Factus Est Dñs

Factus est Dóminus protéctor meus,

HE Lord has be-come my pro-tec-tor; he has et edúxit me in latitúdinem:

salvum me fecit, quóniam vóluit me.

brought me forth in-to freedom. He de-liv-ered me, be-cause he took de-light in me.

Vs. Diligam te, Dómine, virtus mea:

ꝰ. Shall I not love you, O Lord, my on-ly defender? The Lord

Dóminus firmaméntum meum et refúgium meum et liberátor meus.

is my rock, my refuge, and my sav-ior.

In November of 2007, Bishop Donald Trautman, chairman of the USCCB Committee on the Liturgy, made the following declaration:

“Recent research, confirmed by unofficial discussions with officials of the Holy See during the past several years, has made clear that the antiphons of the ORDER OF MASS were never intended to be sung, but are provided without notation to be recited whenever the Graduale Romanum or another song is not sung. The antiphons of the Missale Romanum, which differ substantially from the sung antiphons of the Roman Gradual, were never intended to be sung.”

According to the GENERAL INSTRUCTION OF THE ROMAN MISSAL, the 1st option for the Entrance Chant is “antiphona cum suo psalmo in Graduali romano” (the antiphon with its psalm from the Roman Gradual). The 1960s saw the creation of another set of propers designed for private Masses (or Masses without music). Printed in the SACRAMENTARY, they are referred to by various names: (a) the Spoken Propers [since they’re for Masses without music]; (b) the Sacramentary Propers [since they’re printed in the priest’s book for convenience at private Masses]; or (c) the Adalbert Propers [since they were created by Dom Adalbert Franquesa Garrós in the 1960s]. Beginning in 2011, the USA bishops placed the Adalbert Propers alongside the Graduale as first option in the United States of America, but remember that the Adalbert Propers were designed for private Masses (or Masses without singing). That explains why they omit the Offertory antiphons: viz. since the priest is occupied at that time. Archbishop Bugnini put it very succinctly in his liturgical tome, La Riforma Liturgica (1983): “The entrance and communion antiphons of the Missal were intended to be recited, not sung.” Dr. William Mahrt, a professor at the University of Stanford, wrote in 2015: “Worse, composers are now setting the intros of the missal [instead of the Graduale] to music—even to chant—though these texts were explicitly for spoken recitation only.”

Spoken vs. Sung • Many are turning away from the ADALBERT PROPERS in favor of the Graduale propers—for a variety of reasons. The ADALBERT PROPERS often minimize (or annihilate) certain ideas found in Sacred Scripture. For instance, references to God “conquering” or “destroying” enemies are often bowdlerized: cf. the ENTRANCE CHANT for the 16th Sunday in Ordinary Time. The ADALBERT PROPERS also sometimes betray an impoverished theology: e.g. the 16th Sunday in Ordinary Time assigns Acceptábis Sacrificium for the COMMUNION CHANT, but since that chant reinforces how the Mass is primarily a sacrifice, Dom Adalbert got rid of it.

Imprimatur • An official translation of the Graduale Romanum does not exist. The translation we selected—broadly speaking*—is identical to the English translation found in the following books: The Gregorian Missal (Solesmes Abbey, IMPRIMATUR 16-NOV-1990); The Vatican II Hymnal (CCWatershed, 2011); The Simple English Propers (CMAA, 2011); The Lalemant Propers (CCWatershed, IMPRIMATUR 13-Apr-2013); The Saint Isaac Jogues Illuminated Missal, Gradual, and Lectionary (Sophia Institute Press, IMPRIMATUR 25-Mar-2014); Laudate Antiphon Collection (Motyka, 2011); CHORAL COMMUNIO—English Anthems for Mixed Choir on the Communion Chants of the Modern Graduale Romanum (Richard Rice, 2012); The Saint John’s Gradual (Archdiocese of Boston, IMPRIMATUR 16-May-2024). All those books use the same English translation.

THE following translation may also be used, since it was “approved by the National Conference of Bishops of the United States on 3 Sept. 1965 and confirmed by the Consilium for the Implementation of the Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy on 15-October-1965.” →

* In a few rare instances we used the English translation by Monsignor Ronald Knox, created at the request of the Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster and approved for liturgical use in the United States on 18 November 1966 by The Bishops’ Commission on the Liturgical Apostolate, which is today known as the USCCB’s Committee on Divine Worship.

The Lord came to my support. He set me free in the open, and rescued me, because he loves me. Ps. ibid., 2–3 I love you, O Lord, my strength, O Lord, my rock, my fortress, my deliverer. Ps. Glory be to the Father. The Lord came.
