This chart was assembled in 1868 by Abbat Pothier's younger brother (also a Benedictine monk) to demonstrate his elder brother's working practices. The younger brother's name was Dom Alphonse Pothier. This chart belongs to the Abbey of Saint-Wandrille.

This chart was discovered by Jean-Pierre Noiseux and published in 2004 as part of an article he wrote for Etudes Grégoriennes.

The full title of the article is cited by Dr. Katharine Ellis:

This particular chant (the "Alleluia" from Easter Sunday) was selected by Dom Alphonse Pothier to give an example of his older brother's conscientiousness.

Jean-Pierre Noiseux also included in that 2004 article examples of manuscripts which Pothier copied by hand, such as 443(444) of Colmar

This New Collection, with its marvelous Choral Supplement and 3-volume (spiral bound) Organ Accompaniment, has been described as “the peerless and indispensable resource for any parish musician serious about authentic Catholic music.” • https://ccwatershed.org/hymn/
