

The 1991 English translation of the Lectionary (by the various USCCB shell corporations) translates Dómine, refúgium factus es nobis a generatióne in generatióne as: “If today you hear his voice, harden not your hearts.” It also falsely claims it’s verse 8 of Psalm 89—which it isn’t.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM

Psalm 90:3-4, 5-6, 12-13

R/. (8) If today you hear his voice, harden not your hearts.

You turn man back to dust,
saying, “Return, O children of men.”
For a thousand years in your sight
are as yesterday, now that it is past, or as a watch of the night.

The “8” is false.

R/. If today you hear his voice, harden not your hearts.

You make an end of them in their sleep;
the next morning they are like the changing grass,
which at dawn springs up anew,
but by evening wilts and fades.

R/. If today you hear his voice, harden not your hearts.

Teach us to number our days aright,
that we may gain wisdom of heart.
Return, O LORD! How long?
Have pity on your servants!

R/. If today you hear his voice, harden not your hearts.

Fill us at daybreak with your kindness,
that we may shout for joy and gladness all our days.
And may the gracious care of the LORD our God be ours;
prosper the work of our hands for us!
Prosper the work of our hands!

R/. If today you hear his voice, harden not your hearts.
