

The absurd idea of having a liturgical commentator treating the Holy Mass like a baseball game (which has sports commentator explaining who's pitching, who's batting, etc.). Below is Monsignor Fred McManus celebrating Mass:

Look what the commentator is supposed to do: “give a summary of the Post-Communion prayer”—what a grotesque notion!

Action	Celebrant	Commentator	Lector	Servers	People
107 POST-COMMUNION	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>reads communion antiphon (quietly, if hymn, etc., is being sung)</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>invites people to stand after Communion antiphon</li> </ul>			<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>may recite Communion antiphon with celebrant</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>greet people and waits for their response</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>gives summary of Post-communion</li> </ul>			<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>stand</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>invites people to pray (Oramus), pauses for summary</li> </ul>				<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>respond to celebrant's greeting</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>prays Post-communion</li> </ul>				<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>pray silently</li> </ul>
					<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>ratify Post-communion with Amen</li> </ul>