves over a first-born.

Hæc dicit Dóminus: Effúdam super domum David, et super habitatores Ierúsalem spíritum grátia et precum: et aspicient ad me, quem confixerunt: et plangent eum planctu quasi super unigénitum, et dolébunt super eum, ut doléri solet in morte primogéniti. In die illa magnus erit planctus in Ierúsalem, et dicétur: Quid sunt plagæ istæ in médio mánuum tuárum? Et dicet: His plagátus sum in domo eórum, qui diligébant me. Frámea suscitáre super pastórem meum, et super virum cohærentem mihi, dicit Dóminus exercítuum: percute pastórem, et dispergéntur oves: ait Dóminus omnípotens.

On that day the mourning in Jerusalem shall be great.

And if anyone asks him, "What are these wounds on your chest?" he shall answer, "With these I was wounded in the house of my dear ones."

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 19, 28–35

At that time Jesus was aware that all was now finished; in order to bring the Scripture to its accomplishment, he said, "I am thirsty." There was a jar there full of cheap wine. They stuck a sponge soaked in this wine on some hyssop and raised it to his lips. When Jesus took the wine, he said, "It is finished"; and bowing his head, he handed over the spirit. Since it was Preparation Day, the Jews did not want the bodies left on the cross during the Sabbath, for that Sabbath was a solemn feast day. So they asked Pilate to have the legs broken and the bodies taken down. Accordingly, the soldiers came and broke the legs of the men crucified with Jesus, first of the one, then of the other. But when they came to Jesus and saw that he was already dead, they did not break his legs. However, one of the soldiers jabbed his side with a lance and immediately blood and water flowed out. (This testimony has been given by an eyewitness, and his testimony is true.)

Votive Mass of the Sacred Heart

Offertory Antiphon

Wicked men rose up against me; pitilessly they sought to slay me without mercy; and they did not spare to spit in my face; with lances they wounded me, and all my bones are shaken. (P. T. Alleluia.)

Insurrexerunt in me viri iniqui: absque misericordia quasi erunt me interficere: et non pepercerunt in faciem meam spuere: lanceis suis vulneraverunt me, et concussa sunt omnia ossa mea. (T. P. Alleluia.)

Prayer over the Gifts

May the sacrifice we offer you, O Lord,* bring us new life and keep us safe through the passion of your only-begotten Son: Who lives and reigns.

Oblatum tibi, Domine, sacrificium, intercedente unigeniti Filii tui passione, vivificet nos semper, et muniat: Qui tecum.

Communion Antiphon

Ps. 21, 17-18

They have pierced my hands and my feet: they have numbered all my bones. (P. T. Alleluia.)

Foderunt manus meas, et pedes meos: dinumeraverunt omnia ossa mea. (T. P. Alleluia.)

Prayer after Communion

O Lord Jesus Christ, Son of the living God, at the sixth hour you ascended the gibbet of the cross to redeem the world, and shed your precious blood for the remission of our sins.* Grant that at our death we may enter with joy through the gates of heaven: You who live and reign.

Domine Iesu Christe, Fili Dei vivi, qui hora sexta pro redemptione mundi Crucis patibulum ascendisti, et sanguinem tuum pretiosum in remissionem peccatorum nostrorum fudisti: te humiliter deprecamur ut post obitum nostrum paradisi ianuas nos gaudenter introire concedas: Qui vivis.

Apóstoli ad Ephésios
Ephes. 3, 8-12; 14-19

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Ephesians
Ephes. 3, 8-12; 14-19

Fratres: Mihi ómnium sanctórum mínimo data est grátia hæc, in géntibus evangelizáre investigábiles divítias Christi: et illumináre omnes, quæ sit dispensátio sacraménti abscondíti a sæculis in Deo qui ómnia creávit: ut innotéscat principátibus et potestátibus in cæléstibus per Ecclesiám multifórmis sapiéntia Dei: secúndum præfinitiónem sæculórum quam fecit in Christo Iesu Dómino nostro, in quo habémus fidúciam et accéssum in confidéntia per fidem eius. Huius rei grátia flecto génua mea ad Patrem Dómini nostri Iesu Christi, ex quo omnis patérnitas in cælis et in terra nominátur: ut det vobis secúndum divítias glóriæ suæ, virtúte corroborári per Spíritum eius in interiorem hóminem: Christum habitáre per fidem in córdibus vestris: in caritate radicáti et fundáti: ut possítis comprehéndere, cum ómnibus sanctis, quæ sit latitúdo, et longitúdo, et sublímitas, et profúndum: scire étiam supereminéntem sciéntiæ caritátem Christi, ut impleámini in omnem plenitúdinem Dei.

Brethren: To me, less than least of all the saints, this favor was given, to preach to the Gentiles the unfathomable riches of Christ, and to enlighten all men on the working out of the mystery which for ages was hidden in God, the creator of all things, so that now through the Church the manifold wisdom of God might become known to the Principalities and Powers of heaven, in fulfillment of the eternal decree which he carried out in Christ Jesus our Lord. In him and through faith in him we can speak freely to God and draw near to him with confidence. For this reason I kneel before the Father from whom every family in heaven and on earth takes its name; and I pray that he will bestow on you gifts corresponding to the richness of his glory. May he strengthen your inner selves with power through his Spirit. May Christ dwell in your hearts through faith; and may love be the root and foundation of your life. Thus you will be able to grasp fully with all the saints the breadth and length and height and depth, and to know that the love of Christ surpasses all knowledge, so that you will be filled with all the fullness of God.

et sacrificia pro peccatis: qui condolere possit iis, qui ignorant, et errant: quoniam et ipse circumdatus est infirmitate: et propterea debet, quemadmodum pro populo, ita etiam et pro semetipso offerre pro peccatis. Nec quisquam sumit sibi honorem, sed qui vocatur a Deo, tamquam Aaron. Sic et Christus non semetipsum clarificavit, ut pontifex fieret, sed qui locutus est ad eum: Filius meus es tu, ego hodie genui te. Quemadmodum et in alio loco dicit: Tu es sacerdos in aeternum, secundum ordinem Melchisedech. Qui in diebus carnis suae preces, supplicationesque ad eum, qui possit illum salvum facere a morte, cum clamore valido et lacrimis offerens, exauditus est pro sua reverentia.

gifts and sacrifices for sin. He is able to deal gently with misguided sinners because he himself is subject to weakness, and so he must offer sacrifice not only for the peoples' sins but also for his own. No one takes this dignity on his own initiative but only when called by God, as Aaron was. So even Christ did not glorify himself with the high priestly office; he received it from him who said to him, "You are my son; this day I have begotten you"; just as it says in another place, "You are a priest forever, according to the order of Melchisedec." In the days when he was in the flesh, with loud cries and tears he offered prayers and supplications to him who was able to save him from death, and was heard because of his reverence.

Gradual Levit. 21, 10 The high priest, the most exalted among his brethren, upon whose head the anointing oil has been poured, and whose hands have been consecrated for the priesthood, and who has been vested with the holy vestments: it was right that he should in all things be made like to his brethren. Ps. Heb. 2, 17 That he might become a merciful and faithful high priest before God to expiate the sins of the people. Alleluia, alleluia. Ps. Levit. 21, 8 Let the priest be holy, as I also am holy, the Lord who sanctify you.

Tract Ps. 131, 8-10 Advance, O Lord, to your resting place, you and the ark of your majesty. Ps. May your priests be clothed with justice; let your faithful ones shout merrily for joy. Ps. For the sake of David your servant, reject not the plea of your anointed.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "If you love me and keep my commandments, then at my request the Father will give you another Paraclete to be with you forever—the Spirit of truth. The world cannot accept him because it neither sees nor recognizes him; but you can recognize him because he remains with you and he will be within you. I shall not leave you orphans: I am coming back to you. There is just a little while before the world loses sight of me; but you can see me because I have life and you will have life. On that day you yourselves will recognize that I am in my Father, and you are in me, and I in you. Whoever keeps the commandments that he has from me is the man who loves me; and the man who loves me will be loved by my Father, and I shall love him and reveal myself to him."

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Peter the Apostle 1 Peter 1, 1–7

It is Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ, who writes to those who live as strangers scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia; to men chosen according to the plan of God the Father, by a consecration of the Spirit, for obedience to Jesus Christ, for a sprinkling with his blood. May favor and peace be yours in abundance. Praised be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. He, in his great mercy, gave us a new birth: a birth into a hope that draws its life from the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead; a birth into an imperishable estate—inviolable and unfading—that has been kept in heaven for us who are guarded with God's power through faith; a birth into a salvation that stands ready to be revealed in the last time. Here is cause for rejoicing. You may for the moment have to suffer distress in many a trial; but this is so that the genuineness of your faith, more precious than perishable and fire-tried gold, may prove a cause for praise, glory, and honor when Jesus Christ appears.

Lectio Epistolae beati Petri Apóstoli 1 Petr. 1, 1–7

Petrus Apóstolus Iesu Christi, eléctis ádvenis dispersiónis Ponti, Galátiae, Cappadóciae, Asiae, et Bithyniae, secúndum praesciéntiam Dei Patris, in sanctificatióem Spíritus, in obediéntiam, et aspersionem ságuinis Iesu Christi: grátia vobis, et pax multiplicétur. Benedictus Deus, et Pater Dómini nostri Iesu Christi, qui secúndum misericórdiam suam magnam regenerávit nos in spem vivam, per resurrectionem Iesu Christi ex mórtuis, in hereditatem incorruptibilem, et incontaminátam, et immarcescibilem, conservátam in caelis in vobis, qui in virtúte Dei custodímur per fidem in salutem, parátam revelári in témpore novíssimo. In quo exultábitis, módicum nunc si opórtet contristári in váriis tentatióibus: ut probátio vestrae fidei multo pretiósior auro (quod per ignem probátur) inveniátur in laudem, et glóriam, et honórem, in revelatióne Iesu Christi Dómini nostri.

Graduale Ps. 106, 32 et 31 Exáltent eum in ecclésia plebis: et in cáthedra seniórum laudent eum. ℟. Confiteántur Dómino misericórdiae eius, et mirabília eius filiis hóminum.

Allelúia, allelúia. ℟. Matth. 16, 18 Tu es Petrus, et super hanc petram aedificábo Ecclésiám meam. Allelúia.

Post Septuagesimam, omissis Allelúia, et versu sequenti, dicitur:

✠ Sequentia sancti Evangelii
secundum Matthaeum
Matth. 16, 13–19

In illo tempore: Venit Iesus in partes Caesareae Philippi, et interrogabat discipulos suos, dicens: Quem dicunt homines esse Filium hominis? At illi dixerunt: Alii Ioannem Baptistam, alii autem Eliam, alii vero Ieremiam, aut unum ex prophetis. Dicit illis Iesus: Vos autem quem me esse dicitis? Respondens Simon Petrus, dixit: Tu es Christus Filius Dei vivi. Respondens autem Iesus, dixit ei: Beatus es, Simon Bar Iona: quia caro et sanguis non revelavit tibi, sed Pater meus, qui in caelis est. Et ego dico tibi, quia tu es Petrus, et super hanc petram aedificabo Ecclesiam meam, et portae inferi non praevalent adversus eam. Et tibi dabo claves regni caelorum. Et quodcumque ligaveris super terram, erit ligatum et in caelis: et quodcumque solveris super terram, erit solutum et in caelis.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

Alleluia, alleluia. Ps. 106, 8 Let them give thanks to the Lord for his kindness and his wondrous deeds to the children of men. Alleluia. Ps. Matth. 16, 18 You are Peter, and upon this rock I will build my Church. Alleluia.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 16, 13–19

At that time, when Jesus came into the neighborhood of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples this question: "Who do people say the Son of Man is?" They replied, "Some, John the Baptist; others, Elia; still others, Jeremia, or one of the prophets." "And you," he said to them, "who do you say I am?" "You are the Messiah," Simon Peter answered, "the Son of the living God!" Jesus replied, "Happy are you, Simon, son of John! No mere man has disclosed this to you, but my heavenly Father. And I, for my part, declare to you: you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my Church, and the forces of Death's realm shall not subdue it. I will entrust to you the keys of the kingdom of heaven: whatever you shall declare unlawful upon earth shall be held unlawful in heaven; whatever you shall declare lawful upon earth shall be held lawful in heaven."

assist those over whom he is placed, so that the shepherd and the flock entrusted to his care, may together attain everlasting life. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews
Hebr. 5, 1-4

Brethren: Every high priest is taken from among men and appointed to act on behalf of men in their relations with God, to offer gifts and sacrifices for sin. He is able to deal gently with misguided sinners because he himself is subject to weakness, and so he must offer sacrifice not only for the peoples' sins but also for his own. No one takes this dignity on his own initiative but only when called by God, as Aaron was.

Gradual Ps. 131, 16-17 Her priests I will clothe with salvation, and her faithful ones shall shout merrily for joy. ℣. In her will I make a horn to sprout forth for David; I will place a lamp for my anointed.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ps. 109, 4 The Lord has sworn, and he will not repent: "You are a priest forever, according to the order of Melchisedec." Alleluia.

After Septuagesima, the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

Tract Ps. 111, 1-3 Happy the man who fears the Lord, who greatly delights in his commands. ℣. His posterity shall be mighty upon the earth; the upright generation shall be blessed. ℣. Wealth and riches shall be in his house; his generosity shall endure forever.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ps. 109, 4 The Lord has sworn, and he will not repent: "You are a priest forever, according to the order of Melchisedec." Alleluia. ℣. Eccli. 45, 9. The Lord loved him and adorned him; he clothed him with a robe of glory. Alleluia.

Léctio Epístolæ beáti Pauli
Apóstoli ad Hebræos
Hebr. 5, 1-4

Fratres: Omnis pón̄tifex ex homínibus assúptus, pro homínibus constitúitur in iis, quæ sunt ad Deum, ut offerat dona, et sacrificia pro peccátis: qui condolere possit iis, qui ignórant, et errant: quóniam et ipse circúmdatus est infirmitáte: et propterea debet, quemádmódu pro pópulo, ita étiam et pro semetípso offerre pro peccátis. Nec quisquam sumit sibi honórem, sed qui vocátur a Deo, tamquam Aaron.

Graduale Ps. 131, 16-17 Sacerdótes eius índuam salutári: et sancti eius exsultatióne exsultábunt. ℣. Illuc prodúcam cornu David: parávi lucérnam Christo meo.

Allelúia, allelúia. ℣. Ps. 109, 4 Iuravit Dóminus, et non pænitébit eum: Tu es sacérdos in ætérnum, secúndum ór̄dinem Melchisedech. Allelúia.

Post Septuagesimam, omissis Allelúia, et versu sequenti, dicitur:

Tractus Ps. 111, 1-3 Beátus vir, qui timet Dóminum: in mandátis eius cupit nimis. ℣. Potens in terra erit semen eius: generátio rectórum benedicétur. ℣. Glória et divítiae in domo eius: et iustítia eius manet in sáeculum sáeculi.

Tempore autem paschali omittitur graduale, et eius loco dicitur:

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Mark
Mark 13, 33–37

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “Be constantly on the lookout! Stay alert! You do not know when the appointed time will come. It’s just like a man leaving home to go on a journey—he puts his slaves in charge, each with his own job, and orders the doorman to keep his eyes open. Therefore, keep your eyes open, for you do not know when the master of the house is coming, whether at nightfall, midnight, cock-crow, or early dawn. Let him not come suddenly and catch you asleep. What I say to you, I say to all: keep your eyes open!”

Prayer

Grant, O Lord, to your servants whom you have adorned with the honor of virginity the completion of the work you have begun.* May they carry out what they have undertaken so that they may offer themselves to you as full and perfect gifts. Through Jesus Christ.

Da, quæsumus, Dómine, his famulábus tuis, quas (huic fámulæ tuæ, quam) virginitátis honóre dignátus es decoráre, inchoáti óperis consummátum efféctum: et, ut perféctam tibi ófferant (ófferat) plenitúdinem, inítia sua perdúcere mereántur (mereátur) ad finem. Per Dóminum.

Prayer over the Gifts

By the gifts we offer, O Lord, grant your servants perseverance in perpetual virginity,* so that when the gates are opened at the coming of the great King they may be worthy to enter in with joy. Through Jesus Christ.

Oblátis hóstiis, quæsumus, Dómine, præsentibus famulábus tuis (præsentí fámulæ tuæ) perseverántiam perpétuæ virginitátis accómmoda: ut, apértis iánuis, summi Regis advéntu, regnum cæléste cum lætítia mereántur (mereátur) intráre. Per Dóminum.

Prayer after Communion

O God, you have fixed your abode in these pure hearts.* Look favorably on your servants and console them, granting them what they ask for with their constant penances. Through Jesus Christ.

Deus, qui habitáculum tuum in corde pudíco fundásti: réspice super has fámulas tuas (hanc fámulam tuam); et, quæ castigatióibus assídus póstulant (póstulat), tua consolatíone percípiant (percípiat). Per Dóminum.

Matrimonium, nisi iusta causa a celebratione Missæ excuset, intra Missam, post Evangelium et homiliam, quæ nunquam est omittenda, celebretur.

Quoties Matrimonium intra Missam celebratur, semper, etiam tempore clauso, dicatur Missa votiva pro Sponsis aut de ea fiat commemoratio, iuxta rubricas.

Benedictio nuptialis intra Missam semper, etiam tempore clauso et etsi unus vel uterque coniux ad alias nuptias transit, impertiatur.

Si solemnis benedictio nuptiarum, intra Missam, facienda sit die dominico vel die I classis, dicitur Missa de Officio occurrenti, cum commemoratione sequentis Missæ pro sponsis, sub unica conclusione, etiam diebus in quibus commemoratio Missæ votivæ impeditæ prohibetur; et in ea datur benedictio nuptialis more solito.

Si autem solemnis benedictio nuptiarum, intra Missam, facienda sit aliis diebus, dicitur sequens Missa votiva pro sponsis.

In Commemoratione omnium Fidelium defunctorum et Triduo sacro prohibetur sive Missa votiva, sive eius commemoratio in Missa diei, sive benedictio nuptialis infra Missam.

Cum vero tam Missa pro sponsis quam benedictio nuptialis prohibetur, Missa una cum benedictione transferri potest in opportuniorem diem non impeditum, post celebratum matrimonium.

Unless a just cause excuses from the celebration of Mass, matrimony shall be celebrated within Mass after the Gospel and the homily. The latter is never omitted.

Whenever matrimony is celebrated within Mass, the votive Mass for the spouses shall always be celebrated or a commemoration made of it, according to the rubrics, even during the prohibited season.

The nuptial blessing shall always be imparted within the Mass, even in the prohibited season and even if one or both spouses is entering a second marriage.

If the solemn blessing of marriage, within Mass, is to take place upon a Sunday or a day of class I, the Mass of the occurring office is celebrated, with a commemoration of the following Mass for the spouses, under one conclusion, even on days when the commemoration of an impeded votive Mass is prohibited. In this Mass the nuptial blessing is given in the usual manner.

If the solemn blessing of marriage, within the Mass, is to take place on other days, the following votive Mass for the spouses is celebrated.

On the commemoration of all the faithful departed and during the sacred Triduum, the votive Mass is prohibited, as are its commemoration in the Mass of the day and the nuptial blessing within Mass.

For the Bride and Groom

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Ephesians
Ephes. 5, 22–33

Brethren: Wives should be submissive to their husbands as though to the Lord; because the husband is head of the wife just as Christ is head of the Church, his body, of which he is also the savior. Just as the Church submits to Christ, so should wives submit in everything to their husbands. Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ loved the Church and gave himself up for her to make her holy, purifying her in the bath of water by the power of the word, so as to present to himself a glorious Church, holy and immaculate, without stain or wrinkle or anything of that sort. In the same way husbands, too, should love their wives as they do their own bodies. He who loves his wife loves himself. Now no one ever hates his own flesh; no, he nourishes and takes care of it, just as Christ does for the Church, because we are members of his body. “For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother, and shall cling to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh.” This is a great foreshadowing: I mean to say it refers to Christ and the Church. But in any case, each one of you should love his wife just as he loves himself; and the wife should revere her husband.

Gradual Ps. 127, 3 Your wife shall be like a fruitful vine in the recesses of your home. ℣. Your children like olive plants around your table.

Fratres: Mulieres viris suis subditæ sint, sicut Dómino: quóniam vir caput est mulieris: sicut Christus caput est Ecclésiæ: Ipse, salvátor corpóris eius. ✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 19, 3–6

At that time some Pharisees came up to Jesus and as a test said to him, "Is it permissible for a man to divorce his wife for any reason whatever?" In reply he said, "Have you not read that the Creator at the beginning made them male and female, and declared, 'For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother, and shall cling to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh'? So they are no longer two but one flesh. Therefore man must not separate what God has joined together."

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, accept the offering we make to you in behalf of the sacred bond of matrimony, * and rule over this union of which you are the author. Through Jesus Christ.

After the Our Father, before the priest says Deliver us, we beg you, O Lord, he stands before the altar at the epistle side. Facing the spouses, who kneel, he says the following prayers over them:

For the Bride and Groom

Let us pray.

Listen with favor, O Lord, to our prayers, and graciously uphold the institution of marriage established by you for the continuation of the human race, so that they who have been joined together by your authority may remain faithful together by your help. Through Jesus Christ.

Let us pray.

O God, by your mighty power you made all things where before there was nothing; you put in order the beginnings of the universe and formed for man, made to your image, an inseparable helpmate, woman. You gave woman's body its origin from man's flesh, to teach that it is never right to separate her from the one being from whom it has pleased you to take her.

O God, you consecrated the union of marriage, making it a sign so profound as to prefigure in the marriage covenant the mystery of Christ and the Church.

O God, you join woman to man and give to that society, the first to be established, the blessing which alone was not taken away in punishment for original sin or in the doom of the Flood:

Look with kindness on this your servant who is to be joined to her husband in the companionship of marriage and who seeks to be made secure by your protection.

May this yoke that she is taking on herself be one of love and peace. May she be faithful and chaste, marrying in Christ, and may she always imitate the holy women: may she be the beloved of her husband, as was Rachel; wise, as was Rebecca; long-lived and loyal, as was Sara.

May the author of sin have no mastery over her because of her acts. May she hold firm to the faith and the commandments. Faithful to one embrace, may she flee from unlawful companionship. By firm discipline

Apóstoli ad Philippénes
Phil. 3, 7-14

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed

Phil. 3, 7-14

Fratres: Quæ mihi fuérunt lucra, hæc arbitrátus sum propter Christum detriménta. Verúmtamen existímo ómnia detriméntum esse, propter eminéntem sciéntiam Iesu Christi Dómini mei; propter quem ómnia detriméntum feci, et árbitor ut stérco, ut Christum lucrifáciam, et invéníar in illo, non habens meam iustítiam, quæ ex lege est, sed illam quæ ex fide est Christi Iesu; quæ ex Deo est iustítia in fide; ad cognoscéndum illum, et virtútem resurrecti-ónis eius, et societátem passiónum illius; configurátus morti eius; si quo modo occúrram ad resurrecti-ónem quæ est ex mórtuis. Non quod iam accéperim, aut iam perféctus sim; sequor autem, si quo modo comprehéndam, in quo et comprehénsus sum a Christo Iesu. Fratres, ego me non árbitor comprehéndisse. Unum autem, quæ quidem retro sunt obliviscens, ad ea vero quæ sunt prióra exténdens meípsum, ad destinátum pèrsequor, ad bravíum supérnæ vocatiónis Dei in Christo Iesu Dómino nostro.

Brethren: Whatever I used to consider as profitable I have revalued, in the light of Christ, as loss. In fact, I rate all else as loss because of the supreme good of knowing my Lord Jesus Christ. For his sake I underwent total loss of all things, and I value them as mere dung so that Christ alone may be my wealth and I may be found in him, possessing not my own justice based on observance of the Law, but that justice which comes through faith in Christ, the justice which comes from God and is based on faith. All this is that I may know Christ and the power flowing from his resurrection; that I may know how to share in his sufferings by being formed into the pattern of his death, in the hope that thus I may also arrive at the resurrection from the dead. I do not mean that I have already achieved this or that I have already become perfect. But I am hastening on to try to grasp it, having been myself already grasped by Christ Jesus. Brothers, I do not think that I have grasped it yet. I mean only this: forgetting what is behind me and straining toward what lies ahead, I hasten on to the goal, to win the prize to which God calls us upward in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel according to Mark Mark 10, 17–21

At that time, as Jesus was setting out on a journey, a man came running up, knelt down before him and asked, “Good Master, what must I do to inherit eternal life?” Jesus answered, “Why do you call me good? No one is good except the one God. You know the commandments: ‘You shall not kill; you shall not commit adultery; you shall not steal; you shall not bear false witness; you shall not defraud; honor your father and mother.’” He replied, “Master, I have observed all these since my childhood.” Then Jesus looked at him with love and told him, “There is one thing more you need to do. A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians

Brethren: I say this by way of concession, not as a command. I would prefer all men to be like me. But each has his own gift from God, one in this way, another in that. To those who are unmarried and to widows I say this: it would be well for them, like me, to remain as they are. I have not received from the Lord any commandment about virgins, but I give my opinion as one who is trustworthy, thanks to the Lord's mercy. I tell you brothers, time is running out. From now on those with wives should live as though they had none, and those who weep as though they were not weeping, and those who rejoice as though they were not rejoicing, and those who buy as though they own nothing, and those who use the world as though they were not using it; for the world as we see it is passing away. I want you to be without worries. The unmarried woman, like the virgin, is concerned with the things of the Lord, that she may be holy in body as well as in spirit in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 25, 1-13

At that time Jesus told his disciples this parable: "The kingdom of heaven will be comparable to ten virgins who took their torches and went out to welcome the bridegroom. Now five of them were foolish, and five, sensible. The foolish ones, in taking their torches, carried no oil along; but the sensible ones took flasks of oil, as well as their torches. As the bridegroom took his time, they all began to doze, and fell fast asleep. At midnight, someone shouted, "Here is the bridegroom! Come out and welcome him." Then all those virgins woke up, and got their torches ready. The foolish ones said to the sensible ones, "Give us some of your oil; our torches are going out." But the sensible ones replied, "No, there may not be enough for both you and us. You had better go to the dealers and buy yourselves some.' While they went off to buy it, the bridegroom arrived, and the ones who were ready went into the wedding with him. Then the door was barred. Later on, the other virgins came back. 'Lord, lord!' they cried, 'Open the door for us.' But he answered, 'I assure you, I do not know you.' Therefore, keep your eyes open, because you do not know the exact day or hour."

Léctio libri Regum
1 Reg. 3, 1–10

A Reading from the Book of Kings
1 Kings 3, 1–10

In diébus illis: Ministrábat puer Sámuel Dómino coram Heli, et sermo Dómini erat pretiósus in diébus illis: non erat vísis manifestá. Factum est ergo in die quadam, Heli iacébat in loco suo, et óculi eius caligáverant, nec póterat vidére: lucérna Dei ántequam extinguerétur, Sámuel dormiébat in templo Dómini, ubi erat arca Dei. Et vocávit Dóminus Sámuel. Qui respóndens, ait. Ecce ego. Et cucúrrit ad Heli, et dixit: Ecce ego; vocásti enim me. Qui dixit: Non vocávi; revértere, et dormi. Et ábiit et dormívit. Et adiécit Dóminus rursum vocáre Samuélem. Consurgénsque Sámuel, ábiit ad Heli, et dixit: Ecce ego, quia vocásti me. Qui respóndit: Non vocávi te, fili mi; revértere, et dormi. Porro Sámuel necdum sciébat Dóminum, neque revelátus fúerat ei sermo Dómini. Et adiécit Dóminus, et vocávit adhuc Samuélem

At that time, while the youth Samuel was minister to the Lord under Heli, a revelation of the Lord was uncommon and vision infrequent. One day Heli was asleep in his usual place. His eyes had lately grown so weak that he could not see. The lamp of God was not yet extinguished, and Samuel was sleeping in the Temple of the Lord, where the ark of God was. The Lord called to Samuel, who answered, "Here I am." He ran to Heli and said, "Here I am. You called me." "I did not call you," Heli said. "Go back to sleep." So he went back to sleep. Again the Lord called Samuel, who rose and went to Heli. "Here I am," he said. "You called me." But he answered, "I did not call you, my son. Go back to sleep." At that time Samuel was not familiar with the Lord, because the Lord had not revealed anything to him yet. The Lord called Samuel again, for the third time. Getting up and going to Heli, he said, "Here I am. You called me." Then Heli realized that the Lord was calling the youth. So he said to Samuel, "Go to sleep, and if you are called, reply, 'Speak, Lord, for your servant is listening.'" When Samuel went to sleep in his place, the Lord came and revealed his presence, calling out as before, "Samuel, Samuel!" Samuel answered, "Speak, for your servant is listening."

disciples was watching Jesus walk by, he said, "Look! There is the Lamb of God." The two disciples heard what he said and followed Jesus.

When Jesus turned around and noticed them following him, he asked them, "What are you looking for?" They said to him, "Rabbi (which, translated, means 'Teacher'), where are you staying?" "Come and see," he answered them. So they went to see where he was staying and stayed on with him that day; it was about four o'clock in the afternoon.

One of the two who had followed him, after hearing John, was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother. The first thing he did was to find his brother Simon and tell him, "We have found the Messiah (which, translated, is 'Anointed')!" He brought him to Jesus who looked at him and said, "You are Simon, son of John; your name shall be Cephas (which is translated 'Peter')."

The next day he wanted to set out for Galilee. He found Philip. "Follow me," Jesus said to him, for Philip hailed from Bethsaida, the same town as Andrew and Peter.

Philip found Nathanael and told him, "We have found the one described in the Mosaic Law and the Prophets, Jesus from Nazareth, Joseph's son." But Nathanael retorted, "Can anything good come from Nazareth?" So Philip told him, "Come and see for yourself."

When Jesus saw Nathanael coming toward him, he observed, "Here is a genuine Israelite; there is no guile in him." "How do you know me?" Nathanael asked him. "Before Philip called you," Jesus answered, "I saw you under the fig tree." Nathanael replied, "Rabbi, you are the Son of God; you are King of Israel." Jesus answered, "You believe, do you, just because I told you that I saw you under the fig tree? You will see far greater things than that." And he

John the Apostle
1 John 2, 14–17

Caríssimi: Scribo vobis, iúvenes, quóniam fortes estis, et verbum Dei manet in vobis, et vicístis malignum. Nolíte dilígere mundum, neque ea quæ in mundo sunt. Si quis diligit mundum, non est caritas Patris in eo: quóniam omne quod est in mundo, concupiscéntia carnis est, et concupiscéntia oculórum, et supérbia vitæ: quæ non est ex Patre, sed ex mundo est. Et mundus transit et concupiscéntia eius. Qui autem facit voluntátem Dei, manet in ætérnum.

Beloved young men, I addressed you because you are strong, and the word of God abides in you, and you have conquered the Evil One. Have no love for the world, nor for the things the world affords. If anyone loves the world, he has no room left for the Father's love. For not a thing that the world affords comes from the Father: carnal allurements, eye-catching enticements, the glamorous life—all this comes from the world itself. And the world is passing away with all its charms, but the man who does God's will endures forever.

Graduale Ps. 72, 24 et 1 Tenuísti manum dexteram meam, et in voluntáte tua deduxísti me, et cum glória suscepísti me. ℣. Quam bonus Israël Deus, his qui recto sunt corde! Allelúia, allelúia. ℟. Ps. 51, 10 Ego sicut olíva fructífera in domo Dei; sperávi in misericórdia Dei in ætérnum et in sæculum sæculi. Allelúia.

Gradual Ps. 72, 24 and 1 You have hold of my right hand; with your counsel you guide me, and in the end you will receive me in glory. ℣. How good God is to Israel, to those who are clean of heart!

Alleluia, alleluia. ℟. Ps. 51, 10 But I, like a green olive tree in the house of God, trust in the kindness of God forever and ever. Alleluia.

Post Septuagesimam, omissis Allelúia et versu sequenti, dicitur:

After Septuagesima, the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

Tractus Ps. 23, 3–5 Quis ascéndet in montem Dómini, aut quis stabit in loco sancto eius? ℣. Innocens máni-bus et mundo corde, qui non accépit in vano ánimam suam, nec iurávit in dolo próximo suo. ℟. Hic accípiet benedictiónem a Dómino, et misericórdiam a Deo salutári suo.

Tract Ps. 23, 3–5 Who can ascend the mountain of the Lord? Or who may stand in his holy place? ℣. He whose hands are sinless, whose heart is clean, who desires not what is vain, nor swears deceitfully to his neighbor. ℟. He shall receive a blessing from the Lord, and a reward from God his savior.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 15, 1-9

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "I am the real vine and my Father is the gardener. He cuts away any of my branches that does not bear fruit, but any that bears fruit he trims clean that it may bear more fruit. You are clean already, thanks to the word I have spoken to you. Remain in me as I remain in you. Just as a branch cannot bear fruit by itself without remaining on the vine, so neither can you without remaining united to me. I am the vine; you are the branches. He who remains in me as I in him is the one who bears much fruit, for you can do nothing apart from me. If a man does not remain united to me, he is like a branch, cast off and withered, which they gather up and throw into the fire to be burned. If you remain united to me and my words remain a part of you, ask for whatever you want and you shall have it. In this my Father has been glorified: in your bearing much fruit and becoming my disciples. As the Father has loved me, so have I loved you. Remain on in my love."

Omnem palmitem in me non ferentem fructum tollet eum: et omnem qui, fert fructum, purgabit eum, ut fructum plus afferat. Iam vos mundi estis propter sermonem, quem locutus sum vobis. Manete in me: et ego in vobis. Sicut palme non potest ferre fructum a semetipso, nisi manserit in vite: sic nec vos, nisi in me manseritis. Ego sum vitis, vos palmites: qui manet in me, et ego in eo, hic fert fructum multum; quia sine me nihil potestis facere. Si quis in me non manserit, mittetur foras sicut palme, et arescet, et colligent eum, et in ignem mittent, et ardet. Si manseritis in me, et verba mea in vobis manserint: quodcumque volueritis petetis, et fiet vobis. In hoc clarificatus est Pater meus, ut fructum plurimum afferatis, et efficiamini mei discipuli. Sicut dilexit me Pater, et ego dilexi vos. Manete in dilectione mea.

Bonum est confiteri Domino, et psallere nomini tuo, Altissime. (T. P. Alleluia.)

Paul the Apostle to the Ephesians
Ephes. 4, 1–6, 23–24

Brethren: I plead with you, I, a prisoner for the Lord, to live a life worthy of the calling you have received, with perfect humility and meekness, and with patience, bearing with one another lovingly. Make every effort to preserve the unity whose source is the Spirit and whose bond is peace. There is but one body and one Spirit, just as there is but one hope given you by your call. There is but one Lord, one faith, one baptism; one God and Father of all, who is over all, and works through all, and is in all. Acquire a new, a spiritual way of thinking, and put on that new man who has been created in the image of God with the justice and holiness that come from truth.

Gradual Ps. 99, 2–3 Serve the Lord with gladness; come before him with joyful song. ℟. Know that the Lord is God; he made us, his we are.

First of all, I urge that petitions, prayers, intercessions and thanksgivings be offered for all men; for kings and those in high place so that we may live a quiet and peaceful life in full piety and reverence. This is excellent and acceptable to God our Savior, who wishes all men to be saved and to come to knowledge of the truth. There is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus. He gave himself as a ransom for all—that was God's testimony, given in his own time. A Reading from the Book of Esther
Esth. 13, 8–11, 15–17

In those days Mardochai prayed to the Lord and said: “O Lord God, almighty King, all things are in your power, and there is no one to oppose you in your will to save Israel. You made heaven and earth and every wonderful thing under the heavens. You are Lord of all, and there is no one who can resist you. And now, Lord God, King, God of Abraham, spare your people, for our enemies plan our ruin and are bent upon destroying the inheritance that was yours from the beginning. Do not spurn your portion, which you redeemed for yourself out of Egypt. Hear my prayer; have pity on your inheritance and turn our sorrow into joy: thus we shall live to sing praise to your name, O Lord! Do not silence those who praise you, O Lord our God!”

Gradual Ps. 82, 19 and 14 Let the nations know that God is your name: you alone are the Most High over all the earth. ℟. O my God, make them like leaves in a whirlwind, like chaff before the wind.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℟. Ps. 79, 3 Rouse your power, O Lord, and come to save us. Alleluia.

After Septuagesima, the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

Tract Ps. 78, 9–11 Help us, O God our savior, because of the glory of your name, O Lord; deliver us and pardon our sins for your name’s sake. ℟. Why should the nations say, “Where is their God?” Let him be known among the nations in our sight. ℟. Avenge the shedding of your servants’ blood; let the prisoners’ sighing come before you.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 11, 5–13

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “If one of you has a friend, who comes to you in the middle of the night, and says to you:
‘My friend, lend me three loaves, for a friend of mine has come in from a trip and I have nothing to offer him,’ will you from inside say in reply: ‘Do not disturb me. The door is shut now, and my children and I are in bed. I can’t get up and give you anything’?
I tell you, even if you will not get up and give to him because of your friendship, you will rise because of his persistence and give him as much as he needs. So I say to you:
Keep asking, and you will receive; keep seeking, and you will find; keep knocking, and the door will be opened for you. Everyone who keeps asking, receives. He who keeps seeking, finds. To him who keeps knocking, the door will be opened. What father among you will hand his son a stone when he asks for bread, or a viper when he asks for a fish, or a scorpion when he asks for an egg? Now if you, bad as you are, know how to give your children what is good, is not the heavenly Father much more likely to give the Holy Spirit to those who keep asking him?”

Unum corpus, et unus spíritus, sicut vocáti estis in una spe vocatiónis vestræ. Unus Dóminus, una fides, unum baptísma. Unus Deus, et Pater ómniū, qui est super omnes, et per ómnia, et in ómnibus nobis. Unicuique autem nostrum data est grátia secúndum mensúram donatiónis Christi: donec occurrámus omnes in unitátem fidei, et agnitiónis Filii Dei, in virum perféctum, in mensúram ætátis plenitúdinis Christi: ut iam non simus párvuli fluctuántes, et circumferámur omni vento doctrínæ in nequítia hóminum, in astútia ad circumventiόνem erróris. Veritátem autem faciéntes in caritáte, crescámus in illo per ómnia, qui est caput Christus: ex quo totum corpus compáctum et connéxum per omnem iunctúram subministratiónis, secúndum operatióne in mensúram uniuscuiúsque membri, augméntum córporis facit in ædificatióne sui in caritáte. Hoc ígitur dico, et testíficor in Dómino, ut iam non ambulétis, sicut et gentes ámbulant in vanitáte sensus sui, ténebris obscurátum habéntes intelléctum, alienáti a vita Dei per ignorántiam quæ est in illis, propter cæcitaté cordis ipsórum, qui desperántes, semetipsos tradiderunt impudiciæ, in operatióne immunditiæ omnis, in avarítiam. Vos autem non ita didicistis Christum: si tamen illum audistis, et in ipso edócti estis, sicut est véritas in Christo Iesu, Dómino nostro.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Ephesians
Ephes. 4, 1-7, 13-21

Brethren: I plead with you, I, a prisoner for the Lord, to live a life worthy of the calling you have received, with perfect humility and meekness, and with patience, bearing with one another lovingly. Make every effort to preserve the unity whose source is the Spirit and whose bond is peace. There is but one body and one Spirit, just as there is but one hope given you by your call. There is but one Lord, one faith, one baptism; one God and Father of all, who is over all, and works through all, and is in all.

However, favor has been given to each one of us in the measure in which Christ bestows it until we all become one in faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God, and form that perfect man who is Christ come to full stature. Let us, then, no longer be children, tossed here and there and carried about by every wind of doctrine arising from the trickery of men and their cleverness in proposing error. Rather, let us hold fast to the truth, and grow up completely through love to him who is the head, Christ. Through him the whole body, solidly joined together by every supporting ligament, grows with the proper functioning of each single member and so builds itself up by love.

I say this, then, and solemnly attest it in the Lord: you must no longer live as the heathens do, with their minds empty and their understanding darkened. They are estranged from the life of God because of the ignorance that prevails among them and because of their hardness of heart; and without any sense of remorse they have abandoned themselves to lust and greedily indulge in every kind of uncleanness. But that is not what you learned when you learned Christ—if, indeed, you both heard of him and were instructed in him according to what is truth in Jesus.

Now, however, I am coming to you. Yet, while still in the world, I say all this, that they may share my joy completely. I have given them your word, and the world has hated them because they do not belong to the world any more than I belong to the world. The word of the Lord came to Jeremia. Then he called his army leaders, and all the people, high and low, and said to them: "Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to offer your prayer: If you remain quietly in this land I will build you up, and not tear you down; I will plant you, not uproot you; for I regret the evil I have done you. Do not fear the king of Babylon, before whom you are now afraid; do not fear him, says the Lord, for I am with you to save you, to rescue you from his power. according to John

At that time on the evening of that first day of the week, even though, for fear of the Jews, the disciples had locked the doors of the place where they were, Jesus came and stood in front of them. “Peace be with you,” he said. And when he had said this, he showed them his hands and side. At the sight of the Lord the disciples rejoiced. “Peace be with you,” he said to them again. “As the Father has sent me, so do I send you.” After these words he breathed on them, saying, “Receive the Holy Spirit. If you forgive men’s sins, their sins are forgiven; if you hold them, they are held fast.”

2 Kings 24, 15–19, 25

In those days the Lord sent a pestilence upon Israel until an appointed time, and, as the plague broke out among the people, seventy thousand of them from Dan to Bersabee died. But as the angel put forth his hand toward Jerusalem to destroy it, the Lord regretted the calamity. He said to the angel who was causing destruction among the people, "Enough now! Stay your hand!" The angel of the Lord was at the threshing floor of Areuna the Jebusite. When David saw the angel who was striking the people, he said to the Lord, "Behold,

Luke 4, 38-44

At that time, on leaving the synagogue, Jesus entered Simon's house. Simon's mother-in-law was in the grip of a great fever, and they implored him on her behalf. Standing over her, he rebuked the fever. It left her, and she rose at once and began to wait on them. At sunset all who had friends suffering from various maladies brought them to him. He placed his hands on each of them and cured them.

Devils also came out of many of them, shouting: "You are the Son of God." These he rebuked and did not allow to speak, because they knew that he was the Messiah. At daybreak he went out and retired to an out-of-the way place. But the crowds went in search of him and coming upon him they wanted to detain him and keep him from leaving them. But he said to them: "I must announce the good news of the kingdom of God to the other towns also, for this is why I was sent." So he went preaching in the synagogues of Judea.

Bersabée, pergébat Haran. Cumque venisset ad quemdam locum, et vellet in eo requiescere post solis occubitum, tulit de lapidibus qui iacébant, et suppónens cápiti suo, dormívit in eódem loco. Vidítque in somnis Dóminum dicéntem sibi: Ego sum Dóminus Deus Abraham patris tui, et Deus Isaac: terram, in qua dormis, tibi dabo et sémini tuo. Erítque semen tuum quasi pulvis terræ: dilatáberis ad Occidéntem, et Oriéntem, et Septentríonem, et Merídiem: et benedicéntur in te, et in sémine tuo cunctæ tribus terræ. Et ero custos tuus quocúmque perrexeris, et redúcam te in terram hanc: nec dimíttam nisi complévero univérta quæ dixi. Surgens ergo Iacob mane, tulit lápidem, quem supposúerat cápiti suo, et eréxit in título, fundens óleum désuper. Vovit étiam votum, dicens: Si fúerit Deus mecum, et custodíferit me in via per quam ego ámbulo, et déderit mihi panem ad vescéndum, et vestiméntum ad induéndum, reversúsque fúero prospere ad domum patris mei: erit mihi Dóminus in Deum, et lapis iste, quem eréxi in título, vocábitur domus Dei: cunctorúmque, quæ déderis mihi, décimas ófferam tibi.

journeyed toward Haran. He came to a place where he spent the night because the sun had set. He took one of the stones of the place, put it under his head, and went to sleep there. He saw the Lord in a dream saying to him: “I am the Lord, the God of Abraham your father, and the God of Isaac. I will give you and your descendants the land on which you lie. They shall be as the dust of the earth. You shall spread abroad to the west, to the east, to the north, and to the south; in you and in your descendants, all the nations of the earth shall be blessed. I will be with you and protect you wherever you go. I will bring you back to this land; indeed I will not forsake you till I fulfill my promise.”

Jacob arose in the morning, took the stone which he had placed under his head, set it up as a memorial pillar and poured oil over it.

Jacob also made a vow: “If the Lord is with me and protects me on my present journey, and gives me food to eat and clothing to wear, and a safe return to my father’s house, the Lord shall be my God; and this stone which I have set up as a memorial pillar shall be the house of God. I will offer faithfully a tenth part of everything you give me.”

Gradual Ps. 22, 4 Even though I walk in the dark valley, I fear no evil; for you are at my side, O Lord. ℣. With your rod and your staff that give me courage.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "As you go, make the proclamation, 'The kingdom of heaven is at hand!' Cure the sick, raise the dead, cleanse lepers; expel demons. You have received a free gift; distribute it freely. Do not provide yourselves with gold, silver or copper in your belts; no traveling bag, no second tunic, no sandals, no walkingstick. After all, the workman deserves his keep. Whatever town or village you come to, look for some honest citizen, and stay with him until you leave. As you enter his home, bless it. If the home is a deserving one, your blessing will descend upon it. If it is not, your blessing will return to you. If anyone will not receive you or will not listen to what you say, leave that house or town, and once outside, shake its dust from your feet."

give an order, and my boy will get better. I myself know how authority works. I have soldiers under me, and if I give one man the order, 'On your way,' off he goes; or another the order, 'Come here,' he comes. If I tell my slave, 'Do this,' he does it." Jesus was surprised to hear this and he remarked to his followers, "I assure you, I have never found an Israelite with faith as great as this. Mark my words! Many from east and west will come and find a place at the banquet in the kingdom of heaven with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, while the natural heirs of the kingdom will be driven outside into the darkness, where they will wail and gnash their teeth." To the centurion Jesus said, "Go home. It shall be done in answer to your faith." The boy got better that very moment.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Romans
Rom. 14, 7–12

Brethren: None of us lives as his own master, and none of us dies as his own master. While we live, we live as servants of the Lord; when we die, we die as his servants. Therefore, both in life and in death we belong to the Lord. This is the reason why Christ died and came to life again: that he might be Lord both of the dead and of the living. Now you, why do you sit in judgment on your brother? And you, why do you look down upon your brother? For we shall all have to appear before the judgment seat of God. For it is written: "As I live, says the Lord, to me every knee shall bend, and every tongue shall acknowledge God." So every one of us will have to give an account of himself to God.

Gradual Ps. 22, 4 Even though I walk in the midst of the shadow of death I fear no evil; for you are at my side, O Lord. ℣. With your rod and your staff that give me courage.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ps. 30, 2–3 In you, O Lord, I take refuge; let me never be put to shame. In your justice rescue me and save me, incline your ear to me, make haste to deliver me! Alleluia.

After Septuagesima, the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

Tract Ps. 24, 17–18 Bring me out of distress, O Lord; put an end to my affliction and my suffering, and take away all my sins. ℣. Ibid., 1–4 To you I lift up my soul, O Lord. In you, O my God, I trust; let me not be put to shame, let not my enemies exult over me. ℣. No one who waits for you shall be put to shame; those shall be put to shame who heedlessly break faith.

For the grace of a happy death

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

Alleluia, alleluia. Ps. 113, 1 When Israel came forth from Egypt, the house of Jacob from a people of alien tongue. Alleluia. Ps. 107, 2 My heart is steadfast; I will sing and chant praise to you, my glory. Alleluia.

Tempore autem paschali omittitur graduale, et eius loco dicitur:

Allelúia, allelúia. Ps. 113, 1 In éxitu Israë̄l de Ægýpto, domus Iacob de pópulo bárbaro. Allelúia. Ps. 107, 2 Parátum cor meum, Deus, parátum cor meum: cantábo, et psallam tibi, glória mea. Allelúia.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel according to Luke Luke 21, 34–36

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “Be on your guard, lest your hearts become bloated with carousing, and drunkenness, and worldly cares, and that day suddenly closes in on you like a trap. For that day will come on all who dwell on the face of the earth. Stay alert, and pray at all times that you may be able to escape all those things which are going to happen, and take your place before the Son of Man.”

✠ Sequéntia sancti Evangélii secúndum Lucam Luc. 21, 34–36

In illo témpore: Dixit Iesus discí-pulis suis: Atténdite vobis, ne forte gravéntur corda vestra in crápula, et ebrietáte, et curis huius vitæ: et supervéniat in vos repentína dies illa: tamquam láqueus enim supervéniet in omnes, qui sedent super fáciem omnis terræ. Vigiláte itaque, omni témpore orántes, ut digni habeámini fúgere ista ómnia, quæ futúra sunt, et stare ante Fílium hóminis.

Offertory Antiphon Ps. 30, 15–16

My trust is in you, O Lord; I say, “You are my God.” In your hands is my destiny. (P. T. Alleluia.)

In te sperávi, Dómine; dixi: Tu es Deus meus, in mánibus tuis témpora mea. (T. P. Allelúia.)

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, accept the gift we offer you for the hour of our death,* and grant that all our sins may be forgiven by it so that after suffering afflictions in this life we may attain everlasting rest in the life to come. Through Jesus Christ.

Súscipe, quæsumus, Dómine, hó-stiam, quam tibi offérimus pro ex-trémo vitæ nostræ, et concéde: ut per eam univérsa nostra purgéntur delicta: ut, qui tuæ dispositiónis flagéllis in hac vita attérimur, in futúra réquiem consequámur atérnam. Per Dóminum.

Communion Antiphon Ps. 70, 16–17 and 18

O Lord, I will tell of your singular justice. O God, you have taught me from my youth; and now that I am old and gray, O God, forsake me not. (P. T. Alleluia.)

Dómine, memorábor iustítiae tuæ solíus: Deus, docuísti me a iuven-túte mea: et usque in senéctam et sénium, Deus, ne derelínquas me. (T. P. Allelúia.)

For any necessity

Prayer after Communion

Quæsumus cleméntiam tuam, omní-potens Deus, ut per huius virtútem sacraménti nos fámulos tuos grátia tua confirmáre dignéris: ut in hora mortis nostræ non præváleat contra nos adversárius; sed cum Angelis tuis tránsitum habére mereámur ad vitam. Per Dóminum.

Almighty God, have compassion on your servants and through the power of this sacrament strengthen us by your grace.* May the enemy not triumph over us in the hour of death, but rather may we be brought to everlasting life in the company of your angels. Through Jesus Christ.

28 FOR ANY NECESSITY

Entrance Antiphon

Salus pópuli ego sum, dicit Dóminus; de quacúmque tribulatióne clamáverint ad me, exáudiam eos: et ero illórum Dóminus in perpétuum. (T. P. Allelúia, allelúia.) Ps. 77, I Atténdite, pópule meus, legem meam: inclináte aurem vestram in verba oris mei. Ps. Glória Patri. Salus.

“I am the salvation of the people,” says the Lord. “From whatever tribulation they shall cry to me, I will hear them; and I will be their Lord forever.” (P. T. Alleluia, alleluia.) Ps. 77, I Hearken, my people, to my teaching; incline your ears to the words of my mouth. Ps. Glory be to the Father. I am the salvation.

Prayer

Ineffábilem misericórdiam tuam, Dómine, nobis cleménte osténde: ut simul nos et a peccátis ómnibus éxuas; et a pœnis, quas pro his merémur, erípias. Per Dóminum.

O Lord, show us your wondrous mercy and kindness.* Free us from all our sins and deliver us from the punishments we deserve because of them. Through Jesus Christ.

Léctio Ieremiæ Prophétæ Ierem. 14, 7–8 et 9

A Reading from the Prophet Jeremia Jerem. 14, 7–9

Si iniquitátes nostræ respónderint nobis: Dómine, fac propter nomen tuum, quóniam multæ sunt aversiónes nostræ: tibi peccávimus. Expectátio Israëel, salvátor eius in témpore tribulatiónis. Tu autem in nobis es, Dómine, et nomen tuum invocátum est super nos, ne derelínquas nos, Dómine Deus noster.

Even though our crimes bear witness against us, take action, O Lord, for the honor of your name—
Even though our rebellions are many, though we have sinned against you.
O Hope of Israel, O Lord,
our savior in time of need!
You are in our midst, O Lord,
your name we bear:
do not forsake us,
O Lord, our God!

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Mark
Mark 11, 22–26

At that time, in reply Jesus said to his disciples, “Have faith in God. I assure you, whoever says to this mountain, ‘Get up and throw yourself into the sea,’ and does not waver in his mind, but believes that what he says is going to happen—it shall be done for him. Thus I assure you, if you are ready to believe that you have received every single thing that you ask for in prayer, it shall be done for you. And when you stand up to pray, forgive whatever you may be holding against anyone, so that your heavenly Father may also forgive you your sins.”

eos, qui nos odérunt, confundísti. ℣. In Deo laudábimur tota die: et in nómine tuo confitébimur in sǎcula. Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ps. 78, 9–10 Propítius esto, Dómine, peccátis nostris: ne quando dicant gentes: Ubi est Deus eórum? Alleluia.

Post Septuagesimam, omissis Alleluia, et versu sequenti, dicitur:

Tractus Ps. 24, 17–18 De necessitatibus meis éripe me, Dómine: vide humilitátem meam, et labórem meum: et dimítte ómnia peccáta mea. ℣. Ibid., 1–4 Ad te, Dómine, levávi ánimam meam: Deus meus, in te confído, non erubéscam: neque irrideant me inimíci mei. ℣. Etenim univérsi, qui te exspéctant, non confundéntur: confundántur omnes faciéntes vana.

Tempore autem paschali omittitur graduale, et eius loco dicitur:

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ps. 78, 9–10 Propítius esto, Dómine, peccátis nostris: ne quando dicant gentes: Ubi est Deus eórum? Alleluia. ℣. Ps. 30, 8 Exultábo et lætabor in misericórdia tua, quóniam respexísti humilitátem meam: salvásti de necessitatibus ánimam meam. Alleluia.

✠ Sequéntia sancti Evangélii
secúndum Marcum
Marc. 11, 22–26

In illo témpore: Dixit Iesus discipulis suis: Habéte fidem Dei. Offertory Antiphon

Ps. 137, 7

Si ambulávero in médio tribulatiónis, vivificábis me, Dómine: et super iram inimicórum meórum exténdes manum tuam, et salvum me fáciet dextera tua. (T. P. Alleluia.)

Though I walk amid distress, you preserve me; against the anger of my enemies you raise your hand; your right hand saves me. (P. T. Alleluia.)

Prayer over the Gifts

Puríficet nos, Dómine, quásumus, múneris præsentis oblátio: et dignos sacra participatióne perfíciat. Per Dóminum.

O Lord, may we be cleansed by the sacrifice we offer, * and made worthy to receive your blessed sacrament. Through Jesus Christ.

Communion Antiphon

Ps. 118, 49-50

Meménto verbi tui servo tuo, Dómine, in quo mihi spem dedísti: hæc me consoláta est in humilitáte mea. (T. P. Alleluia.)

Remember your word to your servant, O Lord, since you have given me hope. This is my comfort in my affliction. (P. T. Alleluia.)

Prayer after Communion

Præsta, quásumus, Dómine: ut, terrenis affectibus expiáti, ad supérni plenitúdinem sacraménti, cuius libávimus sancta, tendámus. Per Dóminum.

O Lord, may we who have celebrated this sacred rite be purified of all worldly desires* and look forward to the fulfillment of this sacrament in heaven. Through Jesus Christ.

29 FOR THANKSGIVING

I TO SEEK THE PRAYERS OF THE SAINTS

Prayer

O almighty God, grant that the intercession of Mary, the holy Mother of God, of all the holy apostles, martyrs, confessors and virgins, and of all your elect, may always be a source of joy to us. * May we experience the power of their protection as we solemnly recall the deeds of their lives. Through Jesus Christ.

Concede, quæsumus, omnipotens Deus: ut intercessio sanctæ Dei Genetrices Mariæ, sanctorumque omnium Apostolorum, Martyrum, Confessorum, atque Virginum, et omnium electorum tuorum, nos ubique lætificet; ut, dum eorum merita recolimus, patrocinia sentiamus. Per eundem Dominum.

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, be moved to compassion by our offerings and protect us from all danger* through the prayers of the blessed ever-virgin Mary and all your saints. Through Jesus Christ.

Oblatis, Domine, placare muneribus: et, intercedente beata Maria semper Virgine, cum omnibus Sanctis tuis, a cunctis nos defende periculis. Per Dominum.

Prayer after Communion

We have received the sacrament of heaven, O Lord, to commemorate the blessed ever-virgin Mary and all your saints. * We now humbly beg that the sacred rite we have celebrated may be our joy for all eternity. Through Jesus Christ.

Sumpsimus, Domine, beatæ Mariæ semper Virginis et omnium Sanctorum tuorum memoriam recolentes, sacramenta cælestia: præsta, quæsumus; ut, quod temporaliter gerimus, æternis gaudiis consequamur. Per Dominum.

2 SECOND PRAYER TO SEEK THE PRAYERS OF THE SAINTS

In sequenti oratione et in eius post-communione, ad litteram N., sacerdos nominare potest, ad arbitrium suum: a) sive Titularem ecclesiae in qua celebrat; b) sive Patronum principalem nationis, vel regionis seu provinciae sive ecclesiasticae sive civilis, vel diocesis, vel oppidi seu civitatis; c) sive, si est religiosus, Fundatorem canonizatum vel Titulum vel Patronum principalem Ordinis seu Congregationis aut Provinciae.

Titulus autem, sive ecclesiae sive Religionis, nominari nequit, si agatur de Persona divina vel Mystero Domini. Insuper sive Titulus sive Patronus nominari nequit, si sit B. Maria Virgo, aut de ipso Titulo vel Patrono dicatur Missa aut facta sit commemoratio, aut illius nomen in eadem oratione A cunctis expressum sit.

Si vero Missa vel commemoratio fuerint de S. Ioseph aut de sanctis Apostolis Petro et Paulo, verba quae eos respiciunt omittuntur.

A cunctis nos, quæsumus, Dómine, mentis et córporis defénde perículis: et, intercedénte beáta et gloriósa semper Vírgine Dei Genetríce María, cum beáto Ioseph, beátis Apóstolis tuis Petro et Paulo, atque beáto N. et ómnibus Sanctis, salútem nobis tríbue benígnus et pacem; ut, destrúctis adversitatibus et erróribus univérsis, Ecclésia tua secúra tibi sérviat libertáte. Per eúndem Dóminum.

Exáudi nos, Deus salutáris noster: ut, per huius sacraménti virtútem, a cunctis nos mentis et córporis hóstibus tueáris; grátiam tríbuens in præsénti, et glóriam in futúro. Per Dóminum.

Mundet et múniat nos, quæsumus, Dómine, divíni sacraménti munus oblátum: et, intercedénte beáta Vir-

In the following prayer and in the prayer after communion, the priest may name, at his choice: (a) the titular of the church in which he celebrates Mass; (b) the principal patron of the nation, region, ecclesiastical or civil province, diocese, city, or state; (c) or, if he is a religious, the canonized founder, title, or principal patron of the order, congregation, or province.

The title of a church or of a religious institute may not be named in the prayer if it is a divine Person or a mystery of the Lord. Moreover, neither the title nor the patron may be named, if this is the Blessed Virgin Mary, if the Mass of the title or patron is being celebrated, if a commemoration is made of the title or patron, or if the name of the title or patron is expressed in the prayer. The names of the angels or of Saint John the Baptist, if they are titulars or patrons, are placed before the name of Saint Joseph.

If the Mass of Saint Joseph or of the Holy Apostles Peter and Paul is celebrated, or a commemoration made of them, the words referring to them are omitted.

Prayer

O Lord, protect us from all dangers of soul and body,* and through the intercession of the blessed and glorious ever-virgin Mary, Mother of God, Saint Joseph, your holy apostles Peter and Paul, blessed N., and all your saints, mercifully grant us health and peace,* that your Church may triumph over all enmity and error to serve you in security and freedom. Through Jesus Christ.

Prayer over the Gifts

O God our Savior, hear our prayers and protect us from the enemies of our soul and body through the power of this sacrament.* Grant us your grace in this life and glory in the life to come. Through Jesus Christ.

Prayer after Communion

O Lord, let the offering of this sacramental gift cleanse and strengthen us.* Through the intercession of the blessed virgin Mary,

O Lord, may the most holy sacrament we have received gain back for us the grace we have lost, * guard us always wherever we are and bestow upon us the gift of patient suffering under every tribulation. Through Jesus Christ.

29 TO PRAY FOR CHARITY

Prayer

Deus, qui diligéntibus te facis cuncta prodéssé: da córdibus nostris inviolábilem tuæ caritátis afféctum; ut desidéria de tua inspiratióne concépta, nulla possint tentatióne mutári. Per Dóminum.

O God, for those who love you make all things work together for good.* Instill in our hearts an unwavering love for you, so that the desires that spring up in us as a result of your inspiration will always remain unchanged in spite of every temptation. Through Jesus Christ.

Prayer over the Gifts

Deus, qui nos ad imáginem tuam sacraméntis rénovas et præcéptis: pérfice gressus nostros in sémitis tuis; ut caritátis donum, quod fecisti a nobis sperári, per hæc, quæ offerimus sacrificia, fácias veráciter apprehénderi. Per Dóminum.

O God, your sacraments and commandments remake us in your own likeness.* Help us to walk in your paths and grant through the offering of this sacrifice that we may truly acquire the gift of charity for which you have taught us to hope with confidence. Through Jesus Christ.

Prayer after Communion

Sancti Spíritus grátia, quæsumus, Dómine, corda nostra illúminet: et perféctæ caritátis dulcédine abundánter refíciat. Per Dóminum . . . in unitáte eiúsdem.

O Lord, may the grace of the Holy Spirit enlighten our hearts * and refresh them completely with the fragrance of perfect charity. Through Jesus Christ.

30 FOR FRIENDS

Prayer

Deus, qui caritátis dona per grátiam Sancti Spíritus tuórum fidélium córdibus infudisti: da fámulis et famulábus tuis, pro quibus tuam deprecá-

O God, by the grace of the Holy Spirit you filled the hearts of your faithful with the gifts of charity.* Now grant your servants, for whom we beg your mercy, health of mind and body, so that they may love you with all their strength and do your will with all their heart. Through Jesus Christ.

mur cleméntiam, salútem mentis et córporis; ut te tota virtúte díligant, et quæ tibi plácita sunt, tota dilectióne perfícient. Per Dóminum . . . in unitáte eiúsdem.

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, be merciful to your servants for whom we offer this sacrifice of praise to your divine majesty.* May these sacred rites bring them your heavenly blessing and the glory of eternal happiness. Through Jesus Christ.

Miserére, quæsumus, Dómine, fámulis et famulábus tuis, pro quibus hoc sacrificium laudis tuæ offérimus maiestáti: ut per hæc sancta, supérnæ benedictiónis grátiam obtíneant, et glóriam ætérnæ beatitúdinis acquirant. Per Dóminum.

Prayer after Communion

We have offered your divine mysteries, O Lord.* Grant that this life-giving sacrifice may bring prosperity and peace upon our friends, for whom we have offered it to your divine majesty. Through Jesus Christ.

Divína libántes mystéria, quæsumus, Dómine: ut hæc salutária sacraménta illis proficiant ad prosperitátem et pacem; pro quorum quarúmque dilectióne hæc tuæ obtúlimus maiestáti. Per Dóminum.

31 FOR ENEMIES

Prayer

O God, you are the lover and guardian of peace and charity.* Grant true peace and love to our enemies, forgive them their sins, and let your might guard us against their deceits. Through Jesus Christ.

Deus, pacis caritatísque amátor et custos: da ómnibus inimícis nostris pacem, caritatémque veram; et cunctórum eis remissionem tríbue peccatórum, nosque ab eórum insídiis poténter éripe. Per Dóminum.

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, be moved to compassion by the gifts we offer you.* Mercifully save us from our enemies and grant them forgiveness of their sins. Through Jesus Christ.

Oblátis, quæsumus, Dómine, placáre munéribus: et nos ab inimícis nostris cleménter éripe, eisque indulgéntiam tríbue delictórum. Per Dóminum.

Prayer after Communion

May this holy communion keep us from committing sin, O Lord,* and protect us against the deceits of our enemies. Through Jesus Christ.

Hæc nos commúnio, Dómine, éruat a delictis: et ab inimicórum deféndat insídiis. Per Dóminum.

33 FOR THOSE AT SEA

Prayer

O God, you brought our fathers safely through the waters of the Red Sea while they praised your name in song.* Ward off all danger from your servants who are at sea, so that they may have a calm voyage and reach their destination in safety. Through Jesus Christ.

Deus, qui transtulisti patres nostros per Mare Rubrum, et transvexisti eos per aquam nímiám, laudem tui nóminis decantántes: te suppliciter deprecámur; ut in navi fámulos tuos, repúlsis adversitatibus, portu semper optábili, cursúque tranquillo tueáris. Per Dóminum.

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, accept the prayers and offerings of your servants,* and protect from every danger those for whom we celebrate these sacred rites. Through Jesus Christ.

Súscipe, quæsumus, Dómine, preces famulórum tuórum, cum oblatiõibus hostiárum: et eos, pro quibus tua mystéria celebrámus, ab ómnibus defénde periculis. Per Dóminum.

Prayer after Communion

Sanctified by your divine sacrament, we humbly implore your majesty, O Lord, and plead for your servants whom, by your inspiration, we remember in this heaven-sent sacrifice.* By the wood of the holy cross deliver them from their sins, and in your mercy rescue them from all danger. Through Jesus Christ.

Sanctificáti divíno mystério, maiestátem tuam, Dómine, suppliciter deprecámur, et pétimus: ut fámulos tuos, quos donis facis cælestibus memorári; per lignum sanctæ Crucis, et a peccátis ábrahas, et a periculis cunctis miserátus erípias. Per Dóminum.

34 FOR THE SALVATION OF THE LIVING

Prayer

O Lord, stretch forth your helping hand from heaven to all the faithful so that they may seek you with all their hearts * and be worthy to receive what they rightly ask for. Through Jesus Christ.

Præténde, Dómine, fidélibus tuis dèxteram cælestis auxilií: ut te toto corde perquírant, et quæ digne póstulant, cónsequi mereántur. Per Dóminum.

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, be appeased by our prayers and graciously accept these gifts of the faithful, which we offer for their welfare.* Grant us the requests we confidently make of you, so that it cannot be said that anyone hopes in you or calls upon you in vain. Through Jesus.

Propitiáre, Dómine, supplicatiõibus nostris, et has oblatiões fidélium tuórum, quas tibi pro incolumitáte eórum offérimus, benígnus assúme: et, ut nullíus sit írritum votum, nullíus vácuá postulátió, præsta, quæsumus; ut, quod fidéliter pétimus, effícaciter consequámur. Per Dóminum.

Various Prayers

Prayer after Communion

Da fidélibus tuis, quæsumus, Dómine, in tua fide et sinceritáte constantiam: ut in caritáte divína firmáti, nullis tentatióibus ab eius integritáte vellántur. Per Dóminum.

O Lord, grant that your people may be steadfast in faith and loyal to you.* May they be so rooted in divine charity that they will never be shaken in their belief by any temptation. Through Jesus Christ.

35 FOR THE LIVING AND THE DEAD

Prayer

Omnípotens sempitérne Deus, qui vivórum domináris simul et mortuórum, omniúmque miseréris, quos tuos fide et ópere futúros esse prænóscis: te súpplices exorámus; ut, pro quibus effúndere preces decrévimus, quosque vel præsens sáeculum adhuc in carne rétinet, vel futúrum iam exútos córpore suscepit, intercedéntibus ómnibus Sanctis tuis, pietátis tuæ cleméntia ómnium delictórum suórum véniam consequántur. Per Dóminum.

O almighty and eternal God, Lord of both the living and the dead, your mercy embraces all men foreknown to be yours by faith and a good life.* Through the intercession of all your saints, grant your merciful pardon to those for whom we pray, whether they still are living in this world or have departed from this flesh into the world to come. Through Jesus Christ.

Prayer over the Gifts

Deus, cui soli cógnitus est número electórum in supérna felicitáte locándus: tríbue, quæsumus; ut, intercedéntibus ómnibus Sanctis tuis, universórum, quos in oratióne commendátos suscepimus, et ómnium fidélium nómina, beátæ prædestinatiónis liber adscrípta retíneat. Per Dóminum.

O God, you alone know the number of those admitted to heavenly bliss.* Enter into the blessed book of predestination the names of all for whom we pray and of all your faithful through the intercession of all your saints. Through Jesus Christ.

Prayer after Communion

Puríficent nos, quæsumus, omnípotens et miséricors Deus, sacraménta quæ súmpsimus: et, intercedéntibus ómnibus Sanctis tuis, præsta; ut hoc tuum sacraméntum non sit nobis reátus ad pœnam, sed intercésio salutaris ad véniam: sit ablútio scélerum, sit fortitúdo fragílium, sit contra ómnia mundi perícula firmaméntum: sit vivórum atque mortuórum fidélium remissio ómnium delictórum. Per Dóminum.

O almighty and merciful God, cleanse us through the sacrament we have received.* May all your saints pray that it will not become the cause of our condemnation and punishment, but rather the source of your pardon.* Let it wash away our sins; be strength for the weak and a defense against all the world's dangers; and bring to all the faithful living and dead the remission of all their sins. Through Jesus Christ.

Masses for the Dead

MASSES FOR THE DEAD ON THE COMMEMORATION OF ALL THE FAITHFUL DEPARTED

On this day the Masses given in the Proper of the Saints, November 2, are celebrated.

The first of the Masses for the Commemoration of All the Faithful Departed is used on the following occasions, with the proper prayers assigned below among the various prayers for the dead:

- a) for the deceased supreme pontiff, cardinals, bishops, and priests, in all Masses of classes I, II, and III;
- b) on the anniversaries of all deceased of a clerical order or congregation.

ON THE DAY OF DEATH OR BURIAL OF THE DECEASED

This Mass is celebrated for the deceased who are not priests:

- a) as the funeral Mass;
- b) for Masses on the day of death;
- c) for Masses after the reception of the news of death;
- d) at the final burial of the deceased;
- e) on the third, seventh, and thirtieth days, but with the proper prayers.

Entrance Antiphon 4 Esdras 2, 34 and 35

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord: and let perpetual light shine upon them. Ps. 64, 2-3 To you we owe our hymn of praise, O God, in Sion; to you must vows be fulfilled in Jerusalem. Hear my prayer; to you all flesh must come. Eternal rest.

Prayer

O God, you alone are ever merciful and sparing of punishment. Humbly we pray you in behalf of the soul of your servant N., whom you have commanded to go forth today from this world. Do not hand him (her) over to the power of the enemy, and do not forget him (her) forever; but command that this soul be taken up by the holy angels and brought home to paradise, so that, since he (she) hoped and believed in you, he (she) may not undergo the punishments of hell, but rather possess everlasting joys. Through Jesus Christ.

Hoc die dicuntur Missæ, uti habentur in Proprio Sanctorum ad diem 2 novembris.

Prima Missa ex iis quæ habentur in Commemoratione omnium Fidelium defunctorum, adhibitis orationibus propriis in Missali inter orationes diversas pro defunctis assignatis, sumitur:

- a) pro defunctis Summo Pontifice, Cardinalibus, Episcopis, et Sacerdotibus, in omnibus Missis I, II et III classis;
- b) in anniversariis omnium defunctorum alicuius Ordinis vel Congregationis clericalis.

Sequens Missa dicitur pro defunctis non sacerdotibus:

- a) In Missa exsequiali;
- b) In Missis pro die obitus;
- c) In Missis post acceptum mortis nuntium;
- d) In ultima defuncti sepultura;
- e) In die III, VII et XXX, adhibitis tamen orationibus propriis.

Réquiem ætérnam dona eis, Dómine: et lux perpétua lúceat eis. Ps. 64, 2-3 Te decet hymnus, Deus, in Sion, et tibi reddétur votum in Ierúsalem: exaúdi oratióem meam, ad te omnis caro véniet. Réquiem ætérnam.

Deus, cui próprium est miseréri semper et párcere, te súpplices exorámus pro ánima fámuli tui N. (fámulæ tuæ N.), quam hódie de hoc sáeculo migráre iussísti: ut non tradas eam in manus inimíci, neque obliviscáris in finem, sed iúbeas eam a sanctis Angelis súscipi, et ad pátriam paradísi perdúci; ut, quia in te sperávit et crédidit, non pœnas inférni sustíneat, sed gáudia ætérna possídeat. Per Dóminum.

Masses for the Dead

In die tertio, septimo et trigesimo:

On the third, seventh, and thirtieth days:

Quæsumus, Dómine, ut ánimæ fámulí tui N. (fámulæ tuæ N.), cuius depositiõnis diem tértium (vel séptimum, vel trigésimum) commemorámus, Sanctórum atque electórum tuórum largíri dignéris consórtium: et rorem misericórdiæ tuæ perénnem infúndas. Per Dóminum nostrum.

Léctio Epístolæ beáti Pauli
Apóstoli ad Thessalonicénses
1 Thess. 4, 13-18

Fratres: Nólumus vos ignoráre de dormiéntibus, ut non contristémini, sicut et céteri, qui spem non habent. Si enim crédimus quod Iesus mórtuus est, et resurréxit: ita et Deus eos, qui dormiérunt per Iesum, addúcet cum eo. Hoc enim vobis dícimus in verbo Dómini, quía nos, qui vívimus, qui resídui sumus in advéntum Dómini, non præveniémus eos, qui dormiérunt. Quóniam ipse Dóminus in iussu, et in voce Archángeli, et in tuba Dei descéndet de cælo: et mórtui, qui in Christo sunt, resúrgent primi. Deínde nos, qui vívimus, qui relínquimur, simul rapiémur cum illis in núbibus óbviám Christo in áera, et sic semper cum Dómino érimus. Itaque consolámini ínvicem in verbis istis.

Graduale 4 Esdr. 2, 34 et 35 Réquiem ætérrnam dona eis, Dómine: et lux perpétua lúceat eis. Ps. 111, 7 In memória ætérrna erit iustus: ab auditióne mala non timébit.

Tractus Absólve, Dómine, ánimas ómnium fidélium defunctórum ab omni vínculo delictórum. Ps. Et

Prayer

O Lord, we commemorate the third (or seventh or thirtieth) day of the burial of your servant N. We beg you to let the everlasting dew of your mercy refresh that soul, and to admit him (her) to fellowship with your saints and your chosen ones. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Thessalonians
1 Thess. 4, 13-18

Brethren: We would not have you lack understanding concerning those in the sleep of death, lest you yield to grief like the others, who have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and yet rose, so also will God bring forth with him those who have fallen asleep believing in Jesus. This we say to you as the Lord's own word, that we who live, who survive till the Lord's coming will in no way have an advantage over those who have fallen asleep. No, for the Lord himself, when the order is given, at the sound of archangel's voice and of God's trumpet, will come down from heaven and the dead in Christ will first rise; then we the living, the survivors, will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air; and thus we shall be with the Lord always. Therefore, console one another with these words.

Gradual 4 Esdras 2, 34 and 35 Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord: and let perpetual light shine upon them. Ps. 111, 7 The just man shall be in everlasting remembrance; an evil report he shall not fear.

Tract Absolve, O Lord, the souls of all the faithful departed from every bond of sin. Ps. And by the help of your grace may they

Sequence

(of precept in a burial Mass)

Day of wrath! O day of mourning!
See fulfilled the prophets' warning,
Heav'n and earth in ashes burning!

O what fear man's bosom rendeth
When from heav'n the judge descendeth,
On whose sentence all dependeth!

Wondrous sound the trumpet flingeth;
Through earth's sepulchers it ringeth;
All before the throne it bringeth.

Death is struck, and nature quaking,
All creation is awaking,
To its judge an answer making.

Lo! the book, exactly worded,
Wherein all hath been recorded:
Thence shall judgment be awarded.

When the judge his seat attaineth
And each hidden deed arraigneth,
Nothing unavenged remaineth.

What shall I, frail man, be pleading?
Who for me be interceding,
When the just are mercy needing?

King of majesty tremendous,
Who dost free salvation send us,
Fount of pity, then befriend us!

Think, good Jesus, my salvation
Cost thy wondrous incarnation;
Leave me not to reprobation!

Faint and weary, thou hast sought me,
On the cross of suff'ring bought me.
Shall such grace be vainly brought me?

Righteous judge! for sin's pollution
Grant thy gift of absolution,
Ere the day of retribution.

(de præcepto in Missa exsequiali)

Dies iræ, dies illa, Solvat sæclum in favilla:
Teste David cum Sibylla.

Quantus tremor est futurus,
Quando iudex est venturus,
Cuncta stricte discussurus!

Tuba mirum spargens sonum
Per sepúlcræ regiõnum, Coget omnes ante thronum.

Mors stupébit, et natúra,
Cum resúrget creatúra, Iudicánti responsúra.

Liber scriptus proferétur,
In quo totum continétur,
Unde mundus iudicétur.

Iudex ergo cum sedébit,
Quidquid latet, apparébit:
Nil inúltum remanébit.

Quid sum miser tunc dicturus?
Quem patrónum rogáturus,
Cum vix iustus sit secúrus?

Rex treméndæ maiestátis,
Qui salvándos salvas gratis,
Salva me, fons pietátis.

Recordáre, Iesu pie,
Quod sum causa tuæ viæ:
Ne me perdas illa die.

Quærens me, sedísti lassus:
Redemísti Crucem passus:
Tantus labor non sit cassus.

Iuste iudex últiónis,
Donum fac remissiónis
Ante diem ratiõnis.

Ingemísco, tamquam reus:
Culpa rubet vultus meus:
Supplicánti parce, Deus.

Qui Mariám absolvísti, Et latrónem exaudísti
Mihi quoque spem dedísti.

Masses for the Dead

Preces meæ non sunt dignæ:
Sed tu bonus fac benigne,
Ne perenni cremer igne.

Inter oves locum præsta,
Et ab hædis me sequëstra,
Státuens in parte dextra.

Confutátis maledíctis,
Flammis ácribus addíctis:
Voca me cum benedíctis.

Oro supplex, et acclínis,
Cor contrítum quasi cinis:
Gere curam mei finis.

Lacrimósa dies illa,
Qua resúrget ex favílla, Iudicándus homo reus.

Huic ergo parce, Deus:
Pie Iesu Dómine,
Dona eis réquiem. Amen.

Guilty, now I pour my moaning,
All my shame with anguish owning;
Spare, O God, thy suppliant groaning!

Thou the sinful woman savedst;
Thou the dying thief forgavest;
And to me a hope vouchsafest.

Worthless are my prayers and sighing,
Yet, good Lord, in grace complying,
Rescue me from fires undying!

With thy favored sheep O place me
Nor among the goats abase me,
But to thy right hand upraise me.

While the wicked are confounded,
Doomed to flames of woe unbounded,
Call me with thy saints surrounded.

Low I kneel, with heart submission:
See, like ashes, my contrition;
Help me in my last condition.

Ah! that day of tears and mourning!
From the dust of earth returning,
Man for judgment must prepare him;
Spare, O God, in mercy spare him!

Lord, all pitying, Jesus blest,
Grant them thine eternal rest. Amen.

✠ Sequéntia sancti Evangéllii
secúndum Ioánnem
Ioann. 11, 21–27

In illo témpore: Dixit Martha ad Iesum: Dómine, si fúisses hic, frater meus non fuisset mórtuus: sed et nunc scio, quia quæcúmque popósceris a Deo, dabit tibi Deus. Dicit illi Iesus: Resúrget frater tuus. Dicit ei Martha: Scio quia resúrget in resurrectione in novíssimo die. Dicit ei Iesus: Ego sum resurrectio, et vita: qui credit in me, étiam si mórtuus fuerit, vivet: et omnis qui vivit, et credit in me, non moriétur in ætérnum. Credis hoc? Ait illi: Utique, Dómine, ego crédidi, quia tu es Christus Fílius Dei vivi, qui in hunc mundum venísti.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 11, 21–27

At that time Martha said to Jesus, "Lord, if you had been here, my brother would never have died. Even now, I am sure that whatever you ask of God, God will give you." "Your brother will rise again," Jesus told her. "I know he will rise again," Martha replied, "in the resurrection on the last day." Jesus told her, "I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in me, even if he dies, will come to life. And everyone who is alive and believes in me will never die at all.—Do you believe this?" "Yes, Lord," she replied. "I have learned to believe that you are the Messiah, the Son of God, he who is to come into the world."

Responsory at the Offertory

Lord Jesus Christ, King of glory, deliver the souls of all the faithful departed from the pains of hell and the deep pit; deliver them from the lion's mouth; may hell not swallow them up, nor may they fall into darkness, but may Michael, the holy standard-bearer, bring them into the holy light:* Which you once promised to Abraham and to his seed. ℟. We offer you, O Lord, sacrifices and prayers of praise; receive them for the souls whom we remember this day. Grant, O Lord, that they may pass from death to life. Which you once promised to Abraham and to his seed.

Dómine Iesu Christe, Rex glóriæ, libera ánimas ómnium fidélium defunctórum de pœnis inférni, et de profúndo lacu: libera eas de ore leónis, ne absórbeat eas tártarus, ne cadant in obscúrum: sed sígnifer sanctus Míchaël repræséntet eas in lucem sanctam:* Quam olim Abrahæ promísisti, et sémini eius. ℟. Hóstias et preces tibi, Dómine, laudis offérimus: tu súscipe pro animábus illis, quarum hódie memóriam fáci-mus: fac eas, Dómine, de morte transíre ad vitam. Quam olim Abrahæ promísisti, et sémini eius.

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, be merciful to the soul of your servant N., for whom we offer this sacrifice of praise. We implore your divine majesty to grant him (her) eternal rest through this offering we make in atonement for sin. Through Jesus Christ.

Propitiáre quæsumus, Dómine, ánimæ fámuli tui N. (fámulæ tuæ N.), pro qua hóstiam laudis tibi immolá-mus, maiestátem tuam suppliciter deprecánte: ut per hæc piæ placatiónis offícia, perveníre mereátur ad réquiem sempitérnam. Per Dómi-num.

On the third, seventh, and thirtieth days:

In die tertio, septimo et trigesimo:

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, look with favor upon the gifts we offer in behalf of the soul of your servant N., and purify him (her) through your divine healing so that he (she) may find rest in your love. Through Jesus Christ.

Múnera, quæsumus, Dómine, qua tibi pro ánima fámuli tui N. (fámulæ tuæ N.), offérimus, placátus inténde: ut remédiis purgáta cæléstibus, in tua pietáte requiescat. Per Dóminum.

Preface of the Dead

Præfatio defunctorum.

Responsory at the Communion

4 Esdras 2, 35 and 34

May light eternal shine upon them, O Lord:* With your saints forever, for you are merciful. ℟. Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord; and let perpetual light shine upon them. With your saints forever, for you are merciful.

Lux æténa lúceat eis, Dómine: *Cum Sanctis tuis in ætérnum: quia pius es. ℟. Réquiem ætérnam dona eis, Dómine: et lux perpétua lúceat eis. Cum Sanctis tuis in ætérnum: quia pius es.

Masses for the Dead

Prayer after Communion

Præsta, quæsumus, omnipotens Deus: ut ánima fámuli tui N. (fámulæ tuæ N.), quæ hódie de hoc sæculo migrávit, his sacrificiis purgáta, et a peccátiis expedita, indulgéntiam páriter et réquiem cápiat sempitérnam. Per Dóminum.

In die tertio, septimo et trigesimo:

Súscipe, Dómine, preces nostras pro ánima fámuli tui N. (fámulæ tuæ N.): ut, si quæ ei máculæ de terrénis contágiis adhæsérunt, remissionis tuæ misericórdia deleántur. Per Dóminum.

O almighty God, may this sacrifice purify the soul of your servant N., which has departed from the world today. Grant that once delivered from his (her) sins, he (she) may receive forgiveness and eternal rest. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Book of Machabees 2 Mach. 12, 43–46

In those days the valiant Judas took up a collection, to which all contributed, and sent about two thousand drachmas of silver to Jerusalem to offer an expiatory sacrifice, acting properly and appropriately considering the resurrection (for if he had not hoped that those who had fallen would rise again, it was useless and silly to pray for the dead); considering further that a great reward was in store for those who had gone to rest in piety—a holy and pious thought. Hence, on behalf of the dead he offered this expiation to free them from sin.

Gradual 4 Esdras 2, 34 and 35 Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord: and let perpetual light shine upon them. Ps. 111, 7 The just man shall be in everlasting remembrance; an evil report he shall not fear. Tract Absolve, O Lord, the souls of all the faithful departed from every bond of sin. Ps. And by the help of your grace may they deserve to escape the judgment of vengeance. Ps. And to enjoy the blessedness of light eternal.

The Dies iræ may be omitted.

John 6, 51-55

At that time Jesus said to the crowds of the Jews: "I am the living bread which came down from heaven. If anyone eats this bread, he will live forever. And the bread that I shall give is my own flesh for the life of the world." At this the Jews started to quarrel among themselves, saying, "How can this fellow give us his flesh to eat?" Therefore Jesus said to them, "I solemnly assure you, if you do not eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you. He who feeds on my flesh and drinks my blood has life eternal. And I shall raise him up on the last day."

have said, you will realize that I know what I am talking about when I speak of the mystery of Christ, a mystery unknown to men in former ages but now revealed by the Spirit to the holy apostles and prophets. And it is this: in Christ Jesus the Gentiles are now co-heirs with the Jews, members of the same body, and co-sharers of the promise through the preaching of the gospel. I became a minister of that gospel through the gift which God in his goodness bestowed on me by the working of his power. To me, less than the least of all the saints, this favor was given, to preach to the Gentiles the unfathomable riches of Christ, and to enlighten all men on the working out of the mystery which for ages was hidden in God, the creator of all things, so that now through the Church the manifold wisdom of God might become known to the Principalities and Powers of heaven, in fulfillment of the eternal decree which he carried out in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

Qui prædestinávit nos in adoptiõem filiórum per Iesum Christum in ipsum: secúndum propósitum voluntátis suæ, in laudem glóriæ grá-tiæ suæ, in qua gratificávit nos in dilécto Fílio suo. In quo habémus redemptiõem per ságuinem eius.

Brethren: Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us in Christ with every spiritual blessing in heaven. He chose us in him before the world was created, to be holy and blameless in his sight through love; and he predestined us to be his own adopted sons through Jesus Christ. This was the free choice of his will, that all might praise the glory of the favor which he has bestowed on us in his Beloved. It is in him and through his blood that we have been redeemed.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians
1 Cor. 1, 26–31

Brethren: Look at yourselves who have been called. Not many of you are wise as men account wisdom, not many powerful, not many well born. No, God has chosen those who in the world are fools in order to shame the wise; he has chosen those who in the world are weak in order to shame the strong; he has chosen those who in the world are lowly born and count for nothing—and who really were nothing!—in order to make nothing those who are something, so that no flesh can boast before God. It is God who has given you life in Christ Jesus, whom he has made our wisdom and also our justice, sanctification and redemption; so just as it is written, “Let him who would boast, boast in the Lord.”

Brethren: I became a minister of the gospel through the gift which God in his goodness bestowed on me by the working of his power. To me, less than the least of all the saints, this favor was given, to preach to the Gentiles the unfathomable riches of Christ, and to enlighten all men on the working out of the mystery which for ages was hidden in God, the creator of all things, so that now through the Church the manifold wisdom of God might become known to the Principalities and Powers of heaven, in fulfillment of the eternal decree which he carried out in Christ Jesus our Lord. In him and through faith in him we can speak freely to God and draw near to him with confidence. Therefore, I beg you not to be disheartened by the trials I endure for you; they are your glory.

For this reason I kneel before the Father from whom every family in heaven and on earth takes its name; and I pray that he will bestow on you gifts corresponding to the riches of his glory. May he strengthen your inner selves with power through his Spirit. May Christ dwell in your hearts through faith; and may love be the root and foundation of your life. Thus you will be able to grasp fully with all the saints the breadth and length and height and depth, and to know that the love of Christ surpasses all knowledge, so that you may be filled with all the fullness of God.

To him whose power now at work within us is able to do immeasurably more than all we ask or imagine, to him be glory in the Church and in Christ Jesus through all generations, ages without end. Amen.

Matth. 5, 13–19

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “You are the salt of the earth. Suppose salt becomes insipid; how can you restore its tang? Then it is good for nothing but to be thrown out, and trampled underfoot. You are the light of the world. A city on a mountain top cannot be concealed. Men do not light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket. They set it on a stand where it gives light to all in the house. In the same way, your light must shine before men so that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father. Don’t think that I have come to abolish the Law and Prophets. I have come, not to abolish them, but to bring them to perfection. I assure you of this: until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter, not even the smallest part of a letter, of the Law will be done away with, until it all comes true. Consequently, the man who breaks the least important of these commandments and teaches others to follow his example will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. It is the man who observes them and teaches them who will be called great in the kingdom of heaven.”

Prayer over the Gifts

Let the life-giving sacrifice which we present to you, O Lord, ignite in our hearts the divine fire of the Holy Spirit * just as the gentle soul of blessed Francis was inflamed. Through Jesus Christ.

Per hanc salutárem hóstiám, quam offérimus tibi, Dómine, divíno illo Sancti Spíritus igne cor nostrum accénde, quo mitíssimum beáti Francísci ánimum mirábiliter inflammásti. Per Dóminum . . . in unitáte eíusdem Spíritus Sancti.

Communion Antiphon

1 Cor. 9, 22

To the weak I became weak, that I might gain the weak. I became all things to all men, that I might save all.

Factus sum infirmis infirmus, ut infirmos lucrifácerem: ómnibus ómnia factus sum, ut omnes fácerem salvos.

Prayer after Communion

Grant us, almighty God, through the sacraments we have received, the grace to imitate on earth the gentleness and charity of blessed Francis* and to come to glory in heaven. Through Jesus Christ.

Concéde, quáesumus, omnipotens Deus: ut, per sacraménta quæ sumpsimus, beáti Francísci caritátem et mansuetúdinem imitántes in terris, glóriam quoque consequámur in cælis. Per Dóminum.

Cant. 3, 2-5; 8, 6-7

Surgam, et circuibo civitatem: per vicos et plateas quaeram quem diligit anima mea: quaesivi illum, et non inveni. Invenérunt me vigiles, qui custodiunt civitatem: Num quem diligit anima mea, vidistis? Paululum cum pertransissem eos, inveni quem diligit anima mea: tenui eum, nec dimittam donec introducam illum in domum matris meae, et in cubiculum genetricis meae. Adiuero vos, filiae Ierusalem, per capreas, cervosque camporum, ne suscitétis, neque evigilare faciatis dilectam donec ipsa velit. Pone me ut signaculum super cor tuum, ut signaculum super brachium tuum: quia fortis est ut mors dilectio, dura sicut infernus aemulatio: lampades eius lampades ignis atque flammarum. Canticles

I will rise then and go about the city;
in the streets and crossings I will seek
Him whom my heart loves.

I sought him but I did not find him.
The watchmen came upon me

as they made their rounds of the city;

Have you seen him whom my heart loves?

when I found him whom my heart loves.

I took hold of him and would not let him go till I should bring him to the home of my mother,

to the room of my parent.

I adjure you, daughters of Jerusalem,

by the gazelles and hinds of the field,

Do not arouse, do not stir up love

before its own time.

Set me as a seal on your heart,

as a seal on your arm;

For stern as death is love,

relentless as the nether world is devotion;
its flames are blazing fire.

Deep waters cannot quench love,

nor floods sweep it away.

Were one to offer all he owns to purchase
love,

he would be roundly mocked.

Gradual Ps. 44, 3 Grace is poured out upon your lips; thus God has blessed you forever. Ps. Ibid., 5 Because of truth, and meekness, and justice; may your right hand show your wondrous deeds.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 13, 44-52

At that time Jesus told his disciples this parable: "The kingdom of heaven is like hidden treasure which a man found in a field. He hid it again, and happy with his find, went and sold all he had and bought that field. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant's search for fine pearls. When he finally found one really valuable pearl, he went back and auctioned off all he had and bought it. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was thrown into the lake and collected all sorts of things. When it was full, they hauled it ashore, and sat down to collect what was worthwhile in tubs. What was useless they threw away. That is how it will be at the end of the world. The angels will go out and separate the evil men from the saints and hurl them into the fiery furnace where they will wail and gnash their teeth. Have you understood everything I have said?" "Yes," they said to him. Then he told them, "So every scribe who has become a disciple of the kingdom of heaven is like the head of the house who can bring out of his store-room the new as well as the old."

Prayer

O God, you are the author of charity and also its reward and you raised up a new religious congregation in the Church under the maternal guidance of blessed Louise.* Grant that we may merit the promised reward in heaven by practicing works of charity here on earth. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Prophet Isaia
Isaia 58, 7-11

Thus says the Lord:
Share your bread with the hungry,
shelter the oppressed and the homeless;
Clothe the naked when you see them,
and do not turn your back on your own.
Then your light shall break forth like the dawn,
and your wound shall quickly be healed;
Your vindication shall go before you,
and the glory of the Lord shall be your rear guard.
Then you shall call, and the Lord will answer,
you shall cry for help, and he will say:
Here I am!
If you remove from your midst oppression,
false accusation and malicious speech;
If you bestow your bread on the hungry
and satisfy the afflicted;
Then light shall rise for you in the darkness,
and the gloom shall become for you like
midday;
Then the Lord will guide you always and give you plenty even on the parched land.
He will renew your strength,
and you shall be like a watered garden,
like a spring whose water never fails.

Gradual Eccli. 29, 15 Store up almsgiving in the heart of the poor, and it will save you from every evil. Ψ. Tob. 4, 17 Eat your bread with the hungry: and with your garments cover the naked.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 19, 27–29

At that time Peter spoke up and said to Jesus: "Look, we have given up everything and have followed you. What are we going to possess?" Jesus said to them, "I assure you, in the new age, when the Son of Man takes his seat upon a throne befitting his glory, you who have followed me will also take your places on twelve thrones to judge the twelve tribes of Israel. Moreover, every one who has given up home, brothers or sisters, father or mother, wife or children or property for my sake, will receive many times as much, and will inherit eternal life."

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed

Paul the Apostle to Timothy

1 Tim. 6, 6–12

Beloved: Piety is indeed a source of great profit—when one is satisfied with what he possesses. We brought nothing into the world, since we can take nothing out of it. If we have food and shelter let us be satisfied with that. Those who want to be rich fall into temptation and snares and all kinds of foolish and harmful desires, such as plunge men into ruin and destruction. Yes, love of money is the root of all evils. Some who reach out for it have wandered away from the faith and have pierced themselves with many torments. But you, O man of God, must shun these things. Strive for justice, piety, faithfulness, love, patience and gentleness. Fight a good fight for the faith, take hold of eternal life.

Apostoli ad Timotheum

1 Tim. 6, 6–12

Carissime: Est quaestus magnus pietas cum sufficientia. Nihil enim intulimus in hunc mundum: haud dubium quod nec auferre quid possumus. Habentes autem alimenta, et quibus tegamur, his contenti simus. Nam qui volunt divites fieri, incidunt in tentationem, et in laqueum diaboli, et desideria multa inutilia, et nociva, quae mergunt homines in interitum, et perditionem. Radix enim omnium malorum est cupiditas: quam quidam appetentes, erraverunt a fide, et inseruerunt se doloribus multis. Tu autem, o homo Dei, haec fuge: sectare vero iustitiam, pietatem, fidem, caritatem, patientiam, mansuetudinem. Certa bonum certamen fidei, apprehende vitam aeternam.

Luke 1, 26–33

At that time the angel Gabriel was sent from God to a town of Galilee named Nazareth, to a virgin engaged to a man named Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary. The angel arrived and said to her: "Hail, full of grace; the Lord is with you. Blessed are you among women."

But she was troubled by this message, and wondered what this salutation meant. Then the angel said to her: "Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God. And now, you shall conceive and bear a son, and you shall name him Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called Son of the Most High; the Lord God will give him the throne of David, his father, and he will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and his reign will have no end."

Brethren: As God's chosen ones, holy and beloved, you must put on heartfelt mercy, kindness, humility, meekness, patience. Bear with one another and forgive whatever grievances you may have against each other; forgive just as the Lord has forgiven you. And over all these put on love, which binds them together and makes them perfect. Let the peace of Christ rule over your hearts; for, as members of the one body, you have been called to that peace. Be thankful. Let the word of Christ dwell in you with all its richness; instruct and admonish one another with perfect wisdom. With heartfelt gratitude sing to God psalms, hymns, and inspired songs. are being saved, to us, it is the power of God. For it is written, “I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and I will thwart the cleverness of the clever.” Where is the wise man? Where is the scribe? Where is the reasoner of this age? Has not God made foolishness of the wisdom of the world? Since in God’s wisdom the world failed to recognize God by wisdom, it pleased God to use the foolishness of our preaching to save those who believe. Yes, Jews demand “signs” and Greeks seek “wisdom,” but we preach Christ crucified, to Jews indeed a stumbling-block and to Gentiles foolishness, but to those who are called, Jews and Greeks alike, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God. For I rescued the poor who cried out for help, the orphans, and the unassisted;
The blessing of those in extremity came upon me,
and the heart of the widow I made joyful.
I wore my honesty like a garment;
justice was my robe and my turban.
I was eyes to the blind,

I was a father to the needy;
the rights of the stranger I studied.

"Rabbi," he said to him, "we know you are a teacher who has come from God; for, unless God is with him, no one can perform signs such as you perform." Jesus gave him this answer, "Truly, I assure you, no one can see the kingdom of God without being begotten from above." "How can a man be born again once he is old?" retorted Nicodemus. "Can he go back into his mother's womb and be born all over again?" Jesus replied: "Truly, I assure you, no one can enter the kingdom of God without being begotten of water and Spirit. Flesh begets flesh and Spirit begets spirit. Do not be surprised that I told you: you must all be begotten from above. The wind blows about where it wills; you hear the sound that it makes, not knowing where it comes from or where it goes. So it is with everyone begotten of the Spirit."

May 3. The Finding of the Holy Cross

Nicodemus replied, "How can things like this happen?" Jesus answered him, "You are the teacher of Israel, and still you don't understand these things? Truly, I assure you, we are talking about what we know, and we are testifying to what we have seen; but you people do not accept our testimony. If you do not believe when I tell you about earthly things, how are you going to believe when I tell you about heavenly things? Now, no one has gone up into heaven except the one who came down from heaven. And just as Moses lifted up the serpent in the desert, so must the Son of Man be lifted up, that everyone who believes may have eternal life in him."

Offertory Antiphon

Ps. 117, 16 and 17

The right hand of the Lord is exalted; the right hand of the Lord has struck with power. I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the Lord, alleluia.

Prayer over the Gifts

May the sacrifice we offer be pleasing to you, O Lord.* Let it free us from all the evils of war and destroy the pitfalls prepared by our powerful enemy, so that we may be safely protected under the banner of your Son's cross. Through Jesus Christ.

Preface of the Holy Cross

Communion Antiphon

By the sign of the cross, our God, deliver us from our enemies, alleluia.

Prayer after Communion

O almighty God, we have been nourished by the food of heaven and refreshed by spiritual drink.* Shield us from our evil enemies, for you have commanded us to fight through to victory under the cross of your Son, the weapon of justice that will save the world. Through Jesus Christ.

Tu es magister in Israël, et hæc ignóras? Amen, amen dico tibi, quia quod scimus lóquimur, et quod vídimus testámur, et testimónium nostrum non accípitis. Si terréna dixi vobis et non créditis: quómodo, si díxero vobis cæléstia, crédetis? Et nemo ascéndit in cælum, nisi qui descéndit de cælo, Fílius hóminis, qui est in cælo. Et sicut Móyses exaltávit serpéntem in desérto; ita exaltári opórtet Fílium hóminis: ut omnis qui credit in ipsum, non péreat, sed hábeat vitam ætérrnam.

Déxtera Dómini fecit virtútem, déxtera Dómini exaltávit me: non móriar, sed vivam, et narrábo ópera Dómini, alleluia.

Sacrificium, Dómine, quod tibi im-molámus, placátus inténde: ut ab omni nos éruat bellórum nequítia, et per vexillum sanctæ Crucis Fílii tui, ad conteréndas potestátis ad-versæ insídias, nos in tuæ protectiónis securitáte constítuat. Per eúndem Dóminum.

from the Book of Wisdom
Wis. 5, 1-5

Then shall the just one with great assurance stand before his oppressors who set at nought his labors.
Seeing this, they shall be shaken with dreadful fear, and amazed at the unlooked-for salvation.
They shall say among themselves, rueful and groaning through anguish of spirit:
“This is he whom once we held as a laughingstock and as a type for mockery, fools that we were!
His life we deemed madness,
and his death dishonored.
See how he is accounted among the sons of God;
how his lot is with the saints!”

Alleluia, alleluia. Ps. 91, 13 The just man shall flourish like the palm tree, like a cedar of Lebanon shall he grow. Alleluia. Ps. Osee 14, 6 The just man shall blossom like the lily, and flourish forever before the Lord. Alleluia.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 20, 20–23

At that time the mother of Zebedee's sons came up to Jesus, accompanied by her sons, to do him homage and to ask a favor of him. He said to her, "What do you want?" She said to him, "Promise that these two sons of mine will sit, one at your right, the other at your left, in your kingdom." In reply, Jesus said, "You do not realize what you are asking. Can you drink the cup which I am going to drink?" "We can," they said. He told them, "From my cup you shall indeed drink. But, as for sitting at my right or my left, that favor is not mine to grant; it is for those for whom it has been reserved by my Father."

Offertory Antiphon

love you above all things here on earth and enjoy the happy fellowship of your saints in heaven. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Book of Sirach
Eccli. 24, 22–31

I spread my branches like a terebinth, my branches so bright and so graceful.
I bud forth delights like the vine,
my blossoms become fruit fair and rich.
I am the mother of the gift of love,
of the fear and the knowledge of God,
and of the just man's hope.
In me is every boon of truth and of the way;
in me is all hope of virtue and of life.
Come to me, all you that yearn for me,
and be filled with my fruits;
My spirit is sweeter than honey,
a better heritage than the honeycomb;
the remembrance of me is for age upon
age.
He who eats of me will hunger still,
he who drinks of me will thirst for more;
He who obeys me will not be put to shame,
he who serves me will never fail.

Post Septuagesimam, omissis Allelúia, et versu sequenti, dicitur:

Tractus Ap. 22, 16–17 Ego sum radix et genus David, stella spléndida et matutína. Ps. Et spíritus et sponsa dicunt: Veni. Et qui audit, dicat: Veni. Ps. Et qui sitit, véniat; et qui vult, accípiat aquam vitæ gratis.

Come, without paying and without cost, drink wine and milk!

Why spend your money for what is not bread;

your wages for what fails to satisfy?

Heed me, and you shall eat well, you shall delight in rich fare.

Come to me heedfully,

listen, that you may have life.

So shall you summon a nation you knew not,

and nations that knew you not shall run to you,

Because of the Lord, your God,

the Holy One of Israel, who has glorified you.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 19, 25–27

At that time, near the cross of Jesus, there also stood his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene. Then seeing his mother there with the disciple whom he loved, Jesus said to his mother, "Woman, there is your son." In turn he said to the disciple, "There is your mother." And from that hour the disciple took her into his care.

been invited to the celebration. When the wine ran short, Jesus' mother told him, "They have no wine." But Jesus answered her, "Woman, how does this concern of yours involve me? My hour has not yet come." His mother instructed the waiters, "Do whatever he tells you." As prescribed for Jewish ceremonial washings, there were at hand six stone water jars, each one holding fifteen to twenty-five gallons. "Fill the jars with water," Jesus ordered, and they filled them to the brim. "Now," he said to them, "draw some out and take it to the headwaiter." And they did so. But as soon as the headwaiter tasted the water made wine (now he had no idea where it came from; only the waiters knew since they had drawn the water), he called the bridegroom, and pointed out to him, "Everyone serves choice wine first; then, when the guests have been drinking a while, the inferior wine. But you have kept the choice wine till now." What Jesus did at Cana in Galilee marked the beginning of his signs; thus he revealed his glory and his disciples believed in him.

James the Apostle
James 5, 7-8, 11, 16-18

Brethren: Have patience until the coming of the Lord. The farmer waits for a good crop from the earth and is patient with it until it receives the early and the late rains. So you too must have patience and make your hearts firm, for the Lord's coming is at hand. Why, we call happy those who have shown endurance. You have heard of the endurance of Job and have seen the outcome which the Lord gave it, for "merciful and gracious is the Lord." Admit your sins to one another and pray for one another, so that you may find healing. The fervent petition of a holy man is powerful indeed. Elia was only a man like us. Yet he prayed earnestly that it would not rain, and no rain fell on the land for three years and six months. When he prayed again, the sky poured rain and the land produced its crop.

from the Book of Sirach
Eccli. 21, 26-31

The fool steps boldly into a house,
while the well-bred man remains outside;
It is rude for one to listen at a door;
a cultured man would be overwhelmed by the disgrace of it.
The lips of the impious talk of what is not their concern,
but the words of the prudent are carefully weighed.
Fools' thoughts are in their mouths,
wise men's words are in their hearts.
When a godless man curses his adversary,
he really curses himself.
A slanderer besmirches himself,
and is hated by his neighbors.
The reserved and prudent man deserves honor.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 11, 2-10

At that time, John in prison heard about Christ's achievements and sent a message through his disciples to ask him, "Are you 'He-who-is-to-come,' or are we to expect someone else?" In reply, Jesus said to them, "Go back and report to John what you hear and see: the blind recovering their sight, cripples walking, lepers being cleansed, the deaf hearing, dead men being raised to life, the poor hearing the good news. And happy the man who does not falter because of me." As the messengers were setting off, Jesus began to speak to the crowds about John, "What did you go out to see in the desert—a reed swayed by the wind? Really, what did you go out to see—someone luxuriously clad? Remember, those who dress luxuriously are to be found in royal palaces. Then why did you go out—to see a prophet? Of course it was!—in fact something more than a prophet. It is about this man that Scripture says, 'Look, I am sending my messenger ahead of you, who will prepare your way before you.' "

Canticles
Cant. 2, 1-13

I am a flower of Saron,
a lily of the valley.
As a lily among thorns,
so is my beloved among women.
As an apple tree among the trees of the woods,
so is my lover among men.
I delight to rest in his shadow,
and his fruit is sweet to my mouth.
He brings me into the banquet hall and his emblem over me is love.
Strengthen me with raisin cakes, refresh me with apples, for I am faint with love.
His left hand is under my head and his right arm embraces me.
I adjure you, daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles and hinds of the field,
Do not arouse, do not stir up love
before its own time.
Hark! my lover—here he comes springing across the mountains, leaping across the hills.
My lover is like a gazelle or a young stag.
Here he stands behind our wall,
gazing through the lattices.

My lover speaks; he says to me, “Arise, my beloved, my beautiful one, and come!
For see, the winter is past,
the rains are over and gone.
The flowers appear on the earth, the time of pruning the vines has come, and the song of the dove is heard in our land.

and the vines, in bloom, give forth fragrance.
Arise, my beloved, my beautiful one,

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 13, 44-52

At that time Jesus told his disciples this parable: "The kingdom of heaven is like hidden treasure which a man found in a field. He hid it again, and happy with his find, went and sold all he had and bought that field.
Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant's search for fine pearls. When he finally found one really valuable pearl, he went back and auctioned off all he had and bought it. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was thrown into the lake and collected all sorts of things. When it was full, they hauled it ashore, and sat down to collect what was worthwhile in tubs. What was useless they threw away.
That is how it will be at the end of the world.
The angels will go out and separate the evil men from the saints, and hurl them into the fiery furnace where they will wail and gnash their teeth. Have you understood everything I have said?" "Yes," they said to him. Then he told them, "So every scribe who has become a disciple of the kingdom of heaven is like the head of the house who can bring out of his storeroom the new as well as the old."

He will separate them into two groups, just as the shepherd separates the sheep from the goats. The sheep he will place on his right hand, the goats on his left. Then the king will say to those on his right, ‘Come, you who have my Father’s blessing! Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the creation of the world. For I was hungry, and you gave me food; I was thirsty and you gave me a drink; I was away from home, and you made me welcome; naked, and you gave me clothing; I was ill, and you came to comfort me; I was in jail, and you came to visit me.’ Then the saints will reply to him, ‘Lord, when did we feed you when we saw you hungry, or give you a drink when you were thirsty? When did we make you welcome when we saw you away from home, or give you clothing when you were naked? When did we come to visit you when we saw you were ill or in jail?’ Then the king will answer them, ‘I assure you, as often as you did it for one of these brothers of mine, insignificant though they be, you did it for me.’”

Tunc dicet Rex his, qui a dextris eius erunt: Veníte, benedícti Patris mei, possidéte parátum vobis regnum a constitutióne mundi. Esurívi enim, et dedístis mihi manducáre: sitívi, et dedístis mihi bíbere: hospes eram, et collegístis me: nudus, et cooperuístis me: infirmus, et visitástis me: in cárcere eram, et venístis ad me. Tunc respondébunt ei iusti, dicéntes: Dómine, quando te vídimus esuriéntem, et pávimus te: sitiéntem, et dédimus tibi potum? quando autem te vídimus hóspitem, et collegímus te: aut nudum, et cooperuímus te? aut quando te vídimus infirmum, aut in cárcere, et vénimus ad te? Et respóndens Rex, dicet illis: Amen dico vobis: quamdiu fecístis uni ex his frátribus meis mínimis, mihi fecístis.

Religio munda et immaculáta apud Deum, et Patrem, hæc est: Visitáre pupíllas, et víduas in tribulatióne eórum, et immaculátum se custodíre ab hoc saéculo. (T. P. Alleluia.)

For her sake I should have immortality

Matth. 16, 24–27

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "If a man determines to come after me, he must renounce self, take up his cross, and follow me. Whoever determines to save himself will destroy himself; but whoever destroys himself for my sake will find himself. What advantage would it be for a man to gain the whole world at the cost of destroying himself? Or what can a man give in exchange for his own self? The Son of Man is going to come with his Father's glory accompanied by his angels, and then he will repay each man according to his conduct."

In my first account, Theophilus, I dealt with all that Jesus did and taught until the day he was taken up to heaven, after he had instructed his chosen apostles through the Holy Spirit. For after his Passion he showed them in many convincing ways that he was alive, appearing to them during forty days and speaking to them about the kingdom of God. Once when he met with them, he told them not to leave Jerusalem. "Wait, rather, for the fulfillment of my Father's promise about which you have heard me speak. You will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes upon you, and you are to be my witnesses in Jerusalem, throughout Judea and Samaria—yes, even to the ends of the earth.” When he had said this, he was lifted up before their very eyes, and a cloud took him from their sight. They were still staring after him into the sky when two men dressed in white stood beside them. “Men of Galilee,” they said, “why do you stand here looking at the sky? This Jesus who has been taken away from you up to heaven will come back in the same way that you saw him go.” Then they returned to Jerusalem from the mount called Olivet, which is near Jerusalem, a mere Sabbath’s journey away. Entering the city, they went to that upstairs room where they were staying, Peter, and John and James, and Andrew; Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew; James, son of Alpheus; and Simon, the Zealot; and Judas, son of James. They all devoted themselves to constant prayer together, joined by a group of women, and Mary, the mother of Jesus, and his brothers.

A Reading from the Book of Wisdom
Wis. 7, 7-15

I prayed, and prudence was given me;
I pleaded, and the spirit of Wisdom came to me.
I preferred her to scepter and throne,
and deemed riches nothing in comparison with her.
Nor did I liken any priceless gem to her;
because all gold, in view of her, is a little sand,
and before her, silver is to be accounted mire.
Beyond health and comeliness I loved her,
and I chose to have her rather than the light,
because the splendor of her never yields to sleep.
Yet all good things together came to me in her company,
and countless riches at her hands;
And I rejoiced in them all, because Wisdom is their leader,
though I had not known that she is the mother of these.
Simply I learned about her, and ungrudgingly do I share—
her riches I do not hide away;

mountain top cannot be concealed. Men do not light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket. They set it on a stand where it gives light to all in the house. In the same way, your light must shine before men so that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father. Don't think that I have come to abolish the Law and the Prophets. I have come, not to abolish them, but to bring them to perfection. I assure you of this: until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter, not even the smallest part of a letter, of the Law will be done away with, until it all comes true. Consequently, the man who breaks the least important of these commandments and teaches others to follow his example will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. It is the man who observes them and teaches them who will be called great in the kingdom of heaven."

Brethren: We drew courage from our God to preach to you the gospel of God under great opposition. For our exhortation springs neither from delusion nor from impure motives nor from deceit; rather, having met the test imposed on us by God as those entrusted with the gospel, so we preach, trying to please not men but God, "who tests our hearts." Never were we guilty of flattering words—you know this—nor of greediness under any pretext—God is the witness!—never trying for honor from men, neither from you nor from others, even though it was in our power to impose ourselves as apostles of Christ. On the contrary, while we were among you we were as gentle as a nursing mother when she embraces her young. So solicitous were we for you, in fact, that we wanted to share with you not only the gospel of God but even our very lives, so beloved had you become to us. You do indeed remember, brethren, our labor and toil: all the while we were preaching to you the gospel of God we worked both night and day so as not to impose on you in any way.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 25, 31–40

At that time Jesus said to his disciples:
“When the Son of Man comes in his glory, escorted by all the angels, then he will take his seat upon his royal throne, and all the nations will be assembled in his presence.
He will separate them into two groups, just as the shepherd separates the sheep from the goats. The sheep he will place on his right hand, the goats on his left. Then the king will say to those on his right, ‘Come, you who have my Father’s blessing! Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the creation of the world. For I was hungry, and you gave me food; I was thirsty and you gave me a drink; I was away from home, and you made me welcome; naked, and you gave me clothing; I was ill, and you came to comfort me; I was in jail, and you came to visit me.’ Then the saints will reply to him, ‘Lord, when did we feed you when we saw you hungry, or give you a drink when you were thirsty? When did we make you welcome when we saw you away from home, or give you clothing when you were naked? When did we come to visit you when we saw you were ill or in jail?’ Then the king will answer them, ‘I assure you, as often as you did it for one of these brothers of mine, insignificant though they be, you did it for me.’ ”

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews
Hebr. 13, 7–17

Brethren: Remember your rulers who proposed to you the word of God. Consider the end of their lives and imitate their faith. Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today and forever.

Do not be carried away by all kinds of strange teachings. It is good to have the heart strengthened by God's favor, not by foods which are useless to those who take them as a norm for living. We have an altar from which those who serve the tent have no authority to eat. The bodies of those animals whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest to make atonement for sin are burned outside the camp. Therefore Jesus died outside the gate in order to sanctify the people by his own blood. Let us go to him outside the camp bearing the insult which he bore. We do not have a lasting city here; we are seeking the one which is to come. Through him therefore let us constantly offer to God a sacrifice of praise, that is, the fruit of lips which acknowledge his name. Do not neglect good deeds and generosity; God is pleased by sacrifices of that sort. Have confidence in your rulers and obey them; for they keep watch over you as men who must render an account.

Gradual Ps. 131, 16–17 Her priests I will clothe with salvation, and her faithful ones shall shout merrily for joy. Ps. 109, 4 In her will I make a horn to sprout forth for David; I will place a lamp for my Christ.

At that time, when Jesus came into the neighborhood of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples this question: "Who do people say the Son of Man is?" They replied, "Some, John the Baptist; others, Elia; still others, Jeremiah, or one of the prophets." "And you," he said to them, "who do you say I am?" "You are the Messiah," Simon Peter answered, "the Son of the living God!" Jesus replied, "Happy are you, Simon son of John! No mere man has disclosed this to you, but my heavenly Father. And I, for my part, declare to you: you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my Church, and the forces of Death's realm shall not subdue it. 1 Cor. 1, 26–31; 2, 1–2

Brethren: Look at yourselves who have been called. Not many of you are wise as men account wisdom, not many powerful, not many well-born. No, God has chosen those who in the world are fools in order to shame the wise; he has chosen those who in the world are weak in order to shame the strong; he has chosen those who in the world are lowly-born and count for nothing—and who really were nothing!—in order to make nothing those who are something, so that no flesh can boast before God. It is God who has given you life in Christ Jesus, whom he has made our wisdom and also our justice, sanctification and redemption; so just as it is written, “Let him who would boast, boast in the Lord.” As for myself, brothers, when I came to you I did not come proclaiming the testimony of God with eloquence or “wisdom.” No, I determined that while I was with you I would speak of nothing but Jesus Christ, and him crucified.

Gradual Luke 4, 18 To bring good news to the poor he has sent me, to heal the contrite of heart. Ps. 67, 11–12 In your goodness, O God, you provided for the needy. The Lord gives the word to those that preach good tidings with great power.

Alleluia, alleluia. Ps. 52, 7 How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him who brings glad tidings, announcing salvation. Alleluia.

according to Matthew
Matth. 9, 35-38

At that time Jesus toured all the towns and villages. He taught in their synagogues, proclaimed the good news of the kingdom, cured every disease and every sickness. At the sight of the crowds, his heart was moved with pity for them. They were like sheep with no shepherd, lying prostrate from exhaustion. Thereupon he remarked to his disciples, "The harvest is plentiful, but laborers are scarce. So pray to the owner of the harvest to send out laborers to reap it."

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians
2 Cor. 5, 14–21

Brethren: The love of Christ urges us on, for we have come to this judgment: one died for all, therefore all died. And Christ died for all so that those who live might no longer live for themselves but for him who died for them, and was raised up. Consequently, from now on we consider no one according to merely human standards. Even if we once considered Christ in that way, we do so no longer. So if anyone is in Christ, there is a new creation; the old has passed away, the new has begun! All this is the work of God who has reconciled us to himself through Christ and has given us the ministry of reconciliation. For God was in Christ, reconciling the world to himself, not counting against men their transgressions, and he has entrusted us with the word which announces that reconciliation. We are ambassadors of Christ and God is, so to speak, exhorting through us. In the name of Christ we beg you: be reconciled with God! For our sake he caused to become sin him who had no experience of sin, that in him we might become the justice of God.

He said to them: "Take nothing for the journey, neither walking stick nor traveling bag, neither bread nor money; neither is anyone to have a second tunic. Stay at whatever house you enter, and proceed from there. And when people will not receive you, leave that town and shake its dust from your feet as a testimony against them." Acts 12, 1-11

In those days Herod the King started to harass some of the members of the church. He beheaded James, the brother of John, and when he saw that this pleased the Jews, he proceeded to arrest Peter too. It was during the Feast of Unleavened Bread that he had him arrested and thrown into prison, with four squads of soldiers to guard him. Herod intended to bring him before the people after the Passover. So it was that Peter was kept in prison, while the church

Et ecce Angelus Domini astitit: et lumen refulsit in habitaculo: percussitque latera Petri, excitavit eum, dicens: Surge velociter. Et ceciderunt catenae de manibus eius. Dixit autem Angelus ad eum: Praecingere, et calcea te caligas tuas. Et fecit sic. Et dixit illi: Circumda tibi vestimentum tuum, et sequere me. Et exiens sequebatur eum, et nesciebat quia verum est, quod fiebat per Angelum: existimabat autem se visum videre. Transientes autem primam et secundam custodiam, venerunt ad portam ferream, quae ducit ad civitatem: quae ultro aperta est eis. prayed fervently to God on his behalf. During the very night before Herod was going to bring him forward, Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, fastened with two chains, while guards stood watch at the door. Suddenly the angel of the Lord stood nearby and a light shone in the cell. He tapped Peter on the side and woke him up. "Hurry, get up!" he said. And the chains dropped from his wrists. The angel said, "Put on your belt and your sandals!" This he did. Then the angel said, "Now put on your cloak and follow me." Peter followed him out, but did not realize that all this was really happening with the angel's help, for it seemed to be just a vision. But when they passed the first guard, and then the second, and came to the iron gate leading to the city, it opened for them of itself. They went out and walked down a narrow alley when suddenly the angel left him. Peter, coming to his senses, said, "Now I know for certain that the Lord has sent his angel to rescue me from Herod's clutches, and from all that the Jewish people hoped for."

Gradual Ps. 44, 17-18 You shall make them princes through all the land. I will make your name memorable, O Lord. V. The place of your fathers your sons shall have; therefore shall nations praise you forever and ever.

and signs among the people. Certain members, however, of the so-called "Synagogue Roman Freedmen" (that is, of the Jews from Cyrene, Alexandria, Cilicia, and Asia) would undertake to engage Stephen in debate; yet they were no match for the wisdom and the spirit with which he spoke. Those who listened to his words were cut to the heart; they ground their teeth in anger at him. But Stephen, filled with the Holy Spirit, looked to the sky above, and saw the glory of God and Jesus standing at God's right hand. "Look," he exclaimed, "I can see the sky opened and the Son of Man standing at God's right hand." But they yelled out, holding their hands over their ears; and as one man, they rushed at him. They dragged him out of the city and began to stone him. The witnesses piled their cloaks at the feet of a young man named Saul. As they stoned Stephen, he prayed aloud: "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit." Falling to his knees, he cried out in a loud voice, "Lord, do not hold this sin against them." And with that he died in the Lord.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "When you hear of wars and insurrections do not become frightened. These things are bound to happen first, but the end will not follow immediately."

Then he said to them: "Nation will rise against nation and kingdom against kingdom. There will be earthquakes, and plagues in various places, and famines, and in the sky fearful omens and great signs. But, before all this, they will manhandle you and persecute you, handing you over to synagogues and prisons, and bringing you to trial before kings and governors because of my name. It will lead to your testifying to your faith. Resolve, then, not to worry beforehand about your defense. For I will give you words and wisdom which none of your adversaries will be able to take exception to or contradict. You will be handed over even by your parents, brothers, relatives, and friends; some of you will be put to death, and you will be hated by all because of my name. Prayer

O Lord God, in serving you may we imitate the innocence and fidelity by which the angelic youth John dedicated his innocent young life to you. Through Jesus Christ.

Concéde, quæsumus, fámulis tuis, Dómine Deus: ea innocéntiæ ac fidelitátis exémpa in tuo servítio sectári; quibus angélicus iúvenis Ioánnes ætátis suæ florem consecrávit. Per Dóminum.

A Reading from the Book of
Sirach

Eccli. 51, 17–25, 27–28, 35

I thank you and I praise you, O Lord King;
I bless the name of the Lord.
When I was young and innocent,
I sought wisdom before all else.
In prayer I begged for her,
and from my youth I followed after her.
She was rich, like ripening grapes;
in her was my heart's joy.
My feet were steadfast in her path;
thus I attained to her at last.
For a short time I paid heed,
and I acquired great instruction;
As in this way I have made progress,
I shall return thanks to him who gives me wisdom.
When I had considered how I might make her mine,
I strove to do well, lest I should be rebuffed;
My soul was troubled over her,
and I scrutinized my conduct;
I fixed on her my soul's desires,
and with its cleansing, I discovered her.

Jesus replied, "These: 'You shall not kill'; 'You shall not commit adultery'; 'You shall not steal'; 'You shall not bear false witness'; 'Honor your father and your mother,' and, 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.' " The young man said to him, "I have observed all these; what more do I need to do?" Jesus told him, "If you really wish to be perfect, go, sell what you own, and give the money to the poor. Then you will possess heavenly treasure. And come back and follow me."

Prov. 31, 10–31

Lectio libri Sapiëntiae
Prov. 31, 10–31

When one finds a worthy wife,
her value is far beyond pearls.
Her husband, entrusting his heart to her,
has an unfailling prize.
She brings him good, and not evil,
all the days of her life.
She obtains wool and flax
and makes cloth with skillful hands.
Like merchant ships,
she secures her provisions from afar.
She rises while it is still night,
and distributes food to her household.
She picks out a field to purchase;
out of her earnings she plants a vineyard.
She is girt about with strength,
and sturdy are her arms.
She enjoys the success of her dealings;
at night her lamp is undimmed.
She puts her hands to the distaff,
and her fingers ply the spindle.
She reaches out her hands to the poor,
and extends her arms to the needy.
She fears not the snow for her household;
all her charges are doubly clothed.
She makes her own coverlets;
fine linen and purple are her clothing.
Her husband is prominent at the city gates
as he sits with the elders of the land.
She makes garments and sells them,
and stocks the merchants with belts.
She is clothed with strength and dignity,
and she laughs at the days to come.
She opens her mouth in wisdom,
and on her tongue is kindly counsel.
She watches the conduct of her household,
and eats not her food in idleness.

Mulierem fortem quis inveniet? Procul, et de ultimis finibus pretium eius. Confidit in ea cor viri sui, et spoliis non indigebit. Reddet ei bonum, et non malum omnibus diebus vitae suae. Quaesivit lanam et linum, et operata est consilio manuum suarum. Facta est quasi navis institoris, de longe portans panem suum. Et de nocte surrexit, deditque praedam domesticis suis; et cibaria ancillis suis. Consideravit agrum, et emit eum: de fructu manuum suarum plantavit vineam. Accinxit fortitudine lumbos suos, et roboravit brachium suum. Gustavit, et vidit quia bona est negotiatio eius: non exstinguetur in nocte lucerna eius. Manum suam misit ad fortia, et digiti eius apprehenderunt fusum. Manum suam aperuit inopi, et palmas suas extendit ad pauperem. Non timebit domui suae a frigoribus nivis: omnes enim domestici eius vestiti sunt duplicibus. Stragulatam vestem fecit sibi: byssus, et purpura indumentum eius. Nobilis in portis vir eius, quando sederit cum senatoribus terrae. Sindonem fecit, et vendidit, et cingulum tradidit Chananeo. Fortitudo et decor indumentum eius, et ridebit in die novissimo. Os suum aperuit sapientiae, et lex clementiae in lingua eius. Consideravit semitas domus suae, et panem otiosa non comedit. Surrexerunt filii eius, et beatissimam praedica-verunt: vir eius, et laudavit eam. Multae filiae congregaverunt divitias: tu supergressa es universas. Fallax gratia, et vana est pulchritudo: mulier timens Dominum, ipsa laudabitur. Date ei de fructu manuum suarum: et laudent eam in portis opera eius.

Her children rise up and praise her;
her husband, too, extols her:
“Many are the women of proven worth,
but you have excelled them all.”
Charm is deceptive and beauty fleeting;
the woman who fears the Lord is to be praised.
Give her a reward of her labors,
and let her works praise her at the city
gates.

Graduale Ps. 44, 13, 10 et 15–16
Vultum tuum deprecabuntur omnes divites plebis; filiae regum in honore
tuo. Ps. 44, 13, 10 et 15–16
Adducuntur Regi virgines post eam: proximae eius afferuntur tibi. Afferuntur in laetitia, et exultatione:
adducuntur in templum Regis.

Dilexisti iustitiam, et odisti iniquitatem:
propterea unxit te Deus, Deus tuus,

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 13, 44–52

At that time Jesus told his disciples this parable: “The kingdom of heaven is like hidden treasure which a man found in a field. He hid it again, and happy with his find, went and sold all he had and bought that field. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant's search for fine pearls. When he finally found one really valuable pearl, he went back and auctioned off all he had and bought it. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was thrown into the lake and collected all sorts of things. When it was full, they hauled it ashore, and sat down to collect what was worthwhile in tubs. What was useless they threw away. That is how it will be at the end of the world. The angels will go out and separate the evil men from the saints, and hurl them into the fiery furnace where they will wail and gnash their teeth. Have you understood everything I have said?" "Yes," they said to him. Then he told them, "So every scribe who has become a disciple of the kingdom of heaven is like the head of the house who can bring out of his storeroom the new as well as the old."

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "You are the salt of the earth. Suppose salt becomes insipid; how can you restore its tang? Then it is good for nothing but to be thrown out, and trampled underfoot. You are the light of the world. A city on a mountain top cannot be concealed. Men do not light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket. They set it on a stand where it gives light to all in the house. In the same way, your light must shine before men so that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father. Don't think that I have come to abolish the Law and the Prophets. I have come, not to abolish them, but to bring them to perfection. I assure you of this: until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter, not even the smallest part of a letter, of the Law will be done away with, until it all comes true. Consequently, the man who breaks the least important of these commandments and teaches others to follow his example will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. It is the man who observes them and teaches them who will be called great in the kingdom of heaven."

A Reading from the Book of Sirach
Eccli. 50, 1-14

Lectio libri Sapientiae
Eccli. 50, 1-14

Here is a high priest
In whose time the house of God was renovated,
in whose days the temple was reinforced.
In his time also the wall was built
with powerful turrets for the temple precincts;
In his time the reservoir was dug,
the pool with a vastness like the sea's.
He protected his people against brigands
and strengthened his city against the enemy.
How splendid he was as he appeared from the Tent,
as he came from within the veil!
Like a star shining among the clouds,
like the full moon at the holyday season;
Like the sun shining upon the temple,
like the rainbow appearing in the cloudy sky;
Like the blossoms on the branches in springtime,
like a lily on the banks of a stream;
Like the trees of Lebanon in summer,
like the fire of incense at the sacrifice;
Like a vessel of beaten gold,
studded with precious stones;
Like a luxuriant olive tree thick with fruit,
like a cypress standing against the clouds;
His brethren ringed him about like a garland,
like a stand of cedars on Lebanon;
All the sons of Aaron in their dignity clustered around him like poplars.

Ecce sacerdos magnus, qui in vita sua suffulsi domum, et in diebus suis corroboravit templum. Templi etiam altitudo ab ipso fundata est, duplex aedificatio et excelsi parietes templi. In diebus ipsius emanaverunt putei aquarum, et quasi mare adimpleri sunt supra modum. Qui curavit gentem suam, et liberavit eam a perditione. Qui prevaluit amplificare civitatem, qui adeptus est gloriam in conversatione gentis: et ingressum domus, et atrii amplificavit. Quasi stella matutina in medio nebulae, et quasi luna plena in diebus suis lucet. Et quasi sol refulgens, sic ille effulsi in templo Dei. Quasi arcus refulgens inter nebulas gloriae, et quasi flos rosarum in diebus vernis, et quasi lilia quae sunt in transitu aquae, et quasi thus redolens in diebus aestatis. Quasi ignis effulgens, et thus ardens in igne. Quasi vas auri solidum, ornatum omni lapide pretioso. Quasi oliva pullulans, et cyprissus in altitudinem se extollens, in accipiendo ipsum stolam gloriae, et vestiri eum in consummationem virtutis. In ascensu altaris sancti, gloriam dedit sanctitatis amictum. In accipiendo autem partes de manu sacerdotum, et ipse stans iuxta aram. Et circa illum corona fratrum: quasi plantatio cedri in monte Libano, sic circa illum steterunt quasi rami palmae, et omnes filii Aaron in gloria sua.

Graduale Ps. 36, 30–31 Os iusti meditabitur sapiéntiam, et lingua eius loquétur iudícium. ℟. Lex Dei eius in corde ipsíus: et non supplantabúntur gressus eius.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 5, 13–19

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: “You are the salt of the earth. Suppose salt becomes insipid; how can you restore its tang? Then it is good for nothing but to be thrown out, and trampled underfoot. You are the light of the world. A city on a mountain top cannot be concealed. Men do not light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket. They set it on a stand where it gives light to all in the house. In the same way, your light must shine before men so that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father. Don’t think that I have come to abolish the Law and the Prophets. I have come, not to abolish them, but to bring them to perfection. I assure you of this: until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter, not even the smallest part of a letter, of the Law will be done away with, until it all comes true. Consequently, the man who breaks the least important of these commandments and teaches others to follow his example will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. It is the man who observes them and teaches them who will be called great in the kingdom of heaven.”

donec transeat caelum et terra, iota unum aut unus apex non praeteribit a lege, donec omnia fiant. Qui ergo solverit unum de mandatis istis minimis, et docuerit sic homines, minimus vocabitur in regno caelorum: qui autem fecerit, et docuerit, hic magnus vocabitur in regno caelorum.

A Reading from the Prophet Isaia

Isai. 11, 1-5

Thus says the Lord God:

A shoot shall sprout from the stump of Jesse,
and from his roots a bud shall blossom.
The spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him;
a spirit of wisdom and of understanding,
A spirit of counsel and of strength, a spirit of knowledge and of fear of the Lord, and his delight shall be the fear of the Lord.

Not by appearance shall he judge,
nor by hearsay shall he decide,
But he shall judge the poor with justice,
and decide aright for the land's afflicted.
He shall strike the ruthless with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips he shall slay the wicked.

Justice shall be the band around his waist,
and faithfulness a belt upon his hips.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 1, 39–47

At that time Mary set out and went with haste into the hill-country, to a town of Juda. She entered Zachary's house and greeted Elizabeth. And, when Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the infant stirred in her womb; and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit, and cried out in a loud voice: "Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb. And who am I, that the mother of my Lord should come to me? For the moment that your salutation sounded in my ears the infant stirred in my womb with joy. Happy is she who has believed that the Lord's words to her will be fulfilled."

And Mary said:
"My soul magnifies the Lord,
and my spirit rejoices in God my savior."

Prayer

Grant your servants continual health of mind and body, O Lord God,* and let the intercession of the blessed ever-virgin Mary gain for us freedom from our present sorrows and give us the joy of everlasting happiness. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Book of Proverbs Prov. 8, 22–35

The Lord begot me, the firstborn of his ways,
the forerunner of his prodigies of long ago;
From of old I was poured forth,
at the first, before the earth.
When there were no depths I was brought forth,
when there were no fountains or springs of water;
Before the mountains were settled into place,
before the hills, I was brought forth;
While as yet the earth and the fields were not made,
nor the first clods of the world.
“When he established the heavens I was there,
when he marked out the vault over the face of the deep;
When he made firm the skies above,
when he fixed fast the foundations of the earth;
When he set for the sea its limit,
so that the waters should not transgress his command;
Then I was beside him as his craftsman and I was his delight day by day, Playing before him all the while, playing on the surface of his earth; and I found delight in the sons of men.
So now, O children, listen to me;
instruction and wisdom do not reject!
Happy the man who obeys me,
and happy those who keep my ways,

Tract Ps. 117, 16-17 The right hand of the Lord has struck with power: the right hand of the Lord has exalted me; the right hand of the Lord has struck with power. Ps. I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the Lord. Ps. 59, 13 Give us aid against the foe, Lord, for worthless is the help from men.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

Alleluia, alleluia. Ps. 117, 14 My strength and courage is the Lord, and he has been my savior. Alleluia. Ps. 59, 13 Give us aid against the foe, Lord, for worthless is the help from men. Alleluia.

✠ *A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 2, 1-11*

At that time, there was a wedding at Cana in Galilee. The mother of Jesus was there, and Jesus himself and his disciples had also been invited to the celebration. When the wine ran short, Jesus' mother told him, "They have no wine." But Jesus answered her, "Woman, how does this concern of yours involve me? My hour has not yet come." His mother instructed the waiters, "Do whatever he tells you." As prescribed for Jewish ceremonial washings, there were at hand six stone water jars, each one holding fifteen to twenty-five gallons. "Fill the jars with water," Jesus ordered, and they filled them to the brim. "Now," he said to them, "draw some out and take it to the headwaiter." And they did so. But as soon as the headwaiter tasted the water made wine (now he had no idea where it came from; only the waiters knew since they had drawn the water), he called the bridegroom, and pointed out to him, "Everyone serves choice wine first; then when the guests have been drinking a while, the inferior wine. But you have kept the choice wine till now." What Jesus did at Cana in Galilee marked the beginning of his signs; thus he revealed his glory and his disciples believed in him.

Allelúia, allelúia. ℣. Ps. 123, 7 Anima nostra, sicut passer, erépta

Set free the oppressed,
break every yoke;
Share your bread with the hungry,
shelter the oppressed and the homeless;
Clothe the naked when you see them,
and do not turn your back on your own.
Then your light shall break forth like the dawn,
and your wound shall quickly be healed;
Your vindication shall go before you,
and the glory of the Lord shall be your
rear guard.

Then you shall call, and the Lord will answer,
you shall cry for help, and he will say:
Here I am!

If you bestow your bread on the hungry
and satisfy the afflicted;
Then light shall rise for you in the darkness,
and the gloom shall become for you like
midday.

Gradual Ps. 71, 12–14 He shall rescue the poor man from the powerful, and the poor man when he has no one to help him. He shall have pity for the poor and the needy, and the lives of the poor he shall save. ℣. From fraud and wickedness he shall redeem their lives, and honorable shall be their name in his sight.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ps. 9, 33 and 35 Rise, O Lord! O God, lift up your hand! Forget not the afflicted! On you the poor man depends; of the fatherless you are the helper.

After Septuagesima, in votive Masses the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

Tract Isaiah 61, 1 The Lord has sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives. ℣. 1 Cor. 9, 22 To the weak I became weak, that I might gain the weak. ℣. I became all things to all men, that I might save all.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 10, 29–37

At that time a certain lawyer, wishing to justify himself, said to Jesus: "And who is my neighbor?" Jesus replied: "A man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and he fell into the hands of robbers who stripped him, beat him, and went off leaving him half dead. A priest happened to be going down the same road; he saw him but passed on. Likewise a Levite also came the same way, saw him, and passed on. But a Samaritan who was on his way came upon him, and was moved to pity at the sight. He went to him, and bound up his wounds, applying oil and wine as an ointment. Then he hoisted him on his own beast, brought him to an inn, and took care of him. Next day he took out two silver pieces, and gave them to the innkeeper, saying: 'Take care of him, and if you spend any more I will reimburse you on my return.'

Which of these three, in your opinion, was neighbor to the man who fell into the hands of the robbers?" He answered: "The man who treated him with compassion." Jesus said to him: "Go and act like him."

Offertory Antiphon
Job 29, 12–13 and 15–16

I rescued the poor who cried out for help, the orphans, and the unassisted; the blessing of those in extremity came upon me, and the heart of the widow I made joyful. I was eyes to the blind, and feet to the lame; I was a father to the needy.

Luc. 10, 29–37

In illo témpore: Legisperítus quidam, volens iustificáre seípsum, dixit ad Iesum: Et quis est meus próxímus? Suscípiens autem Iesus, dixit: Homo quidam descendébat ab Ierúsalem in Iéricho, et incidit in latrónes, qui étiam despoliavérunt eum: et plagis impósitis abiérunt, semivívo relicto. Accidit autem ut sacérdos quidam descénderet eádem via: et viso illo præterívit. Simíliter et levíta, cum esset secus locum, et vidéret eum, pertránsiit. Samaritánus autem quidam iter fáciens, venit secus eum: et videns eum, misericórdia motus est. Et apprópians alligávit vúlnera eius, infúndens óleum et vinum: et impónens illum in iuméntum suum, duxit in stábulum, et curam eius egit. A Reading from the Book of Proverbs
Prov. 31, 10–31

When one finds a worthy wife,
her value is far beyond pearls.
Her husband, entrusting his heart to her,
has an unfailing prize.
She brings him good, and not evil,
all the days of her life.
She obtains wool and flax
and makes cloth with skillful hands.
Like merchant ships,
she secures her provisions from afar.
She rises while it is still night,
and distributes food to her household.
She picks out a field to purchase;
out of her earnings she plants a vineyard.
She is girt about with strength,
and sturdy are her arms.
She enjoys the success of her dealings;
at night her lamp is undimmed.
She puts her hands to the distaff,
and her fingers ply the spindle.
She reaches out her hands to the poor,
and extends her arms to the needy.
She fears not the snow for her household;
all her charges are doubly clothed.
She makes her own coverlets;
fine linen and purple are her clothing.
Her husband is prominent at the city gates
as he sits with the elders of the land.
She makes garments and sells them,
and stocks the merchants with belts.
She is clothed with strength and dignity,
and she laughs at the days to come.
She opens her mouth in wisdom,
and on her tongue is kindly counsel.
She watches the conduct of her household,
and eats not her food in idleness.
Her children rise up and praise her;
her husband, too, extols her:
“Many are the women of proven worth,
but you have excelled them all.”
Charm is deceptive and beauty fleeting;
the woman who fears the Lord is to be praised.

is like a merchant's search for fine pearls. When he finally found one really valuable pearl, he went back and auctioned off all he had and bought it. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was thrown into the lake and collected all sorts of things. When it was full, they hauled it ashore, and sat down to collect what was worthwhile in tubs. What was useless they threw away. That is how it will be at the end of the world. The angels will go out and separate the evil men from the saints, and hurl them into the fiery furnace where they will wail and gnash their teeth. Have you understood everything I have said?" "Yes," they said to him. Then he told them, "So every scribe who has become a disciple of the kingdom of heaven is like the head of the house who can bring out of his storeroom the new as well as the old."

Ps. 83, 3

My heart and my flesh cry out for the living God.

Cor meum, et caro mea exsultavérunt in Deum vivum.

Prayer after Communion

O almighty God, grant that those whom you have renewed by your sacraments may for love of you disdain the things of earth* and always rejoice over their participation in heavenly things. Through Jesus Christ.

Súplices te rogámus, omnipotens Deus: ut, quos tuis reficere dignátus es sacraméntis, intercedénte beáta Catharína, tríbuas pro tui amóre terréna despícere: et cæléstium semper participatióne gaudére. Per Dóminum.

Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians
2 Cor. 12, 11–15

Fratres: Ego a vobis débui commendári: nihil enim minus fui ab iis qui sunt supra modum Apóstoli, tamétsi nihil sum. Signa tamen apostolátus mei facta sunt super vos, in omni patiéntia, in signis et prodígiis et virtútibus. Quid est enim quod minus habuístis præ céteris ecclésiis, nisi quod ipse non gravávi vos? Donáte mihi hanc iniúriam. Ecce tértio hoc parátus sum veníre ad vos: et non ero gravis vobis. Non enim quæro quæ vestra sunt, sed vos; nec enim debent filii paréntibus thesaurizáre, sed paréntes filiiis. Ego autem libénter impéndam et superimpénder ipse pro animábus vestris: licet plus vos diligens, minus díligar.

Brethren: I should have been recommended by you for I am in no way inferior to the super-apostles, even though I am nothing. Certainly the signs that show the apostle have been done by me among you with great patience: signs and wonders and mighty deeds as well. In what way are you inferior to the other churches—except in this, that I was no burden to you? Forgive me this injustice! Here it is the third time that I am ready to go to you, and I will not burden you. For I do not want what you have, but yourselves. The children should not have to save up for the parents, but the parents for the children. And I will gladly spend and be

according to Luke
Luke 6, 17-23

At that time, coming down the mountain Jesus came to a halt on a level stretch with a great number of his disciples, and a large crowd of people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the coast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear him and to be cured of their diseases. Those who were troubled with unclean spirits were cured, and all in the crowd were trying to touch him, because power went out from him and cured all.

Then raising his eyes to his disciples he said:

“Happy are you poor, for yours is the kingdom of God.

A Reading
from the Book of Wisdom
Wis. 7, 7-14

I prayed, and prudence was given me;
I pleaded, and the spirit of Wisdom came to me.
I preferred her to scepter and throne,
and deemed riches nothing in comparison with her.
Nor did I liken any priceless gem to her;
because all gold, in view of her, is a little sand,
and before her, silver is to be accounted mire.
Beyond health and comeliness I loved her,
and I chose to have her rather than the light,
because the splendor of her never yields to sleep.
Yet all good things together came to me in her company,
and countless riches at her hands;
And I rejoiced in them all, because Wisdom is their leader,
though I had not known that she is the mother of these.
Simply I learned about her, and ungrudgingly do I share—
her riches I do not hide away;
For to men she is an unfailing treasure;
those who gain this treasure win the friendship of God,
to whom the gifts they have from discipline commend them.

Paul the Apostle to the Ephesians
Ephes. 1, 3-9

Léctio Epístolæ beáti Pauli
Apóstoli ad Ephésios
Ephes. 1, 3-9

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us in Christ with every spiritual blessing in heaven. He chose us in him before the world was created, to be holy and blameless in his sight through love; and he predestined us to be his own adopted sons through Jesus Christ. This was the free choice of his will, that all might praise the glory of the favor which he has bestowed on us in his Beloved. It is in him and through his blood that we have been redeemed, and our sins have been forgiven, so immeasurably generous is his favor to us. He has given us the wisdom fully to understand the mystery, the plan which he was pleased to decree in Christ.

Benedíctus Deus et Pater Dómini nostri Iesu Christi, qui benedíxit nos in omni benedictióne spirituáli in cælestibus in Christo, sicut elégit nos in ipso ante mundi constitutió-nem, ut essémus sancti et immaculáti in conspéctu eius in caritaté. Qui prædestinávit nos in adoptiόνem filiórum per Iesum Christum in ipsum: secúndum propósitum voluntá-tis suæ, in laudem glóriæ grátiae suæ, in qua gratificávit nos in dilécto Fílio suo. In quo habémus redemptiόνem per sánguinem eius, remissionem peccatórum secúndum divítias grátiae eius, quæ superabundávit in nobis in omni sapiéntia, et prudentia: ut notum fáceret nobis sacraméntum voluntátis suæ, secúndum beneplácitum eius, quod propósuit in eo.

Gradual Ps. 85, 9-10 All the nations you have made shall come and worship you, O Lord, and glorify your name. ℣. For you are great, and you do wondrous deeds; you alone are God.

Et sicut Móyses exaltávit serpéntem in deserto; ita exaltári opórtet Fílium hóminis: ut omnis, qui credit in ipsum, non péreat, sed hábeat vitam ætérnam. Sic enim Deus diléxit mundum, ut Fílium suum unigénitum daret: ut omnis, qui credit in eum, non péreat, sed hábeat vitam ætérnam. Non enim misit Deus Fílium suum in mundum, ut iúdicet mundum, sed ut salvétur mundus per ipsum. Qui credit in eum, non iudicátur: qui autem non credit, iam iudicátus est: quia non credit in nómine unigéniti Fílii Dei.

But he was pierced for our offenses, crushed for our sins. ℣. Upon him was the chastisement that makes us whole, by his stripes we were healed.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Hail, our king: you alone pitied our errors; obedient to the Father, you were led to be crucified like a meek lamb to the slaughter. Alleluia. ℣. Glory to you, to you hosanna; to you triumph and victory; to you the crown of highest praise and honor! Alleluia.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 3, 13–18

At that time Jesus said to Nicodemus: "No one has gone up into heaven except the one who came down from heaven. And just as Moses lifted up the serpent in the desert, so must the Son of Man be lifted up, that everyone who believes may have eternal life in him. Yes, God loved the world so much that he gave his only Son, that every one who believes in him may not perish but have eternal life. For God did not send the Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him. Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe has already been condemned for refusing to believe in the name of God's only Son."

In votive Masses after Septuagesima, the Alleluia is omitted at the end of the following antiphon.

A Reading from the Book of Sirach
Eccli. 50, 1, 4-11

Here is a high priest
In whose time the house of God was renovated,
in whose days the temple was reinforced.
In his time also the wall was built
with powerful turrets for the temple precincts;
In his time the reservoir was dug,
the pool with a vastness like the sea's.
He protected his people against brigands
and strengthened his city against the enemy.
How splendid he was as he appeared from the Tent,
as he came from within the veil!
Like a star shining among the clouds,
like the full moon at the holyday season;
Like the sun shining upon the temple,
like the rainbow appearing in the cloudy sky;
Like the blossoms on the branches in springtime,
like a lily on the banks of a stream;
Like the trees of Lebanon in summer,
like the fire of incense at the sacrifice;
Like a vessel of beaten gold,
studded with precious stones;
Like a luxuriant olive tree thick with fruit,
like a cypress standing against the clouds;
Vested in his magnificent robes, and wearing his garments of splendor.

Gradual Wis. 4, 13-14 Having become perfect in a short while, he reached the fullness of a long career; for his soul was pleasing to God. ℣. Therefore he sped him out of the midst of wickedness. John 10, 11–16

At that time Jesus said to the Pharisees: “I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep. The hired hand, who is not the shepherd and does not own the sheep, catches sight of the wolf coming, and runs away, leaving the sheep to be snatched and scattered by the wolf. And this is because he works for pay and has no concern for the sheep. I am the good shepherd: I know my sheep and mine know me, just as the Father knows me and I know the Father. And for these sheep I lay down my life. I have other sheep, too, that do not belong to this fold. These also must I lead, and they will listen to my voice. Then there will be one flock, one shepherd.”

At that time, coming down the mountain, Jesus came to a halt on a level stretch with a great number of his disciples, and a large crowd of people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the coast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear him and to be cured of their diseases. Those who were troubled with unclean spirits were cured, and all in the crowd were trying to touch him, because power went out from him and cured all.

Then raising his eyes to his disciples he said:

“Happy are you poor, for yours is the kingdom of God.

Happy are you who are now hungry, for you shall be full.

Happy are you who now weep, for you shall laugh.

Happy will you be when men hate you, when they ostracize you and insult you, and proscribe

Prayer

O God, in your wonderful wisdom you grant mature holiness even to youth.* May we in imitation of blessed Stanislaus make the most of our allotted time by good works and hasten to enter into eternal rest. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Book of Wisdom
Wis. 4, 7-16

The just man, though he die early, shall be at rest.
For the age that is honorable comes not with the passing of time,
nor can it be measured in terms of years.
Rather, understanding is the hoary crown for men, and an unsullied life, the attainment of old age.
He who pleased God was loved;
he who lived among sinners was transported—Snatched away, lest wickedness pervert his mind
or deceit beguile his soul;
For the witchery of paltry things obscures what is right and the whirl of desire transforms the innocent mind.
Having become perfect in a short while, he reached the fullness of a long career;
for his soul was pleasing to the Lord,
therefore he sped him out of the midst of wickedness.
But the people saw and did not understand;
nor did they take this into account:
That God's grace and mercy are with his holy ones and his care is with his elect.
Yes, the just man dead condemns the sinful who live, and youth swiftly completed condemns the many years of the wicked man grown old.

Deus, qui inter cetera sapientiae tuae miracula, etiam in tenera aetate maturae sanctitatis gratiam contulisti: da, quaesumus; ut, beati Stanislai exemplo, tempus instanter operando redimentes, in aeternam ingredi requiem festinemus. Per Dominum.

Iustus, si morte praecipuus fuerit, in refrigerio erit. Senectus enim venerabilis est non diuturna, neque annorum numero computata: cani autem sunt sensus hominis, et aetas senectutis vita immaculata. Placens Deo factus est dilectus, et vivens inter peccatores translatus est. Raptus est ne malitia mutaret intellectum eius, aut ne fictio deciperet animam illius. Fascinatio enim nugacitatis obscurat bona, et inconstantia concupiscentiae transvertit sensum sine malitia. Consummatus in brevi explevit tempora multa: placita enim erat Deo anima illius: propter hoc properavit educere illum de medio iniquitatum: populi autem videntes, et non intellegentes, nec ponentes in precordiis talia: quoniam gratia Dei, et misericordia est in sanctos eius, et respectus in electos illius. Wisdom sings her own praises, before her own people she proclaims her

In the assembly of the Most High she opens her mouth, in the presence of his hosts she declares
her worth:
"From the mouth of the Most High I came

In the highest heavens did I dwell,

The vault of heaven I compassed alone,

Over waves of the sea, over all the land,

He will give a new form to this lowly body of ours, making it into an image of his own glorified body. This he will do by the power he has to bring all things into submission to his will. Put all anxiety away from your minds. Present your needs to God in every form of prayer and in petitions full of gratitude. Then will God's own peace, which goes beyond all comprehension, stand guard over your hearts and minds, in Christ Jesus. Finally, my brothers, your thoughts should be wholly directed toward all that is true, whatever deserves respect, everything that is honest, pure, lovely, decent, virtuous, worthy of praise. Live according to what you have learned and accepted from me, what you have heard me saying and have seen me doing. Then will the God of peace be with you.

Qui prædestinávit nos in adopti-ó-nem filiórum per Iesum Christum

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us in Christ with every spiritual blessing in heaven. He chose us in him before the world was created, to be holy and blameless in his sight through love; and he predestined us to be his own adopted sons through Jesus Christ. This was the free choice of his will,

that all might praise the glory of the favor which he has bestowed on us in his Beloved. It is in him and through his blood that we have been redeemed, and our sins have been forgiven, so immeasurably generous is his favor to us. He has given us the wisdom fully to understand the mystery, the plan which he was pleased to decree in Christ to be carried out in the fullness of time: namely, to bring all things together in Christ, both those in heaven and those on earth. It is in him we were chosen; for in the decree of God who works out everything according to his own deliberate plan we were predestined to win praise for his glory by being the first to hope in Christ. In him you, too, were chosen; for when you heard the word of truth, the gospel of salvation, and believed in it, you were sealed with the Holy Spirit, who had been promised. He is the first payment of our inheritance, the guarantee of the full deliverance of the people whom God has acquired for the praise of his glory.

Go then, and remember, I am sending you like lambs in the midst of wolves. Do not carry a walking stick or traveling bag; wear no sandals. And greet no one along the way. On entering any house first say: 'Peace to this house'; if there is a peaceable man there your peace will repose upon him; if not, it will return to you. Stay in that same house eating and drinking what they have, for the laborer is worth his pay. Do not move from house to house. stellárum duódecim. Et péperit filium másculum, qui rectúrus erat omnes gentes in virga férrea: et raptus est filius eius ad Deum, et ad thronum eius. Et datæ sunt mulieri alæ duæ áquilæ magnæ ut voláret in desértum in locum suum. Et misit serpens ex ore suo post mulierem, aquam tamquam flumen, ut eam fáceret trahi a flúmine. Et adiúvit terra mulierem, et apéruit terra os suum, et absórbuit flumen, quod misit draco de ore suo.

In illo témpore: Núptiæ factæ sunt in Cana Galiléæ: et erat mater Iesu ibi. Vocátus est autem et Iesus, she bore a son, a male child, who is destined to rule all the nations with an iron rod, and her child was snatched up to God and to his throne. And the two wings of a great eagle were given to the woman, that she might fly into the desert to her place there. And the serpent poured what seemed to be a river of water out of his mouth after the woman in order to drown her. But the earth came to her assistance; it opened its mouth and swallowed up the river which the dragon had poured out of his mouth.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to John
John 2, 1-11

At that time, there was a wedding at Cana in Galilee. The mother of Jesus was there, and Jesus himself and his disciples had also been invited to the celebration. When the wine ran short, Jesus' mother told him, "They have no wine." But Jesus answered her, "Woman, how does this concern of yours involve me? My hour has not yet come." His mother instructed the waiters, "Do whatever he tells you." As prescribed for Jewish ceremonial washings, there were at hand six stone water jars, each one holding fifteen to twenty-five gallons. "Fill the jars with water," Jesus ordered, and they filled them to the brim. "Now," he said to them, "draw some out and take it to the headwaiter." And they did so. But as soon as the headwaiter tasted the water made wine (now he had no idea where it came from; only the waiters knew since they had drawn the water), he called the bridegroom, and pointed out to him, "Everyone serves choice wine first; then when the guests have been drinking a while, the inferior wine. But you have kept the choice wine till now." What Jesus did at Cana in Galilee marked the beginning of his signs; thus he revealed his glory and his disciples believed in him.

et discipuli eius ad nuptias. Et deficiente vino, dicit mater Iesu ad eum: Vinum non habent. Et dicit ei Iesus: Quid mihi et tibi est, mulier? nondum venit hora mea. Dicit mater eius ministris: Quodcumque dixerit vobis, facite. Erant autem ibi lapideae hydriae sex positae secundum purificationem Iudaeorum, capiendes singulae metretas binas vel ternas. Dicit eis Iesus: Implete hydras aqua. Et impleverunt eas usque ad summum. Et dicit eis Iesus: Haurite nunc, et ferte architriclino. Et tulerunt. Ut autem gustavit architriclinus aquam vinum factam, et non sciebat unde esset, ministri autem sciebant, qui hauserant aquam: vocat sponsum architriclinus, et dicit ei: Omnis homo primum bonum vinum ponit: et cum inebriati fuerint, tunc id, quod deterius est. Tu autem servasti bonum vinum usque adhuc. Hoc fecit initium signorum Iesus in Cana Galilaeae: et manifestavit gloriam suam, et crediderunt in eum discipuli eius.

The bodies of those animals whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest to make atonement for sin are burned outside the camp. Therefore Jesus died outside the gate in order to sanctify the people by his own blood. Let us go to him outside the camp bearing the insult which he bore. We do not have a lasting city here; we are seeking the one which is to come. Through him therefore let us constantly offer to God a sacrifice of praise, that is, the fruit of lips which acknowledge his name. Brethren: God who said: "Let light shine from darkness," has shone in our hearts that we might make known the glory of God shining on the face of Christ. But we hold this treasure in a jar of clay, so that its surpassing power comes from God and not from us. We are afflicted in every way, but we are not crushed; we are at a loss what to do, but we do not despair; we are persecuted, but not abandoned; struck down, but not destroyed. In our bodies we are always exposed to the sentence of Jesus' death, in order that Jesus' life may be revealed in our bodies. We who are alive are constantly being delivered to death for Jesus' sake, in order that the life of Jesus may be revealed in our mortal flesh. Therefore, we do not lose heart; because even if our body is being destroyed, our inner being is renewed daily. For the present light burden of our trial is producing for us an eternal weight of glory, which is beyond all comparison.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed
Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians
1 Cor. 7, 25-34

Brethren: I have not received from the Lord any commandment about virgins, but I give my opinion as one who is trustworthy, thanks to the Lord's mercy. I think, then, that because of the present distress virginity is good; yes, it is good for a person to live in this way. Are you bound to a wife? Don't try to be free. Are you unmarried? Don't go looking for a wife. However, if you do marry, you do not sin. And if a virgin marries, she commits no sin. But such people will have trials in the flesh; and I would like to spare you that. I tell you brothers, time is running out. From now on those with wives should live as though they had none, and those who weep as though they were not weeping, and those who rejoice as though they were not rejoicing, and those who buy as though they own nothing, and those who use the world as though they were not using it; for the world as we see it is passing away. I want you to be without worries. The unmarried man is busy with the Lord's affairs, concerned with pleasing the Lord. But the married man is busy with the cares of this world, concerned with pleasing his wife. So he is divided. The unmarried woman, like the virgin, is concerned with the things of the Lord, that she may be holy in body as well as in spirit in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

Brethren: God who said: "Let light shine from darkness," has shone in our hearts that we might make known the glory of God shining on the face of Christ. But we hold this treasure in a jar of clay, so that its surpassing power comes from God and not from us. We are afflicted in every way, but we are not crushed; we are at a loss what to do, but we do not despair; we are persecuted, but not abandoned; struck down, but not destroyed. In our bodies we are always exposed to the sentence of Jesus' death, in order that Jesus' life may be revealed in our bodies. We who are alive are constantly being delivered to death for Jesus' sake, in order that the life of Jesus may be revealed in our mortal flesh. Therefore, we do not lose heart; because even if our body is being destroyed, our inner being is renewed daily. For the present light burden of our trial is producing for us an eternal weight of glory, which is beyond all comparison.

Gradual Ps. 59, 13, 14 Give us aid against the foe, for worthless is the help of men. ℣. Under God we shall do valiantly; it is he who will tread down our foes.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Apoc. 7, 14 These are they who have come out of the great tribulation, and have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. Alleluia.

After Septuagesima, the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

Tract Ps. 65, 10-12 For you have tested us, O God! You have tried us as silver is tried by fire. ℣. You have brought us into a snare; you laid a heavy burden on our backs. You let men ride over our heads. ℣. We went through fire and water, but you have led us out to refreshment.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Matthew
Matth. 13, 44–52

At that time Jesus told his disciples this parable: “The kingdom of heaven is like hidden treasure which a man found in a field. He hid it again, and happy with his find, went and sold all he had and bought that field. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant’s search for fine pearls. When he finally found one really valuable pearl, he went back and auctioned off all he had and bought it. Or again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was thrown into the lake and collected all sorts of things. When it was full they hauled it ashore, and sat down to collect what was worthwhile in tubs. What was useless they threw away. That is how it will be at the end of the world. The angels will go out and separate the evil men from the saints, and hurl them into the fiery furnace where they will wail and gnash their teeth. Have you understood everything I have said?” “Yes,” they said to him. Then he told them, “So every scribe who has become a disciple of the kingdom of heaven is like the head of the house who can bring out of his storeroom the new as well as the old.”

Beloved: I want women to adorn themselves in proper clothing, with modesty and sobriety—no braided hair, and golden jewelry or pearls or expensive clothes! Rather, as befits women who claim to be religious, let their adornment be good works. Let a woman learn in silence and complete submissiveness, for it is not right for a woman to teach or to have authority over a man; she ought to be silent. Adam was formed first, then Eve. And it was not Adam who was deceived; the woman was deceived and fell into transgression. But she will be saved through child-bearing—if they remain in faith, love, and holiness, with sobriety. Honor widows who are really such. Of course, if they have children or grandchildren these must learn, in the first place, to show piety to their own families and make a due repayment to those who brought Ecce enim ut facta est vox salutationis tuae in auribus meis, exultavit in gaudio infans in utero meo. Et beata, quae credidisti. quoniam perficiuntur ea, quae dicta sunt tibi a Domino. Et ait Maria: Magnificat anima mea Dominum: et exultavit spiritus meus in Deo salutari meo.

Elégi, et sanctificavi locum istum, ut sit ibi nomen meum, et permaneant oculi mei, et cor meum ibi cunctis diebus.

Tua, Domine, propitiatione, et beatae Mariae semper Virginis intercessione, ad perpetuam atque praesentem haec oblatio nobis proficiat prosperitatem et pacem. Per Dominum.

Praefatio de B. Maria Virg. Et te in festivitate.

Non fecit taliter omni nationi: et iudicia sua non manifestavit eis.

Sumptis, Domine, salutis nostrae subsidiis: da, quaesumus, beatae Mariae semper Virginis patrocinii nos ubique protegi; in cuius veneratione haec tuae obtulimus maiestati. Per Dominum nostrum Iesum Christum Filium tuum: Qui tecum vivit et regnat in unitate Spiritus Sancti Deus: per omnia saecula saeculorum.

Entrance Antiphon

Satiávit Dóminus ánimam inánem: sedéntes in ténebris et umbra mortis, vinctos in mendicitáte et ferro. Ps. ibid., 8 Confiteántur Dómino misericórdiæ eius: et mirabilia eius filiis hóminum. V. Glória Patri. Satiávit.

Deus, qui abréptos in servitútem Nigrítas ad agnitióem tui nóminis vocatúrus, beátum Petrum mira in eis iuvándis caritáte et patiéntia roborásti: eius nobis intercessióne concéde; ut, quæ Iesu Christi sunt quæréntes, próximos ópere et veritáte diligámus. Per eúndem Dóminum.

Et fit com. S. Gorgonii Mart.:

Sanctus tuus, Dómine, Gorgónius sua nos intercessióne lætíficet: et pia fáciat solemnitate gaudére. Per Dóminum nostrum.

Léctio Isaiæ Prophétæ
Isai. 58, 6-9 et 10

Hæc dicit Dóminus: Dissólve colligatiónes impietátis, solve fascículos depriméntes, dimítte eos, qui confrácti sunt, líberos, et omne onus dirúmpe. Frange esuriénti panem tuum, et egénos vagósque induc in domum tuam: cum víderis nudum, óperi eum, et carnem tuam ne despéxeris. Tunc erúmpet quasi mane lumen tuum, et sánitas tua cítius oriétur, et anteíbit fáciem tuam iustítia tua, et glória Dómini cólliget te. Tunc invocábis, et Dóminus exáudiet:

The Lord has satisfied the longing soul: those who sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, bondsmen in want and in chains. Ps. ibid., 8 Let them give thanks to the Lord for his kindness and his wondrous deeds to the children of men. V. Glory be to the Father. The Lord has satisfied.

Prayer

O God, you strengthened blessed Peter with remarkable love and patience to help the enslaved Negroes in order that you might bring them to a knowledge of your name.* May we seek the things that belong to Jesus and in doing so love our neighbor in truth and in deed through the intercession of your saint. Through Jesus Christ.

Commemoration of Saint Gorgonius, martyr:

Prayer

O Lord, may the intercession of your saint Gorgonius fill us with joy* and may his holy feast be the occasion of happiness for us. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Prophet Isaiá
Isaiá 58, 6-9, 10

Thus says the Lord:
Release those bound unjustly,
untie the thongs of the yoke;
Set free the oppressed,
break every yoke;
Share your bread with the hungry,
shelter the oppressed and the homeless;
Clothe the naked when you see them,
do not turn your back on your own.
Then your light shall break forth like the dawn,

4*

Sept. 9. St. Peter Claver

and your wound shall quickly be healed;
Your vindication shall go before you,
and the glory of the Lord shall be your
rear guard.

Then you shall call, and the Lord will
answer,
you shall cry for help, and he will say:
Here I am!

If you bestow your bread on the hungry
and satisfy the afflicted;
Then light shall rise for you in the darkness,
and the gloom shall become for you like
midday.

Gradual Ps. 71, 12–14 He shall rescue the poor man from the powerful, and the poor man when he has no one to help him. He shall have pity for the poor and the needy, and the lives of the poor he shall save. ℣.
From fraud and wickedness he shall redeem their lives, and honorable shall be their name in his sight.

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ps. 9, 33 and 35 Rise, O Lord! O God, lift up your hand! Forget not the afflicted. On you the poor man depends, of the fatherless you are the helper.
Alleluia.

After Septuagesima, in votive Masses the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

Tract Isai 61, 1 The Lord has sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives. ℣. 1 Cor. 9, 22 To the weak
I became weak, that I might gain the weak.
℣. I became all things to all men, that I might save all.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. Ps. 123, 7 Our life was rescued like a bird from the fowlers' snare;
broken was the snare, and we were freed.
Alleluia. ℣. Ps. 84, 10 Near indeed is his salvation to those who fear the Lord God, that glory may dwell in our land. Alleluia.

Luc. 10, 29–37

In illo témpore: Legisperítus quidam, volens iustificáre seípsum, dixit ad Iesum: Et quis est meus próxímus? Suscípíens autem Iesus, dixit: Homo quidam descendébat ab Ierúsalem in Iéricho, et incidit in latrónes, qui étiam despoliavérunt eum: et plagis impósitis abiérunt, semívivo relícto. Accidit autem ut sacérdos quidam descénderet eádem via: et viso illo præterívit. Simíliter et levíta, cum esset secus locum, et vidéret eum, pertránsiit. Samaritánus autem quídam iter fáciens, venit secus eum: et videns eum, misericórdia motus est. Et apprópians alligávit vúlnera eius, infúdens óleum et vinum: et impónens illum in iumentum suum, duxit in stábulum, et curam eius egit. Et áltera die prótulit duos denários, et dedit stabulário, et ait: Curam illíus habe: et quodcúmque supererogáveris, ego cum redíero, reddam tibi. Quis horum trium vidétur tibi próxímus fuisse illi qui incidit in latrónes? At ille dixit: Qui fecit misericórdiam in illum. Et ait illi Iesus: Vade, et tu fac simíliter.

Eo quod liberássem páuperem vociferántem, et pupíllum, cui non esset adiútor, benedíctio peritúri super me veniébat, et cor víduæ consolátus sum: óculus fui cæco, et pes claudo: pater eram páuperum.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 10, 29–37

At that time a certain lawyer wishing to justify himself, said to Jesus: "And who is my neighbor?" Jesus replied: "A man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and he fell into the hands of robbers who stripped him, beat him, and went off leaving him half dead. A priest happened to be going down the same road; he saw him but passed on. Likewise a Levite also came the same way, saw him, and passed on. But a Samaritan who was on his way came upon him, and was moved to pity at the sight. He went up to him and bound up his wounds, applying oil and wine as an ointment. Then he hoisted him on his own beast, brought him to an inn, and took care of him. Next day he took out two silver pieces, and gave them to the innkeeper, saying: 'Take care of him, and if you spend any more I will reimburse you on my return.'

"Which of these three, in your opinion, was neighbor to the man who fell into the hands of the robbers?" He answered: "The one who treated him with compassion." Jesus said to him: "Go and act like him."

Offertory Antiphon
Job 29, 12–13 and 15–16

I rescued the poor who cried out for help, the orphans, and the unassisted; the blessing of those in extremity came upon me, and the heart of the widow I made joyful. I was eyes to the blind, and feet to the lame; I was a father to the needy.

Prayer over the Gifts

O Lord, may the victim of love whom we offer in this sacrifice be, by your mercy, acceptable on our behalf;* and may the prayers and merits of blessed Peter help us toward salvation by making us more patient and charitable. Through Jesus Christ.

Lectio Epistolæ beati Pauli
Apóstoli ad Corinthios
2 Cor. 12, 11–15

Fratres: Ego a vobis debui commendari: nihil enim minus fui ab iis qui sunt supra modum Apóstoli, tametsi nihil sum. Signa tamen apostolatus mei facta sunt super vos, in omni patientia, in signis et prodigiis et virtutibus. Quid est enim quod minus habuistis præ ceteris ecclesiis, nisi quod ipse non gravavi vos? Donate mihi hanc iniuriam. Ecce tertio hoc paratus sum venire ad vos: et non ero gravis vobis. Non enim quero quæ vestra sunt, sed vos; nec enim debent filii parentibus thesaurizare, sed parentes filiis. Ego autem libenter impendam et superimpendam ipse pro animabus vestris: licet plus vos diligens, minus diligar.

Graduale Ps. 123, 7–8 Anima nostra, sicut passer erepta est de laqueo venantium. Ps. Laqueus contritus est et nos liberati sumus: adiutorium nostrum in nomine Domini, qui fecit cælum et terram.

O God, you blessed the first fruits of the faith in the vast expanse of North America by the missionary labors and martyrdom of blessed Isaac, John, and their companions.* May the harvest of Christians grow daily more abundant in the whole world through the intercession of these saints. Through Jesus Christ.

Commemoration of Saints Cyprian and Justina, virgin, martyrs:

Prayer

Comfort us, O Lord, with the unfailing protection of your holy martyrs Cyprian and Justina,* for you are always merciful to those who are helped by your saints. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Epistle of blessed Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians
2 Cor. 12, 11–15

Brethren: I should have been recommended by you for I am in no way inferior to the super-apostles, even though I am nothing. Certainly the signs that show the apostle have been done by me among you with great patience: signs and wonders and mighty deeds as well. In what way are you inferior to the other churches—except in this, that I was no burden to you? Forgive me this injustice! Here it is the third time that I am ready to go to you, and I will not burden you. For I do not want what you have, but yourselves. The children should not have to save up for the parents, but the parents for the children. And I will gladly spend and be spent for your sakes. If I love you much more, will I be loved less?

Gradual Ps. 123, 7–8 Our life was rescued like a bird from the fowlers' snare. Ps. Broken was the snare, and we were freed. Our help is in the name of the Lord, who made heaven and earth.

Alleluia, alleluia. Ps. 2 Cor. 1, 5 As the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so also through Christ does our comfort abound, alleluia.

After Septuagesima, in votive Masses the Alleluia with its following verse is omitted, and there is said:

Tract Ps. 125, 5–6 Those that sow in tears shall reap rejoicing. ℣. They go forth weeping, carrying the seed to be sown. ℣. They shall come back rejoicing, carrying their sheaves.

In paschal time the gradual is omitted, and in its place is said:

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. 2 Cor. 1, 5 As the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so also through Christ does our comfort abound, alleluia. ℣. Exodus 15, 11 God is glorious in his saints, terrible in renown, worker of wonders, alleluia.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 6, 17–23

At that time, coming down the mountain, Jesus came to a halt on a level stretch with a great number of his disciples, and a large crowd of people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the coast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear him and to be cured of their diseases. Those who were troubled with unclean spirits were cured, and all in the crowd were trying to touch him, because power went out from him and cured all.

Then raising his eyes to his disciples he said:

“Happy are you poor, for yours is the kingdom of God.

Happy are you who are now hungry, for you shall be full.

Happy are you who now weep, for you shall laugh.

Happy will you be when men hate you, when they ostracize you and insult you, and proscribe your name as evil, because of the Son of Man.

On that day rejoice and exult, for your reward will be great in heaven.”

ita et per Christum abundat consolatio nostra, alleluia.

In Missis votivis post Septuagesimam, omissis Alleluia et versu sequenti, dicitur:

Tractus Ps. 125, 5–6 Qui seminant in lacrimis, in gaudio metent. ℣. Eúntes ibant et flebant, mitténtes sémina sua. ℣. Veniéntes autem vénient cum exultatióne, portántes manípulos suos.

Tempore autem paschali omittitur graduale, et eius loco dicitur:

Alleluia, alleluia. ℣. 2 Cor. 1, 5 Sicut abundant passiones Christi in nobis, ita et per Christum abundat consolatio nostra, alleluia. ℣. Exodi 15, 11 Gloriosus Deus in Sanctis suis: mirabilis in maiestate, faciens prodigia, alleluia.

✠ Sequéntia sancti Evangélii

Luc. 6, 17–23

In illo tempore: Descéndens Iesus de monte, stetit in loco campéstri, et turba discipulórum eius et multitúdo copiósa plebis ab omni Iudæa, et Ierúsalem, et marítima, et Tyri, et Sidónis, qui vénerant, ut audírent eum et sanaréntur a languóribus suis. Et qui vexabántur a spirítibus imúndis, curabántur. Et omnis turba quærébat eum tángere: quia virtus de illo exíbat et sanábat omnes. Et ipse elevátis óculis in discípulos suos, dicébat: Beáti páuperes: quia vestrum est regnum Dei. Beáti, qui nunc esurítis: quia saturabímmini. Beáti, qui nunc fletis: quia ridébitis. Beáti éritis, cum vos óderint hómines, et cum separáverint vos, et exprobráverint, et eiécerint nomen vestrum tamquam malum propter Fílium hóminis. Prayer over the Gifts

Immaculatam hostiam fac nos, Domine, mentibus tibi puris offerre, quam Sanctis Martyribus tuis illibatus vite candor et iuge mortificationis studium dapem suavissimam efficiant. Per Dominum.

O Lord, let us offer you with pure hearts this spotless sacrifice,* in which your holy martyrs found a food of unutterable sweetness, because of their own unsullied purity and their tireless zeal for mortification. Through Jesus Christ.

For the Martyrs

Prayer over the Gifts

Munera tibi. Domine, nostrae devotionis offerimus: quae et pro tuorum tibi grata sint honore iustorum, et nobis salutaria, te miserante, reddantur. Per Dominum.

We offer these gifts to you in sacrifice, O Lord.* May the honor we pay to your saints please you, and may these offerings, through your mercy, bring us closer to our salvation. Through Jesus Christ.

Communion Antiphon

Philipp. 1, 20-21

Prayer after Communion

Fortium pane refectis tribue nobis, omnipotens Deus: ut, sicut sancti Martyres tui Isaacus, Ioannes, eorumque Socii, eodem roborati, animam suam pro fratribus ponere non dubitarunt; ita nos, alter alterius onera portantes, proximos nostros opere et veritate diligamus. Per Dominum.

O almighty God, we are refreshed by the food of the valiant.* When your holy martyrs Isaac, John, and their companions were strengthened by this same bread, they did not hesitate to lay down their own lives for their brothers;* may we also bear one another's burdens and love our neighbors with an effective and sincere charity. Through Jesus Christ.

For the martyrs

Prayer after Communion

Præsta nobis, quaesumus, Domine: intercedentibus sanctis Martyribus tuis Cypriano et Iustina: ut, quod ore contingimus, pura mente capiamus. Per Dominum.

Second Sunday of October

In prisons, reformatories, and houses of correction, two Masses of the Good Thief may be celebrated on this day, as votive Masses of class II (S.R.C. June 22, 1962).

A commemoration of the Sunday is made, and the Creed and Preface of the Holy Trinity are said.

Entrance Antiphon Gal. 6, 14

As for us, God forbid that we should glory save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, in whom is our salvation, life, and resurrection, through whom we are saved and redeemed. Ps. 66, 2 May God have pity on us and bless us; may he let his face shine upon us and have pity on us. ℣. Glory be to the Father. As for us.

Prayer

Almighty and merciful God, you make wicked men good. Your Son by his glance influenced the good Thief and promised him glory.* May he draw us to worthy repentance by the same glance and give us the same glorious reward. Through Jesus Christ.

A Reading from the Prophet Isaia Isaia 59, 1-4

Lo, the hand of the Lord is not too short to save,
nor his ear too dull to hear.
Rather, it is your crimes that separate you from your God,
It is your sins that make him hide his face so that he will not hear you.
For your hands are stained with blood,
your fingers with guilt;
Your lips speak falsehood,
and your tongue utters deceit.
No one brings suit justly,
no one pleads truthfully;
They trust in emptiness and tell lies;

Léctio Isaíæ Prophétæ Isai. 59, 1-4

Ecce, non est abbreviáta manus Dómini, ut salváre néqueat, neque aggraváta est auris eius, ut non exáudiat: sed iniquitátes vestrae divisérunt inter vos et Deum vestrum, et peccáta vestra abscondérunt fáciem eius a vobis, ne exaudíret. Manus enim vestrae pollútæ sunt ságuine, et dígití vestri iniquitáte: lábia vestra locúta sunt mendácium, et lingua vestra iniquitátem fatur. Non est, qui ínvocet iustítiam, neque est, qui iúdicet vere: sed confídunt in níhilo, et loquúntur vanitátes: concepérunt labóres, et peperérunt iniquitátem.

✠ A Reading from the holy Gospel
according to Luke
Luke 23, 39-43

At that time one of the criminals, hanging in crucifixion, jeeringly said to Jesus: Aren't you the Messiah? Save yourself and us." But the other rebuked him, saying, "Haven't you any fear of God, seeing that you are under the same sentence. And we deserve it; we are paying the penalty for what we have done. But this man has done nothing wrong."

And he said: "Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom."

Jesus said, "I tell you this: today you will be with me in Paradise."

Patiéntes estóte, fratres, usque ad advéntum Dómini. Ecce agrícola exspéctat pretiósúm fructum terræ, patiénter ferens donec accípiat temporáneum, et serótinum. Patiéntes ígitur estóte et vos, et confirmáte corda vestra: quóniam advéntus Dómini appropinquávit. Ecce beatificámus eos, qui sustinuérunt. Sufferéntiam Iob audístis, et finem Dómini vidístis, quóniam miséricors Dóminus est, et miserátor. Confitémmini ergo altérrutum peccáta vestra, et oráte pro ínvicem ut salvémmini: multum enim valet deprecátio iusti assídua. Elías homo erat símilis nobis passíbilis: et oratióne orávit ut non plúeret super terram, et non pluit annos tres, et menses sex. Et rursus orávit: et cælum dedit plúviam, et terra dedit fructum suum.

Brethren: Have patience until the coming of the Lord. The farmer waits for a good crop from the earth and is patient with it until it receives the early and the late rains. So you too must have patience and make your hearts firm, for the Lord's coming is at hand. Why, we call happy those who have shown endurance. You have heard of the endurance of Job and have seen the outcome which the Lord gave it, for "merciful and gracious is the Lord." Admit your sins to one another and pray for one another, so that you may find healing. The fervent petition of a holy man is powerful indeed. Elia was only a man like us. Yet he prayed earnestly that it would not rain, and no rain fell on the land for three years and six months. When he prayed again, the sky poured rain and the land produced its crop.

At that time Jesus said to his disciples: "I am the real vine and my Father is the gardener. He cuts away any of my branches that does not bear fruit, but any that bears fruit he trims clean that it may bear more fruit. You are clean already, thanks to the word I have spoken to you. Remain in me as I remain in you. Just as a branch cannot bear fruit by itself without remaining on the vine, so neither can you without remaining united to me. I am the vine; you are the branches. He who remains in me as I in him is the one who bears much fruit, for you can do nothing apart from me. If a man does not remain united to me, he is like a branch, cast off and withered, which they gather up and throw into the fire to be burned. If you remain united to me and my words remain a part of you, ask for whatever you want and you shall have it."

Preface for Advent

PREFACE FOR ADVENT

℣. Dóminus vobíscum.
℞. Et cum spírítu tuo.
℣. Sursum corda.
℞. Habémus ad Dóminum.
℣. Grátias agámus Dómino Deo nostro.
℞. Dignum et iustum est.

Vere dignum et iustum est, æquum et salutáre, nos tibi semper et ubíque grátias ágere: Dómine, sancte Pater, omnípotens ætérne Deus: per Christum Dóminum nostrum. Quem pèrdito hóminum géneri Salvatórem miséricors et fidélis promisísti: cuius véritas instrúeret íncios, sánctitas iustificáret ímpios, virtus adiuváret infírmos. Dum ergo prope est ut véniat quem missúrus es, et dies affúlget liberatiónis nostræ, in hac promissiónum tuárum fide, piis gáudiis exultámus. Et ídeo cum Angelis et Archángelis, cum Thronis et Dominationibus, cumque omni militiæ cælestis exercitus, hymnum glóriæ tuæ cánimus, sine fine dicétes:

Sanctus, Sanctus, Sanctus Dóminus Deus Sábaoth. Pleni sunt cæli et terra glória tua. Hosánna in excélsis. Benedictus qui venit in nómine Dómini. Hosánna in excélsis.

℣. The Lord be with you.
℞. And with your spirit.
℣. Lift up your hearts.
℞. We have lifted them up to the Lord.
℣. Let us give thanks to the Lord our God.
℞. It is right and just.

It is truly right and just, proper and helpful toward salvation, that we always and everywhere give thanks to you, O Lord, holy Father, almighty and eternal God, through Christ our Lord; for in your mercy and fidelity you promised him as Savior to the lost human race, to instruct the ignorant with his truth, justify the wicked with his holiness, and help the weak by his power. Now that the time draws near for the coming of him whom you are sending and the day of our liberation is dawning with faith in your promises, we rejoice with holy exultation. Therefore with the Angels and Archangels, the Thrones and Dominations, and all the militant hosts of heaven, we continuously praise your glory in song, and say:

Holy, holy, holy Lord God of hosts.*
Heaven and earth are filled with your glory.*
Hosanna in the highest.*
Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.*
Hosanna in the highest.

Preface for Blessed Sacrament

PREFACE FOR BLESSED SACRAMENT

℣. The Lord be with you.
℟. And with your spirit.
℣. Lift up your hearts.
℟. We have lifted them up to the Lord.
℣. Let us give thanks to the Lord our God.
℟. It is right and just.

It is truly right and just, proper and helpful toward salvation, that we always and everywhere give thanks to you, O Lord, holy Father, almighty and eternal God, through Christ our Lord; for he abolished the animal sacrifices that were empty shadows and entrusted to us his own body and blood for a sacrifice, so that in every place might be offered to your name that clean oblation which alone has pleased you. So in this mystery of unsearchable wisdom and boundless love, being himself the one who offers and the victim, he ever wondrously effects what he accomplished once on the cross. Making us one victim with himself, he invites us to the sacred banquet in which he, our food, is eaten, the memory of his passion is renewed, the soul is filled with grace and a pledge of future glory is given. Therefore with the Angels and Archangels, the Thrones and Dominations, and all the militant hosts of heaven, we continuously praise your glory in song, and say:

Heaven and earth are filled with your glory.*

It is truly right and just, proper and helpful toward salvation, that we always and everywhere give thanks to you, O Lord, holy Father, almighty and eternal God; for you are glorified amid the assembly of the saints and in crowning their merits are crowning the gifts you have given them. You afford us in their lives good example, a place in their fellowship, help through their intercession. Surrounded with such a cloud of witnesses we can run our appointed course with patience and receive with them the unfading crown of glory, through Jesus Christ our Lord, whose blood gives us entrance into the eternal kingdom. Through him also the Angels adore your majesty in awe, and all the spirits of the heavenly choirs join in one grand chorus of joyous praise. We beg you, let our voices blend with theirs, as in humble praise we say:

OF A CHURCH

℣. The Lord be with you.

℞. And with your spirit.

℣. Lift up your hearts.

℞. We have lifted them up to the Lord.

℣. Let us give thanks to the Lord our God.

℞. It is right and just.

It is truly right and just, proper and helpful toward salvation, that we always and everywhere give thanks to you, O Lord, holy Father, almighty and eternal God, for you, the giver of all good gifts, inhabit this house of prayer which we have built, and unceasingly sanctify the Church which you founded. For your Church is the true house of prayer signified by these visible buildings, the temple where your glory dwells, the seat of unchangeable truth, the sanctuary of eternal charity. She is the ark which rescues us from the flood of this world and brings us into the port of salvation. She is the one beloved Bride whom Christ acquired by his blood and quickens by his Holy Spirit. In her bosom we are born anew by your grace, nourished by the milk of the word, strengthened by the bread of life, encouraged by your merciful aid. With the help of her Bridegroom she struggles faithfully on earth and, crowned by him, is triumphant forever in heaven. Therefore with the Angels and Archangels, the Thrones and Dominations, and all the militant hosts of heaven, we continuously praise your glory in song, and say:
